

LOCKDOWN IN THE TECHNOCRACY OF OZ

API: Lockdown in the Technocracy of OZ (part 1)

Welcome, welcome, welcome. I'm here now with Dr. Frazani of Apollonian Slumber, and we're going to discuss how Australia is sort of like the canary in the coal mine for the New World Order communitarian global slave state that they're developing. It seems to me, although I don't live there and I've never been there, that that is the case.

Dr. Frazani, what is your assessment about that? Well, yes, things obviously are escalating extremely rapidly in Australia. And this sort of lockdowns and authoritarianism that we're experiencing right now really has never happened before. And yeah, people are looking on in horror, particularly at Melbourne.

So where I am right now, it's actually not particularly bad, and it's quite clear that most people don't really believe there's any problem at all, there's any reason to protect yourself from a virus. It's very clear. And most businesses are on as usual.

But Melbourne is a completely different story where we're constantly seeing just police perpetrating violence on innocent people for no particular reason. It just seems that they are not complying with all of these new rules. And basically, we're getting a lot of mixed messages in Australia as well.

People are being told on one day that they can do something, and they're being arrested for doing it the next day. And then they're being told that they should have always known that you couldn't do that. So we're being gaslit, we're being lied to.

And we're basically, it seems like it's a country being beaten into submission, and then gaslit so that it doesn't want to do anything about it. It's like having an abusive partner or something. Right.

Trauma-based mind control is basically what it is. Absolutely. And it's interesting you said trauma-based mind control.

I believe that that is what this lockdown and virus is all about. It's to traumatize the shit out of the entire world. Most people are already clearly traumatized.

And the rest of us are, you know, you could say, yeah, all of our consciousness has changed since this happened. If you're exactly the same now as you were before this happened, then you probably didn't have a consciousness. You were already asleep.

But I think even the people asleep are feeling this heavy weight that's on society. And I think a lot more people than we'd like, when the media shows this, I think most people believe or know that this is bullshit. But a lot of people would be scared to ever voice that opinion.

And that's a good thing in a way, because once they feel sufficiently confident to side with the more vocal minority, you know, the more resistive type, then that'll really, you know, escalate to a great extent, I would say. Although it could always be, you know, led in a negative direction, like a controlled opposition type of protocol. That's sort of what I'm anticipating is happening is that they're going to try to play, you know, the right wing off against the left wing and blame the left wing for everything.

And then from there, install even more of a totalitarian type of thing. Yes, it's interesting, the controlled opposition that I firstly think of in Australia, there's a Zionist Jew called Avi Yamini, who used to be an IDF soldier. And somehow this guy has wrangled the most of the Australian crowd who is awake and right leaning.

And somehow, they're all so fucking retarded, that they get behind a Zionist Jew, who's yeah, he, he's clearly pushing the he also works for rebel media. So he's like, he's one of those. Yeah, absolute control.

No, but he's a Tommy Robinson. Like he's like best best friends with Tommy Robinson. He hangs out with the rebel media crowd.

And yeah, he's, he just magically gets promoted everywhere on YouTube to the point where he has hundreds of 1000s of subscribers, and no one ever messes with him. So I'm like, well, if he'd be the forerunner of controlled opposition that I can see in Australia. And I think people like him because he goes to media outlets, or he goes up to police, and he gets in their face.

And he's always getting arrested and stuff like that. So but, but it doesn't go anywhere. It's just because then at the end of it, he just says everyone, he says to everyone, we're not Nazis, right? You're all like, if you're if you don't like if you're not with the Jews, and you're like, if you've got any problem with what we're doing, you're a Nazi and we're not Nazis in Australia.

And he's telling he's telling Australians what we are. And I really find that contemptible, especially because he was shooting Palestinian kids on an Israeli beach. And you know, Australian, like that's got nothing to do with Australia.

And whenever he's asked, they asked, Abby, you know, given the chance, let's say Australia was invading Israel or something, or there was some conflict, they was asking, who would you side with? I don't even know why they both are asking because it's obvious that he would side with Israel. But yeah, he always dodges the question. But the state of Australia, as far as understanding like what's going on and things like controlled opposition, people don't get it.

They're so far behind compared to what I see people in America, talking about like, Australians just don't get it. I think it's the same with Canada. Most people in Canada are very conformistic.

I guess it's a sort of British Empire, Commonwealth mentality that they have that they have. Would you say Canadians are extremely complacent as well? I would say so. They're sort of apathetic that they have.

That's where Australians are at, is this extreme apathy, complacency. There's a classic expression we have called, she'll be right, mate. That's the general attitude in Australia.

Just leave it be, it'll be fine. And yeah, that's how people feel. I think the weather too in Australia might make people just a little bit more sedate than in Canada in some ways.

But at the same time, it can also maybe rile you up because when you're in hot weather, sometimes that can cause you to be more aggressive too. But it can also, for me anyway, make me sort of lethargic in the hot atmosphere. It definitely does.

It slows you down. The evidence, people in Queensland speak much slower than people in New South Wales. And it's warmer up there, they get a lot more sun.

Yeah, that might have something to do with that. I'm not too sure because at the same time, Canada is one of the coldest countries on earth, and yet we have a very similar mentality too. So that's difficult.

