FOREWORD

Let us look at the world of contrasts, on the one hand Christianity claims to be a doctrine of love, redemption, honesty and justice but the reality shows exactly the opposite, since the appearance of Christianity humanity has gradually degenerated, today the most Christian societies have become corrupt at every level, injustice, crime and immorality are the daily bread.

Being a boy raised in a devoutly Christian society where at the same time I saw the lack of values, degeneration and countless irregularities that came to be accepted and seen as "normal" was what led me to ask: What kind of religion is this? For something is wrong with a religious system that generates more problems than it avoids.

This work criticizes Judeo-Christianity from a philosophical standpoint, studying the principles it teaches, the history it has had, the character of the God it presents and the real behavior of its worshippers, which are elements that unmask this dangerous religion founded on in the ignorance, aggressiveness and fanaticism of which it has set a good example throughout its history.

I clarify that this is not an atheist book, the Christian God exists - there is no doubt about it - but he is a bloodthirsty, capricious and cruel monster, creator of the defective and caricatured world in which we live or rather survive. A God whose word has been spread through massacres and bonfires, who annihilates those who have the misfortune to have a different opinion, who has hells to eternally torture his miserable creatures... such a God cannot be good or just but a danger to humanity.

The cross and the God that Christianity reveres are far from symbolizing "salvation" and "hope" because they actually manifest torture and death as if they were the only ways to achieve redemption.

It is time to look at things as they are, leaving idealism aside, enough of praising with suicidal pride a deity as grim as this one, enough of closing our eyes to its innumerable defects, enough of stoically enduring the kicks it delivers to the human being, enough of praising a deity that is so unworthy of us all, enough of praising a deity that is so unworthy of us all, enough of praising a deity that is so unworthy of us all, enough of praising a deity that is so unworthy of us all!

religion for which the world is a stable and the human being a sheep!

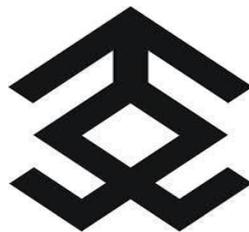

We are not sheep! we are people! we have a spirit, dignity and above all honor, nobody humiliates us much less the inept God who appears in the bible, that poor devil author of this imperfect universe that forces us - t h r o u g h threats - to pay him homage by thanking him for making us be born to suffer in this "valley of tears", treat us like a stepfather and be victims of his bad mood.

It is time to recover our spiritual honor, proudly raising the banner crowned by condors and eagles against the dove and the lamb imposed by that God of dirty shepherds who never! - let it be clear- w i l l never again mock us hyperboreans!

It's time to fight!

My honor is called loyalty!

CHAPTER I

SUMMARIZED CHARACTERISTICS OF THE JEWISH PEOPLE

If we review the history of the Jews taking as a reference their own sacred texts (such as the Talmud and the Bible) we see that this has been the most cruel, intolerant and abusive people of all those who existed in the world. Perpetually blinded by religious fanaticism, subjected to the tyrannical authority of their priests and conceited for being the "chosen nation" of Jehovah, the Hebrews were authorized to commit all kinds of cruelties and infamies seeking to please the divine will or receive his favor.

For such reasons this people could never become civilized, becoming an enemy of mankind, they inspired aversion and disdain in all foreign kingdoms. The history of the Israelites has been a constant exodus characterized by continuous persecutions and well-deserved rejections for their ungrateful and hostile attitude. In all the nations in which they were welcomed the Jews showed themselves to be rebels, ungrateful, evildoers, intolerant and usurpers of the rights of others, in a word bandits to whom it was

It is necessary to repress them by force because of the impossibility of reforming them by word and understanding.

An objective reading of the bible reveals the undesirable and violent temperament of this people, for example biblical example: The Jew Joseph initially slave of the Egyptians provided countless services to their masters interpreting dreams that they had, once won the trust of their masters Joseph was freed from slavery becoming state administrator, then royal adviser and finally Pharaoh of Egypt coming to direct government finances and then exploit the people who sheltered him. Another case of this mentality is seen in the Jew Moses (who was adopted and crowned prince by the Egyptian kings) once in power betrayed the Egyptian nation leading it to ruin.

This kind of behavior is not only observed in a handful of madmen but in a great part of the characters in the Bible: The Jew Joshua crosses the Red Sea and exterminates for no reason a city he did not know, from such extermination he only rescues a prostitute who had betrayed her rulers. Jonah intimidates the citizens of Nineveh, Tamar commits incest, Ruth shows herself to be a lewd woman, Ehud murders king Eglon, Javel eliminates the general Cicero by torturing him with a nail, Jefteh - obeying the law of Leviticus (chapter 27) - beheads his unfortunate daughter, the tribe of Benjamin does not hesitate to practice sodomy with a Levite priest, Abimelech forms a gang of mercenaries to commit crimes, David usurps Saul's throne, murders the son of the prophet Jonathas, but then annihilates Uriah to keep secret his adultery with Bathsheba, who in the future would be the mother of King Solomon, the Jewish monarch whose first order was to murder his brother Adonijah.

Such is the psychological temperament of the Jews that is embodied in the bible. As if what we have just shown were not sinister enough, let us see what the Talmud (holy book of the Jews) teaches about us Gentiles<sup>1</sup> to end up stupefied<sup>2</sup> :

- "Sexual intercourse with a Goyim [non-Jew] is equal to that of a beast" (Sanhedrin, 74b).

<sup>2</sup> The names in parentheses below refer to books that make up the Talmud or holy book of the Jews.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

- "The semen of a Goyim [non-Jew] has the same value as the semen of a beast" (Ketuboth, 3b).

- "The souls of the gentiles [non-Jews] come from Keliphah, which is death and the shadow of death" (I Zohar: 131a).

- "A Jew possesses such great dignity that not even an angel can match him" (Chullin, 91b).

- "Those who do good to the Akhum [Christianized Gentiles] will not rise from the dead" (I Zohar: 21b).

- "The gods of the Gentiles must be destroyed or be contemptuously named" (Iore Dea: 146,15).

- "All things belonging to a Goyim [non-Jew] are like the desert the first person who comes and takes them can claim them as his own" (Hammischpat: 183,7).

- "If a Jew is able to defraud the Gentiles by pretending to be a devotee of the stars, he must do so" (Hagah: 157,2).

- "It is not a sin if a Jew lies to a Goyim [non-Jew] ..."
(Baba Kama: 137b)

- "The Akhum [Christianized Gentiles] should not be cured even for money" (Iore Dea: 158,1).

- "No help should be given to any Goyim [non-Jewish] or Akhum woman during childbirth..." (Orach Chaim: 330.2).

- "All the Gentile peoples of the earth are idolaters and of them it is written: let them be wiped off the face of the earth" (Zohar 1:25a).

- "All Goyim [non-Jews] must be killed, even the best" (Aboda Zarah, 26b).

- "The donkeys represent the non-Jews who must be redeemed through the offering of the lamb which is the scattered flock of Israel. If the goyim refuse to be slaughtered, their skulls must be broken..." (II Zohar, 43a).

- "All gentile children are animals." (Yebamoth, 98a)

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

- "What is a prostitute? Every woman who is not a Jewess."
(Eben to Ezer, 6, 8)

- "Jehovah created the non-Jew in human form so that the Jew would not be served by beasts. Therefore the non-Jew is an animal in human form, condemned to serve the Jew day and night." (Taltioph, 255)

What a people! Whose laws promote racism, crime and injustice by authorizing them to commit crimes that cause horror. The above evidence should be enough to disprove the myth that Jews are docile and tolerant because they are far from being so, if the gentiles knew what the Talmud really teaches they would be shocked.

In view of this, no one can deny that Judaism is a danger to Gentile (non-Jewish) humanity, therefore the attempts of certain "pro-Jewish" people and groups who vociferously try to prove the contrary - conducting campaigns in which they sanctify these monsters while hiding their crimes - must be considered ignorant, because only a complete ignoramus could come to the defense of such an infamous mob as this one.

On the contrary, anyone who has carefully studied the history of this people and reviewed the precepts of their sacred books will see it from a different perspective, envisioning a race of murderers and devils in human form, towards whom they will be filled with righteous anger.

The Jew is not only a murderer of the Gentile in theory, his history demonstrates that he puts into practice all that his sacred texts instruct. For these reasons they were hated by Philistines, Chaldeans, Assyrians, Greeks, Babylonians, Phoenicians and Romans, in the Middle Ages by the Teutonic Knights, Spanish, French, the Holy Roman Empire, in the twentieth century by Germans, Palestinians, Arabs, Italians and Norwegians. The Jews always aroused the antipathy of all civilizations that had the misfortune to come across their mean and depraved nation.

In all its periods this people shows nothing but a crass record of lewdness and crimes sacramentalized under religious cover, the trajectory of the Jews is an unbroken chain of mass murder and bloodbaths, their wickedness blessed from heaven itself did not even exempt pregnant women, children and the elderly in all the countries they

These monsters desolated with the help of their God. Here is the picture of a people who believe themselves to be "holy"!

So many centuries of rejection did not make the Semites more sensible, on the contrary, they reaffirmed their stubbornness and shamelessness, infatuated with considering themselves a "superior" and "chosen race", far from reforming themselves, they continued acting like the outlaw troop they always were. I would like to believe that the dark abominations contained in the Bible and the Talmud were mere legends or exaggerations, but I can see neither the one nor the other. To this day the Jews continue to excel in their murderous, treacherous, hypocritical and degenerate qualities.

Just look around the world to discover that the most grotesque crimes and machinations - more often than not - were engineered or perpetrated by some member of this people: Sigmund Freud creator of cocaine and the pseudo-science of psychoanalysis - Jew! Karl Marx whose theories claimed millions of lives in communist dictatorships -Jew!, Trotsky, Zinoviev, Lenin and Stalin and other Bolshevik tyrants who murdered more than 35 million people -Jews!, the pornographic industry magnates Hugh Hefner and David Goldberg, both Jews! If we add to this that since the creation of the Israeli State the Hebrews have massacred almost a million Palestinians to later cruelly raze the cities of Gaza<sup>3</sup> there should be no doubt that this mob represents a threat to the existence of the human race.

The Jew constantly talks about the duties and debts that others have towards his "chosen people" but never mentions anything about the help he receives from the gentiles nor the pharisaic maneuvers with which he manages to obtain these benefits, but when a country denounces the subway maneuvers with which the Jew operates, seeing himself unmasked, he turns a blind eye, the innocent, the victim, the persecuted, whining in public to move people, demands human rights, forms "anti-racist" committees and associations that protect him, giving him impunity to continue swindling freely his benefactors and destroying all those who try to put him in line or threaten to rebel against his filth.

It is not possible to consider "innocent" and "blessed" an unsociable people who have brought misfortune to all those who have

<sup>3</sup> In 2014 Israel ravaged the cities of Gaza killing even innocent civilians.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

They surrounded themselves, who in the name of their God committed any kind of robbery without the slightest remorse to the point of turning crime into a custom, as is expected of a collective composed of vagabonds, murderers and robbers. By nature the Jew is extremely cruel but at the same time a great coward, for he demands from the Gentiles the tolerance, mercy and respect that his people always denied to mankind. If the Jews wish to be respected first, they should learn to respect!

It is in the midst of this people whose mentality would shake the most determined evildoer that the religion of which I write arises. Every religion like a tree depends on the soil in which it has developed, a seed placed in healthy soil, free of weeds, parasites and pollution, benefited by pure air, abundant sunshine and fresh water has to grow strong producing solid and healthy fruit, on the contrary a seed placed in arid, unhealthy, invaded by pests and parasites will wither easily regardless of the care applied to it, if it produces fruit this has to be shriveled and decadent. If Christianity comes from the Jews we should not expect good fruit from it, just as we should not expect life by sowing stones in the middle of a swamp.

CHAPTER II PSYCHOLOGICAL

CHARACTERISTICS OF THE GOD JUDEO-CHRISTIAN

"My wrath will be kindled and I will kill you with the sword."

(Exodus 22:23)

Knowing the nature of the Jews, we should not be surprised that their God is a model of intolerance, cruelty and injustice, a perverse being of uncertain temperament, fickle, lacking uniformity in his conduct that contradicts himself at every moment.

In the Bible, Jehovah is presented as a being bent on harming the human race, an expert in tormenting his creatures, setting traps for man and cruelly tormenting him for falling into them. A good part of the Bible tells us stories whose plot is always articulated by violence, tyranny and caprice.

Adam and Eve were victims of a naivety that led them to the abyss, beings as innocent as children who were forbidden by God to eat from a tree that He strangely placed within their reach inside a garden where He allowed a demon to to roam freely seducing these unwary people who would succumb hopelessly in this ingenious trap. For the imprudence of two people, all human posterity is punished by this God. Could such nonsense be a sign of "justice" and "paternal love"?

Years later, humanity again unleashes the wrath of Jehovah who decides to exterminate it in a flood in which plants and animals perish unjustly for a fault committed only by men. He whose love claims to be "impartial" and "equal" for all mortals takes Israel as "chosen people", showering them with blessings and indulgences, allowing them to rape, pillage, plunder, plunder, besiege and destroy entire nations. In favor of this people Jehovah again and again alters the laws of nature, forgives and overlooks any crime, tolerances surprisingly denied to the Gentile peoples mercilessly exterminated in the past by means of floods, plagues and other genocides.

If this God says "to love all his children equally", were not the Canaanites, Philistines, Egyptians and other gentile peoples his children? Another question: Before the 10 commandments there was no code regulating human behavior,

If so, we could say that "everything was permitted", then why were the Gentiles punished by God if they did not break any rules since such regulations did not yet exist?<sup>4</sup> For without law there can be no crime, and - it is redundant - it is impossible to transgress non-existent norms.

Such a deity is a gross insult to human composure and intelligence, Jehovah is a second rate God praised by fools and enemies of reason, because only a fool would take as a model such a pitiful, absurd and decadent deity. The God that the Bible shows us, besides being inept, is a vile phony who decrees commands that he himself breaks at will, a God who forbids us to do what he does!

