

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

P R E F A C E .

THE following book is not intended to be a "fortune teller," but an aid for the student of the higher science, who desires to develop his intuition. A book teaching the art of mixing colours would not make an artist out of a person who has no talent for painting; but to one who is an artist by nature such a book may be very useful. Likewise a work on Geomancy, teaching the rules by which certain truths which are spiritually perceived by the soul, may be brought within the understanding of the external mind, will be of little service to those whose souls have no power of perceiving the truth.

Nevertheless, there is at least a germ of truth in every human being, and every power is developed by exercise. The practice of Geomancy requires above all concentration of thought, and the use of that faculty of the mind by which several ideas may be grasped at once, and be brought to a focus within the field of consciousness, and those who follow the rules prescribed in these pages, may thereby expand their mental faculties and strengthen their intuition, so as to be able to correctly prophecy future events and divine unknown things.

The superficial reasoner, whose mind is captivated by the external and illusive appearance of the world of phenomena, will naturally treat with contempt all knowledge claiming to have been derived from a source superior to reasoning from the base of external observation; but a deeper penetration into the realm of causes will disclose to the lover of truth, the Unity of the divine Law that governs all things, and according to which all external things, phenomena and events are nothing else but the ultimate outcome of pre-existing causes in the realm of ideas. The divine order of things in nature has left nothing to blind chance; the spirit may know the causes and the mind calculate the effects. God, the divine self-consciousness in the universe, knows All, and those who approach in spirit to the divine source of All will obtain more spiritual knowledge than those whose minds, wandering away from the centre of Divine Wisdom, become forgetful of their own spiritual nature, and lost in the labyrinth of little external details. Those who desire to practise the art of Geomancy, should remember that spiritual truth is not found by external calculation and argumentation, but only by the knowledge of self.

The answer inner silence brings,
So to the calmly gathered thought,
The uttermost of truth is taught.”

INTRODUCTION.

THE term "divining," or "divination," comes from "divine," and the art of divination is based upon the recognition of a universal divine principle acting within the soul. Man is said to be the crown of creation ; in him are combined the quintessences of all the four kingdoms. He is at once a mineral, a plant, an animal, and a god, and each of these constituent parts has its own peculiar states of consciousness, its own sensations, desires, feelings, and perceptions. The divine Light which shines within the darkness of his material constitution is the eternal Spirit of God, in which there exists neither past nor the future time, but in whose consciousness all things are forever present. Its presence is felt within the soul as the divine power of Intuition, and if the Mind of man were to rise entirely above the realm of selfishness, to become illuminated by the Light of the Spirit, there would be no need for Geomancy or for any other artificial aids to bring the knowledge of the Spirit to the understanding of the material Intellect. We could then not only intuitively feel the truth, but see it and know it without any argumentation or mathematical reasoning.

There are, however, only a few saints or adepts in the world who are in possession of such a state of perfection, and the majority of men and women upon this globe have to go the roundabout way of speculation and calculation to obtain information in regard to things unknown. The psychological process by which the knowledge of the spiritual soul comes to the understanding of the human intellect appears to be very complicated ; it seems that the divine ray of Light has to pass through many strata of matter, and is broken many times, before it is ultimately reflected within the field of external consciousness, and the more we are able to spiritually rise above these clouds of matter that darken the mental sky, the more will we become able to see the sunlight of truth in its purity.

By practising the art of Geomancy in that state of mind and feeling which brings Man nearer to the perception of the Truth, the Intuition may teach the reasoning Intellect. The first four symbols of which the geomantic figure is constructed, are the products of Intuition, and from them the final result is obtained by intellectual labour. The condition for obtaining success is the full and entire concentration of thought and will upon the question which is to be answered.

In the art of Geomancy it is not the mind, but the soul which answers the question and the answer is received by means of the power of the living divine Spirit of God, whose temple is man. It is, therefore, clear that this magical art ought not to be practised in any other frame of mind than that of worship, adoration, and faith in the eternal Law of order and harmony. If undertaken merely for the purposes of gratifying idle curiosity, or for selfish purposes, or from motives of greed or revenge, its results will be unreliable; because in such cases the intuitional ray becomes distorted by the perverted images existing within the mind. Likewise the answers will only be reliable, if the whole strength of will and thought is concentrated upon the question asked; a vacillating mind has but little power, for the truth suffers no other loves, only those who rise up to it and embrace it with all their soul, with all their mind, and with their whole being, will receive true knowledge.

Finally, it may be well to state that the foreseeing or future events will not enable us to change their course; for if these events did not already exist in the future, they could not be foreseen, while if they were to be altered, the alteration would also be seen. Nevertheless, the art of Geomancy may be very useful to act as our guide in meeting future events, in enabling us to take courage in what we know to become a success, and to give up insisting in fruitless attempts to attain that which would end in a failure if carried out. It should, however, always be kept in mind that the reliability of all such arts depends on our own reliability of perception, and the decisions of Geomancy can be infallible only when all the conditions required to make them infallible have been complied with. Geomancy is not a substitute but an aid for divine Reason.

ASTROLOGY.

THE science of Astrology is based upon a correct understanding of the true nature of Man and his position in the Universe. Natural man is not, as many vainly imagine, a self-existent being, creating his own ideas, thoughts and feelings; but as his physical body is the product of the confluence and assimilation of physical atoms, likewise the constitution of his mind is the product of the action of the intellectual and emotional elements entering his psychic organism. His visible and tangible form receives from the great storehouse of physical nature the four originally invisible elements, called: Earth, Water, Fire and Air (solid, fluid and gaseous essences, heat, electricity, life, etc.), and by means of the physiological processes going on in his visible form he transforms them into such substances and activities as are required by the nature of his corporeal body. These processes are taking place without the intellectual supervision of man; they are going on instinctively, involuntarily and even without his being conscious of it.

All this nobody will deny; because we see the food which we eat and the water we drink; we know of the existence of the air which we inhale, and we feel the heat that warms our bodies. These things are not our own creations, nature prepares them for us, lends them to us, and after we have made use of what we have borrowed, we restore them back to nature.

With the invisible principles that enter the invisible soul of Man, the same process takes place. We do not create our own thoughts, but the ideas which in pure, permanent and indivisible incorporeal ideal forms exist in the Astral

Light, reflect their images in the individual minds of men and women, in the same way as a landscape may be reflected in a looking-glass, or the whole of the starry sky be mirrored forth in a drop of pure water. These images may enter the consciousness of man without any voluntary effort on his part, in the same sense as the air enters his lungs without man's conscious effort to breathe. They may even enter against his will and desire ; for there are unwelcome thoughts that come when they are not wanted, and there are welcome ones difficult to retain. Animals only think the thoughts which enter into their minds without any efforts on their part ; but man has the power to voluntarily rise in thought to the realm of ideas and grasp the images which he desires, and therefore it is said that man does not need to be governed by the stars, but that he can become superior to them.

The ideas which enter the field of consciousness act upon his Imagination, and his Imagination re-acts upon his Will ; thereby producing certain states of feelings or emotions according to the nature of the idea, from the most gross and vulgar passion up to the highest state of exalted thought. As the food which he eats determines the state of purity or impurity of his physical organism, so likewise the thoughts which he harbours, and the feelings in which he indulges, determine the purity or impurity of his soul.

Man does not create his thoughts ; but he elaborates them from the ideas which he absorbs, in the same sense as his physical body elaborates the food which he eats, and transforms vegetables and grain into blood and flesh and bones. Likewise the mind of man mixes and combines ideas, and infuses them with life by the power of his Will ; and as an impure body may poison the surrounding atmosphere by the unhealthy effluvia coming from his impurities, so also the emanations of an impure mind will poison the mental atmosphere with the products of an impure Imagination rendered alive by an evil Will ; for the products of thought are rea and substantial things, even if they are invisible for gross material eyes, and the Will is a real power which may act as far as thoughts travel.