I think it's the culture that we're all receiving similar programming. Yeah, that's probably true. Because you could just as easily instill like rabid passion for your nation.

I remember glimpses of that from when I was a child, that that mentality still existed to some degree. But it definitely didn't exist by the time I got to high school. And what time was that exactly, or just approximately, like in terms of generations? I guess you're probably younger than me by a little bit, I would assume.

What is it, generation Y? I guess I'm part of the millennials, but I left high school at 2005, somewhere there. Yeah, I left it at 2000. So we're somewhat similar in age range.

So you probably saw nothing but changes since day one. You probably had a childhood, and once you started paying attention in high school, everything just kept changing all the time. I'm not too sure.

In Canada, it was pretty lethargic. I grew up in the countryside in the middle of nowhere until the age of 17. So it was somewhat more or less similar.

But it's hard to tell because when you're immersed in the changes, watching TV and so forth, obviously, they have their plans, and they're always shifting them and moving forward more and more. But it's hard to tell. Yeah, I was absolutely living it.

We saw it all firsthand. So the whole demographics changed, the whole culture, the police become tax collecting maniacs, cameras appear on everything, automatic cards, even e-tags for your car, everything. I saw my country go from probably one of the best countries in the world to the nanny state, they call it.

Yeah, we are monitored and accountable for everything. So technocracy, technocratic nanny state. Absolutely, absolutely.

I guess we could call it a technocratic matriarchy. Yeah, that's a good one. Yeah, it doesn't encourage any kind of action.

It disincentivizes everything except conformity. That's it. That's a pretty good way to put it.

It also has like a steam valve of sports, I guess. That's sort of like the permitted masculine form. I guess, yeah.

See, I guess I don't know much about the sporting world because, I'm not interested, but yes, Australia is very into the sports. I guess mainly like rugby and soccer, probably. Yeah, well, yeah, Australia is absolutely fanatical about sports.

I think that's diminished a lot in more recent years. I think pretty much everything is diminishing in Australia. They're trying to even take that last vestige of pseudo masculinity or macho behavior away from men now.

It doesn't seem like they give a shit about entertaining us anymore. They want you locked down now. They want the only entertainment to come through the screen.

There's no music industry anymore. No one can find gigs and all the venues are shutting down. That's a big one for me because I really like music and I think music is very important.

I think it does a lot for people. Yeah, they just shut it all down. I think that music, as Nietzsche said, by means of music, the passions play.

So when you take the music away and you only substitute very dumbed down music like the rap and R&B, repeated beats, it's just the same old cadence over and over again. I remember rap when I was in high school. The stuff now is, I don't know if they just hire a bunch of retards and inject them with sedatives.

Yeah, the music is just like a child or something. It's like dumbed down nursery rhymes. Rap used to be pretty militant, the way I remember it.

It was pretty masculine, actually. It was lowbrow and all that, but it had a militant side to it. If you fuck with me, you're going to get it type attitude.

I kind of liked that. Yeah, I liked it as well. That's why I listened to rap when I was a teenager.

Yeah, I grew out of it, of course. It just became a little bit, you know, the same old thing over and over and over. And you mature a little bit.

But yeah, that's one of the reasons why they're introducing that sort of dumbed down music to dumb down the population, because obviously, by means of music, the passions play. And if you're listening to dumbed down music, you're going to become a dumbed down person, because it conditions your consciousness according to the form of that music. So again, just another cultural mechanism of mind control.

So in Australia, they started moving in the Chinese. What period were they allowing that invasion? I would say to those who were paying more attention, they probably noticed it since something like the 80s, or maybe even before. But for those who weren't quite aware of that, it's in the last five to 10 years, the last five years has been completely out of control.

To the point where I'll give you an example, driving out of the airport in Sydney, all of the ads, like those huge, you know, two story ads they have outside the airport. All of them were in Mandarin or Cantonese, they were selling real estate, every single one. So that gives you an example of the situation Australia's in.

We are being sold to mostly Chinese, but yeah, it seems we're just being sold to the highest bidder. But the Chinese community is definitely an other in Australia, there is not much integration, as they put it. They keep telling us that it happens, but there's no visual evidence for it.

Yeah, that's a good thing. I guess the women, they don't gravitate toward the Chinese at all? Or do they? You know, women gravitate towards money. A lot of women do.

But Chinese men are so unattractive, right? There's no way most women are going to go anywhere near them. So I think they know that, too. And I don't think Australian men like Chinese women.

I see all these ads, it's funny, we're used to the sort of white woman, black man ads everywhere, that are obviously a thing, because it's so common. In Australia, sometimes in the Chinese areas, you'll see like a rich Chinese woman with a white dude. And it's, I don't know, it's to encourage that sort of thing, or to like, that's what the Chinese women want.

But yeah, it's a funny thing that you see that everywhere in the Chinese area. But you don't actually see the couples. You see that in advertisements or in actual real life? I see it in advertisements.

And like, yeah, just there'll be like a poster up. You're not even sure if it's selling something, but it's just they're making the point of the, there's a lot of, they put posters up all over Sydney, actually. There's, you know, there's visuals and propaganda everywhere.

It's everywhere. And that's all, again, part of the mind control. It all works together as a matrix of mind.

It's very demoralizing. Even if you know, like, I hear a lot of people say that you can ingest propaganda. And if you know what it's all about, like it doesn't affect you.