A few moments Jehovah claims to be a "God of peace and love" and later orders wars, massacres and vandalism, boasts of his "mercy" but destroys Sodom, Gomorrah in a Holocaust of Fire, to take revenge on Pharaoh sends plagues to Egypt by killing the firstborn children who had no involvement in the Hebrew captivity, urges Samson to <sup>4</sup> For example: Moses before receiving the tablets of the law had committed a murder and was not punished for it, unlike the Gentiles.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

He forbids fornication and polygamy but tolerates that Solomon possesses 300 concubines and writes the "Song of Songs" a libidinous poem that would make indecency itself blush, forbids idolatry but orders Moses to carve the images of 2 cherubim in the temple of the tabernacle, condemns adultery but in the New Testament conceives his son in the body of Mary a woman engaged to another man, presumes to be immutable and wise giving his law to the Jews (decreed in the Old Testament) for centuries later send his Jesus with the mission to modify these statutes which he himself advised that they should be taken as infallible and true.

The God that Christians worship I could even remotely respect him, respect is earned not commanded, therefore a God who wishes to be worshipped by men must become an example for them by being the first to practice the laws he demands of his worshippers. I cannot venerate a God who, doing whatever he wants, has the nerve to demand that I rigorously comply with his laws.

Christians say that in order to obtain redemption God only demands that his statutes be fulfilled, ok! then these should be immutable, clear, concrete and understandable for every human being, the funny thing here is that the opposite happens, the bible is full of metaphors, riddles and stories whose language launches different interpretations that lead us to confusion, in parts the message is literal in others metaphorical, one moment a law is decreed later it is invalidated ...

It is strange that a God supposedly committed to human salvation should be so bent on hindering it by decreeing uncertain and confusing laws maliciously designed not to be understood. Such strange and malicious behavior suggests that this deity strives to bring about the condemnation of his worshippers by hindering their redemption<sup>5</sup> .

This God admits that very few men will understand his commands correctly, therefore only one

<sup>5</sup> It is one thing for a teacher, because of his weak pedagogy, not to be able to adequately transmit the knowledge he imparts to his students; it is quite another for him to consciously strive not to be understood by his disciples. In the first case he would be inept, in the second case he would be infamous.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

A small number of people will obtain salvation while a large part of humanity will be condemned to spend eternity in hell<sup>6</sup> , so I wonder if this plan of salvation would not be a failure?

To make this picture more ridiculous, the Christians say that salvation will only be obtained by those who adopt the Judeo-Christian religion, according to these people a man of exceptional virtues and honesty but whose belief differs from Christianity is condemned to spend eternity in the forge of hell? However for the Judeo-Christians hell and paradise are tokens of "divine justice"<sup>7</sup> .

In my opinion, justice is to give to each one what corresponds to him in relation to his faults and virtues. That is to say, a reward or punishment should correspond to the magnitude of the crime or merit that has been committed. Hell is unjust because it is disproportionate; a crime committed in an ephemeral life is punished eternally -

<sup>6</sup> According to the Bible (Revelation 7:4) out of all mankind only 144,000 people will be saved.

<sup>7</sup> In Dante Alighieri's Divine Comedy (1321?/1972) this situation is observed when Dante, accompanied by Virgil, travels through hell and meets Plato, Aristotle, Socrates and other virtuous pagans whose only sin was not to profess the Christian religion because in his time it did not yet exist (!). The Christian hell seems more like a prison for the innocent.

crime that had a degree of magnitude and temporality. I wonder what need does God have to perpetuate the lives of some unfortunate people, making them eternally miserable, applying tortures that will never end? The hell devised by the Christian God borders on such an extreme idea of perfidy and cruelty that it would eclipse even Marquez de Sade himself.

With an evil despot always dissatisfied<sup>8</sup> with his creations, an expert in tormenting them by placing a series of obstacles to prevent their redemption and to propitiate their eternal damnation.

-Due to the failure of his plan of redemption, we are only left with the idea that this God has created man to martyr him eternally, making his existence miserable in this life and in the next.

When the Christian speaks of "divine love" he does nothing but applaud the author and accomplice of every misfortune observed and suffered, his God can sometimes be evil, harmful and unjust acting as a fierce demon, at other times magnanimous and kind without reason, yet Christians stubbornly obstinate in worshipping him, bearing in a masochistic manner the outrages and humiliations of a merciless divinity which they disguise under a mask of "gentleness" and "love"<sup>9</sup> .

<sup>8</sup> Indeed, nothing pleases this God, every human action unleashes his wrath, even the simple fact of being born already constitutes a crime catalogued as "original sin".

They say that "God is perfect"<sup>10</sup> and "everything there is is His work", but if God is "perfect", His creations should be too! You don't have to be a genius to realize the great ball of dung that is the world we live in, a creation plagued with countless defects and imperfections, diseases, pains and deformities of all kinds and sizes, I wonder how a "perfect being" could have created such an eyesore of a universe, to argue that God is perfect seeing such an imperfect creation would be like attributing talent to an artist whose works are a disaster<sup>11</sup> .

<sup>9</sup> Everything that this God does in the eyes of the Christian will always be "right", and this is the greatest proof of his despotism. Only tyrants place themselves above the law, they confuse justice with license and benevolence with legitimacy, they consider just and right whatever satisfies their whims and interests.

<sup>10</sup> In genesis it is said that after creating the universe in 6 days, Jehovah decided to rest on the seventh day. The question arises: How can a perfect and omnipotent God feel tired?

<sup>11</sup> Ask the Judeo-Christians to their demonic God why he created bacteria, viruses, diseases, pains and so many sufferings that devastate the lives of his creatures, why NO GOOD OR EVIL LIVING BEING IS FREE OF SUFFERING? He will not answer anything because like all vain madmen he hates to be questioned and whoever dares to complain about his work will have his mouth slammed shut.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

I am told that the beauty of the landscapes, the flowers, the sky and other elements of nature as well as the pleasures it lavishes on us are proofs of "divine perfection", but the argument sounds pitiful. This creation cannot be good or perfect because it is based on the pain of its creatures, because every living being needs to eliminate another to subsist, the strongest men and animals kill and eat other weaker beings, even herbivores and vegetarian individuals need to destroy plants and vegetables - which are also living beings - to feed themselves and continue living. A creation of such characteristics where all its living beings are destroyed can only be hell!<sup>12</sup>

In this adephetic world every living being subsists at the cost of the suffering of others, nothing is lasting, all creation is based on FINITUDE as the final objective, the beauty of landscapes, flowers, youth, etc., are ephemeral and limited delights that sooner or later will end: a flower withers, beauty dissolves, health is extinguished by diseases, as time goes by everything ages and is destroyed, reproducing the chain of pain and suffering.

<sup>12</sup> For these reasons the Gnostics represent the Creator God as a horrible and cruel being. The Gnostic José María Herrou Aragón in his work: The Forbidden Religion (2005/2013) refers to Jehovah as a "Creator Satan" who under no circumstances can be good.

which Christians call a "beautiful and perfect creation"! Amazing!

As Schopenhauer (1818/1987) mentions<sup>13</sup> it would be enough for an optimist (in this case a Christian) to observe the miseries in the world and the torments to which his life is exposed to be shocked to recognize what kind of a world he believes to be "perfect" (1818/1987:32-33). Well-being is minuscule in comparison with the miseries that beset man. In this world happiness is unreal, we can only make our misery more tolerable but not totally eliminate it.

Happiness implies a systematic well-being, that is to say absolute in each and every one of the aspects that make up our life, but we never enjoy absolute prosperity there is always something we do not have, it does not go as we wish or we have deliberately lost, we all carry frustrations, worries and anxieties that hinder our lives, these circumstances make it impossible to have absolute well-being and therefore happiness. We only have fleeting joys that make the misery we carry more bearable. The

<sup>13</sup> See Schopenhauer's work: The World as Will and Representation (1818/1987).

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

Christians confuse happiness with ephemeral joys, in their exaggerated optimism they overvalue the small satisfactions of this decadent creation, closing their eyes to the immense monstrosities it entails. For every caress their God gives them a thousand kicks and for every smile a sea of tears, these crumbs of joy are for Christians irrefutable proofs of "divine goodness" Incredible!

Christians assure us that evil and injustice will no longer exist in the heavenly life because their God has promised it, but what guarantee do we have that this God will fulfill his promise in the future, a being of changeable temperament who tolerates injustice and pain in this world could easily tolerate it in the next if he felt like it, couldn't he? If Christians would carefully reflect on the psychology of the God they praise, they would understand that even if they were to reach salvation, an eternity of uncertainty would await them, not knowing what new plot the Creator is planning to disturb them in the future. On the other hand, if God has created everything that exists in the universe, he would indirectly be the creator of evil, Christians say: "God has not created evil, he only allows it".

Can a God who permits evil when he can prevent it be kind?<sup>14</sup>

Trying to justify this strange behavior, Christians empty the origin of evil in the devil who seduces men to lead them to perdition, but if God is omnipotent and in the universe nothing happens without his approval, it shows that the devil enjoys divine permission to act to the detriment of mortals, so God would be an accomplice of the evil that afflicts humanity?

It is utopian to expect peace and justice from a God for whom the world is a plaything, in which he enjoys the pain he inflicts on his unhappy creatures. Christians say that God allows the suffering of men so that they will give "proof of their faith", but if God is all-powerful and knows everything, even the thoughts of men, what need does he have to set up dramatic tests to verify a loyalty that he is supposed to know beforehand?

A God of such attributes can only generate a feeling of nostalgia towards life, which really tells us the

<sup>14</sup> Holbach (1761/2009) said that allowing an avoidable evil is equally or more reprehensible than committing it.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

Christianity is that we are born inheriting the sin of our parents to live in a chaotic world where we will endure sufferings and misfortunes that will end with death, to later be resurrected in the afterlife with high probabilities of spending eternity in hell for having displeased some whim of this God whose only purpose seems to be to harm men for the simple fact of existing. Personally, I shudder to think that such a perverse and monstrous character is the one who governs the whole universe.

These are just some sketches of the God that Christians adopted from the Jews and whom they try to show us as a model of "perfection" and "benevolence" when in reality we see a God of uncertain character who has no rules other than his whims, despot, evil and bloodthirsty who does whatever he wants with everything and everyone he can, exhibiting a cruelty and sadism typical of a demon<sup>15</sup> that would make the most twisted criminals blush.

<sup>15</sup> In the scriptures it is revealed that Jehovah is the devil: "[David Censures the People] The anger of the LORD was kindled again against Israel, and he stirred up David against them, saying, Go, take a census of Israel and Judah. (II Samuel 24:1). In the book of Chronicles we read, "[David Census the People] But Satan rose up against Israel, and stirred up David to take a census of Israel." (I Chronicles, 21:1)

CHAPTER III

THE BIBLE AND ITS INTERPRETATIONS

"No sooner had they finished preaching Christ than they accused each other of being Antichrists and as is natural, in all these theological disputes there was nothing that was not built on absurdity and deception."

Voltaire

"In the religious struggles everyone accused everyone of counterfeiting compared to pagan counterfeits, the Judeo-Christian ones stand out for their great quantity."

Wolfgang Speyer

"Counterfeiting begins in the New World era," says Testament and have never ceased."

Carl Schneider (evangelical theologian)

As I mentioned in the previous chapter, in order for a law to be obeyed it must first be understood, being necessary that it be expressed in a clear, concrete and concise manner without giving rise to misunderstandings. The divine word that appears in the bible, on the contrary, is confusing, instead of clarifying doubts.

The law communicated in codes and metaphors will hardly be perceived and practiced.

For such a salad of riddles and inaccuracies is that the bible responds to multiple meanings which legitimize radically opposite behaviors giving a selective interpretation of the sacred texts, where each sect understands the bible in their own way and convenience, hence Christianity is the most divided religion that exists.

To this day the Judeo-Christian theologians of various denominations cannot agree on the proper way to interpret the scriptures, each group believes their biblical interpretation is correct, discrediting the interpretation of other groups whose idea of God is different. With so many divisions there is no precise belief, if there are so many groups that claim to be Christian I wonder which one is really the true one and has correctly interpreted the scriptures?

This ridiculousness becomes alarming when we see that each Christian sect has its own version of the Bible: Catholics recognize the texts of Maccabees I and II along with the book of Tobit as part of the Old Testament, while Protestants exclude them, denying the "divine inspiration" of the Bible.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

The Mormons have created the "Book of Mormon", the Mennonites the "Book of Mennon", the Jehovah's Witnesses their "Translation of the Holy Scriptures for the New World" in which synonyms abound to embellish the alleged "revelations", other groups dependent on Catholicism have created the "Latin American Bible" written tendentiously supposedly for their "easy understanding", etc., etc., etc.

What can we expect from such a split religion where the divine word in one sect means one thing and in another the message changes? Thus, multiple biblical interpretations arise that adjust to the usefulness of each Christian faction, some groups will speak of a "revolutionary God", of a "socialist" God, others of an "implacable", "pious", "fraternal", "permissive" God, etc.<sup>16</sup> . It should not surprise us that in a Judeo-Christian sect customs are practiced and preached that are forbidden in others, and vice versa<sup>17</sup> .

<sup>16</sup> An example of this is the "literal" or "metaphorical" character of the scriptures, in some sects certain passages are interpreted literally while in other groups they are given an allegorical character, certain factions are governed more to the old testament (Jehovah's Witnesses, Adventists, Evangelicals) others focus on the new (Baptists, Methodists, Catholics, Anglicans).

<sup>17</sup> For example, Catholics erect statues and figures to represent their God, virgins and saints, they use wine in their rituals, something that Protestants condemn since, according to them, images are idolatries and

The bible encompasses so many enigmas that it seems to be designed to increase the darkness of human ignorance, a man who would thoroughly review the scriptures in them would only see an incomprehensible God whose "revelations" are always uncertain and cloudy.

Nor should it surprise us that Christians do not have a clear idea of the God they worship, as Pablo Santa Cruz mentions in his text Metaethics Social Psychology (2011) Catholics imagine God as "a Trinity headed by Christ, while Protestants at the same time believe in the Jehovah of the Old Testament and the Jesus of the New "... without being able to determine who is the predominant God, whether Jesus, Jehovah or both" (2011:20).

Another feature of the biblical scriptures is that they cannot be understood except through intermediaries who claim to represent God and speak in his name. If in order to understand the divine commands it is necessary that a mediator (whether pastor, minister, priest, deacon, etc.,) take the trouble to decipher them the ingestion of alcohol is forbidden by God. The Jehovah's Witnesses prohibit blood transfusions because they interpret that this is the biblical command, Mormons do not smoke, nor do they consume coffee, energizers, etc.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

a Christian is prevented from understanding the heavenly messages by himself, always depending on a presumed "chosen one" who attributes to himself the quality of fully interpreting the divine revelations.