As the moon without the light of the sun is dark, so likewise the images produced by thought have no power unless they are strengthened by the Will; while the Will is useless unless it is guided and brought into a form by thought. If thought and will are divided, they are both ineffective; but if thought and will are in unison, they become effective; they then constitute a Unity, and this unity is called "Spirit."

According to the statements of the wise, all things in the universe are the products of Will and Imagination (Ideation) acting in unison, and, therefore, all things are produced by Spirit. Spirit is the Reality; that which we call the material form is merely the shadow of the light of the divine Ideal. That which we call "Matter" is the same thing as "Spirit," only it is in a state of inertness or condensation, while the vibrations of Spirit are far higher than those of Matter, so as to transcend our physical power to perceive them, in the same sense as there are vibrations of sound too high to be heard by the external ear, and vibrations of colour too high to be seen by the external eye. We are spirits ourselves, even if we are clothed in a gross material form; we live in a spiritual world; we are surrounded and permeated by Spirit. We are continually influenced by spiritual powers that come to us with or without our desire, and we have no other means to protect ourselves except Reason and Will. Man is a little world in which all the celestial and terrestrial powers and principles existing in the great universe may be reflected, and upon the perception of this truth rests the science of Astrology.

Everywhere in the universe rules the same fundamental law; everything is governed by order and harmony. The planets revolve in their orbits with mathematical precision, and each human being must follow the orbit in which it has to revolve. A man may oscillate to the right or the left as he traverses his orbit, but he cannot leave the line of his destiny, which is the result of causes produced in previous states of existence. There are ebbs and tides of the sea, and there are ebbs and tides in the ocean of thought. There are conjunctions and oppositions of spiritual influences in the world of ideas, as there are among the corporeal planets. There are times in which mankind as a whole rises up to a higher state of spiritual enlightenment, coming nearer to God; and there are other times in which they sink deeper into ignorance and superstition.

If the mathematical rules that govern in the realm of ideas were as well known as those that rule the revolutions of the visible planets, there would be as little difficulty in predicting future thoughts and the external events resulting therefrom, as there is in predicting an eclipse of the moon; but as long as the mind is too much captivated by the external sensual impressions to be attracted by the things that belong to the Spirit of Truth, its deductions and conclusions will be unreliable. As long as its imagination is captivated and its desire inflamed by the fire of the Astral plane, the thoughts and aspirations will not penetrate into the pure region of Truth.

Fortunately, however, there is a knowledge higher than that of the speculating brain; it is the knowledge of the soul, and if there were nothing to prevent the free communication of the Intellect with the Soul, man might intuitively know many things which now seem beyond the reach of his knowledge.

But it is written, that "those who desire to live from the altar must serve the altar," that means to say, that those who wish to know and be rendered alive by the truth must serve the truth by loving it with their whole heart, and manifest that love in thoughts, words, and actions. Those who desire spiritual knowledge, and to obtain the power to predict future events, must above all seek for the truth within their own souls. They should put away their passions and evil desires, their scientific, social, and religious prejudices, and the errors which have been grafted into their minds by a false education, received in an age of so-called rationalism, during which there was but little comprehension of spiritual things; when the Sun of Divine Wisdom was obscured by the delusive shadow of the speculative semi-animal intellect, and when the voice of the Intuition was drowned in the noise made by the clamours of conceited ignorance assuming the place of science.

Fortunately the days of Kakosophia are approaching their end, and humanity as a whole is again coming nearer to the zenith of ☉. May all the lovers of truth make use of this opportunity to enjoy all the light which they are capable to receive, before the planet, following the law of order, will again descend into the shadow of ☾.

The principle upon which astrology is based, cannot be fully understood, unless the nature of the "planets" with which it deals is realized; but this realization will not be the product of book reading, nor can a person give to himself a knowledge or power which he does not possess; it will remain unattainable to the doubter, and can only be acquired by faith; that is to say, by the interior awakening of the Spirit of Truth.

THE SEVEN PLANETS.

THE ancients recognized the presence of seven different states of the One Universal Spirit which constitutes the Soul of all things as well as all physical bodies, and they gave to these seven principles the following names and symbols, which are also those of the "seven planets" and of the seven days of the week—

♂	Mars,	Tuesday.
☿	Mercury,	Wednesday.
♃	Jupiter,	Thursday.
♀	Venus,	Friday.

It is almost unnecessary to say that these "seven planets" have little or nothing to do with the seven cosmic bodies in our solar system bearing the same names; for although the latter may to a certain extent be regarded as their external and visible representatives, the principles themselves are invisible, and rule not only within our solar system, and throughout the extent of the Macrocosmos of the Universe; but also within the internal constitution of the Microcosm of Man. Their significations differ according to the aspects which we take of them. Generally speaking, they may be stated as follows:

The Sun is the emblem of Wisdom. In him are the powers of all the planets united; in him are love, will, and intelligence combined into one; in the same sense as the four sides of a pyramid all culminate in one point. The Sun is the centre and source of all light and heat, and of all power; not only of the visible terrestrial light, but of the light of intelligence; not only of terrestrial heat, but of the heat of love. He attracts by his power all the planets in space and keeps them within their orbits. Those in whom the sun principle is strong are capable of becoming wise, strong, and powerful. It is therefore said that the Sun is a planet governing the souls of kings and noblemen, and conferring honours, powers, and titles. Its influence is decisive in all important questions in human life. In the mineral kingdom it is represented by gold; in the animal kingdom by the Lion, in the spiritual kingdom as Sol-om-on, the divine Sun of Wisdom.

The Moon is the symbol of imagination, illusion, and dreams. She has no light of her own, but borrows her light from the Sun. Without the light of the sun the moon would be cold and dark; without the power of the Will the products of the Imagination are without life. Thoughts become powerful only when they are infused by the will; they become luminous only when they are illuminated by love; they can be wise only if permeated by wisdom. Under the influence of the moon are said to be especially dreamers and mediums, persons who live a great deal in the realm of imagination and fancy, ladies of rank, pleasure seekers and travellers; it is said to govern things in which there is little firmness and stability, especially water and ships. In the mineral kingdom the Moon is represented by silver, in the spiritual kingdom by Luna, the queen of the night.

Mars represents strength. If unguided by wisdom it is a dangerous planet, inclined to deeds of violence, acting rashly and without consideration. It is a principle which causes anger and wrath. It has been regarded as the god of warriors, soldiers, lawyers, causing also the effects of violent medicines. Its action may become moderated by its union with ♀. Among the metals Mars is represented by iron, in the kingdom of spiritual powers by the god of war. It is of a fiery nature, and as fire does not combine with water, likewise an irate temper and the assertion of self-will is incompatible with that calm and peaceful thought necessary for the perception of the truth.

Mercury represents the Intellect, and it may be a good or evil planet according to the conditions under which it acts. If ☿ is under the influence of ♃; that is to say, if the intellect is subservient to selfish and material things, it becomes a source of evil; if combined with ♃ it will produce pride; if united with love ♀ it will become wise, and in this manner "crude mercury" may be transformed into the gold of wisdom.

Mercury without love is said to rule especially those who live by their wits; scientific speculators, sophists, merchants, thieves, intellectual but not necessarily moral persons, men of letters, students, etc. In the mineral kingdom it is represented by quicksilver, in the spiritual realm by the god of trade.

Jupiter represents power. Its qualities differ according to its aspects. Its symbol is an eagle; because it enables man to rise up by its power into the highest regions of thought, even to the throne of the Eternal. It is, or ought to be, therefore, the ruling planet for ecclesiastics and clergymen, and those who have to deal with the administration of justice. Its influence gives eloquence. It is friendly with all the rest of the planets except ♃; the latter being loved by none except ♀. In the mineral kingdom it is represented by tin; in the spiritual realm by Jupiter, the king of the gods, who obtain their power through him.