I say bullshit. I know, I know. Even the more advanced techniques they're using, and I still look at these ads.

And yeah, it demoralizes you. It's same as if you saw an ad with like, you know, a bunch of Australians doing something for the country. And it's like, you know, back to like you saw.

And obviously, the person who did this to death was Hitler and Nazi Germany. He had his people the opposite of demoralized. Yeah, it was through the propaganda.

They were constantly reminded, you're German. It's good to be German. We're doing well, like we're, you know, all shoulders to the wheel.

And in Australia, we're being told, you are an annoying flea that needs to be flipped off the body and replaced. Or yeah, you need to change all of your ways. And yeah, it's horrible.

This must have some, you know, it's obviously the means or mechanism through which the Jews are trying to, and their affiliates, of course, Freemasons and so on, are trying to initiate that Kalergi plan. I just sent a map to you in the chat there about, which is from Richard Kudenhove von Kalergi's Practical Idealism from 1923. He has a map in the book, which basically puts Australia into the British Empire, into this part of the British Empire.

So in other words, they're just going to try to put the Australians back. Same with the Canadians. Canada is also put back into the British Empire in the end, according to the plans of this cabal.

Well, yeah, that looks very different these days, I would say. Because even like, what's the British Empire anymore? It's a joke. It's hard to even know what Britain is.

It's just another globalist economic state. I mean, have you heard what's happening to Ireland recently? They're going into full lockdown again, and there's nothing wrong over there. And I watched a video from the Irishman Thomas Sheridan this morning, and yeah, he doesn't normally show negative emotion, but he was very upset.

And there's been a huge run of suicides recently in Ireland, like the place is being torn to pieces. I heard there's a lot of Nigerians that are being brought into Ireland. Yeah, and I even heard an anarcho-capitalist mentioned the other day, he just said, there's 200,000 Somalians that just showed up in, is it Indiana or something in America, wherever the Somalians, and he's like, how did they get there? None of them have any money.

None of them could have paid to come over here and no one would have let them in knowing that they can't get a job. So they were just like air dropped in or something. Where did 200,000 Somalians come from? How did they get approved? They're funded by the churches and by the Jewish bankers ultimately, and allowed to come in through the immigration policies.

I've noticed this in Australia too. I mean, I've never heard about a community of Africans, but we must have them because yeah, about five years ago, all of a sudden, huge groups of Africans started appearing in Sydney, doing chimp out sessions. Because we're not used to that in Australia.

You're not used to black people running around in the middle of the road, pushing over bins and shit. But yeah, it was like, well, that doesn't happen every day. And apparently we have Africans now.

Yeah, it's basically just the shock troops of the Jews that they're using. Just like in the Wizard of Oz, I'm always reminded of that. You know, the Wicked Witch of the West has the flying monkeys.

That's basically all the non-whites are for the Jews as their tool. Yeah, it's like all this stuff is, people often say to me like, oh, this is a really sinister thing. Like, oh, they're so evil, right? And, you know, sort of mocking the thing as being too unrealistic.

And you're creating a ridiculous plan that no one would ever actually execute. But a lot of people don't understand this plan is directly out of Machiavelli's The Prince. He talks about bringing immigrants into principalities as to diffuse the populace and make it impossible for them to overthrow you.

It's straight out of Machiavelli. I didn't notice that. I read The Prince and the Discourses of Machiavelli quite some time ago, but I didn't notice that aspect of it.

Yeah, it's not really dwelled upon, but it's mentioned as a clear, you know, I mean, that book's pretty brief. It's just a very clear, like, this is one way, you know, if you can't go to war or if you don't want to go to war, this is how you take over a principality through immigration and then having so many different groups that they can't really form a resistance. Yeah, he specifically talks about how they will spend more time quarreling amongst each other than they'll ever be able to oppose you.

Right, yeah, that's definitely. Which is obviously true. Most people don't understand that genocides don't always work with people running around with machetes or machine guns.

They work by stealth. If any of the Jews or their cronies tried to genocide white people through overt force, they would fail, of course. That's why they have to go about it in a stealthy and clandestine fashion.

Absolutely, and that's exactly as if you can't defeat them on the battlefield, which they can't, you have to use other means. And yeah, I guess the European weakness is this need to do the right thing. A lot of races don't have that problem.

They don't care about doing the right thing. But Europeans definitely want to do the right thing in general, and it can be used against them. Right.

Too bad their understanding of the right thing entails sort of a self. Well, that's all you have to do is change what the right thing is and then convince them. And that has been done.

Yeah, you have to make them understand that they exist, that they have a right to exist or that, you know, that they should exist anyway, whether there are rights or no rights at all, and that they should work toward their own survival. Because if even if they only cared about helping others, they couldn't help others if they don't survive themselves. So they have to focus on personal survival.

Otherwise they'll cease to exist. So once they understand that it's an existential threat, once things get sufficiently chaotic, then they're going to be forced to jump off the fence or else they will, you know, have worse consequences brought upon them. It's really no choice in the matter.

Well, there are also there are people who don't deserve help who are getting it. In fact, most of the people like I know most people in Western society seem to see if like if you're on welfare or something, you know, you're a scrub and you should be kicked up the arse and made to go to work or something. But for some reason, you're an immigrant and you do that.