According to Christians, no man can understand God through reason, since "divine perfection" invalidates reasoning<sup>18</sup>, so why do they trust the interpretations that their prophets, pastors and clergymen make of the divine will, if all of them were men and therefore their reason was useless to understand God? What guarantee does the Christian have that the biblical prophets, their pastors and clergymen have acquired a complete understanding of the divine revelation? if we should not trust the reasoning of man, what certainty do we have that their interpreters are not mistaken?<sup>19</sup> If a Christian were to exercise his reasoning, he should always be on guard as to the veracity of the message that his leaders communicate to him, since it is not known with certainty whether these revelations are true or merely delusions of men who pretend to be messengers of the Supreme.

<sup>18</sup> They therefore advise that "the reason of men should not be trusted".

<sup>19</sup> For a Catholic the word of his clergy is "infallible" because it is inspired by God while that of a Protestant pastor is not and vice versa, but again we come to the same point: Who is telling the truth? How to prove that a spokesman is really inspired by God and is not a liar who only speaks for himself?

Therefore, it is not surprising that apostasy (change of religion) is a very common phenomenon among Christians - who, dissatisfied with the interpretation of the scriptures by a certain group, abandon it in search of a new sect whose version of the biblical God is more convenient than the one offered by their former congregation - apostatizing from one group to another to the point of making a Religious Tour<sup>20</sup> . If a judicious skeptic wished to embrace Christianity, he would fall prey to uncertainty at the very outset, seeing such a multiplicity of "Christian" sects attacking and persecuting each other mercilessly, each claiming to be the true one.

The variety of groups shows that there is something incoherent in Christian doctrines, if these were true they would not cause so much partition and enmity, according to Goffman "... something must be wrong with a performance when those who know it best do not agree." (1959/1997: 225-226) is to say that a religion loses credibility when its members never reach a consensus on its doctrines, much worse if within that collectivity various fragmentations and cliques emerge where each one discredits the others claiming to be right.

The diversity of sects and churches existing within Christianity and the innumerable interpretations that each one makes of the bible shows us the falsity of Christian doctrines and the weak logical support they have, proving that Christians -whatever their brotherhood- pretend to validate a dogma that is laughably unsustainable.

CHAPTER IV

ON BIBLICAL TEACHINGS

If we carefully study the biblical teachings we will hardly find anything worth rescuing in them. In the Old Testament alone we come across countless verses that relate violent behaviors and deeds, negative and absolutely opposed to any healthy religious culture, which propose as a model a people of outlaws who are free to kill, invade, enslave and outrage people if that pleases the God who "has chosen them".

Let us look at a few examples related in the Old Testament: In Leviticus (27: 28-29) the killing of non-believers is authorized without distinguishing sex, kinship, age and social class, in Deuteronomy (20: 10-18) Jehovah permits the devastation of entire cities, the enslavement of their inhabitants and the plunder of their possessions, in Exodus (21: 12-13; 20-21) God exempts from punishment all those who murder in his name and applauds that slaves are whipped for mere amusement, in Exodus (22: 15-16) he authorizes the rape of girls provided the abuser marries his victim or pays compensation to the father, in Numbers (5:1-3) commands the Jews to kill all Gentiles.

In Genesis (30:14-22) God authorizes prostitution allowing Jacob to fornicate with Leah in exchange for a few apples, in Judges (19:1-30) femicide is promoted, in Jeremiah (48:7-46) it is considered valid that a father sacrifices his children offering them as divine tribute. In Ezekiel (9:4- 6) Jehovah allows the Jews to massacre old men, women and suckling children. In short, we come across innumerable stories whose moral always teaches that the divine will justifies any plunder. Of such a nature are the precepts of the Christian religion whose first mistake was to adopt the detestable God of the Jews. But even so, Christians have the audacity to consider the Bible as the book with the greatest moral content and wisdom in the history of mankind? It would be necessary to ask them on what they base their assertion.

No one denies that some of the maxims contained in the 10 commandments ("do not kill", "do not lie", "do not steal", "do not commit adultery or fornicate", etc.) are necessary for people to live together in society without destroying each other<sup>21</sup> ,

<sup>21</sup> On the other hand, such principles are the fruit of common sense and were taught by numerous societies (Romans, Phoenicians, Greeks, etc.),

But what good are these few rules if pages later we find a million verses authorizing totally opposite behavior?<sup>22</sup> .

Leaving aside the edicts that incite wars, persecutions, revenge and genocides, the teachings proclaimed in the New Testament are absurd and impracticable, canons plagued with illogical absolutisms, generalists little made for man and disastrous to the good social coexistence. If we carefully analyze the precepts that Christianity presents as "virtues" we will see in them nothing more than scabrous, exaggerated and decadent ideas for any person of criteria, commands adorned with pompous language that seem to be directed only to the ignorant and dreamers.

Christianity inculcates a principle of absolute, absolute and indiscriminate love based on a nefarious principle of exaggerated equality, a love devoid of merit that fosters injustice by teaching that "everyone should be loved" even those who do not have the right to be loved.

Babylonians, etc.) and religions (Buddhism, Hinduism, Taoism) before Judeo-Christianity.

<sup>22</sup> For example, Christians say that anger is a cardinal sin, so how can God feel anger if it is a sin, if God feels anger he would be a sinner and therefore God could not be perfect.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

they neither deserve nor deserve to receive such sentiment<sup>23</sup> . Love, friendship and any other feeling are based on distinction, merit and justice, / love those who deserve it instead of wasting my love and friendship on ungrateful people. To love everyone equally takes away the value and merit of our affection, if we love anyone, what is so special and exclusive about our esteem?<sup>24</sup>

If we must love those who deserve it, I find it impossible to love a God of such a gloomy temperament as this one, who demands homage from his creatures, sentencing them to eternal embers if they refuse to reverence him, in short, a God whose tyranny inspires nothing but contempt.

Love is not a forced feeling, no one can force you to feel love, if God needs to threaten his creatures in order for them to

<sup>23</sup> The teaching of human equality preached by Christianity in some biblical passages contributes to the involution of society. For example, every country has a State which is based on hierarchies and social strata necessary to administer power, govern and decree laws, if Christianity teaches that "all men are equal" all hierarchies would be null and void, consequently the State would disappear and every nation would be plunged into anarchy.

<sup>24</sup> It would be as ridiculous as if a teacher assigned the maximum score to all his students without distinguishing between them the dedicated and the lazy ones, if that teacher approves everyone including those who did not deserve it then what sense does the sacrifice of the studious have if a slacker will be rewarded with the maximum score?

These love him evidences his incapacity to obtain sincere love from them<sup>25</sup> . The love that the Christian claims to feel for his God cannot be true, a hateful and overbearing divinity will not be able to inspire tenderness in any of his devotees and from them he will only obtain a simulated love.

"To honor your parents for the simple fact that they have procreated you" is insipid, not every person is kind, just or prepared to raise a child, therefore having children does not make anyone a saint! If life is full of pain and misfortune it cannot be something for which we should be grateful, much less if those who gave it to us did nothing more than make an effort to make it miserable<sup>26</sup> .

<sup>25</sup> In the same way Jehovah claims to be the "only God", he is jealous of other gods and harshly condemns their worship, but if Jehovah is really the only true God, why is he so envious of supposedly non-existent gods? It is illogical to show jealousy in the face of an unreal stalking?

<sup>26</sup> Such teaching ultimately commands man to pay homage to a pair of tyrants whose parental status gives them a license to commit with impunity any crime against their children without accountability to justice. Rare is the person who really appreciates his children, making an effort to guide them and raise them properly, watching over their education and happiness. In general, most of those who assume the role of father and mother have shown little or no preparation to perform such a delicate task and instead of guaranteeing the happiness of their children, they have ended up becoming their most bitter executioners. Today, children find more danger inside their homes and at the hands of their parents than in the outside world. Yet these men are so brazen that they demand from their children tributes and

"How can we love a person whose virtues and defects we do not know? "Love your enemies" is a ridiculous precept, - unless we are masochists - I find it impossible to love the one who harms us, in an extreme of stoicism we can at most abstain from revenge but never love the one who has caused us harm.

To "forgive everyone equally" is an equally foolish advice, not every error or damage produced has a solution, therefore not every error is forgivable, a forgiveness of this nature is unjust because it absolves a man of a deserved punishment, if someone has caused us irreparable damage he will never be able to solve that damage no matter what he does or how sorry he is, therefore his repentance is useless and forgiving him is useless and unjust.

tributes in exchange for providing so much misery. These people have made injustice and tyranny a habit that has become morally instituted in our society, it is not uncommon to see the most perverse parents torturing and humiliating their children under the pretext of "disciplining" them, taking pride in such abuses, receiving from the crowd applause and cheers. If a son were to beat his parents even in self-defense, he would end up being catalogued as a dangerous criminal for "having raised his hand against those who gave him life", but a father is free to assault his children whenever he wishes, strange this Christian morality which condemns a son to defend himself but approves that a man mistreats and murders the product of his own blood?

"Offering the other cheek" goes against the instinct of survival present in every living being, such a precept suggests that we should tolerate any outrage without doing or saying anything<sup>27</sup> ? When we are insulted it is natural to feel hatred and rage, I find it hard to believe that there are people who do not hate their torturers. Repressing hatred generates a series of psychic and physical problems, from depression, anxieties to gastritis, eczema, allergies, etc., that is why the Christian martyrs who stoically tolerated the outrages inflicted on them by their rivals suffered skin diseases, insomnia and showed sadomasochistic behaviors (self-flagellations, fasting, bodily mortifications) that were nothing but psycho-biological manifestations of the strong hatred they repressed inside themselves.

I would be an abnormal person if I stopped feeling anger and indignation at the injustices, humiliations, insolence and treachery that others inflict on me, so it is fair and even healthy to vent hatred against our enemies,

<sup>27</sup> Not even an ass would stoically tolerate these gloomy teachings because any living being reacts to danger either by attacking or defending itself to safeguard its integrity, Christian maxims nullify these reactions in man by advising him to resign himself to suffering evils and misfortunes.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

if you repress your anger you will end up exploding, harming yourself physically and mentally by holding on to such negative emotions.

The fact that you are kind does not guarantee that others will treat you well, in the same way that being a vegetarian will not prevent a lion from devouring you, let's look at things as they are! Not all people are "good" and "honest", if you always "offer the other cheek" you will end up being a meal ticket for the bad guys, they will see you as a helpless fool that they can offend and hurt with impunity, but if you treat your rivals with the hatred they deserve you will provoke fear and they will hardly offend you in the future<sup>28</sup> .

Christian virtues do not work! Christ demonstrated that his teachings are inapplicable, the Jesus who preached "offer the other cheek", "love your neighbor and forgive" did not skimp on assaulting the merchants in the temple, calling the Pharisees "race of vipers" and withering a fig tree on a mere whim, what if these men and living beings were not "children of God", their

<sup>28</sup> According to Machiavelli it is better to be feared than loved, people easily offend those they love but think twice before offending those they fear, the fear of revenge discourages them. See: Niccolo Machiavelli: The Prince (1963).

"neighbors" or "enemies" whom I am supposed to love and forgive?<sup>29</sup>

Christians trying to justify their doctrines say "God loved the world to the point that he sacrificed his only son to redeem sinners", such a fatuous postulate constitutes for theologians a proof of "piety and divine justice" but I ask them how can a God who sacrifices an innocent person to exempt the guilty from punishment be just?<sup>30</sup> , if a Christian takes for model the teachings of a God whose sample of "love" and "justice" is the death of his own son, whose chosen people as well as his prophets and kings are a gang of bandits and delinquents, we already have an idea of the behavior that Christians have and the bent bases on which they base their morals.

<sup>29</sup> If these people persist so much in preaching unconditional love for their neighbor, it is because they are not able to accept the reality of the world in which we live, by nature men are not good and loving, they have the capacity to love yes, but also the capacity to hate, that is why it should not surprise us that the most fanatic Christians (who presume to love others even their enemies) when they compete with someone pray to their God to punish their adversary, since they cannot execute their enemies they ask God to do the dirty work for them.

<sup>30</sup> It was not even a voluntary sacrifice, Jesus, before being arrested and crucified, asked God, if possible, to free him from drinking that "bitter drink", already on the cross he complained "My God, why have you forsaken me?"

With examples and rules of this nature a Christian does not have defined what is good and evil, if all law changes according to the whim of his God, we should not be surprised that the conduct of the Christian is uncertain, oscillating between crime and honesty, goodness and evil, cold and hot according to the circumstances and the interest that one has.

On another point, Christian doctors believe that their God was the first to speak of morality to men, according to the clergy, all pagans and gentiles foreign to the biblical God lived in the most "bizarre anarchy". These theologians do not see that before Jesus there existed among the Gentiles and pagans eminent philosophers and intellectuals who taught virtue to men, for example Aristotle, Plato, Epicurus, Buddha, Lao-Tse, Confucius and many others instructed their disciples that murdering, stealing and falling into vices were reprehensible attitudes; the Romans, Germanic, Chinese, Japanese, Hindus and Incas<sup>31</sup> also taught justice and righteousness, condemned adultery, theft, swindling and treason and severely punished those opprobrities, which shows us that justice, chastity, rectitude and honor were qualities practiced by numerous peoples.

<sup>31</sup> The Incas had the golden rule (Ama sua, Ama Llulla, Ama Qhella): Do not lie, do not steal, do not loiter. Jesus was neither the pioneer nor the inventor of these teachings.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

of the world before they knew Christianity. It is morbid that Christians ignore the virtues of these nations and philosophers, painting them as if they were uncivilized and bloody savages.

Regarding the sexual teachings that Christianity vociferates, we only see morbid, emasculating and bitter ideas typical of a repressive and repressed sexuality. Christians only disseminate vinegar in all those around them, they disguise their bitterness as triumph and condemn even the most lawful pleasures, spreading their frustration to others. The fairer unions where the spouses correspond in virtues and maintain the qualities of monogamy, exclusivity and fidelity have every right to live sexual eroticism as long as they do not break the duties and rights established by their marital pact.

But these resentful Judeo-Christians have taken it upon themselves to prohibit and condemn licit sexual enjoyment. The maxims of chastity within marriage, the exclusively reproductive copulation, the prohibition of contraception are only monstrous and dehumanizing precepts. Christians already married who have followed these disastrous maxims have found their marriages insipid, annoying and unpleasant, and their marriages have become a source of great pleasure.

