

The religion of the future

This whole world belongs to Jehovah, for it was created by him. So do our bodies and souls. They are not ours, they belong to Jehovah. Only our spirits belong to us, and also the world from which our spirits have come, and to which they will return. Our Spirits are in the world created by Jehovah but they were not created by him, they are eternal, and foreigners in this created world. From childhood, we have been taught that here on earth, Jehovah has chosen the Jewish people to rule the world and to reign over all the gentile peoples (the goim or non-Jews). We have been taught also that Jehovah wrote the torah (the Pentateuch, the first five books of the bible) before he created the world. And he created his Chosen People to fulfil that Law, and he created the gentiles to serve the Jews. Read the bible and especially the Talmud (which is the pharisaic and orthodox explanation of the Torah) if you want to expand on these things and know what the laws of the future will be like.

When the Messiah comes and all that Jehovah has promised in his Torah is fulfilled, and the Jewish People reign on earth, there will then be two religions, as stated in the Torah: the religion of the Jews (orthodox and Talmudic Judaism) and the religion of the gentiles, the Noahites (the law given by Jehovah to the sons of Noah, but prior to the Covenant). It is the seven Noachite precepts that will govern the gentile peoples in the future World Kingdom, while the 613 Jewish precepts of the Torah will govern the Chosen People. This was so arranged thousands of years ago and inexorably and without hindrance this Plan has been fulfilled, for this world and all that Jehovah God has created belongs to Him.

This order of things cannot be concluded until the Messiah of Israel comes. His coming has therefore been prepared for in several stages:

Stage One: Christianity

The Jews (St. Paul and other rabbis) invented Christianity in order to make the people know Gentiles the Law of Jehovah (Torah) and the plans of Jehovah. And in the process tame them and make them meek as sheep, through the myth Jesus Christ. Christianity would be a good religion for the non-Jews, until the coming of the Messiah, of course.

Second Stage: Freemasonry

With Christianity, the plan to make known the Torah and the glorious destiny of the Chosen People to the other peoples of the earth was partly successful. But a problem arose: the Christians did not know the Torah.

They became very domesticated and began to feel superior to the Jews, and then very anti-Semitic, and ended up persecuting and killing Jews. Then they invented Freemasonry.

Freemasonry is a terrible criticism of Christianity, which had to be dismantled at all costs. Masonry affirms from the outset the superiority of the Jews and the glorious destiny of Israel by order of Jehovah. But non-Jews are reassured that in the Messianic Kingdom Masons will occupy privileged places. The god of the non-Jewish Freemasons will not be Jehovah, but an entity minor: The Great Architect of the Universe. This religion is closer to Judaism and will never be anti-Semitic. Moreover, after centuries of Christian propaganda, Talmudic plans for world conquest can now be discussed more clearly in Freemasonry without anyone being horrified. Indeed, in many respects the philosophy of Freemasonry seems to have been devised by a Talmudic scholar, or scholars.

A Masonic attempt to plan another religion for non-Jews before the coming of the Messiah comes to mind: Albert Pike's false Luciferianism in the 19th century. Lucifer, a god for non-Jews, and in the service of Jehovah! This, because it was so comical, crude and absurd, had no success, except for some confusion it sowed in its time.

Stage Three: Marxism

Once mankind had been indoctrinated and "educated" in Masonic philosophy and religion, and Jehovah's plans for His Chosen People had been further recognised by non-Jews, and Masonic ideas had spread to all the nations of the world, there was one more blow to be struck. That further thrust is the Marxism. And their religion for non-Jews: atheism.

When the Messiah comes, atheism will be forbidden, for it is an affront to Jehovah. Then the supreme greatness of Jehovah and his Chosen People will be proclaimed and recognised throughout the earth. But in the meantime, atheism seems to come in handy so that the slaves of the "proletarian dictatorship" will accept their fate as cattle (mik-neh) and never discover that there is a God superior to the biblical Jehovah. Or that those who were born to be slaves are not themselves but the others.

This Third Stage, Marxism, is a fierce critique of the two previous stages, Christianity and Freemasonry, which it is charged with dismantling. Each stage is dismantling, "surpassing", the previous one, that's how the plan works. But all parties involved are in agreement with this.

One example: the United States financed Marxism (Khun, Loeb and Co.), protected it (supported the U.S.S.R. in World War II) and gave it the secrets of the atomic bomb (through agents Ethel and Julius Rosenberg).

Another example (Lenin's humorous dialogue with another communist):

- Let's hang all the capitalists.

- But comrade Lenin, how are we going to get so many ropes?

- They will provide them. Stage Four: Messianic World Dictatorship

When the Messiah comes there will be only the supreme empire of Torah and Talmud in all the Land. The Chosen People have transformed themselves into their own Messiah and are moving determinedly forward to their final triumph. All that we have seen so far has only been the preparation for what is to come. The Soviet system may well have been a pale and soft foretaste of it. Every religion, every book, every idea that is not aligned with Torah-Talmud will disappear. And there will be only the two religions stipulated in the Torah: the religion of the Jews and the religion of the Noachites. And there will be nothing else.

The horrible process of human enslavement, the acceleration of which began with Christianity during the decline of the Roman Empire, is reaching its final objective and goal. Only a miracle, a providential, non-human, not-of-this-world intervention, can avert the catastrophe of the Satanic World Dictatorship.