Not a problem. Right. That's all these people.

Now we're just helping. Yeah. You're not lazy.

I'm forced to be on welfare because I don't have any means to get a job because of all the biases and so forth and all the damage to my reputation and the sort of hostile, hateful nature of the Zionist Christians in the community where I'm living. I'm more pointing out how people have been that their ideas and their beliefs don't really make sense in the real world. They're clearly a result of education, programming, indoctrination.

Yeah, they don't weigh up. I remember during the migrant crisis, which is probably still going on really, but back in about 2016, there was this French lady who, you know, put all this effort to acquire a bunch of food that was about to go off. So she got it cheap or free or something.

And, you know, she loaded up on all these trucks, went out to this African camp or whatever, refugee camp, and she had enough to feed them all. And one of the Africans was, I don't know, he thought he was really smart. And he read the used by date on one of the cans and he said, oh, this food's off.

So they all collectively made a point of like tipping the food out right in her face. Like, are you trying to poison us, you bitch? And she didn't understand why they didn't like they didn't appreciate her help and all this. And he's just like, yeah, they have an entitlement mentality.

What the fuck are you trying to help them for? What is wrong with you? Like, that's it when you're allowed to get angry. I think she wouldn't help them again. Right.

What are you doing? Are you familiar with Bill Rise, that guy who did the Might is Right power hour? No, I'm not. But he cited an instance of, you know, this missionary types who go to Africa and then they end up getting like tortured and raped and get their head. Yeah, it happens.

It happens all the time. It's like, yeah, you I think Europeans we used to like understand the foreigner is not like you. I mean, I understand.

I've been all over the world. I know that shit. But I feel like people have forgotten that and they project their own mentality on to foreigners who think nothing like them at all.

I know in some cultures you're a sucker if you're trying to do like the right thing. You're just seen as a total like a sucker and a kind of a fool. Pretty much.

Oh, and then, you know, there are cultures where they're always trying to rip each other off. That's standard. So if you're not trying to rip someone off, you're kind of weak.

You're weak in the deal. You don't know how to haggle or whatever. And yet we don't do any of this stuff.

We pay full price on time. We don't try and rip you off. We don't try and get you stuck in a dark alley so we can rob you and stab you and whatever it's.

Yeah, it's sort of like dodo birds. A lot of these, especially the upper class, who are living in a sort of delusional world. They haven't had any really concrete dealings with all these non whites at their level, you know, because if you're at their level, then they're not going to treat you like they treat upper class whites who they use with guilt tripping and various other techniques to try to extract more advantages from them, either in the form of concessions of power on the one hand or on the other hand, some type of material advantage or whatever it may be.

Yeah, that's definitely I've noticed out of the vast majority of rich people have met or know is, yeah, they become extremely superficial. So yeah, their whole worldview orients around money. Yeah, they start getting a superiority complex because of the money.

They start thinking, Oh, I'm smart. I must be better than everyone because I've got the money. I don't know why that happens, but it definitely does.

And then yeah, they start becoming extremely superficial and having no real, like they'll never say anything controversial because it might limit the capacity to have more money. Yeah, their whole value system is merchant is mercantilist or bourgeois. It's basically life that comes without holding on to what you've got rather than trying to seek new ground or achieve anything.

Yeah, they're not holding on to what you've got. They don't have that aristocratic chatria caste type mentality like their superiors had before the superiors were largely exterminated through revolutions instigated by Jews from around like the 1700s and subsequently. So unfortunately, that's the case in this society where what constitutes the moral virtue or the good is simply committing a sort of racial suicide and allowing yourself to be made into a sucker or a tool of those who aren't white so that you can virtue signal.

So if someone who's not white say rapes your daughter, then it constitutes virtue to turn the other cheek and just say, oh, I forgive them. Or, you know, I want to help them or something like that. Right.

Instead of like a red blooded warrior would just, you know, knock their head off or something like that. Even in my opinion, even an average person should be wanting to kill in that situation. People have had all that animal side.

This is a big thing about Australia. Something that I've been aware of ever since I became aware of it, like it was happening to me, that I realized Australia through things like occupational health and safety, through the law, through the way that they make you sign up for business and anything to do with the government. And then the way the police are, the cameras everywhere is that Australians have been, they get financial and social zaps, like the way you would train a racing horse.

I've heard that they sometimes like, you know, they give the horse a little shock or they hit it with a stick or something. And Australians have been receiving this daily for way over a decade. And most of them are in just a state of complete fear about what they're going to get shocked.

Yes. It's not a matter of like, I want to avoid the shock. It's like, when's the next one coming and how bad is it going to be? Right.

They want to crawl on their bellies to avoid more pain. It's so bad. I mean, I'm an absolute rebel who has nothing but contempt for all of this.

And it affects me. You know, it's definitely dampened the fire. It has.

Yeah, same with me. And I would compare that to, I would say I'm much better off than the average person. But yeah, it's had its effect.

And I deeply, deeply resent that. Yeah, especially when you see the fucking people who deliver it. None of these people are Australians.

We've got a fucking, we had a prime minister called Bera Jiklian, for fuck's sake, who looks, I don't know, she looks like a Jew to me, claims to be Armenian. And then, yeah, we've got this guy, Daniel Andrews, who, he's the guy who's basically put down these lockdown laws in Melbourne. And this guy's eyes look more psychopathic than just about anyone I've ever seen in politics.