Consorts are shady and fussy puritans who blush at everything and anything, under a false idea of modesty, refusing to provide the erotic enjoyment to which their partners are legally and morally entitled under the marital contract.

A person who does not find in his marriage the sensual enjoyment and charm to which he is entitled to have access.

It is logical, someone who is deprived of the charms he should find in his consortium is prone to seek outside it the pleasures he desires, basically Christian puritanism leads to adultery, transgression and unhappiness of spouses who are prevented from giving themselves mutually and fully, condemning their sexuality with gloomy feelings of remorse and guilt<sup>32</sup>.

The joy of the spouses depends on the mutual behavior they have in their relationship, a spouse victim of this crude puritanism could not awaken or keep the affection of his or her partner, what joy can the spouses find in their relationship?

<sup>32</sup> Sexually inhibited spouses have developed a series of neurotic disorders as a result of their sexual repression, which is why their sex lives are frustrating and why many married Christians frequent prostitution services or have extramarital affairs to satisfy the erotic and sexual fantasies that their spouses deny them.

If they obey a religion that teaches them to hate sexual pleasure by proposing sexual intercourse as an exclusively reproductive tool, what would they do if they obey a religion that teaches them to hate sexual pleasure by proposing intercourse as an exclusively reproductive tool? This dehumanizing vision reduces marital sexuality to a crude procreative mating similar to that of cattle.

What differentiates human sexuality from animal sexuality is that it is linked to eroticism and sensuality, only humans can turn their sexuality into art, an animal lacks eroticism since their copulations are limited to reproduction conditioned by stages of estrus and mating. To prohibit eroticism is degrading since human sexuality is not exclusively guided by the reproductive impulse, a situation that can be appreciated when we see that in couple relationships both parties consider the sexual enjoyment they give or obtain from their consort as the fundamental pillar of their conjugal bond before reproduction<sup>33</sup> . Reducing sex to procreation would degrade men, since their sexuality would not differ from that of a bird or a rabbit.

If we look closely, we will see that Christian theologians have taken upon themselves the task of souring the most lawful pleasures of life.

Javier Campuzano Terrazas

<sup>33</sup> To put it colloquially: when a man is aroused by the beauty of a woman, his first thought is to have sex with her, not to impregnate her.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

putting all kinds of obstacles to restrict them and in case of consenting to their access to water down these joys to the point of making them insipid and unappetizing. The prohibition of divorce is another fallacy disseminated by the backward Christian principles, according to theologians the marital separation constitutes a sin, therefore the most chaotic and stormy marriages cannot be dissolved, the unhappy spouses unable to undo their union and renew their life are forced to cohabit together making each other suffer. I wonder what interest Christianity has in forcibly preserving marriages where the partners detest each other? It seems that Christian maxims lead to live love not as something pleasurable but from suffering.

The condemnation of contraception is also dehumanizing, a couple should beget children analyzing if they have the socioeconomic and family conditions to ensure their adequate upbringing and maintenance. Prohibiting the use of contraceptives causes the massive reproduction of unwanted children destined to go hungry and lacking due to the adversities and deprivations that their parents carried.

Disorderly procreation complicates a man's life, because having many children he cannot adequately raise his children.

How much less would be the number of children who seek food in garbage dumps, who are abandoned in shelters, given away, sold and plunged into destitution if Christians would stop their capricious fight against contraception! So many unhappy people do not move these ridiculous people who persist in defending illogical positions at the expense of the misfortune of others, of innocents born and destined to a miserable life.

The reproach of abortion falls into the same puritanical ridiculousness. A woman who is sexually abused, who suffers from hereditary diseases or whose pregnancy puts her own life at risk it is forbidden to abort! Christians say that abortion is "a crime against human life", these people do not think about the "quality of life" that the fetus will have once it is born, isn't it a greater crime to give birth to a person destined to a life of suffering and pain? Christians condemn abortion under a dark "pro-life" vision, but those who pay the price for the clumsy ideas of these riffraff are the crippled, disabled and unwanted children who really bite the dust in their wretched existence, of which these Christians are the ones who are the ones who are the most affected.

have neither pity nor the slightest idea of its magnitude. Not content with the above ridiculousness, Christian moralism dares to condemn masturbation<sup>34</sup> . Not all people have the same will to maintain temperance so that many require channeling their sexual impulse through autoeroticism, by prohibiting masturbation a man could develop sexual repressions that generate a series of pathologies from depressions, anxieties, neurosis and hypochondriasis, paraphilias and perversions that are nothing but the disastrous result of such gloomy teachings. There are not few neurotics, perverts and paraphiliacs among Christians indoctrinated with these funereal ideas who find their pleasures through even more twisted and destructive ways<sup>35</sup> .

The irony here is that there is no passage in the Bible that explicitly condemns masturbation. The apostle Paul counsels celibacy to the unmarried as a state of <sup>34</sup> It should be noted that masturbation is not negative as long as it is only practiced in situations where sexual desire is overflowing, when it becomes a habit it becomes a compulsive and addictive perversion that deserves proper treatment.

<sup>35</sup> True and virtuous chastity is not an equivalent of gawkiness or melindre, nor is it a cover for frustrations and bitterness as Christianity portrays it. For example, penances exercised through corporal punishment, from whipping, kneeling for hours, cutting, fasting, etc., are symptoms of sexual repression. Other Christians have channeled their sexual impulses into addictions such as drugs and smoking.

spiritual perfection, those who wish to marry are recommended sexual fidelity to their partners, at no time does it tell them that masturbating is a "sin", but the evil Christians to the limit not only say that it is a sin but that it is a "mortal sin", supposedly because solitary pleasure constitutes a "selfish" and "harmful" practice for the body that according to them "is the temple of the Lord", if so, priestly celibacy would also be selfish for denying the clergy the opportunity to form a family, likewise if the body is the "Temple of the Lord" penitences such as self-flagellation and fasting would be harmful for threatening the integrity and health of the "Sanctuary".

It is stupid that Christians consider masturbation as if it were a "mortal sin" while they bless and sanctify the killings, wars and persecutions made to spread the gospel, how can it be possible to think that masturbating is a more serious sin than murdering in a war?!?

Several former Christian and Catholic ministers have revealed the sexual corruption and moral hypocrisy that abounds within their churches, one example is that of former Catholic priest

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

Alberto Cutié<sup>36</sup> who exposes that more than 60% of American and South American Catholic priests and high members of the Vatican ecclesiastical hierarchy are covert homosexuals who lead a promiscuous sexual life taking other priests, seminarians, deacons and Catholic parishioners as lovers, these same hierarchs are the ones who protect pedophiles, rapists and clerical perverts by covering up their sexual scandals<sup>37</sup>.

Cutié denounces the clerical hypocrisy, since these hierarchs, who are deeply immersed in homosexuality and debauchery before the public, are the ones who most harshly criticize and censure homosexuality, masturbation, polygamy and fornication, vices that they themselves practice but in secret.

Christianity thus preaches flimsy, irrational, shifting, contradictory and dangerous teachings that boast exaggerated, unjust and inaccurate principles that

If a man were to follow these commands to the letter, he would become dangerous or useless to himself and others, he would not hesitate to perpetrate any cruelty or indulge in the deepest apathy if it would satisfy the always senseless wills of his God.

CHAPTER V

ON CHRISTIAN CONDUCT

"Christians are hypocrites, they have come to the conclusion that the appearance of piety is the true worship of God. They believe that their clothes, their social graces, their feigned controlled behavior and involvement with the church are the essence of Christianity. By doing these things, they believe they satisfy God and His requirements upon their lives, their faith in Christ is a Show."

Victor Hafichuk

"Christians make God look very bad, they say they believe but their life is a carnival, their biggest flaw is shamelessness, they use the bible even to justify their sins, they say: 'we are not perfect', 'only God can judge me', 'Jesus forgave prostitutes, adulteresses and thieves', etc., but there is a detail, Christ forgave the sins of those people on the condition that they would not repeat them again, at no time did he forgive them so that they would continue doing the same thing. Christians use God as a pretext to make their lives a revelry....".

*Marco Fernandez
(Agnostic)*

Jesus said: "By their deeds you will know them" implying that a person's words can lie but not his actions, so let's compare if the Judeo-Christian behaviors correspond to their vaunted moralistic speeches! If Judeo-Christianity preaches such virtues

Why do their followers manifest so much baseness, such reprehensible and corrupt behavior? Why do their parishioners end up submerged in hypocrisy, bitterness or excess? How can a religion that proclaims harmony, love and justice have caused so much pain and misfortune to humanity?

Christian theologians claim that their cult is necessary for people to "behave correctly and do good", but they do not seem to realize that since the appearance of Christianity humanity has been corrupted by leaps and bounds, not to mention that this religion has always been the seedbed of the most terrible evil<sup>38</sup>. Just visit a couple of prisons, correctional institutions and reformatories to verify that the majority of criminals, prostitutes, swindlers, drug dealers, drug addicts, perverts, pedophiles, rapists, kidnappers, adulterers, abusers and hypocrites profess some branch of Christianity. To put it briefly: the worst men known to mankind in the West have been or are believers of this religion.

<sup>38</sup> For example, the Roman Emperor Constantine, Louis XVI of France, Jacques Molay (highest commander of the Knights Templar), numerous pontiffs such as Boniface VIII and so many other tyrants were devout Judeo-Christians.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

religion, knowing this, I ask myself, do Christians practice the morals they boast so much? Are they really what they say they are?

In reality, Christian behavior is nothing more than a gross hypocrisy based on the appearance of non-existent virtues, a means of propaganda to seduce the naive. In everyday life, the behavior of Christians is more repugnant and bizarre than that of a pagan whose beliefs and actions scandalize these people by tearing their clothes. Logically the behavior of the biblical God molds that of his worshipers, having adopted the atrocious God of the Jews has made these people express contradictory, evil and frightening behaviors that would perplex any judicious person who observes them.

Most Christians are complete ignoramuses who do not know anything about philosophy, history or theology, their general culture is dwarfed by their pedestrian mentality, of their religion and bible they know little or do not even care to know, limiting themselves to listen to the preaching of their pastors and ministers, of the Christians who study the bible they choose from it what is most convenient for them, if they wish to attack and harass they take verses that legitimize those behaviors, if they lack power or are helpless they preach verses of love and peace.

Christians are far from being humble, on the contrary, they are intolerant and conceited hotheads who, by the simple fact of believing in God and reading a few biblical passages, suppose themselves to be very learned, criticizing opinions and theories that they ignore and have not even studied. If that does not work, they resort to threats and psychological blackmail, frightening their rivals with the hell that awaits them if they desist from converting.

They speak to us of "loving our neighbor" but they insult, defame and slander those who do not think like them, they label pagans, Gnostics and skeptics as "pigs", "anathema", "unworthy", "useless" and "infamous". At the slightest criticism they react with violence and ferocious viciousness, they love to judge but not to be judged, they ask for respect but do not respect anything or anyone, they destroy and ridicule any symbol alien to their religion regardless of the fact that it is the cultural and ancestral legacy of a people<sup>39</sup>, they boast of being tolerant but only think of expanding the empire of their God with sword and sword.

<sup>39</sup> Protestant missionaries, especially evangelicals and Lutherans, have eradicated the cultural customs and native religions of the indigenous peoples they have invaded. The indigenous people converted into

They preach charity and modesty but live surrounded by extravagant and insubstantial luxuries and comforts, futile riches whose value could appease the hunger and thirst of entire families<sup>40</sup>. Other Christians live in misery but choose to pay tithes - increasing the fortunes of priests and pastors - at the expense of the hunger of their children and relatives.

The works of social charity are another motive of the Christian propaganda with which they try to move and gain the esteem of the public, sects and churches are seen that feed and clothe "disinterestedly" the poor and needy, however no one imagines that such help has a cost for those who receive it: to convert to Christianity. It is a requirement to attend the preaching and masses (which by the way are controlled under Judeo-Christians deny their culture. For example, in the Bolivian altiplano, many Christianized Indians desist from offering to the Pachamama or "mother earth".

<sup>40</sup> For example, cable TV, cars, fancy clothes, expensive jewelry, gold-lined churches, etc. Among Christian groups, poverty is synonymous with indecency. I have not seen a single Christian who sells all his possessions and gives that money to the poor. On the contrary I see Christians whose life is very affluent and quite contrary to the poverty in which - according to the scriptures - their "redeemer" lived. Jesus did not say "donate a part of your possessions or what you have left over", but "donate all your possessions to the poor", that is to say, a Christian consistent with this principle should only wear the clothes he is wearing.

attendance list) to access breakfast, lunch or dinner,
You call that selfless charity? Amazing!

It is striking the fact that we live in a society that is mostly Christian and at the same time massively corrupt. Christians exalt virginity and puritanism, but in reality they are a real range of perversions, among them we notice promiscuity taken to colossal limits, debauchery and immorality are habits deeply practiced in more than 90% of their parishioners.

The rise of pornography, prostitution, "casual sex", promiscuity, adultery, pedophilia, homosexuality and all kinds of sordid sexual aberrations flood Christian societies<sup>41</sup> .

Do not be surprised, dear reader, that in all Christian countries, certain vices such as homosexuality and premarital sex are PERVERSIONS THAT ENJOY THE GOVERNMENT'S FAVOR.

---

<sup>41</sup> Psychologist Tom Whiteman conducted a study in Philadelphia finding that the leading reason for divorce among Christians is adultery, drug abuse, domestic violence and emotional neglect, interestingly in non-Christian marriages character incompatibility is the leading cause of divorce. see: "Marriage 101: The Raw reality of divorce and its terrible Results" at <http://christian-parents.net/>. 2015.

LEGAL PROTECTION<sup>42</sup> , a very different situation is seen in non-Christian countries such as Somalia, Iraq, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan, Yemen, Syria, Qatar, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia and the United Arabian States, where these perversions are harshly punished by the penal code<sup>43</sup> . Likewise, the ancient pagans, including the Incas and Germans, taught chastity and c o n d e m n e d debauchery, thus denying all the vices and lies with which Christianity imputes them<sup>44</sup> .