Venus represents love. In its lowest state it is blind attraction, producing gravitation among the corporeal planets and instincts among animals. The more it becomes amalgamated with intelligence, the more does it become capable to manifest its divine qualities. Pure love is a divine and self-existent power which only gives and does not seek to receive. It has no desires; but it creates desires in the objects in which its power awakens. In its higher aspects it rules artists and true physicians, in its lower state it is active in all affairs of love and marriage and in pleasures of various kinds. Among the metals it is represented by silver, in the spiritual realm by the goddess of Love. As Power is the father of all the gods, likewise Venus is their mother. No being can exist without love. When their ♀ is departed they will all be swallowed up by ♃.

Saturn represents the element of Matter. Not the visible tangible earth, but the primordial Substance out of which all things are made. It is also the principle of Life. It produces and destroys all forms, and is therefore represented as the god who eats his own children. Unless associated with ☉, Saturn is a cold, cruel and dark planet. It therefore rules old persons, misers, and usurers, gross material and vulgar people, and governs agricultural and mining pursuits. In the mineral kingdom ♃ is represented by lead; in the spiritual realm as the god of Time.

Saturn represents darkness and fear, melancholy, gloom, and death; but it is also the god of Life, for all so-called death is merely a change of state, and in the end of an old form, is the beginning of a new state of being.

CONJUNCTIONS.

From the approximations and conjunctions of planets, or, in other words, from the combination of different emotions and mental states, result a great many varieties of powers, which again differ from each other in regard to their quality of gradation.

In every kingdom of nature we find sympathics and antipathics. Among the planetary influences they are as follows:—

☉ sympathetic to ♃, ♀	antipathetic to ♂, ☿, ☾
☾ " ♃, ♀, ♅	" ♂, ☿
♂ " ♀	" ☉, ☽, ☿, ♃, ♅
☿ " ♃, ♀, ♅	" ☉, ☽, ♂
♃ " ☉, ☽, ☿, ♀, ♅	" ♂
♀ " ☉, ☽, ♂, ☿, ♃	" ♅
♅ " ☉, ☽, ☿, ♃	" ♂, ♀

The Colours of the Planets:—

One colour may be changed into another by mixing it with one of a different kind; for instance, blue mixed with yellow will produce green, and likewise a planetary influence may be changed in its nature by coming in conjunction with one of another kind. Love and Imagination mixed together may in their exultation result in insanity, ♂ and ☽ produce hallucinations, ♃ and ☽ will make a man very vain, ♂ and ☿ may make a robber out of a thief, ♃ and ♀ may be the source of the inspiration of an orator, and if ☿ is added, carry him up into the highest regions of thought. In this manner an almost endless number of combinations may be formed in the alchemical laboratory of the soul. There is no action without reaction. Each planet has therefore a two-fold aspect, and may manifest a two-fold activity. There is no relative good without relative evil, and no evil without good. The same ☉ that is the source of all life may burn up living forms, ♀ coming in opposition to ♂ may turn into hate; the same ♃ that lifts the aspiring mind up to heaven may, by becoming perverted, turn into an angel of evil and drag him down into the abyss of self-conceit.

Thus the lover of astrology will find abundant material in his own mind to study the various states resulting from the approximation, conjunction, or opposition of planets, without the aid of books, and such a study will be found to be even more interesting and useful in the end than that of the stars in the sky, for however sublime the study of the latter may be, all the learning of external things in the world is far inferior to the knowledge of self.

THE TWELVE SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC.

The twelve signs of the zodiac, or the circle through which the Earth travels in its annual revolution around the sun, are described in every almanac; but in their deeper signification they represent principles which form the basis of the evolution and involution of the Universe. Their names and signs are as follows:

♈ Aries.	}	Ascending signs.
♉ Taurus.
♊ Gemini.
♋ Cancer.
♌ Leo.
♍ Virgo.

The point of equilibrium. ♎ Libra.

Descending signs	}	♏ Scorpio.
		♐ Sagittarius.
		♒ Aquarius.
		♓ Pisces.

The twelve signs of the zodiac represent the powers of Man ; but as these powers are of a spiritual nature, their qualities can be known only to those who in the course of evolution and unfoldment have become conscious of their existence. The more we enter the realm of spiritual knowledge, the more do we begin to realize that all terrestrial knowledge is but child's play in comparison with the true knowledge of the spirit ; but the door to the temple in which the truth can be seen without a veil is guarded by the dragon of selfishness, and only those who are able to conquer the " beast " can enter the sanctuary.

No greater truth has ever been pronounced than that we must die before we can begin to live. The mysteries of the inner temple can never be divulged to the uninitiated, because they would not be understood even if an explanation were attempted. Sensual things may be perceived by the senses ; intellectual verities may be intellectually understood ; but only the Spirit of God in Man searches the depths of Divinity. Sciences may be taught, arts may be acquired by practice ; but divine Wisdom can only be attained by the grace of the divine spirit, and all that man can possibly do is to render himself capable for its reception, by seeking to eliminate from his constitution those elements which hinder the entrance of Light. Therefore the religious books advise us that man should seek above all the Kingdom of God (the divine consciousness), promising that then all other kinds of knowledge will be given to him ; but of the scoffer and sceptic who desires to pry with curious eyes behind the veil it is said that his safety is in his ignorance, for the knowledge which he might attain would prove to be the cause of his perdition.

To give a correct and complete description of the twelve signs of the zodiac would require the writing of a book greater than all the books in the world, nor could any amount of words be adequate to describe the sublimity and grandeur of thought and conception necessary to rise up to a comprehension of one of the greatest of all divine mysteries, the construction of the spiritual and material universe, or in other words, of Nature in her aspect as the living temple of God.

If we therefore attempt to describe our ideas in regard to the character of these divine principles, we are well aware of the difficulty of our task, and it must be left to the reader to ask for more light, by seeking within himself for the hidden truth.

Aries, or Ram, represents the universal principle of Life or ☉, which is the source of all things. It may also be represented as ♃, or the universal element of living Matter or Substance, in which all things are, and by whose power they all exist. It is "Matter" and "Force" in one; for those terms do not represent two things essentially different from each other; they are merely two words representing two states of the eternal One, for which there is no name. "Matter" means relative inactivity; "Force" means a higher state of activity of the same principle. The spirit of man descends into "Matter," that is to say, it becomes relatively inactive and unconscious, and re-ascends again to its highest state as a self-conscious spiritual power. The process taking place in each individual monad corresponds to the grand process taking place in the evolution and involution of the universe as a whole.

Taurus, or the Steer, represents Power. It symbolises the divine power of that universal principle, which is at once the creator, preserver, and destroyer of forms. By the inherent strength of the divine principle in Man, humanity is enabled to aspire for something higher than merely material existence, and to rise up to its former divine state as a spiritual self-conscious being. In one of its aspects, 8 may, therefore, be compared to ☾; because the light of the Spirit begins to be reflected by the material mind. In another aspect it resembles ♀, for all power originally arises from Love, and in still another it may be compared to ♃, for in this sign Man begins to realize the glory of God. In fact, each of the zodiacal signs may be compared to all the planets; for Spirit is a Unity, and in each sign are, therefore, contained the powers of the other six. The distinction is not made on account of any difference in their essential nature; but in regard to the form of their manifestation.

II

Gemini, or the Twins, represent the spiritual Man of whom the mortal body is merely an imperfect image or a reflection. It is the personal God of each man, the divine Adonai who is neither male nor female but in whom both sexes are united by the divine marriage of Intelligence and Love. It may be said to correspond to ♂ united with ♀, or to a union of Will and Thought. Its germs are within every man or woman, for in each human being are male and female elements; a being wholly male would have no Will, a being wholly female would have no Imagination. In its aspect as a universal power π represents the "Great Spirit," the universal bisexual Man.