He looks like he's gone way over the edge. He kind of looks like an ogre in the face, like a Shrek type character. Is he a Jew, do you think? No, I believe he is one of the biggest sellouts that's ever existed in Australian politics.

What I, the only way that I can explain Dan Andrews and what he's doing and who he is and how he got there, I believe he is the type of person that was rejected by Australian society. Everyone hated him and called him like a little pussy and probably, you know, they give him, they probably slapped him around, beat him up. No one gave him any respect.

So then he got into politics looking for some respect. And I think some Chinese people picked him out as like a weak link. And I think they, have you seen that episode of South Park where it's either the Chinese or the Japanese get an American politician in and they tell him he's got a really big penis.

Have you, have you seen that? Yeah, I've stopped watching that in like my late nineties, but I can get the idea. He's basically just a tool of these. Yeah, I can see that they brought him in and that they befriended him and they told him like, Dan, you're a great guy, very smart Western man, very big penis.

And you know, maybe they introduced him to a few women and, but there's all these photos of him with Chinese people everywhere and he looks very happy. Yeah, he's probably corrupted by like the China vagina or something like that. I think they befriended him and they've sort of said like, we like you, you know, you're going to like help us or the, you know, some form of globalist got to him, but I think it's the Chinese and he's very like pro China, goes to China.

And he, he, he is the sort of person who would hate Australians because they hate him. I felt that to be the case with a lot of these traitorous upper-class whites who think they're super sophisticated. They buy into this Orientalist culture, you know, like martial arts and stuff like that.

And they'll think they're very sophisticated, you know. Jordan Peterson does that actually. I go to the Orient and, you know, learn from the masters.

They're so spiritual and white people are so beneath, you know, they have no knowledge of their ancestral culture or history that in China, in the Orient, all of those cultures basically are just deviations and distortions of the original Aryan culture that existed there, such as the I Ching, which is created by white people. You know, there are pyramids in the Gobi desert that were white, the Tocharians, the Ainu people in Japan and so forth. There's that sort of type of limp-wristed, overly intellectualized elitist from a privileged class who, you know, wants to get a sense of importance by going beyond what, you know, happens to be the culture that they're born into.

They want to sort of transcend that in their own mind for an ego boost. But I think with these people, they're even beyond that. They're basically possessed because they're probably all Freemasons at the higher levels.

And I'm sure they're probably possessed or influenced by whatever sort of dark entities that these Jews work with. So, I mean, what is your opinion on Freemasonry? What do you have to say about Freemasonry? Well, it's basically Judaism for Gentiles. There's the book Freemasonry by Dieter Schwarz from the Third Reich.

Another one is Destruction of Freemasonry Through Revelation of its Secrets by General Erich von Ludendorff, who was instrumental in getting Hitler into power, I believe. I mean, people never say anything good about Hitler, right? But he's the only guy that I can think of who shut down a whole bunch of Freemasonic temples and arrested a Rothschild. Who the fuck else did that? Yeah, I think Mussolini tried to do some things along those lines, but he was sort of, you know, to it.

But yeah, Hitler definitely, obviously, had the right solution there, because Freemasonry is like traitorous. Yeah, it's rats operating in the shadows. You just got to shine a light on it when it's all over, basically.

But yeah, it's definitely people trying to deny the Jewish thing. It's absolutely Judaism for guys. Okay, there was a passage in those chapters you sent me, where there is a passage in the Bible where it says, the followers or something, or those associated with the King of Tyr, who he relates to the Masonic concept of the, what are they called, the Chief Cornerstone.

Do you know about this? Chief Cornerstone is the first brick they lay when building, say, a cathedral or something, and everything is based off that initial measurement, so it has to be perfect. Right, so it's sort of like the perfected soul, the notion of that, that you become a... I guess, basically, the Christ concept, the enlightened being, all that, the perfected soul. But the idea is that it literally says in the Bible that people who follow this King of Tyr, who could well be the Chief Cornerstone, which would make it the Masons, it says, you'll reach the higher levels, and you will believe that you are like the gods, and you'll believe that you are like us.

But it says something like, you are not like us, and you will be, just because of your stupidity, you will be treated twice as harshly as even our enemies, because you're so fucking stupid. But it looks like what they're saying is that we're going to sell the Masons out in the end, and it seems to be written in the Bible. This could be a misinterpretation, because it doesn't say that black and white, but it certainly looks like it, and I certainly think that is what would happen in the end.

Pretty much, so far as I remember, the Protocols of the Elders of Zion says that we will serve the Masons up as a sacrifice. Yeah, I can't see how it could go any other way. That's what you've got to wonder what the Masons are thinking.

I'm sure a lot of them just think they're on the hot seat now. They're starting to get a little bit hot around the collar, I think, starting to sweat, because they know that they've turned against their own people, so they can't side with them, if they're known, if their name's recorded in the Masonic lodges and so forth, and they know that the Jews are, you know... If they've taken those Jewish rights, they're already damned for eternity. They have no chance.

It doesn't matter what they do, they're fucked. I'd definitely say that they've transmitted their, or they've sort of mortgaged their soul to the Demiurge, or the Jewish goth. Oh yeah.