Christians live a collective sexuality, a real orgy, and nowadays it is very rare to find Christians that

<sup>42</sup> In Bolivia, whose population is Christian, fornication and debauchery are promoted by the State under the name of "freedom", "human rights", "democracy" etc., all excuses to justify and protect corruption. We should not be surprised to see in our country legions of fornicators, homosexuals, adulterers and libertines who enjoy the applause and admiration of the vulgar. For example, publicly criticizing female promiscuity or homosexuality are considered crimes of "discrimination, homophobia and misogyny" punishable by imprisonment.

<sup>43</sup> These countries have a strong religion with Islam. Among the Arabs a man who sees a woman without a veil is punished by imprisonment, incest, homosexuality and adultery are punishable by death, a person, male or female, who has perpetrated premarital fornication loses his social status and dishonors his family name. Christians talk to us about virginity and purity but when they hear of the measures that the Arabs apply to protect chastity, they are shocked!

<sup>44</sup> Among the Incas, those who practiced premarital sex were condemned to die hanging from a tree using their own hair as ties. The ancient Germans, once married, waited a year to consummate the carnal union, thus ensuring that their marriage was the fruit of concord and not exclusively of libidinous desire. The Romans decreed a law called "Casta Placent Superi" which punished adultery.

preserve their purity until they get married. If you doubt I suggest that you look at Christian women who - with honorable exceptions - before the age of 20 already know all the arts of sex, given to flirting and moved by the captious taste to excite men are exhibited in morbidly sensual clothes almost at the same level of the harlots more losses. Boys in the same way from their earliest youth already savored vices and adventures typical of a depraved potential<sup>45</sup> .

It is worth asking, dear readers, is it not strange that the followers of a religion that praises chastity treat this virtue without the slightest consideration? A Christian is not interested in whether or not his partner has kept his virginity and Christians who have kept it end up giving their purity to any libertine fool<sup>46</sup> , isn't that devaluing chastity? Isn't that being unfair to oneself and others? What is the use of keeping our virginity if we have to give it to someone who has already lost it?

<sup>45</sup> Let's just look at Facebook to see that most of the people exhibiting themselves in indecent photographs are Christians.

<sup>46</sup> The greatest proof of this mentality is seen in many people but especially in women who, although they remain virgins, do not demand that their husbands possess this virtue. People of this psychology see their purity as a burden, because if they really valued it, they would demand that their suitor has also kept his chastity.

Christians live transgressing the precepts of their doctrine doing whatever they want. It is despicable to proclaim principles that are not practiced<sup>47</sup> , a noble man prefers to die rather than violate their principles and codes of honor, such people are called "men or women of their word", "honorable", "respectable", for example the samurai had a strict moral code called "Bushido" (the path of the warrior) it established the rules that a samurai should adopt in their daily lives such as: honor, loyalty, sincerity and justice. A samurai preferred to die rather than break the "Bushido", why? Because there was seriousness and respect towards this code, those who practiced it believed in its effectiveness and knew that transgressing it was equivalent to losing their life and dignity, for these warriors the "Bushido" was not a joke, nor something that could be practiced half-heartedly or choosing the rules to their personal convenience, these were men of honor! Now I ask, are Christians similar to the samurai? Unfortunately not.

<sup>47</sup> These people resemble those sick people who suggest to others to take a series of medications, but ironically they themselves refuse to practice the treatments they recommend.

These people lack honor and seriousness, everything is reduced to simulate nonexistent qualities to "look good" without showing real commitment or responsibility with the religious values that they so much hoist, such foolishness leads Christians to the most pitiful absurdity: hypocrisy and double standards that characterizes them. We see Christians advocating homosexuality, promoting sexual decadence<sup>48</sup> , frequenting bars, discos, nightclubs and other places of perdition, consuming liquor, drugs, obscene music, degenerate art and literature, etc.<sup>49</sup> It is disgusting to see the

<sup>48</sup> In the Bible, more precisely in Leviticus and Paul's Epistles homosexuality is condemned, it is surprising that Christians defend these perversions cynically disobeying these biblical mandates. There are several cases of organized Christian groups that promote these sexual aberrations, for example the organization "Católicas por el derecho a decidir" (Catholics for the right to decide), a feminist group whose postulates maintain that premarital fornication, homosexuality and adultery "do not constitute sins", in fact "they are normal behaviors and blessed by God". Another case is the Mexican Catholic program "La Rosa de Guadalupe" in which debauchery and sexual perversions are openly promoted, in almost all the chapters of this soap opera the script revolves around premarital sex and romances between teenagers attitudes that are praised and extolled as "normal" even receiving the blessing of the Catholic virgin as a reward for the obscenities committed by the protagonists. These are the examples of life given to us by such people who apparently worship their God only with their mouths, disobeying heavenly commands when they oppose their carnal desires and frivolities.

<sup>49</sup> Suffice it to say that vulgar and libidinous music such as Reggaeton, kumbia, as well as obscene literature and pornography have in Latin America - whose population is so fervently Christian - its followers of a religion that explicitly condemns the aforementioned reproaches are the first to take delight in the sin against which they were supposed to fight?<sup>50</sup>

Of the Christians who practice asceticism, rare are those who do it moved by vocation and faith, most of these ascetics repress a strong frustration because they wished to know pleasures and carnal delights that for various circumstances they could not satisfy, these frustrations they try to justify taking refuge in the church from where they fanatically condemn those sins that in the depths of their being are nothing but their repressed desires.

Christian degeneration is not a nascent phenomenon in the 21st century<sup>51</sup> , many Christians blame the cause for this bigger market. Likewise, literary antics such as Harry Potter, Twilight, 50 Shades of Grey and other ridiculous things were a resounding success in Christian countries. Many reggaeton singers profess the Christian religion and in certain Protestant sects use melodies of this genre to praise God, it is common to call it "Christian reggaeton", "Christian rap", etc..

<sup>50</sup> According to Dreschner in his text Sexual History of Christianity (1974) "... At the end of the 19th century, the holy women of a Russian convent had detained a young man for four weeks and made him fornicate to the point of almost killing him. Because of weakness he could no longer resume his journey. He lay there convalescing and, in the end, the nuns, fearing a scandal, tore him to pieces and plunged him, piece by piece, into a fountain." (1974: 101).

degeneration to the bad influence of the modern culture of our time, they always argue that "In the old days the Christians were exemplary followers of Christ", but I tell them that no person, people, nation or religion is corrupted all at once, all degeneration is the result of a process that requires time (decades, centuries and millennia), an honest man cannot become a criminal or a libertine from one day to the next, however, it is common for a bandit to pretend to be honorable at any time, because as his actions are a crude and false appearance, sooner or later, when the least opportunity to put into practice his malice presents itself, the bandit will end up showing his true character.

If the Christian lives happily sinning it is because his religion is self-absorbed in believing and not in acting, he understands that every crime can be forgiven, for Catholics a confession is enough to clear their conscience, for Protestants the simple fact of professing Judeo-Christianity guarantees them "salvation". In both cases, this religion ignores what we said in previous chapters: not every error can be solved, therefore not everything can be forgiven, and the lightness in handing out indulgences indirectly promotes crime<sup>52</sup> .

Before skeptics and thoughtful pagans Judeo-Christians are popular because of their bad reputation, they are considered hypocritical, unreliable and double standards<sup>53</sup> . On the one hand they are seen as phonies of uncertain character who boast their "high morals" but live transgressing almost all their doctrinal principles, on the other hand as stubborn, ignorant, aggressive, prejudiced and frustrated fanatics bent on criticizing and spreading bitterness about everything around them<sup>54</sup> .

<sup>52</sup> As a result of such a psychology it is common to observe that Christian behavior is largely passionate, impulsive and undisciplined.

<sup>53</sup> David Kinnaman and Gabe Lyons' paper "UnChristian: What a New Generation Really Thinks about Christianity... and Why It Matters" Baker Books, October 1, 2007, confirm that 87% of people who do not attend any church or practice different non-Christian religions have a negative view of Christianity, especially evangelical Christianity, due to the hypocrisy and aggressive behavior of their parishioners.

<sup>54</sup> It is not unusual for the Christian to be seen as an unbridled vicious person or as a hypocrite, bitter, boring and an enemy of joy. For example, the folkloric and prestes entries that Bolivian Catholics make in commemoration of a Christian saint are true orgies in which immense fortunes are squandered and alcohol is consumed until losing conscience. On the other hand, practicing Protestants due to their fanaticism and hypocrisy cause discomfort in non-Christian people, since they always talk about their God, the Bible and censure what they do not know, they end up being unpleasant people in parties, celebrations and entertainments.

A persevering Judeo-Christian with the biblical principles and the temperament of the God he has would turn out to be a useless or dangerous man for society, without having defined good from evil, nor justice from crime, society would be sunk in the most sordid anarchy where men would persecute each other under the pretext of "carrying the word of God"<sup>55</sup> . Even if we were to discard from the bible those commands that urge persecution and violence and take only those that counsel unconditional and egalitarian love and piety, society would end up stripped of all meritocracy<sup>56</sup> and plagued by pious and unproductive pray-ers<sup>57</sup> .

<sup>55</sup> For example, Jose Blazques in his work La violencia religiosa cristiana en la Historia Eclesiástica de Sócrates durante el gobierno de Teodosio II y en la Historia Eclesiástica de Teodoreto de Cirro (2008) tells us how Saint Cyril -with the help of a group of friars- barbarically murdered the mathematician Hypathy. The most perverse instruments of torture were devised and used within the Catholic Inquisition as methods to "interrogate" those accused of heresy. Another case is that of the Roman emperor Constantine who adopted Christianity, making it the official religion of the empire and was canonized by the church as an "exemplary Christian", ignoring the fact that he had murdered his wife, mother-in-law, son and nephew.

<sup>56</sup> Just to mention that for Christians knowledge is something detestable, St. Paul said "the letter kills" implying that to be educated and instructed represented a sin, that is why intelligent and literate people are catalogued as if they were "bad Christians".

<sup>57</sup> A situation of this can be seen in the cloistered monks who, enclosed in a monastery, dedicate their whole life to praying and praising God without doing anything really useful for humanity.

Christians try to justify these anomalies so deeply rooted among their parishioners by arguing that "It is precisely the wicked who need God's redemption", "...the church is not a museum of saints but a hospital for sinners", but the crooked people who adopt this religion rarely reform! on the contrary, they increase their wickedness or acquire new vices, harming even more those around them, Christianity produces more criminals than righteous men. The reality that we observe shows us clearly that Christians have a behavior that oscillates between the most shameful debaucheries or the most ridiculous restrictions<sup>58</sup> .

I also wonder why so much preference for the wicked and reprobate, Christians repeat: "God sent Jesus for sinners", but like the Roman philosopher Celsus<sup>59</sup> I ask them why Jesus did not come for the virtuous, i.e. a righteous and blameless man is rejected by God already.

<sup>58</sup>For example, Mormons forbid their followers to drink coffee and soft drinks, Jehovah's Witnesses forbid celebrating birthdays and donating blood to the sick (to avoid saving their lives), Adventists forbid the consumption of pork, Mennonites forbid the practice of sports because they consider them a form of violence, etc.

<sup>59</sup> Celsus was a Roman philosopher and critic of Christianity, in his work "True Discourse against the Christians" (1989) he reproaches God's favoritism for sinners and his rejection of the virtuous.

that he only has eyes for the "sinners"? A God who claims to be wise would come to reward the virtue of the righteous, not to sacrifice himself in favor of the bandits.

In a word, God favors the most dastardly and nefarious men, neglecting the honest, Christianity operates as a receptacle for the worst men and the most crooked crowds, enough reasons to despise this unsavory religion<sup>60</sup>. We are told that "God loves sinners" trying to justify why he favors the wicked, but such a sentence is contrary to all wisdom,

How can a benevolent God love the wicked and poor in spirit? It is as ridiculous as saying that "justice loves criminals"?

We should not be surprised, therefore, that Christianity looks down on human virtue and only focuses on seeing the "sins", naturally this is not a religion suitable for righteous men because the criminal vulgar that makes up its membership despises those who are an example of righteousness, similar to the charlatans who discredit wisdom.

<sup>60</sup> The parable of the "Prodigal Son" exemplifies this situation, in this story the father celebrates with a banquet the return of the son who squandered all his fortune in frivolities and vices, ironically this father never rewarded the honesty of his eldest son.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

and despise them for fear that they will unmask their deceptions.

Pegiorgio Odifreddi in his work "Why we cannot be Christians (and even less Catholics)" (2007/2008) mentions: "The apparently insolent rapprochement between Christianity and cretinism is in fact corroborated by the authentic interpretation of Christ himself, who in the Sermon on the Mount began the enumeration of the beatitudes with: 'Blessed are those who recognize their spiritual poverty, for the kingdom of God belongs to them', using a recurring formula also in Hebrew (anawim ruacb). Basically, the criticism of Christianity could be reduced to this: that being a religion literally for cretins, it does not adapt to those who, perhaps to their misfortune, have been condemned not to be cretins. This criticism, incidentally, would also partly explain the fortune of Christianity: because, as the statistics show, half of the world's population has below-average intelligence, and is therefore in the right frame of mind for this and other beatitudes." (2007/2008:14)

If Christian maxims hold that "the letter kills", "knowledge is evil", that "the poor in spirit and the ignorant are blessed", it is a sign that this religion has been made for the minded, unlettered and illiterate, not for honest and well-read men. There is a saying of popular wisdom that states: "Tell me what God you believe in and I will tell you who you are", What temperance, goodness and true firmness can we find in a horde of stubborn people who take as a model a God of such a nature? Here are the consequences of adopting the disastrous God of the Jews in this religion.

We are told that there are truly righteous, kind and demure people within Christianity - no one denies it! But these are extremely rare and constitute a minority compared to the multitude of scoundrels that make up this religion<sup>61</sup> . If we find virtuous people in this cult, it is due to the spiritual predominance they have thanks to which they practice the good and act correctly in their lives.

<sup>61</sup> Because of their idealism and naivety - they practice to the letter these commands of unconditional love and forgiveness, they offer the other cheek, they forget themselves to help their fellow man but in return for their compassion and kindness they only reap infamy and mistreatment. Even if a Christian were pious and compassionate he would end up being a victim of his religious ideals, the numerous dejected, unfortunate and dead at the hands of their own fellow men are and have been naive people who blindly believed in the infallibility of these childish and stupid teachings without first examining the conduct of God and the men whom they loved trustingly and then perished at their hands.

religion and its maxims<sup>62</sup> . In general, justice and goodness are virtues practiced by "Christians" whose temperament bears little resemblance to the bloodthirsty God they worship .<sup>63</sup>

In short, Christianity causes more disasters than it avoids, corrupts too much and redeems too little<sup>64</sup> . Seeing this, a Christian can be more dangerous to other people than the very devil he is supposedly fighting against.