Cancer, the Crab, represents retrogression; that is to say, the final descent of the Spirit from its divine into a material state by the act of creation. It also represents the power of the "Word," through whose action creation takes place. It is the A and Ω, the beginning and the end; if the word had never been spoken, there would never have been any objective creation and God (resp. Man) would not have left his divine state of rest. Perhaps it may be compared to ♂, as it also represents Power acting regardless of personal danger, and without any consideration of the consequences that must result to itself from its entering the realm of darkness, the material plane; impelled as it is by the power of ♀; for thus has ♀ loved the world, that it sent its own essence and the power to enter the hearts of mankind, and to redeem them from the realm of illusions.

Leo, Lion, represents that divine power of Christ, the Man anointed with spiritual knowledge, which enables him to rise again up to a conception of his own divine state. It may be compared to ♃, or the Eagle, who wings itself up to the throne of the Most High. It represents the true saviour of mankind; for no one can enter the kingdom of heaven unless he has the power to do so, and no one can come to the unmanifested God except through the power of the Christ in whom God has become manifest. Let those who desire to enter the kingdom by force, meditate about the signification of ♌, and enter into this sign; for the kingdom of heaven can be gained only by violence.

Virgo, the Virgin, represents the Spiritual Soul in Man and in the Universe, the celestial virgin, the eternal mother of man-made God. It may be compared to ☾, in which the power of ☉ is reflected, and becomes substantial light; it is divine Intuition, which saves from perdition the semi-animal Intellect; it is for ever immaculate, because it has nothing to do with external reasoning and argumentation; it knows the Truth, because it is one with it. It represents Isis, the eternal goddess of Nature, from whose womb will arise Horus, the time-born god. It is the eternal patroness of those who seek for salvation, as its exalting influence raises man up into a higher region of thought. It is one of the greatest mysteries of religion, and can form no object for external scientific research.

Libra, the Balance, represents the point of equilibrium, the unimaginable state of Nirvana, which cannot be described, and for which we have no words in the language of mortals to explain its condition. If a planetary sign is to be compared with it, it must be ♀, for Love is the root out of which all powers spring.

When the Day of Creation* is over, the celestial powers again retire to the bosom of their eternal Father, to rest in divine blissfulness until the equilibrium becomes again disturbed by the awakening of an internal desire for creation and a new evolution begins. The descent of Spirit into matter then recommences, producing once more the "fall of man," and this work of involution is represented in the following descending signs of the Zodiac.

Scorpio, or Scorpion, represents that Desire for knowledge which again induces the celestial spirit to descend and to overshadow material forms. It is the Snake which eternally tempts Eve to break the fruit from the forbidden tree and to offer it to the Intellect for its comprehension. By its influence the attention of the Spirit of Man is again attracted to the realm of phenomena, and he again enters the wheel of evolution, but on a higher scale than before. In its universal aspect it represents that state of the Universal Mind in which the idea of a new creation begins to exist. If we had to compare it with any planetary sign we would choose for it ♂, or Love acted upon by the Will.

Sagittarius, the Archer, represents the divine Will to create a new world, for the thought alone would not be sufficient to produce a world existing in the imagination, unless the divine will were present to project it into objectivity. In a lower aspect it may represent that power by which the individual spirit, unable to create a world of its own, is impelled to form again a connection with Matter. In its aspect as a universal principle it may be compared to ♂.

Capricornus, or the Goat, represents the exercise of the constructive power of the universe: the universal Law of Evolution, which at the time of the beginning of a new creation again enters into activity. It also is the symbol of perversion, and in its lower aspect it may signify the power by which the disembodied spirit again builds up a mortal house of clay, and enters again into the world of formation.

Aquarius, the Waterman. The product of the imagination acting within the Will is Thought. Water is the symbol for Thought, and a "Waterman" therefore symbolizes a man formed of thought. All things are made of thought; the visible as well as the invisible world is the product of Thought and made up of the substance of Mind; material forms are merely the external expressions of internal principles which must necessarily be substantial, for forces are states of matter, and a state of a thing which does not exist is an impossibility. The whole universe is substantial thought, produced by the will and the imagination. ☿ may therefore be regarded as the creative power of divine Will and Thought, that is to say, as the Word, in its aspect as a universal divine Power. In its more limited aspect, it represents the power by which the Spirit again assumes a material form.

Pisces, Fishes. The fish lives in water; man is living in the ocean of thought, rendered more or less material by the influence of ♃. In one of its aspects, ♋ represents man as a being immersed in an ocean of spiritual ideas, and therefore those who are supposed to live in that higher region of spiritual and exalted thought have been called episcopos or or bishops. In another aspect this sign may represent the world of ideas existing in the Astral Light. Gradually the wheel of evolution approaches again the sign of ♁, representing the realm of Matter; the descent of the spirit is then accomplished, and the ascension begins, unless man should allow himself to descend still deeper into the realm of darkness where those who wilfully reject the light of the Spirit are doomed to perish. When the descending Spirit in whose idea the world of formation exists, expresses his thought in the act of creating, he finds himself like a fish in the water, in the world of forms which he has created himself, and then the reign of ♃ begins again, and with it the work of redemption by the ascending signs.

THE SYMBOLS OF GEOMANCY.

There are sixteen geomantic symbols, corresponding to certain planetary signs, as follows :—

Fortuna major.		Fortuna minor.

Via.		Populus.

Acquisitio.		Lætitia.

Puella.		Amissio.

Conjunctio.		Albus.

Puer.		Rubeus.

Carcer.		Tristitia.

Caput Draconis.		Cauda Draconis.

SIGNIFICATIONS.

○
Via, Street or Way, is neither good nor bad ; its quality, like those of all the rest, is determined by its position in the house of the astrological figure. Its nature corresponds to ☾, its element is watery, its zodiacal sign ♋, and its number 7.

○ ○
Populus, People, is likewise indifferent. Its nature corresponds to ●, its element is watery, its zodiacal sign ♃, and its number 16.

○ ○
Conjunctio, union or coming together, is rather good than bad. Its nature corresponds to ☽, its element is airy, its zodiacal sign ♊, and its number 11.

○ ○
Carcer, prison, or to be bound, is good or bad, according to the nature of the question. Its nature corresponds to ♁, its element is earthy, its zodiacal sign ♄, and its number 10.

○ ○
Fortuna major, Great Fortune, success, interior aid and protection, is a very good sign. Its nature corresponds to ☉, its element is earthy, its zodiacal sign ♌, its number 12.

○ ○
Fortuna minor, Little Fortune, external aid and protection, is not a very good figure. Its nature corresponds to ☉, its element is fiery, its zodiacal sign ♈, and its number 10.

○ ○
Acquisitio, Success, obtaining, absorbing, receiving, is a good figure. Its nature corresponds to ♃, its element is airy, its zodiacal sign ♊, and it number 7.

○ ○
Amissio, Loss, that which is taken away. It is a bad figure. It nature corresponds to ♁, its element is fiery, its zodiacal sign ♄, and its number 8.

○ ○
Laetitia, Joy, health, laughing, is good. Its nature corresponds to ♃, its element is airy, its zodiacal sign ♊, and its number 15.

○ ○
Tristitia, Sorrow, grief, perversion, condemnation, is bad. Its nature corresponds to ♁, its element is earthy, its zodiacal sign ♄, and its number 14.

○ ○ Puella, Girl, pretty face, is pleasant but not very ○ ○ fortunate. Its nature corresponds to ♀, its element
 ○ is watery, its zodiacal sign ♋, and its number 2.

○ ○ Puer, Boy, rash and inconsiderate, is rather good
 ○ ○ than bad. Its nature corresponds to ♂, its element
 ○ is fiery, its zodiacal sign ♏, and its number 3.

