

This dictionary was compiled using Luca Brigatti's HIEROWORD program <http://home.comcast.net/~thot/>

I have arranged it by Gardiner sign number (A1 - A2 - A3 etc...) and not by the more traditional transliteration order.

Using this method means not having to remember all the different transliterations for each sign e.g.  Z9 which is used as a first glyph for these transliterations.

w[̣]p / w[̣]hm / m[̣]b³ / ḥsb / ḥd / ḥbi / ḥbsw / sw³ / sd / šbn / dwyw

I have included a list of each glyph used as a first 'letter' with the page number(s) it occurs on (18 pages in total).

Several signs look similar in printed material so check alternative signs if you cannot find the one you're looking for Best viewed at 150%, otherwise some glyphs do not show correctly.

Any mistakes or additions please let me know.

Use the search function in the PDF to look for words.

Adobe Acrobat 7

The screenshot shows the Adobe Acrobat Professional interface with a search for the word 'grh'. The main window displays a list of search results for 'grh' in a dictionary, including entries like 'grt kidney', 'grh to finish', 'grh complete, finish off, be satisfied (with)', 'grh end, cessation', 'grh complete, finish off, be satisfied (with), obtain satisfaction', 'grh to finish (decoration)', 'grhyt darkness', 'grh night, evening', 'grh night', 'grh night', 'grh night', 'grh night', and 'grh night, Underworld darkness'. The search panel on the right shows 'Finished searching for: grh' and 'Total instances found: 15'. A 'New Search' button is visible. Below the search panel, there are links for 'Done', 'Use Advanced Search Options', and 'Find a word in the current PDF document'. The status bar at the bottom indicates '29 of 157' pages.

SOME SIMILAR LOOKING SIGNS

Depending on the font or of the hand drawn glyphs used, some of these signs may be mistaken for each other. If you cannot find the sign you want it may be one of the similar signs.