No, if they took those rights, and they went through, they're fucked. They are so fucked, it's not even worth thinking about. That's probably what, what is the guy's name again? That's your Prime Minister, isn't it? That Dan Andrews guy? He's the Premier of Victoria.

That's what, if he was the Prime Minister, man... Isn't it a woman who's the Prime Minister of Australia? I'm not too sure. I believe it's still Scott Morrison right now. I really don't follow the Prime Minister too closely.

Yeah, he's just a Zionist plant who says stupid shit. I don't need to... Right. I think he's being picked because he comes across as sort of like some Australian dad, and that's, I think he's trying to present himself as that.

Like, I'm just some dad. And he's drinking foster. I've heard some Australians, I remember Thomas Sheridan mentioned this as well, that they're getting Irish people to talk about politicians, or mention them by their first name, like they're your mates or some shit.

And this is working. I've noticed people in Australia have mentioned politicians by their first name as well. And they do, they talk about them like it's someone we know, who lives down the street.

Yeah, I can see them doing that in Canada with that Justin Trudeau, Jewish... I mean, fuck, how... Justin Trudeau is... I mean, that guy is... He's so obviously not a politician. He's not the sort of guy who could have ever raised himself above anyone to achieve anything. He's just being put there.

I think his dad was previously in politics, right? Yeah, he was a prime minister, Pierre Elliott Trudeau in the 60s, who created the race, the legislation that enabled non-white immigration at that time, which they did in every white country in like 1965. Exactly. I think, is that the case in Australia too, in like 1965 or somewhere around there? I think it was the 70s for Australia.

We got a little bit later. Okay. I guess because of its remoteness, maybe? Yeah, I think they also had to get a particular guy in power to do it.

I think Australian politics used to be a lot different than it is today. It had a lot more masculinity in there. I think it's been a process to push it over.

Because we literally used to have a policy called the White Australia Policy. No shit. Right.

Obviously, getting rid of that was the worst thing we ever did. But that's why I think Australia was a bit harder. Australia was very aware.

Australia was paradise, man. I speak to my parents, my grandparents. Australia was the sort of place where you could live in a city and not lock your front door.

No one did. There was no reason to. It was as close to paradise as I could think of.

And they have completely destroyed it. Whereas, yeah, now it's one of the worst countries in the world. I guess a clue.

I remember the mainstream media used to say that Melbourne was the most livable city in the world. I remember reading that like, wow, something bad's going to happen in Melbourne. There it is.

Yeah, it's unfortunate. Because I've always associated Australia with like the rescuers down under that cartoon from Disney or whatever it was, like the 90s. Yeah, I guess I haven't seen that.

Yeah, it's like some kid in Australia who's like living in the outback. And there's a bunch of mice or some shit that he involves himself in. Well, yeah, definitely outback Australians are nothing like the Australians in the city at all.

A lot of Australia is still pretty rugged and masculine. But yeah, none of those people have any power or money, right? So it doesn't sort of matter on a national level. Although I have heard there are a lot of calls for Western Australia to break away from the rest of the country, which would be, I really hope that happens.

Western Australia would be a place that is a lot less propagandized. It's just a huge landmass. Most of it's rural.

And it just it doesn't have the immigration that Sydney has doesn't have the propaganda. So yeah, it's a little bit behind, I would say. But yeah, I think they are noticing what's happening in other states.

And they're like, well, where next? So we want to leave. So Australia is sort of like, probably about half the size of Canada, is it? Or actually, it's more like almost two thirds. Right, it is pretty large.

In terms of livable space, I would say it's probably like two thirds of the size of Canada. It's sort of almost maybe like 80% of the states in size, it looks to be. Yeah, it's quite large.

It has a lot of room to grow. That's, that's something that's very concerning. Yeah, there's been talk of doubling the population within like 10 years or something.

That's what they're saying in Canada, too, that they're gonna, I think that What the fuck does the world need more people for? The only reason I just they see it as like, we get more money, right? We tax people, more people, we have more money. There's an occult reason why. And the reason is because they want to turn the world into a soul farm, the more more they have, the more soul energy is being distributed to their their entities that that occupy the planet Saturn, apparently.

Are you talking about like, the inverted womb concept and like the Ouroboros and the astral lockdown? I'm not too sure about those specifically those conceptions. Yeah, it's basically the if you receive the right rights, the right, you know, the right words and phrases, and you believe in the right things, it is reported by occultists that know more than I would know, and I know a fair bit. But there's definitely a belief that Yeah, you're absolutely right that this is already up and running.

This, like souls being locked down, it's just not fully completed, but it's it's already sort of happening. And as far as I know, these souls, the energy is basically vampirized by whatever entered entities that the Jews work with. Yeah, I mean, this happens while we're alive.

Most people are being vampirized by something, like, right now while they're alive. The I mean, it gets very complicated, the lockdown equation, but it's related to like vortex mathematics. And it's just everyone understands, I think, at our level that the tools that they use are corruption and inversion specifically.

They're not the greatest creators, but they're excellent corruptors. And you can, it's like if you, as we were saying before, if you can convince someone that doing the wrong thing is doing the right thing, you've got them, you've inverted the situation. And that's essentially what they are also doing on the spiritual level, is that your spirit is supposed to go to God, if you will, or, you know, reincarnate in the way you choose or things like this, but that they have locked that down.