○ ○ Albus, White Head, wisdom, sagacity, clear ○ ○ thought, is a good figure. Its nature corresponds ○ ○ to ♁, its element is watery, its zodiacal sign ♊, and ○ ○ its number 12.

○ ○ Rubeus, Redhead, passion, vice, fiery temper, is a
 ○ ○ bad figure. Its nature corresponds to ♂, its element
 ○ ○ is fiery, its zodiacal sign ♏, and its number 13.

○ ○ Caput Draconis, Dragon's head, entrance, threshold,
 ○ ○ upper kingdom, is good. Its symbol is ♂, its zodi-
 ○ ○ acal sign ♏, its element earthy, and its number 4.

○ ○ Cauda Draconis, Dragon's tail, exit, lower kingdom,
 ○ ○ is bad. Its symbol is ♁, its zodiacal sign ♏, its ○ ○ element fiery, and its number 5.

The significations of these symbols differ to a certain extent according to the nature of their origin.

A good figure made of two good ones is good.

A bad figure made of two bad ones is bad.

A good figure made of one good and one bad figure means success, but delay and vexation.

If the two witnesses are good and the judge bad, the result will be obtained; but it will be unfortunate in the end.

If the first witness is good and the second bad, the success will be very doubtful.

If the first witness is bad and the second one good, the unfortunate beginning will take a good turn.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE PRACTICE OF GEOMANCY.

P R E P A R A T I O N .

THE art of Geomancy ought not to be practised unless the mind is tranquil and calm. If the field of mental vision is clouded by fear or doubt, by grief or selfish desires, if the temple of the spirit is occupied by money changers or resounding from the quarrels of the pharisees and scribes, it will be difficult to hear the voice of the truth. Cornelius Agrippa says that Geomancy should not be practised "on a cloudy or rainy day, or when the weather is stormy, nor while the mind is disturbed by anger or oppressed with cares." Neither should it be practised for the purpose of gratifying idle curiosity, for mere amusement, or for giving tests to the sceptics. Finally, the same question ought not to be asked repeatedly in the same form.

It is, furthermore, desirable that for each question an appropriate day and hour should be selected; for instance, all questions in regard to agriculture or mines should be asked on the day, and in the hour of Saturn, all questions in regard to love and marriage on the day, and in the hour of Venus, etc.

The reason for this is that the soul of man stands in intimate relationship to the soul of the world, and that the influences of the higher world act correspondingly upon the lower. If man were in a perfectly natural state, and his soul in exact harmony with nature, he would be more sensitive to planetary influences, and the state of his thoughts and feelings would correspond to the states of the Universal Mind.

The days of the week are named by their ruling planets, and each planet rules the first hour of his day. To find the planetary hour, it is, therefore, merely necessary to divide the time from sunrise to sunset into twelve equal parts, adding, however, one hour for the twilight. The first planetary hour is then dedicated to the planet of the day, and then follow the other planets in their regular order: ♃, ☉, ☿, ♂, ♀, ♃, ♀, ♃.

Thus, if we imagine some Wednesday in summer, when the sun rises at five and sets at seven, we will have a day of fourteen hours, to which one hour is added. These fifteen hours are divided into twelve equal parts. The hour of ♃ then begins at 4.30 A.M. and ends at 5.45. Then follows ♃ ending at 6.60; next ♀, etc.

However useful it may be to observe the planetary hours, it is undoubtedly of still greater importance to pay attention to the constellation within, and to take care that no evil spirit enters the sphere of mind of the operator to interfere with his work.

THE PRACTICE OF GEOMANCY.

If it is desired to obtain by the art of Geomancy an answer to a certain question, it is, above all, necessary to be in a tranquil state of mind, and to fix one's thought firmly, and without wavering, upon that question. While the mind is thus fixed, the right hand is used to make an indefinite number of points without counting them from right to left in the following manner :

They may be made with a pencil upon a piece of paper, or following the old custom, with a stick on the ground, and it is from this old method that the term "Geomancy" (Divining by means of the earth) is derived; for it is believed by some that the Elemental spirits of Earth are guiding the hand of the operator. Four such lines are constructed, and each line will have either an even or an uneven number of dots.

If the number is even, two marks are made at the end of the line; if it is uneven, only one. The four lines produce one geomantic figure, as may be seen in the following example :

This process is repeated three times.

In this way four figures have been obtained ; they are called the Mothers.

Each of these figures consists of four parts : 1, 2, 3, and 4. 1 is called the heads ; 2, the necks ; 3, the bodies ; and 4, the feet. By taking the heads of the four mothers, and putting them below each other, the first daughter is produced ; the necks produce the second, the bodies the third, and the feet the fourth daughter, as follows :—

DAUGHTERS.

The Nephews are produced in a different manner. To produce the first nephew the heads of I. and II. are counted together and marked down as even or uneven, then the necks, next the bodies and the feet.

The second nephew is produced in the same manner from III. and IV., the third from V. and VI., the fourth from VII. and VIII.

NEPHEWS.

From the four Nephews are constructed the two witnesses in the same manner, namely the first witness from IX. and X., and the second from XI. and XII.

WITNESSES.

and from the two witnesses,

THE JUDGE.

To recapitulate we will seek the answer to the following question :—

Shall I succeed in my undertaking ?

We have, therefore, the MOTHERS.

DAUGHTERS.

NEPHEWS.

WITNESSES.

JUDGE.

In this case the Judge is Carcer, meaning prison, capture, or attainment of the object desired. It has been made of Tristitia and Laetitia, meaning sorrow followed by Joy, and the answer is therefore :—

The beginning is painful, but you will succeed in the end.

If analyzed still more we find :

I. is Albus, signifying that the undertaking must be begun with wisdom.

II. is Amissio, meaning that a sacrifice must be made.

III. is Fortuna major, showing that the undertaking, if successful, is well worth the trouble involved.

IV. is an important figure ; it always refers to the termination. Being in this case Acquisitio, it means that the object will be obtained, and thus it confirms the decisions of the judge.

Sometimes, if the answer is not satisfactory, a Supreme Judge may be constructed out of I. and XV.

The above is a short and easy method, and sufficient to answer simple questions. If, however, any more detailed information is desired, a house is to be constructed according to astrological rules.

ASTROLOGICAL GEOMANCY.

An astrological figure consists of twelve houses, and is constructed in the following manner :—

Each of these houses is under the predominating influence of some certain planet or planets, whose action is modified by their position in regard to the rest.

House I. is the house of Life, and therefore represented by ☉.

II. is dedicated to ☿.

III. The influence of ☾ is mixed with that of ☿ and ♃.

IV. is especially under the rule of ♃.

V. Here the influence of ♀ is predominant, mixed with that of ♃ and ♄.

VI. In this house ♂ is the principle ruler.

VII. is dedicated to ♀.

VIII. to ♃.

IX. to ♄.

X. to the ☉.

XI. Here the influence of ♄ is predominant.

XII. is under the pernicious influence of ♃ in its evil aspect.

House I. deals especially with the person of the questioner, also with matters regarding life, health, appearance, beauty, colour, riches, fortune, success.

House II. with profit and loss, mercantile matters.

House III. Relatives, letters, little voyages.

House IV. Parents, property, treasures, agriculture, mines.

House V. Women, children, luxury, eating, drinking, pleasures, servants, legacies.

House VI. Diseases, servants, misfortunes, domestic animals.

House VII. Women, marriage, whores, thieves, robbers, dishonours.

House VIII. Death, legacies, trouble, suffering, poverty.

House IX. Religious matters, long voyages, dreams.