<sup>62</sup>Let us not be surprised to find greater benevolence and righteousness in people who are not very assiduous or directly distant from this religion as opposed to those who practice it with fanaticism. As everywhere there are exceptions, there have also been some honorable and just Christians, but what good are a few virtuous people in a religion whose majority is rotten? In vain the temperance of a Dominic of Guzman, the humility of a Francis of Assisi, the justice of a Clement V or the purity of Joan of Arc before a hypocritical parishioners, reluctant to follow these examples and practice virtue. Exceptions are useless if they do not succeed in straightening out the masses.

<sup>63</sup> For example, the austerity and compassion of St. Francis disobeys the command of Jesus who advised his disciples: "those of my enemies who do not want me to reign over them, bring them here and behead them before me" (Luke 19:27). At the other extreme, the cruelty of the Inquisitors and the fierce fanaticism of the Protestants contradict the teaching to "love your neighbor as yourself". In both cases it is impossible to be an exemplary Christian because the biblical teachings contradict each other at every moment, they advise to hate and love at the same time, if you practice one commandment you are simultaneously violating the other.

<sup>64</sup> A doctor whose majority of patients treated end up worsening or perishing from their illness only indicates the ineptitude of this physician, a doctor of such nature is more dangerous for the sick than their own illness.

With such detestable behavior Christians have no right to glorify or boast the effectiveness of their religion because the behaviors they exhibit leave it in a very bad light.

To conclude this chapter I will say to the Christians: "By their deeds we have known them", if the Christian doctrine produces such disastrous effects in the conduct of its worshippers, it is certainly not suitable to guide and ennoble the human being.

CHAPTER VI

BRIEF HISTORICAL BACKGROUND ON CHRISTIAN BEHAVIOR

Christians have always taken their scriptures and history on the friendly side, closing their eyes to its innumerable defects, dedicating themselves only to justify and forcibly assemble every theological contradiction and historical infamy that show them reasons to doubt the trustworthiness of their God, doctrines and leaders. It would be enough for a Christian to detach himself from his prejudices by observing impartially the behavior that his followers, saints and prophets had throughout history for him to question the bible.

Since its birth, Christianity has been embraced by plebeians of low intelligence, renegades who did not agree with Judaism and finally by cunning men who knew how to use these doctrines to benefit from the vulgar. The founders of Christianity were ignorant and uncouth men of no academic instruction<sup>65</sup> who offered the

<sup>65</sup> For example: fishermen, carpenters, slaves, shepherds, merchants, there was not a truly learned man among the founders of the Christian religion. And the defect of ignorance has been inherited by future generations of Christians of all denominations. By

The image of an afflicted God, humble, poor, enemy of the rich, similar traits that corresponded to the social conditions of the plebs.

As we saw in previous chapters, the biblical characters - of whom Christians are proud - show behaviors very unworthy of the morals of saints. In the actors of the Old Testament we see nothing more than a gang of evildoers whose wickedness always found succor in the religious cause, in those who star in the New Testament only stubborn and unreasonable men whose fanaticism led them to cruelty and injustice.

The fanatical and exacerbated character of Christians made them enemies throughout their history. Voltaire in his work Treatise on Toleration (1767/2003) states that the Romans practiced religious tolerance, i.e. they allowed freedom of worship in their colonies by authorizing people to

For example, St. Anthony of Padua praised ignorance as a virtue, the founder of Adventism, Ellen White, could barely write, the same situation is repeated with Joseph Smith, father of Mormonism. Very few learned men (e.g. Descartes, Kierkegaard and Pascal) who considered themselves Christians examined their religion, when they did so they were branded as heretics and unbelievers because of their reflections, naturally they failed because it is impossible to demonstrate the goodness and justice of a God as uncertain and fickle as the Judeo-Christian God by means of logic.

temples and statues in honor of their deities.

The Romans never imposed their religion on anyone; Christians were the only ones persecuted by the Roman Empire because they were subversive fanatics whose vandalistic behavior was dangerous for the State and the citizens<sup>66</sup> . Briefly stated: If Christianity was a peaceful religion it would not have been persecuted by an empire whose policy included religious tolerance.

The Christians, inflamed by the delirium that their dogma generated in them, displayed fierce intolerance: they sullied pagan temples, promoted insurrections against the government and exercised religious proselytism without sparing the use of violence. The Roman historian Gaius Suetonius in his work The Life of the Twelve Caesars (1992) corroborates this when he states that the Christians set fire to Rome, blaming it on Emperor Nero, who was in the city of Olympia.

<sup>66</sup> For example, St. Lawrence denied the authority of the Roman prefect, St. Polyutus destroyed statues and pagan temples, publicly broke imperial edicts and urged collective revolts against the empire. As we can see, the Judeo-Christians were not persecuted for their beliefs but for the violent behavior they manifested in their name.

(located more than 300 km from the Roman capital) on the day the Christian fanatics committed such an atrocity<sup>67</sup> .

First of all history reveals that the Romans did not easily tolerate the tyranny of their rulers, suffice it to say that - years before Nero - the emperor Caligula was assassinated for appointing his horse senator and self-proclaimed God demanding sacrifices in his honor, knowing this if Nero had ordered his legions to provoke such a burning hardly these would willingly comply with such a barbaric opinion without rebelling in the act, no soldier would set fire to the city in which he had his home and family, for people do not carry out orders that are detrimental to them, so how could Nero order the burning of Rome in full view and patience of the senators and the army without being overthrown when in the past Caligula was killed for crimes much less than that?

Second, if the Christians were as submissive and tolerant as they say they were, no one would have suspected them, but after the fire

<sup>67</sup> Christians tell us a lot about the persecutions they suffer but never mention the real motives that unleash them. The Platonic Greeks and other Stoic philosophers - such as the Roman Seneca (Nero's minister) - in their writings also criticized tyranny, so why were they not persecuted and their works destroyed?

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

Nero holds them responsible for the aforementioned crime and the Roman citizens do not doubt the veracity of such accusation. Rome had under its control several colonized peoples such as Egyptians, Persians, Greeks and Celts who had much greater motives to rebel against the empire, however Nero and his senators discarded the possibility that the colonized were the authors of the fire, placing all suspicions on the Christian sect! If the Roman Empire suspected it before its own enemies it was because the Christians already had a reputation of being intolerant and violent<sup>68</sup> .

The historian Flavius Josephus (contemporary of Christ) shows us that the Roman Palestine was the focus of continuous subversions and revolts promoted by Jewish and Christian extremists, the Roman provinces and cities whose populations concentrated a greater number of Judeo-Christians abounded in crimes, robberies, assaults, civil wars and seditions. According to

<sup>68</sup> Even the Christian theologian Tertullian in his work Apologetics to the Gentiles (2001) advised Christians not to attend the coronations of the Caesars and to ignore the authority of the Roman State. Tertullian was one of the first Christian theologians.

Pablo Santa Cruz in his text Metaethics social psychology (2009) so conflictive and dangerous were the inhabitants of those regions that they were occupied by the strongest legions of the Roman army which suffocated -in less than 40 years- more than 70 armed revolts caused by Judeo-Christian extremists and fanatics (2009:26-27).

When the Christians reached the throne of several kingdoms, empires and countries they made religious persecution their favorite policy, to the point that they prohibited under death sentence all expression of gentile worship without measuring in cruelty and viciousness against those who still professed paganism. From the crusades, inquisitions, witch hunts<sup>69</sup> and other warlike wars, Christians demonstrated to the world their remarkable destructive capacity while at the same time they brazenly boasted of being a religion of "love", "respect" and "humility". Those who claimed to have as "Redeemer" a modest carpenter born in a manger, in the future ended up putting on the crown of kings and emperors whom they made kneel down.

<sup>69</sup> The inquisitors (like Sprenger and Kramer authors of the Malleus Maleficarum -a book used to torture heretics-) who hunted witches and heretics received very high rewards according to the number of witches and pagans arrested, for this reason Christians became perjurers who randomly and without any evidence accused of heresy those around them since their interest was to earn money at the expense of the church.

before the cross and the ministers who spoke in the name of divinity.

The question arises: Why Christianity is still in force with so much socio-historical evidence that leaves its morals and ethics unprotected, the answer is simple: because this religion has taken root in the culture and tradition of societies (especially in the West). According to Santa Cruz (2009), when a certain ideological, religious or psychic paradigm takes root in the culture, it ends up being seen as something natural due to the "collective acceptance" that society makes of these myths, taking them as if they were unquestionable truths (2009).

Consequently, the socio-cultural rooting that Judeo-Christianity has had in our country distorts the historical facts, imparting to the citizen -through schools, universities, cinema and the media- a polished, altered and embellished version of history, favorable to the reputation and interests of this religion.

That is why we should not be surprised that the "official history" imposes distorted data on us.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

decadence and human perversion, rulers such as Felipe IV, Juan Domingo Perón, German Busch<sup>70</sup> , Gualberto Villarroel and so many others are painted as "neurotics", "tyrants" and "social resentments" who hated the world for no reason. Of Friedrich Nietzsche we are told that he was a "madman", "syphilitic", "complainer" whose works were the product of his ailments and traumas, Schopenhauer is presented to us as a "depressed", "bitter" and "misogynist", in short, distorted data and half-truths used by the Judeo-Christians to discredit the genius of the Gentiles by imposing on us an augmented and corrected history where the ferocious Jews, Jehovah and his turbulent worshippers are presented as "saints", "heroes" and "examples of life"<sup>71</sup> .

After a deep historical revisionism outside the "official encyclopedia" we see that the Roman Empire was the cradle of civilization and Western law, that Philip IV, Peron,

<sup>70</sup> The Bolivian President German Busch ordered the shooting of a Catholic priest surnamed Catorceno who had sexually abused a girl, this act of justice caused aversion and hatred in Catholics towards this ruler whom this riffraff paints him as if he were a "tyrant drunk with power", well, what can we expect from a church that canonizes pedophiles? For example, St. Augustine, who became Bishop of Hippo, took a 12 year old girl as his mistress, but hypocritically had the nerve to preach "chastity" and "asceticism".

<sup>71</sup> Before they decry murder I would ask Judeo-Christians to add up the number of victims their beloved Jehovah stained his hands with in the Old Testament and the deaths Christ's followers produced to spread his gospel.

Villarroel and German Busch were talented rulers, that Kant, Nietzsche, Max Weber, Schopenhauer, Heidegger, Jung and other gentle scholars were geniuses whose works x-rayed human reality.

If we apply a revisionist stance we will see that John Paul II, Mother Teresa of Calcutta, the legions of Catholic blessed, as well as Joseph Smith (founder of the Mormon sect), Ellen White (founder of Adventism), Charles Russell (founder of the Jehovah's Witnesses), Henry VIII (father of Anglicanism), John Calvin (of Calvinism), and other Protestant pastors, evangelicals and famous preachers are overrated figures whose popularity and fame have been largely invented and embellished by the strength and fanaticism of their followers to facilitate their collective acceptance in society.

All it takes is a couple of gifts and tokens of affection for people to idealize these characters, forgetting their past actions. All Catholics acclaim John Paul II as a "saint" without realizing that this individual covered up hundreds of pedophile priests during his pontificate. Mother Teresa of Calcutta, so acclaimed by the Catholic world, has nothing to envy from the works and thoughts of

Gandhi or the Dalai Lama who, by the way, are not placed on the same honorary pedestal as the aforementioned nun for the detail of not professing Christianity.

The Mormons are loud in praising Joseph Smith but few know that he was a polygamist, adulterer and seditious against the U.S. government, crimes that led him to be lynched to death<sup>72</sup> , Adventists do not know that Ellen White was an ignorant woman with very poor academic education, Jehovah's Witnesses continue to support the biblical interpretations of Charles Russel (on the prohibition of giving and receiving blood transfusions) that daily claim millions of innocent lives, almost nobody knows that many evangelical preachers are actually swindlers who profit from religion, etc.

Once again we ask ourselves, how is it possible that such nefarious characters with extremely dangerous dogmas are applauded and protected by the world? The answer is simple: the UN, NGO's, OAS, CIA, FBI, Human Rights, etc., tolerate <sup>72</sup> Joseph Smith instructed the Mormons to remove the American president by proposing the establishment of a theocratic monarchy (led by the Mormon sect) to govern the United States. This caused the annoyance of the American people, for that reason when Smith was imprisoned a mob of 250 people invaded the jail and lynched him.

any crime as long as its perpetrators profess Judeo-Christianity, Freemasonry or any ideology of Jewish origin. It is striking that the aforementioned international organizations -which talk so much about freedom, democracy, tolerance and justice- support the wars and invasions that the United States wage against Muslim countries, turn a blind eye while the Vatican continues to shelter pedophiles, openly tolerate the cartels and clans of swindlers who use religion to extort money from people without doing or saying anything about it....

Nowadays, Judeo-Christians tear their clothes before any manifestation that they consider racist, but they do not realize - or pretend not to- that their religion has been the promoter of racism and all forms of discrimination before, today and as far as we can see, always. Nothing is more racist than a Christian, to understand the origin of this discriminating and conceited behavior we only need to take a look at the God that Christians inherited from the Jews<sup>73</sup> .

<sup>73</sup> In previous chapters we exposed the type of character that the Israelites and their God have, the bible is a source of pro-Jewish and anti-Gentile racism, the pentateuch is a good example of this. Until the Council I given in Jerusalem the basic requirement for adopting Christianity was to be Suffice it to say that once Christianity was instituted by the Western world, slavery was in force until the end of the 19th century, all Christian nations at the time showed tenacious support for the slave and feudal regime<sup>74</sup> , the European Christian empires remorselessly snatched lands and positions of blacks, Indians and natives who populated the colonized regions. The evangelizations were brutal and the massacres bloodthirsty, all crimes that were justified by dehumanizing the subjugated, who were believed to be spiritless and therefore killing them did not constitute a sin<sup>75</sup> .

Jewish. The first Christians were a sect made up of fanatical and turbulent Jews.