So people inside the matrix through like a lower vibrational frequency, where they prevent people from transcending the spatial temporal dimension, I guess you could say the, you know, they can't, they can't, or they're trapped in that in that circle. Yeah, whatever it's in the astral, the people cannot escape the astral plane. And the astral is like a low, low level compared to where the source would be, if you think of it like an onion.

Yeah, it's the lower fourth dimension, I think, isn't it? Basically, yes. And I have heard that it's a creation. It's not something that exists inherently, that was put there.

Now, I don't know about that. I don't understand the more advanced technology and more advanced science. But, you know, Elon Musk is currently shrouding the entire globe in satellites.

There's going to be a grid around the entire Earth. So that's the sort of physical version of the sort of thing we're talking about, that you will actually be able to see that. But yeah, you're right, the fourth dimension is locked down.

And apparently, there's a lot crazy shit going on up there. Yeah, definitely disturbing. I guess, what is the solution to be able to escape this or to be able to oppose it? Well, that sort of thing, mostly it is to, you know, for the layman, it is to be to harbor discipline, discipline of emotion, to meditate, pray.

These are about the only things that are going to really help to raise anything that will raise your vibration, working out, doing good things, helping people, study, yeah, meditation. But, you know, anything like eating their food, consuming their media, all this stuff lowers your vibration and makes you more vulnerable. The most vulnerable thing you could ever do is take something like methamphetamine.

If you smoke methamphetamine all the time, you are surrounded by entities, no problem, because your firewall has completely broken down at that point. I think alcohol, too, does the same thing. It definitely does, but I think most people can drink alcohol and they would only experience very minor negative effects.

Like they may do something really dumb that they wouldn't usually do. But I think everyone's seen what a meth head is capable of. They're truly demonic people.

Yeah, I'm thinking, too, though, with alcohol, the more you drink, the more entities attach to you because they gravitate toward these lower vibrational frequency places with lots of depression and, you know, whatever. Yeah, if you're like a blackout drunk type of alcohol, yeah, that's pretty bad. It does seem to sort of like erode your soul, because I know somebody who has drunk liquor for most of their life and they seem to be possessed by entities because every time they come around, there's always agitation in the environment.

It's like there's some sort of very negative vibrational frequency or like you're being bombarded or attacked by entities somehow. And I'm pretty sure that's because they're possessed, because when you drink alcohol or do drugs in general, it probably erodes your soul or creates maybe a fragmented soul, which enables possession or else it just sort of like weakens your powers. But yeah, the way it if you know about the aura, like you have a magnetic field around your body, the aura is brought down or there are holes poked in it.

The more that you do things like get drugs or heavy drinking or just experience, like if you experience really low vibrational content, like, I don't know, if you go to Live Link every day, your soul will be fucked. And yet the only way to heal all that is to raise your vibration. There's no magic pill you can take.

You have to do the hard work. But this is why most people are fucked up. This is what it gets down to, is that people become aware that they have a shadow side or that they have a voice in the back of their head, maybe telling them that something's not right about this.

And it's the people that reject that voice and smooth it over with alcohol or, you know, whatever. They're the ones that are in big trouble because it's just going to get worse and worse and worse. But that's what they're encouraging people to do, right? Yeah.

I mean, how many people are on psych meds? Every single one of those people. Some people have chemical imbalances, but almost all of those people are just rejecting that shadow. That's all.

That's all their problem is. They need to get off the fucking drugs and admit the truth, like that they're weak, that their soul is being devoured and they're doing nothing about it. I think the more stress and the more lower vibrational emotions like anger, fear, hatred or rage, in a sort of negative sense, or emotions that turn inward, this sort of depression, things like that.

Yeah. See, anger is dangerous. Anger is supposed to be acted on.

That's what it's for. It's supposed to produce results. And when we have this anger that we can't act upon, it goes toxic.

So you have to get rid of it. You have to get rid of it. Especially when you have a state, when you have a nanny state that suppresses you from speech.

Oh, it's brutal. What it does is it makes you switch off that anger instinct and you become an eternal pussy. I've seen it happen to so many people.

So you have to keep... There's a great researcher called Michael Tesarion. He talks about keeping the blue flame of anger. In other words, under control.

You are angry, but it's under control. Not to switch yourself off and become... We have to all become better at mastering our own domain in this modern world because we are putting up with shit that our ancestors didn't have to. It's on a very psychic level.

Our ancestors would never have tolerated any of the things that are being done at this time in history. Yeah, so I think it would be a little bit easier for us, actually, if it was a physical war. It would be more obvious what we had to do, how to deal with it.

You advance and kill or you defeat. That's sort of what I've been thinking. But in a psychic war, it's a lot more complicated and a lot more difficult, to be honest.

And a lot more people are going to have no idea what's happening, but they don't even know who the enemy is. In their war, because it's a psi war. A war of a spiritual nature.

For them, we can't call it spiritual. We can call it infernal, I guess, would be a good term to apply to the Jews and their modality of inversion and perversion of our culture, history, identity, constructing our identity to demoralize us. That's their method, is basically corrosion, to try to corrode or erode your soul through countless means.

Yeah, I think a lot of people don't understand the place that they're coming from, where there's no morality. A lot of Westerners cannot understand a psyche that doesn't care about morality at all. They don't even sort of see it as possible, right? It doesn't register on the radar.