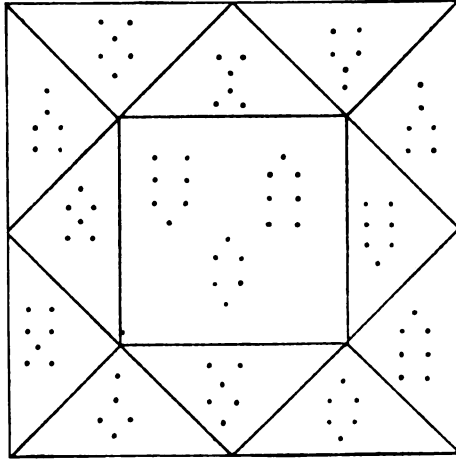

House X. Fortune, honours, kings, glory, fame, victory.

House XI. Protection, riches, presents, friends, joy, hope, confidence.

House XII. Loss, imprisonment, secret enemies, vagabonds, prostitutes, beggars, misfortune.

The usual way of proceeding is to insert the above-described 15 symbols in the order in which they have been received into the houses which their numbers indicate; namely, the 1st mother in the 1st house, the 2nd in the 2nd, etc., as may be seen in the figure below : The two witnesses and the judge are to be put into the middle field :—

Cornelius Agrippa, however, recommends another method as being superior to this ; namely, to insert the symbols into the houses in the following order :—

Mother	I.	into house	I.
„	II.	„	X.
„	III.	„	VII.
„	IV.	„	IV.
Daughter	I.	„	II.
„	II.	„	XI.
„	III.	„	VIII.
„	IV.	„	V.
Nephew	I.	„	IX.
„	II.	„	VI.
„	III.	„	III.
„	IV.	„	XII.

The above figure will then present the following aspect:—

These symbols are inserted into the houses as described above.

The figure is then to be amplified by adding the signs of the zodiac. The zodiacal sign of the first Mother is put next to House I. The others then follow in their regular order.

The figure may then be completed by inserting the planetary signs corresponding to each symbol.

To find the Judge or Indicator according to this method, all the points of the whole scheme received by punctuation are counted together and divided by 12. The remaining points are divided off one by one into the houses, beginning by I. and the house which receives the last point, is the one whose symbol is to be the Judge.

In our scheme on page 37, the number of points amounts to 169. Divided by twelve there remains only one point. The symbol of the first house is therefore in this case the Judge, and his decision becomes intelligible by taking his position to the other houses and planets into consideration. If the aspects of the other planets are doubtful, the opinion of the judge alone is decisive.

SIGNIFICATIONS OF THE GEOMANTIC SYMBOLS ACCORDING TO THEIR POSITIONS.

To practise successfully the art of Geomancy, it is necessary to keep in mind the significations of the planetary signs, the position which they occupy in regard to the signs of the zodiac, the houses in which they reside, and their constellations among each other. To become an experienced geomantist is a difficult undertaking, unless one possesses the necessary talents for it. Geomancy is an art, and, like all other arts, requires to be attained by practice. To facilitate this practice the meaning of the geomantic symbols, according to their position, is now given below:—

FORTUNA MAJOR.

In House I. signifies a noble character, long and happy life, a person of middle size, moral and benevolent.

In II. Riches and gain, being fortunate in recovering a thing that was lost, capture of a thief, etc.

In III. Noble and agreeable relatives, fortunate voyages, friends.

In IV. A noble and respected father, inheritance, success, recovery, success in mines.

In V. Joy from children, honours, fame, birth of a son.

In VI. Health, recovery ; a good physician ; faithful servants.

In VII. A rich, honest and amiable wife ; happy marriage, agreeable love affairs, gaining of lawsuits, and also powerful opponents.

In VIII. The person about whose death one inquires, still lives. It also signifies a painless and natural death, honours after death, legacies and a great dowry belonging to one's wife.

In IX. Extensive but fortunate voyages ; safe return ; a man faithful in religion ; important dreams, visions, intuition ; spiritual knowledge.

In X. Great honours ; public and honourable positions ; upright judges ; the lawsuit will be quickly decided ; fortunate kings ; victory ; long life of a noble mother.

In XI. True and useful friends ; a rich and benevolent nobleman ; success at the king's court ; happiness.

In XII. If the question is about enemies, it means that they are powerful and influential. If the question is, whether one will be victorious over one's enemies, it means a lucky escape. It also signifies faithful servants, escape from prison, and that an impending danger will be avoided or not become very serious.

FORTUNA MINOR.

In I. Long life, but some troubles or ailments. A man or woman of small stature.

II. Money, but squandering; lavish expenses; the thief remains hidden; stolen articles are not recovered at all, or with great trouble.

III. Trouble and annoyances from relatives; threatening danger on a voyage, but escape therefrom. Reliable but reserved and uncommunicative persons.

IV. Loss to that which has been inherited from the father and other legacies; difficulty in obtaining lost or hidden things. No success in mines.

V. Only few children; a girl is to be born; honourable positions with but little remuneration. Small honours, little fame.

VI. Sanguinic or choleric diseases; the patient is in danger, but will escape; honest but lazy and useless servants.

VII. Marriage with a woman of good family, but some trouble connected with it. Inconstant loves. Procrastination. Tedious law-suits but final success.

VIII. Death in a foreign country; legacies obtained with trouble and vexations; the dowry of the wife will soon be used up, or obtained with difficulty.

IX. Trouble on a voyage; theological occupations; imperfect knowledge.

X. Powerful kings and nobles; gaining possession by force; great honours and positions but instability of fortune. Tedious law-suits. Illness not serious.

XI. Many friends, but poor and useless ones. Favours from high personages. Inconstancy of fortune.

XII. Sly and smart enemies; to a prisoner a long captivity but final freedom. Useless servants. Frequent changes.

VIA.

In I. Long and happy life. A stranger of tall figure, thin, liberal, agreeable, but not much inclined to labour.

II. Increase of fortune; recovery of lost or stolen property, but escape of the thief.

III. Many brothers and relatives. Many fortunate voyages, sociability.

IV. An honest father; increase of fortune inherited from the father; good harvest; gain. Mines.

V. Numerous male children, a son will be born; honorable positions in foreign countries.

VI. Protection against diseases; the patient will quickly recover; useful servants and animals.

VII. A beautiful and agreeable wife, lasting happiness in marriage; favourable progress of lawsuits, profitable settlements.

VIII. Death in consequence of phlegmatic diseases; great legacies; the person believed to be dead is still living.

IX. Long voyages on the water; profit; clerical positions; profit from church affairs; simple but firm faith; significant dreams; philosophical and grammatical knowledge.

X. Fortunate, kings and noblemen in peace with their neighbours; friendships; public honours; official positions, profitable money affairs; lawsuits will be quickly decided; a respected mother.

XI. Many useful friends; confidence of superiors; business connected with travelling.

XII. Many enemies, doing, however, little harm; useful servants; escape of prisoner, protection in misfortune.

POPULUS.

In I. Life of average duration; diseases and changes of fortune. A person of medium stature; thick.

II. Moderate fortune, obtained with much trouble. The stolen property will not be recovered, nor will that which has been lost be completely restored. The thief has not escaped, but is hidden.

III. An average number of relatives ; little profit, a vacillating mind ; loss by being cheated.

IV. A sickly father ; no inheritance of real estate, but profit in things connected with water. Trouble about inheritance. No success in mining.

V. Ordinary, neither very profitable nor very respected positions ; calumny, slander, gossip ; wife bears no children ; miscarriages.

VI. Cold diseases, especially of the lower extremities ; a careless physician ; danger of death ; difficult recovery ; dishonest servants.

VII. A beautiful and pleasant wife ; but one who is not very faithful. Hypocrisy ; pretended loves ; impotent enemies.

VIII. Quick death, perhaps by water. No inheritance. Legacies lost by lawsuits. Wife has very little dowry.

IX. Deceptive dreams ; a vulgar and coarse person ; in clerical matters low positions ; indifference towards religion ; not very conscientious.

X. Kings and noblemen who lose their positions ; loss ; offices connected with water ; tedious lawsuits ; a sickly mother.

XI. Few friends, but many flatterers. No favours to be expected from superiors ; weak and ignoble enemies ; the prisoner will not escape ; danger from water.