<sup>75</sup> The history of modern slavery up to the 19th century proves how Christians were determined slaveholders and racists bent on truncating abolition movements. The English who colonized North America claimed that the natives had no spirit and it was impossible for them to earn salvation. The Spaniards considered the Indians as inferior men of no value. In the Brazilian colonies, the Portuguese forbade black slaves to enter the church because they were unworthy of heavenly grace. At present, very few indigenous ethnic groups are left in our country that still preserve their beliefs and traditions intact without Christianity having spread its poison over them. The Judeo-Christians are the only ones who have granted themselves the right to invade peoples and countries either to impose the gospel or to receive God's blessing.

The racist and anti-black American organization "klu klux Klan" has among its religious values Protestant Christianity. Anti-Semitism was not a fashion initiated by the Nazis as the media makes the naive believe, Christians cover their ears when they hear about Hitler without knowing that Martin Luther (founder of Protestant Christianity) was a fervent anti-Semite author of the work "The Jews and their lies" (1543/2011) in which he blamed the Hebrews for the crucifixion of Christ advising Christians to persecute and exterminate this people to avenge the death of Jesus<sup>76</sup> .

Nowadays, all the Christian media attack and devalue the ancestral culture of our peoples, labeling them as "sinful deceptions engineered by a race of devils", insulting and destroying everything that does not fit with the biblical parameters. It would be necessary to ask Christians with what morals they criticize racism and discrimination if they are potential racists? Of course! Christians are free to exercise discrimination but they accuse of intolerance and violence those who denounce their crimes! That is to say, a Christian can be racist and anti-pagan, but pagans can be racist and anti-pagan.

<sup>76</sup> The aforementioned work of Luther is a compendium of radical anti-Semitism, in which he refers to the Jews as the "filthy dung of Satan", advises the extermination of the Jews claiming: "we Christians will be guilty if we do not destroy the Jews" (1543/2011).

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

They cannot criticize Christianity without the risk of being imprisoned or killed! Democracy? Freedom of speech? What a scam!<sup>77</sup>

Christian sexual behavior has historically been an execrable caricature. Karlheinz Deschner in his work "Sexual History of Christianity" (1974) shows innumerable examples that practicing Christians presented highly depraved and perverse sexual behavior as a product of their psychosexual repression. Deschner mentions the case of Margareta Ebener, a Dominican blessed who found fetishistic pleasure in undressing in front of the crucifix, holding it close to her body until she reached orgasm; Saint Catherine of Siena found sexual pleasure in masochism, burning herself with boiling water and losing her voice and sight for hours; Saint Margaret Alacoque had the fetishism of drawing the figure of Christ on her chest using a knife as a brush and asking the novices to kiss her bleeding wound.

<sup>77</sup> If we analyze the Christians in the depths of their conscience they know the kind of people they are and the thorny type of morals they have, for that reason is that they always hide their depravities and strive to acquire the favor of public opinion, they feel "defamed" when their critics rebel their most intimate atrocities.

The Templars, that semi-priestly army and "defender of Christianity" that taught "chastity" in reality hid highly depraved customs among its members. According to Nimrod de Rosario (2003/2011) in the twelfth century during the reign of Philip IV "The Beautiful" (King of France) it was discovered that the Templars were in the habit of practicing homosexual relations in the rituals they celebrated in honor of "Baphomet" a horrible demon with hermaphrodite features that according to the members of the Templar order had been the one who ordered them to practice sodomy.

San Luis Gónzaga used to hide pieces and splinters of wood inside his bed and during the night he would roll around on that splintered bed causing himself serious injuries. The famous Michelangelo - an artist whose works were inspired by Christianity and currently adorn the Sistine Chapel in Rome - was a depraved homosexual who in his paintings immortalized the face of his lover "Tommaso Di Calvalieri" - a 17-year-old boy - making it look like the face of Christ, features on which the Catholic world has erected so many statues and representations of tribute to his "Savior"<sup>78</sup> .

<sup>78</sup> And the extreme of the perversions caused by this repression can be seen in the vices of sodomy and pedophilia to which the clergy are very assiduous. Even the Catholic faithful look upon their priests with

What validates a religion beyond its theories is the example given by its parishioners to meticulously fulfill the maxims they preach, when the example does not support the teaching it loses all credibility. In a true religion double standards have no place among its parishioners as a matter of HONOR and respect for the deity they venerate.

It is a mistake to believe that the Judeo-Christians are faithful to their principles, the history of their church, the life, facts and behaviors of their apostles and representatives give us enough evidence to unmask their falsehood, in the end they are miserable hypocrites of double standards that flaunt a moralistic puritanism in which they themselves do not believe seriously. The Christians from their beginnings were the rascals that they are today, there is no doubt about that, there are exceptions<sup>79</sup> but as I said these are very small if we compare them with the corrupt crowd that integrates this religion.

distrust and avoid entrusting their children to them for fear of being sexually abused. Homosexuality and sexual depravity abound among the clergy and Judeo-Christian parishioners.

<sup>79</sup> In Chapter V, (footnote No. 62), I said that there are virtuous Christians, explaining the origin of their honesty, which certainly does not come from their religion.

CHAPTER VII

HYPERBOREAN CHRISTIANS VS. JUDEO-CHRISTIANS

To the reader's surprise, there is a true Christianity detached from all Jewish influence (whose origin is pagan and purely gentile) known as "Hyperborean Christianity"<sup>80</sup> which presents us with 2 essential symbols embodied in the figure of a Christ and a Virgin. The hyperborean Kristo - known in Germanic culture as Navutan or Wotan - crucified himself on the tree of fright to bring about the liberation of all the hyperborean spirits chained to the material universe created by Jehovah.

Navutan liberates man by transmuting him into a warrior, reminding him of his spiritual origin and the aristocratic gentile legacy he possesses, helping him to get out of this impure creation badly engineered by Jehovah. The Hyperborean Virgin who represents the purity and lineage of the uncreated spirit was venerated by numerous gentile peoples, the Greeks knew her as Athena, the Romans as Minerva, the Vikings as Freya and the Norse as Pyrena.

<sup>80</sup> In Gnostic texts it is written with a "k" to differentiate it from traditional (Judaean-Jewish) Christianity.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

These symbols reflected a message of strength, virility, spirituality, purity and honor. The Judeo-Christianity -or simply Christianity- that we know today is nothing more than a gross and defective deformation of the original hyperborean signs. The Jewish Jehovah, besides being inept, is also a plagiarizer, since all his work and religion constitute failed attempts to imitate the universe and the hyperborean spirituality, only succeeding in inverting the original symbols.

How? Initially he has replaced Navutan by the Jewish Jesus. Navutan teaches liberation, strength and aristocracy of the spirit, he reminds men that they are GODS. On the contrary, Jesus preaches submission, - he tells men that they are sheep - equality of the soul and sentimentalism. In short, Navutan gentileizes humanity, Jesus Judaizes it, thus fulfilling the design of Jehovah his "father".

The hyperborean virgin was substituted by the Semitic figure of Mary, the former is warrior, pure, encouraging the will of power to free herself from the material prison, while the latter is tearful, submissive and protector of the creation of the Jewish God.

It was these Hebrew influences that perverted the original Christianity giving rise to the Judaic Christianity of which

I speak in this book. However, all is not lost because in spite of the Jewish effort to plagiarize and distort the Apollonian and virginal symbols of true Christianity, these still prevail -although syncretized with Judeo-Christianity- in the heart of organizations such as the Catholic Church which, in spite of the Hebrew influences it received, still preserves the two essential signs of hyperborean Christianity: a Christ and a Virgin, figures that transmit the Gentile and pagan values: a Christ and a Virgin, figures that transmit the gentile and pagan values<sup>81</sup> , something that does not happen with Protestantism, which is self-absorbed in maintaining an orthodox Judaism, jehovaistic, misogynist and monotheistic, amputating the apollonian-virginal symbol and with it the trace of the hyperborean spirituality.

Such dichotomy can be appreciated in the diversity of factions that the Catholic Church presents in its interior, some of them defenders of the virginal hyperborean symbol that compete with other jehovaistic and judaic denominations infiltrated in the bosom of Roman Catholicism. In this way they coexist in the same organization: the Gentile Church of the Hyperborean Christ (Navutan) and the Jehovaistic Church of the Hebrew Christ (Jesus). In the first one are all those who fight for the spiritual liberation of the

<sup>81</sup> That is why the Catholic Church indirectly becomes the continent of the

virginal hyperborean legacy, which is why it is the ENEMY OF JEWISHNESS AND JEHOVAH CHRISTIANITY.

In the second, there remain those who fight to perpetuate the spiritual enchainment to the impurity of matter, to keep man asleep in order to lead him to the final scaffold: spiritual death, eternal slavery under the control of the demiurge<sup>82</sup> Jehovah.

In conclusion, there is a lot of difference between a hyperborean Christian and a Judaic Christian, again I reiterate that in this book I speak of Judeo-Christianity which is a Judaized deformation of the original pagan Christianity. Perhaps the reader still does not fully understand these expositions, to achieve this he should study the Hyperborean Gnostic texts<sup>83</sup> in which he will be able to know in detail what is the true Christianity, differentiating it from the Judaic-Jewish Christianity.

<sup>82</sup> Demiurge means creator. This term is used by Gnostics and Hyperborean Christians to refer to Jehovah the creator of the material universe.

CHAPTER VIII

CULTURAL AND SOCIO-POLITICAL EFFECTS OF JUDEO-CHRISTIANITY

After analyzing the nature of the Judeo-Christian God, the scriptures and the virtues that Christianity proposes to us in addition to the character that its worshippers manifest, I will now examine the socio-political effects that this religion has in the societies where it has become firmly established.

In countries where Judeo-Christianity predominates we generally see a State subjected to the authority of synarchic lodges<sup>84</sup> such as Freemasonry and Zionism<sup>85</sup>. It is Judaic and Jehovahite agents - disguised as Catholic clergymen and pastors and Protestants - who influence state authority and rule from the shadows, through them the synarchy rules behind the throne, as long as a ruler is compliant with the synarchic whims his agents

<sup>85</sup> Zionism is a political-philosophical doctrine that in its beginnings promoted the creation of the State of Israel. However, it later became a socio-political current of worldwide scope whose main purpose is to spread Jewish racial and social supremacy, as well as to defend at all costs the interests of international Jewry, even at the cost of the ruin of other peoples.

They keep the people submissive when they oppose the Freemasons and sinarcas clerics exalt the population by revolting against the ruler whom they paint as "dangerous for the nation and the faith".

As we said good and evil for the Judeo-Christian is ultimately related to the level of subordination to the divine word communicated by their leaders, therefore it is common for Judeo-Christian nations to be characterized by unruly and ungovernable inhabitants who rebel when they believe their religion is threatened<sup>86</sup> .

In the eyes of the Judeo-Christian, the divine word is above state laws and therefore will violate any civil law.

<sup>86</sup> Christians always blame riots and revolts on intellectuals and people alien to their beliefs, but ironically almost every subversion always involves a Judeo-Christian: Joseph Smith (founder of the Mormons) was imprisoned several times for causing scandals and disturbing the public order. In the twentieth century the American Pastor Jim Jones (founder of the Christian sect 'The People's Temple') urged his parishioners to commit a collective suicide in which 912 members of the sect died, it is also known that this Pastor ordered the assassination of U.S. Congressman Leo Ryan and the poisoning of 300 children. In 2011 Pastor Oscar Ortega Fernandez fired 9 shots in front of the US White House claiming that Christ had ordered him to assassinate President Obama. Evangelical tele preacher Pat Robertson called on all Christians to assassinate Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez. Etc., etc., etc.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

and state, will perpetrate revolts, riots and seditions if it thus pleases God and protects his cause. No wonder then that the constitutional laws of these countries are ineffective and continually transgressed by the population.

Nor should we be surprised that the rulers of the Judeo-Christian states have almost always been Masons and Zionists sold out to the interests of the synarchic system, being at one extreme despot and corrupt tyrants who, protected by synarchic-ecclesiastical Jewry, indulged in the most shameful licenses ruling their nations with bitter injustice, and at the other inept and incapable praying men who put the interests of this Judaic religion before the needs of their country. Judeo-Christianity justifies the cruelty of tyrants and the apathy of the inept as long as such conduct favors the Zionist cause. The rulers who disagree with this Judaic religion mostly prefer to remain silent and avoid contradicting it in order to avoid endangering their administration and their lives.

In any case, Judeo-Christianity always wins out to the detriment of the state; it saves despot rulers the trouble of ruling justly, the inept the trouble of ruling wisely, and the fearful the trouble of working for the happiness of their people.

peoples. The synarchic lodges operating within Judeo-Christianity represent a constant threat to state sovereignty, many Judeo-Christian sects function as receptacles for skillfully infiltrated synarchic agents working in espionage operations in countries whose rulers intend to resist the world Zionist superpowers, a case in point are the Mormons who work as spies for the FBI and CIA, the Jehovah's Witnesses who disapprove of military service, the Opus Dei<sup>87</sup> whose members are infiltrated into various Latin American government posts.

At this point it is clear that Judeo-Christianity is not merely a "spiritual" issue, but on the contrary, it has a notorious influence in various social, financial and cultural spheres of the countries that profess it, therefore anti-Christianity, beyond being a critical position, becomes a way to preserve the sovereignty and freedom of the State. Ideally, the rulers and national officials should be

<sup>87</sup> It is a synarchic organization infiltrated within the Catholic Church, currently has more than 90000 members worldwide receiving financial support from the papacy and several governments, especially in Latin America. Opus Dei finances the literary publications of the Mexican Carlos Cuauhtémoc Sánchez, whose ultra-right-wing works promote discrimination against all those who differ from Catholicism.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

The government's authority should be guaranteed by preventing Judeo-Christians, Masons, Synarchs and other Zionist infiltrators from directing governmental policies as they please, but unfortunately the opposite happens, as we see presidents and public officials going out of their way to kneel before priests and pastors, allowing Judaic and Masonic groups to meddle in state affairs.

In Bolivia the situation is pathetic, currently our supposedly "indigenist", "decolonizing", "socialist", "Marxist" and "atheist" rulers -among so many other self-assigned titles- are the first to finance papal visits with money from the state coffers<sup>88</sup>, marrying in Christian churches, consenting to the proliferation of Protestant sects, allowing synarchs, Freemasons and Judeo-Christian pastors in the service of Zionism to monopolize hierarchical positions in the army, the police, ministries and municipalities, in full view and patience of the whole world!.