ACQUISITIO.

I. Long life ; happy old age. A man of medium size with a big head ; marked features ; spends much for himself, but gives little away.

II. Great riches. Lost or stolen goods will be restored.

III. Many relatives with ample means. Many fortunate and profitable voyages. Fidelity and sincerity.

IV. A considerable inheritance from the parents ; great possessions, large harvests ; a hidden treasure ; mines can be found ; a rich, but avaricious father.

V. Numerous children of either sex ; but more boys than girls ; a son will be born ; profitable offices.

VI. Many long and serious diseases ; danger of death ; but an experienced physician. Many servants. Profit.

VII. A rich wife, a widow or advanced in years. Long and tedious lawsuits, a love affair or a concubine.

VIII. The person inquired after is dead. Quick death after a disease of only a few days' duration. Profitable legacies. Rich dowry.

IX. Long and profitable voyages. The absent person will soon return. Profit from theologians and teachers. The person inquired after has considerable knowledge.

X. To kings augmentation of possession. In law a judge who is favourably inclined, but who expects presents. Profitable positions and business. A rich and happy mother.

XI. Many useful and profitable friendships. Favours from high personages.

XII. Many and powerful enemies. Recovery of lost animals. The prisoner will not escape.

LAETITIA.

I. Long, fortunate and joyful life. A person of tall stature, fine figure and features.

II. Riches, but also great expenses. Stolen things will be restored ; but the thief escapes.

III. Agreeable but short-lived relatives ; good voyages ; fidelity and sincerity.

IV. Considerable parental fortune ; possessions ; a noble father. A rich mine may be found.

V. Obedient and good-natured children. A daughter will be born. A good reputation.

VI. The patient recovers. Useful servants.

VII. A young and beautiful wife ; gaining of lawsuit ; fortunate in love affairs.

VIII. Legacies. The person inquired after is still living.

IX. Few voyages. A man of a religious character, not very learned, but intuitive.

X. Kings and nobles of peaceful character. Honourable positions in the church or in law. If the mother is a widow, she will marry again.

XI. Many friends among the high. Protection.

XII. Victory over enemies ; useful servants ; freedom for the prisoner, protection against evils.

PUELLA.

I. Rather short life. A man of middlesize and feeble constitution, of a feminine character, full of sensual desires, and who often gets into trouble on account of his love for the other sex.

II. No increase of riches nor greater poverty. Lost or stolen things will not be restored. The thief has left the city.

III. More sisters than brothers. Agreeable voyages. Pleasant social surroundings.

IV. The inherited fortune is small. The harvest will be good.

V. The expected child is a girl. Favours received through the influence of ladies.

VI. The patient is very feeble, but will speedily recover. The physician is ignorant and inexperienced, but the vulgar people have great respect for him. Useful servants.

VII. A beautiful and agreeable wife, living in peace with her husband, but being of an amorous nature and having many admirers. No serious law-suits of any kind.

VIII. The person believed to be dead still lives. The dowry is small, but the man is satisfied with it.

IX. Short voyages. A religious-minded man without great talents, except for music and singing.

X. Powerful and peaceful kings and noblemen loving sport. Honest judges. Positions with ladies of rank.

XI. Many friends among men and women.

XII. Only few enemies; but trouble with women. The prisoner will obtain his freedom through the influence of his friends.

AMISSIO.

I. The patient will not recover. A short life. A man of irregular form, spiteful and disagreeable, having some blemish, such as a squint or limping, etc.

II. Loss or squandering of money. Poverty. That which is lost or stolen will not be restored; the thief will escape. No luck in mining.

III. Few relatives, or death of the latter. No important voyages. A great deal of cheating.

IV. The inheritance from the father is rapidly lost. The father is poor, and dies suddenly.

V. Death of children. Miscarriages. Neither honours nor fame, but a great deal of slander.

VI. The patient will recover. Useless servants. Misfortune with domestic animals.

VII. An adulterous and quarrelsome wife, who, however, will die soon. Loss of lawsuits.

VIII. Death of an acquaintance. No legacies, or loss of the latter.

IX. No voyages, or if there are any they will be unfortunate. A person of vacillating mind, changing his belief frequently. A person ignorant in every respect.

X. Unfortunate kings or nobles, ending in exile or losing their positions. Ignorant judges, or such as can be bribed. Positions that will cause loss and harm the reputation. Death of the mother.

XI. Only few friends. Friendship easily lost. Favours, if any, will bring no profit.

XII. The enemies will be annihilated. The prisoner will be long in captivity, but is otherwise safe.

CONJUNCTIO.

I. Long life. A man of medium size; face long, agreeable and having many friends.

II. Neither riches nor poverty. The thief will be caught. Lost or stolen property will be returned. Success in mining.

III. Few relatives. Various voyages with changeful success. Reliability of character.

IV. Average fortune from parents; a good and intelligent father.

V. Intelligent children. The expected child is a son. Self-acquired honours, great fame, good reputation.

VI. Long and tedious diseases. An experienced physician; faithful servants.

VII. A well-educated and intelligent wife. Difficult lawsuits with sly opponents.

VIII. The person inquired after is dead. An advantage to be derived from the death of a relative or friend.

IX. Few but long voyages. Knowledge of secrets in religion. An active mind.

X. Good and liberal-minded kings; upright judges; positions connected with instruction in natural sciences. A good and intelligent mother.

XI. Many friends and especially great favours from high personages.

XII. The enemies are prudent and sly. The prisoner remains in his prison. Escape from various dangers.

ALBUS.

I. A person troubled with continual ailments or serious diseases. A person of small stature, a great talker, gay and amusing.

II. Gain from things that serve for amusement. Discovery of lost or stolen things. No success in mining.

III. Only few relatives; few but difficult voyages. A great deal of cheating.

IV. Little or no inheritance from the parents.

V. No children, or if there are any, they die. Miscarriage or birth of monstrosity. Slander and gossip. No honours to be expected.

VI. Tedious diseases. Useless and dishonest servants. The patient mistrusts his physician.

VII. A beautiful and beloved wife, but who will bear no children. Few but long-lasting lawsuits.

VIII. The person inquired after will die. The dowry of the wife is small, and will be the cause of a lawsuit.

IX. Voyages bringing but little profit. Obstacles. The absent person will not return. A superstitious man, adhering to false sciences.

X. No favours to be expected from kings or judges. Unprofitable positions or business. The mother is unchaste, or suspected of adultery.

XI. False friends. Hypocrisy, inconstant fortune.

XII. The enemies are impotent. Perversities of various kinds. The prisoner will not escape.

PUER.

- XI. Many friends and the favour of all.
- XII. Many enemies. Many female acquaintances. The prisoner will not escape, but receive a severe punishment.

CAUDA DRACONIS.

This figure signifies in all its houses the exact opposite to that of the preceding one.

NOTE.

In practising geomancy it is necessary to seek the answer to the proposed question not merely by studying the figure in the house to which that question belongs; but also to take all the figures connected with it into consideration. The principal point in this art is the comparison of the various symbols and of their true signification, an art which is only possible to those who can call to aid the power of their own intuition.

EXAMPLE.

Question : Will the proposed marriage be a success ?

= 152 points.

JUDGE.

XV.

The answer is : He will obtain her.

If we desire to see this statement corroborated, and to know more particulars about the proposed marriage, we may construct an astrological house, and insert the symbols according to the directions given above :

There have been 152 points obtained by punctuation. If we divide this number by 12, there will still remain 8 ; 8 is, therefore, in this case the Judge or indicator. The symbol in house VIII. is Acquisitio. The answer is, therefore : He will obtain her.

Moreover, Acquisitio in the eight house means that the woman is rich, and a widow ; the sign is 4, which means that there is a strong power active to produce the desired result. The termination is the fourth house, as indicated by ☿, is very favourable, and predicts that she will inherit a fortune from her father. The ☉ in the house of life (I.) predicts a long and happy life, but not without some trouble; ♀ in house I. indicates that children will be the result of the marriage. If the whole figure is carefully studied, according to the directions given above, numerous other details may be learned therefrom.

If we stand before a picture representing a landscape, we do not look at merely one house or one tree, to the neglect of the rest; but we see the whole picture at once, and then we may afterwards examine it in its details. Thus, to the experienced geomantist, such a table of figures represents a picture in which he can at once see the future life of the questioner represented in allegorical figures. As a whole, it has been grasped by his own internal spiritual perception during the process of punctuation. It has been resolved in its details by the science of Geomancy, and it now comes to his external consciousness, as a whole, by the power of his trained intellectual perception.

The soul may know a great deal, while man may know very little; the former sometimes communicates some of its knowledge to the latter by dreams and visions, when the mind is in that tranquil state between waking and sleeping. The mind is like a mirror, in which not only the images of external things, but also those projected by the soul may be reflected. If the Spirit retires within itself, the mind resembles an unclouded mirror; but as soon as the brain begins to think, the mirror becomes like a pool of water, whose surface is disturbed by falling rain. Man sees then only his own thoughts and not the thoughts of the soul. Those who desire to practice successfully the art of Geomancy should, during the process of punctuation, keep their own thoughts in abeyance, and let the divine soul do its thinking in them.

ASTRONOMICAL GEOMANCY.

There is still another method of practicing Geomancy described by Cornelius Agrippa. It is called the Astronomical Geomancy of Gerhard of Cremona. It is a very simple method, but to be successfully applied it requires a considerable knowledge of the character of the various planets and their constellation. The figure used is similar to those described above.

Four lines of points are made in the usual manner, and a geomantic symbol obtained. The zodiacal sign corresponding to it is then put into the first house, and the remaining signs into the other houses, from I. to XII., in their regular order. For instance, if the symbol obtained is Populus, its corresponding sign, ♌, is put into the first house, ♍ in the second, ♀ in the third, and so forth to the end. The sign in the first house is called the Ascendant.

After this there are again four lines punctuated. The number of points is counted together and divided by twelve. The rest signifies the number of the house into which the first planet, ☉, is to be inserted.

In the same manner the house for the next planet ☽ is to be found, and the same process is repeated for all the planets in the following order:—

☉, ☽, ♀, ♀, ♃, ♃, ♂, ♀, ♀.

The houses and the planets and signs contained therein are then studied and compared together, as has been indicated above.

The manner of proceeding may be illustrated by the following example.

Question. Will the patient recover?

○ . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . .
 ○ . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . .
 ○ ○ . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . .
 ○ . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . . / . .

The corresponding zodiacal sign is ♄. It is to be inserted into the first house and the other signs follow in regular order.

We now punctuate again to find the house of the Sun:—

I. . . . / / / / / / /
 / / / / / / /
 / / / / / / /
 / / / / / / /

After dividing the number of these points by 12 there remains 9, and ☉ is therefore inserted into the ninth house. Then follows:—

II. . . . / / / / / / /
 / / / / / / /
 / / / / / / /
 / / / / / / /

There remains two, and the ☽ belongs to the second house.

III. . . /

There remain 12, and ♀ is to be put into XII.

In this way the process is continued until the houses for all the planets are found. If two or more planets receive the same number, they are to be put into the same house.

The figure may then represent the following aspect :—

In this case the answer would be, that there is not the least possibility for the recovery of the patient. The presence of ♄ in I. is a very bad sign, indicating an ignorant physician ; but the presence of ♃ and ♄ under the influence of ♄ in the house of death is extremely bad, indicating death by iron or fire, and the probability is, therefore, that he will be killed by a surgical operation.

In this way numerous complications may arise from the positions of the various planets in the twelve houses, and those who desire to enter deeper into this subject will find information in regard to the meaning of the different constellations in books on Astrology. Those, however, whose intuition is sufficiently developed to grasp the true meaning of the symbols and signs, will require no further instruction.

CONCLUSION.

If Geomancy was a truth once, it must still be true, and the answer to the question why it is so little practised at present can only be either that man's intuition has been unfolded so much as no longer to require such artificial aids ; or that he has become so much less intuitive as not to be able to grasp truths spiritually, even with such artificial aid.

That the first answer cannot be the true solution of the riddle is self-evident, for there are few persons existing to-day who can correctly predict any future event, unless they base their prophecies upon calculations made from external observation. If the attention of the reader has been called to the existence of a higher power than the perishing intellect, and he has been encouraged to put more faith in the knowledge of God, the object for which these pages were written will have been accomplished.

APPENDIX,
CONTAINING 2,048 ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

TRANSLATED
FROM THE GERMAN OF THE 16TH CENTURY.

NOTICE.

The following answers are obtained by constructing the I. and II. Witness, and subsequently the Judge according to the directions given on page 38 of the preceding part of this book. The middle figure is the Judge; the left-hand figure is the first, and the right-hand one the second Witness.

THE SECRET DOCTRINE,

BY

H. P. BLAVATSKY,

AUTHOR OF "ISIS UNVEILED."

"The Secret Doctrine' is the most complete and interesting exposition of Occultism and Esoteric Philosophy ever published."

Volume I. contains a general outline of the Esoteric Doctrine in its relation to the formation of the Solar System, preceded by a statement of the fundamental philosophic conceptions which underlie the entire system.

The mysteries of Religious and Occult Symbology are treated at considerable length in a part of the work devoted to that subject; and the bearing of Modern Science upon the "Secret Doctrine" is discussed with considerable care.

Volume II. deals with the Esoteric Doctrine as to the evolution of Man on this earth.

This Volume contains an account of the various origins of man. It gives the outline of his evolutionary history down to the close of the race immediately preceding our own the history terminating with the archaic version of the events which are related in the Bible account of The Exodus of the Israelites.

THEOSOPHICAL PUBLICATION SOCIETY,

7, DUKE STREET, ADELPHI,
LONDON, W.C., 1889,

AND

"The Path," P.O. Box 2,659, New York, U.S.A.

The Theosophical Publication Society has been established for the purpose of being a centre from which Theosophical Literature can be disseminated, and made available for all those who wish to learn something respecting those deeper truths of Science, Philosophy and Religion, which are now offered to the world.

For this purpose Pamphlets are published in a cheap form, and are sent post free to every subscriber to the Society. The Pamphlets consist of original essays explanatory of Theosophy, as well as reprints of articles of value at present buried in the back numbers of magazines.

The Society proposes, in addition, to publish works on Theosophy, Occult Science, and kindred subjects, and also to bring out translations of valuable articles and books written in other languages.

The following Pamphlets have already been published:—

LUCIFER,

A Theosophical Monthly,

EDITED BY

H. P. BLAVATSKY and MABEL COLLINS.

This Magazine is devoted to inquiry into Religion, Metaphysics, Philosophy, Psychology, and the Occult Sciences. Its standpoint is purely unsectarian, and its columns are open to free discussion of these subjects.

PRESS NOTICES.

"Undoubtedly there is not only learning, but literary taste, displayed in more than one of the papers in the numbers of LUCIFER; and scattered over it are sound ethical maxims disguised in Theosophy. Of the fiction that is here associated with occultism it is, perhaps, too soon to speak. There is a promise, however, not only of eeriness, but of skill in plot-construction, in 'The Blossom and the Fruit.'"—Spectator.

"Occultism and Theosophy now enjoy no inconsiderable vogue, and have a very respectable literature of their own, rejoicing, for example, in 'a theosophical monthly' entitled LUCIFER, 'designed to bring light to the hidden things of darkness'; under the editorship of H. P. Blavatsky and Mabel Collins."—Saturday Review.

"Several of the articles are by no means deficient in attractive power."—Morning Post.