What happens, dear readers, is that communists, Marxists, anarchists and other so-called "atheist" riff-raff and

<sup>88</sup> The arrival of Pope Francis I to Bolivia cost the government more than 11 million Bs, capital that could have been used in social, educational and health works.

The "anti-Christian" are in reality poor desk charlatans who criticize this religious system without ever effectively combating it in practice. The hordes of Reds, Marxists and Trotskyites that swarm in the universities pointing out religion as "the opium of the people" once in power do nothing to eradicate the "opium" of which they spoke so much in their "revolutionary" speeches.

In the same bag enter the famous "atheists" whose life they spend hoisting the science and the empirical material evidences, more concerned in demonstrating -by means of the scientific method and crude laboratory tests- the nonexistence of God without examining the moral character of the divinity and the behaviors of those who worship him. These "atheists" kneel before matter and if in the future the existence of the Judeo-Christian Jehovah were empirically demonstrated to them, they would be the first to praise him, leaving aside their materialistic, evolutionist and "anti-religious" positions.

The absence of patriotism is massive in these societies, obviously it is impossible for a man to love his homeland if from childhood he is ordered to worship a Jewish God inculcating in him the idea that this is above his country. A Judeo-Christian, a Freemason or a Zionist would not hesitate in trample their national flag and outrage their homeland if God ordered them to perpetrate such dishonor, since for them "You cannot serve two masters at the same time", so who would the Judeo-Christians serve, their homeland or their God? The answer is obvious.

The Armed Forces and the national police are a perfect illustration of this situation, in vain do they swear loyalty to our homeland (to whom they place second only to the Jewish God and his "chosen people"). The army and the police are owned by Freemasonry, which operates with the help of the Judeo-Christians and their Zionist representatives, which is why we should not be surprised that corruption, abuse and frivolity abound in these organizations. The military and police academies are true reformatories and dens of perdition whose ranks are made up of ignorant, self-conscious and abusive vandals, but very devoted to the Judeo-Christian religion and faithful vassals of Freemasonry.

A Police and Armed Forces of this nature are more dangerous for the people than foreign militias, militias composed of hens who abuse their inferiors and fear their superiors, who in war flee cowardly but always show great bravery against the unarmed.

In the eyes of the Masonic and Judeo-Christian military, the uniform is a necessary business to collect the salary earned by martyring the people and plunging them into corruption. Troops of such psychology rather than protecting our country only contribute to its annihilation.

It should not surprise us to see that the military -most of them Masons and Judeo-Christians- are involved in a series of massacres, disappearances and illegalities that would make the most heinous criminals blush<sup>89</sup> . Let's just look at the barracks, military service here rather than being an honor is a danger, a death sentence where young men are tortured, abused and subjected to all kinds of humiliations that denigrate them to the lowest animal condition, the barracks rather than a military fortress looks like a prison in which the homeland is rarely served and very often ends up pandering to the particular whims of Masons and Judeo-Christians infiltrated among the military personnel<sup>90</sup> .

<sup>89</sup> Whose crimes can range from mobilizing their troops to intimidate the neighbor, silence the partner of the son or daughter, extort the seller and violate the law to leak state information to foreign powers, strengthen the power of Freemasons and Jews within the Armed Forces, etc.

<sup>90</sup> Troops are used in domestic utility activities such as being bricklayers, servants and private babysitters for officers and sergeants. Every year one or more soldiers, students or cadets are killed or crippled by the military itself, and cases of innocent civilians killed by military or police personnel are quite common crimes.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

Almost the entire military high command is infested by Freemasons, Zionists and Judeo-Christians who hold the ranks of generals, colonels and captains whose order is capable of mobilizing troops and urging them either to rebel or to submit as the synarchic situation requires. Likewise, Protestant police and military officers with offices of pastors, deacons and ministers who use the troops as if they were the private army of their sects and congregations.

We reach the height of cynicism when we observe military and police officers dedicated to Judeo-Christian religious proselytism handing out doctrinal pamphlets during their duty hours, who have the nerve to attend these sects wearing the military uniform implying that their institution is subordinated to these groups and not to the homeland. Although you may not believe it, it does not stop there, but it goes even further when we notice how some military have turned their barracks and training areas into altars and temples of worship, recreational areas where the members of their brotherhoods hold retreats, picnics, retreats and other ridiculous things in which our soldiers are used to participate.

in our country. Apparently the Armed Forces cause more casualties in the Bolivian population than against the enemy.

as servants or escorts of freemasons, shepherds and sinarch priests!<sup>91</sup>

If the State lies fractured, it is obvious that all its dependencies and institutions will be in the same condition. In Judeo-Christian countries education is another calamity, the rulers allied or servants of the synarchic clergy are in charge of withering away science and knowledge to keep the population dumbed down, safeguarding the existence and privileges of these Zionist groups. It is not strange that in the countries most influenced by Judaic Christianity -especially in South America- a great part of the citizens remain in the most shameful ignorance, where reading, study, intellectual and literary production is negligible, if not non-existent.

In Bolivia, religion is an academic subject<sup>92</sup> - subject to quantitative evaluation - in schools and colleges.

<sup>91</sup> Despite the fact that the Military and Police Penal Code strictly prohibits the mobilization of troops for interests unrelated to military activity, its personnel openly disobey these regulations, here is proof that Christianity urges its worshippers to commit crimes and break organizational laws as long as these crimes are perpetrated in the name of God.

<sup>92</sup> Although the Bolivian state claims to be secular, in reality teachers continue to teach the Christian religion, whether Protestant or Catholic.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

and private schools. In Judeo-Christian schools (especially Protestant), education is more similar to a pulpit catechism than to scientific learning, and it is not unusual to see that in such establishments the study of relevant subjects is very limited. Instead of useful knowledge from an early age they Judaize the children, castrating them of their gentility, teaching them to honor the "chosen people" by means of prayers.

Hence we lack scientists and our academic preparation is very poor, naturally a man indoctrinated by Judeo-Christianity will have no attachment to knowledge since from an early age he is turned into a psychological Jew teaching him to be a fanatic persecutor towards those who question his religion or a useless pious person who only thinks of worshipping God by praying and believing that in this way he can solve everything.

The equally fractured health care system is striking for being inefficient and decadent. More than 85% of physicians and health professionals profess Judeo-Christianity or are members of Freemasonry and, at the same time, hospital insurance is a death hole where doctors have little or no interest in the health of their patients.

preferring to prescribe them useless treatments and placebos that only hide the disease, in other cases practicing unnecessary surgeries to increase their fees, experimenting with their patients as if they were laboratory rats very useful to teach an anatomy class or to test new drugs and surgical techniques<sup>93</sup> .

It is not surprising if the national economy is besieged by the financial monopoly of Jewish and Zionist groups. The national industries end up bankrupt or sold in a short time, while the private companies managed by Masonic magnates and their Judeo-Christian vassals cover a diversity of areas and tend to become large-scale economic monopolies, giving rise to the formation of Zionist bourgeoisies that boast the highest degrees of wealth. Nor should it surprise us that the labor situation is unfavorable for the humble, because for the bourgeoisie

<sup>93</sup> On the contrary, it is in their private offices where they show more consideration for their patients, who, although they try to heal them, they charge them a very high price for their care (much more if it is a specialty). This ethical decadence is contrary to all pity and compassion, where health is only a privilege to which the wealthy have access and medicine is a private enterprise whose quality is related to the price that the patient can pay. Doctors care more about money, the "Christian charity" they talk so much about ends when the patient does not have the necessary capital to cover the cost of the consultation. This has little to do with the parable of the "Good Samaritan" taught by his "Redeemer".

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

Zionists, Freemasons and Judeo-Christians, work is synonymous with exploitation, their employees are required to perform innumerable and exaggerated tasks in exchange for meager and insufficient wages to survive<sup>94</sup>, people tormented by need and hunger have no choice but to resign themselves to suffer the abuses and mistreatment of some Judaic parasites whose amassed fortune is the result of the misfortune of others.

Nothing is free from synarchic - Judeo-Christian corruption, even meritocracy perishes in their hands, to occupy a professional, administrative, labor position, etc., does not depend on the talent or merits that a person possesses but on his religious affiliation, since the Masons and their Judeo-Christian accomplices swarm in almost every social organization it is usual that their evaluative parameters are based on the belief: It does not matter if he is or is not talented the question is that he is Christian or a member of some synarchic lodge.

<sup>94</sup> The employees (technicians, laborers, auxiliary workers, sweepers, etc.) who work for the Judeo-Christian bourgeoisie receive a salary of less than 1440 Bs for 12 or more hours of continuous work; they do not have medical insurance, nor sickness or bereavement benefits. Likewise, the work environment that prevails in these Judeo-Christian companies is disastrous, the work under pressure is excessive, bordering on abuse, intimidation and psychological outrage.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

Hence, the organizational functioning is deficient and disorderly, we see institutions whose personnel is made up of a horde of inept, ignorant Christians and Masons who receive exorbitant salaries in exchange for their lousy performance. Nor is it rare to see how talented professionals - non-Christians - end up in poverty, wasting their vocational genius in trades that in no way correspond to their profession.

These reflections show only some of the effects that Judeo-Christianity has at the socio-political level, what I have pointed out demonstrates that this religion is detrimental to the State, the laws and the prosperity of a country. Judeo-Christianity only serves to enthrone in power the Judaic agents of the synarchic system turning them into sovereigns behind the throne and men corrupted by impunity, the rulers influenced by this Jewry end up being despots drunk with power or pious undecided manipulated by the Zionist clergy and Freemasonry, in both cases, Judeo-Christianity only generates useless or tyrannical rulers, rebellious, exalted, contradictory or apathetic citizens, all in all, harmful elements for the happiness of a nation.

This religion annihilates the patriotism of the citizens, turns the armies into henchmen at the service of the Zionist sects, be they Judeo-Christian or Masonic, weakens all organized social institutions, abuses and takes away the merit of the talented. In a Judeo-Christian country, politics lacks morality, it is plagued with vain and useless affairs, the rulers are more concerned with pleasing and indulging the whims of the synarchy instead of looking after the welfare of their homeland.

Such a jehovaistic and judaized religion is harmful for the integrity and sovereignty of the nations that profess it, to the Masons and judaic clergymen it is enough to whisper in the ear of the rulers and to exalt the people to take countries to war causing their reciprocal destruction. Judeo-Christianity is not a cult very friendly to peace and justice, on the contrary it seems that this belief -which many people consider the moral support of their society- is closely linked to crime and robbery, even some very devout Christians are disappointed to see that the religion they profess from an early age has not made men better and has only led their nations to ruin, their States subjected to the power of the sinarchy, the laws to uselessness and corruption to the extreme.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

A thoughtful person will see in Judeo-Christianity an enemy to the stability of his nation, sound politics and concord among citizens, a wise ruler will realize the havoc it wreaks on the State, its organizations and society itself.

A FINAL WORD

This brief essay demonstrates that Judeo-Christianity is dangerous for politics, society, the family, and human beings in general. History reveals that this Judaic religion was and is the cradle of the most abominable crimes, the most outlandish intolerance and collective ignorance. In Judeo-Christianity everything is a utopian discourse of joy and love that little corresponds to the reality that is lived and observed on a daily basis, factors that demolish the credibility of this religion in which its own followers display sordid corruption and opprobriousness of all kinds that they try to disguise under the shell of puritanism and gossip.

Judeo-Christianity appears to have a non-existent efficacy, it actually causes more havoc than it avoids, for every man it reforms produces an army of psychological Jews, ignorant, hypocritical and fanatical, harmful to society. If this religion is still in force it is due to the laziness, cowardice or chronic disloyalty that humanity suffers today. On the one hand we have ignorant people whose laziness prevents them from developing their intellect, finding it more comfortable to accept without questioning what others tell them, on the other extreme subjects who have disagreements with the Judeo-Christian doctrines but choose to remain silent for fear of being socially excluded or killed -at the hands of Freemasonry and other synarchic lodges- if they publicly manifest their criticisms<sup>95</sup> .

Finally there are those who know very well the fraud that is Judeo-Christianity and the destructive effects it causes but still defend it either for personal gain at the expense of the ignorance of others, or because they lack the necessary honor to abandon this sinister belief.

The true enemies of our people do not present themselves in aggressive or horrifying ways as popularly believed, on the contrary, they manifest themselves dressed in angelic appearances, with sweet speeches preaching love, peace, and

<sup>95</sup> Let us remember that not embracing this religion makes many people victims of stigma and social rejection.

Critical Analysis of Judeo-Christianity

They do not kill with blows but with hugs, they mix their poison with honey, disguising themselves as social redeemers at the service of a "good", "perfect" and "innocent of all evil" God, so that people remain in their lethargy living in a disastrous world that is forcibly catalogued as if it were the work of a benevolent being.

Judeo-Christianity prevents people from seeing their reality and the world as it is, the Bible teaches them to be obedient and useful sheep for the "chosen people" or else turbulent fanatics that it uses as a "shock group" when synarchical interests are threatened. The point is to prevent people from waking up and knowing the true nature of the God they worship and the representatives who speak in his name. Whoever has finished reading my work has enough information to decide which path to take:

- 1) Prepare to fight for their spiritual freedom, ceasing to be the plaything of a despotic God, the puppet of a lying church and the mule of synarchical priests, pastors and clerics.

2) To be content living in this rotten world, resigned to his bitter fate, or to sell his spirit by spending eternity as a slave of the Judeo-Christian God and his sacristans in exchange for enjoying comforts and pleasures in this passing life.

Today is the right time to follow your path either for or against, the final battle has started...

Honor and loyalty!

Analysis snítica dafjadeacÜsliünismo is another brief but incisive that shows the dark side of the Christian religion. Javier calls into question the values, principles and consequences. The author admits the existence of the Judeo-Christian deity, who in reality is an evil and perverted being who has no other law than his whims, a deity to whom theologians have no other law than his whims. The author admits the existence of the Judeo-Christian deity who in reality is an evil and perverted being who has no other law than his whims, deity to which theologians try to cover up and justify by elaborating the image of the 'loving parent' which inculcates in the child.

4sáfifiis cMica deljudeasnsfiasinra exhibits the reality that we live in our Christian society where the liberties, the effects caused by this religion which do not cease to be more and more in sight and patience of the people who apt to ignore this disastrous situation.