And I've seen this a lot in interviews, people trying to have an interview with some Zionist agitator or something, and they don't realize the level of nihilism that the person they're speaking to is operating at. And the level of cynicism, the level of like, they don't realize they're pissing in your face, and you don't even realize it. Because, yeah, I believe the Westerner is just almost incapable of turning off morality, or trying to view, like, what would a person be like? What would they be capable of if they had no morality at all? They would do anything, try anything, as long as they get their way.

Yeah, you can definitely see that in today's society with the moral bankruptcy of people. Oh, it's so bad. It's so bad.

The leadership that's manipulating them is sort of serving like a standard that people are mimicking. And that is, of course, deliberate on the part of the Jews in the media. They put all these sort of, like, very... Yeah, they want people to be a really deep nihilist, like, just totally not give a shit about anything.

And see it as a virtue, though, you know, like... They have no other regard. It's just regard for themselves. Everything to them is just instrumental reasoning.

There's no higher mind. It's just sort of like a cannibal vampire type mentality. Yeah, it's vampiric.

Parasitic. Yes, to parasitize off others. Do you ever get the feelings like you read the history and you're just sort of like, this must be a deep spiritual battle.

There's no... Like, this has been going on for thousands of years. And some people on the internet are taking this way back. People claim to have memories and things even before any of our recorded history.

And, yeah, they all said this has been going on for as long as we could possibly think of. And you wonder, is there an end to this? Is this some kind of struggle? I think basically the end for them, either if they're going to be totally segregated and incapable of coming anywhere near us, on the one hand, or on the other hand, they're just going to be completely annihilated in one way or another. Well, I think the good thing is I believe that all the stuff they believe is delusional bullshit.

If you think of a crazy person that's taken their beliefs way too far, there is no return to oneness concept. They're all just fucking having themselves on. They hate racial purity.

They hate other groups. And so they've got an ideology that backs that up. But when it all checks, let's say they took over the whole world, they enslaved everyone, got everyone race-mixed, and it's all done.

Nothing will happen. They've just destroyed everything. There's no ultimate spiritual goal to any of this.

And what that would lead to. So to me, they can't achieve it, even if there's, like, it's a road to nowhere. Pretty much, yeah.

It's just neurosis and insanity. Or it's a road to madness. Which does make sense, because essentially, they worship chaos.

And chaos is insanity. It's a crazy person thinking they're doing something, but they're like, you know, it's a crazy person wearing a straitjacket in a room yelling at themselves.

That's chaos.

There's a funny meme. You know what fractals are, right? Apparently, there's something to do with chaos or something. There's a funny meme with a fractal and it's like overlaid upon this Jew with a swinging a sin chicken over his head.

That's a fucked up ritual, I think. I wonder, you know, if people were showing, like, look at the rituals these people do. Look at all the talk of blood drinking, rape, murder.

Like, people don't know that Noah got sodomized, right? I mean, they took the main guy and had him raped by his son. It's the most vile book that I think I've ever read. The Old Testament and the Talmud, both are pretty much... I'm not going to go near the Talmud.

That'll give me nightmares. But the Bible, the one that everyone's got access to, right? It's a horror story. It's the most vile, disgusting shit you've ever read.

Yeah, yeah, yeah. Definitely nothing that I really have any trust for. So what sort of a particular spiritual, if there is any sort of doctrine or spiritual orientation that you gravitated toward through your researches? You mean personally? Yeah, you had mentioned hermeticism and so forth.

But I'm pretty sure that hermeticism is... To me, hermeticism is more related to a semi-scientific look at metaphysics. Like, it doesn't claim to know. It claims to be striving to know, which is what I like about it.

Because we clearly don't fucking know everything. I hate it how religion claims it's like we know everything. No, we don't.

So hermeticism to me has left the top open and it's left a lot of question marks. Sort of saying, well, we don't know, but let's see how close we can get. So they have tools such as the law of correspondence, or the law of allegory, that everything can be related to everything else.

And they have the concept of as above, so below. So that which is below is like that which is above. And by that rationality, we would say that God is like man, and man is like God.

And we could also say equally with Alfred Rosenberg that race is the image of soul. Yeah, I mean, why does race exist if we're supposed to get rid of it? It's the dumbest shit I've ever heard in my life. God got it wrong, apparently, and we're supposed to correct his mistakes by getting rid of race.

It always reminds me of the distinction of Julius Evola, differentiated order versus undifferentiated chaos. And the Jews are basically the embodiment of that chaos. And, you know, we could call the differentiated order, we could call that logo-centric or logos or God.

The races and so forth on this earth that organically developed or, you know, through whatever means, they're a result of higher dimensions, they're a result of the incarnation of these entities. Although the ones that are mixed together, you know, they're a result mainly of race mixing of original types, like the proto-Negro, proto-Mongrel, and proto-Aryan, or I guess the Aryan is sort of like the proto-type. So everybody is mixed to some extent.

But, you know, what came originally is a result or a concretion, not of any sort of Darwinian evolutionary process, but of whatever sort of involution of higher entities that came. To me, the main problem with today that I look at is that it's not natural. If people were naturally just deciding, oh, we just all want to, I don't know, mix race and multiculturalism or whatever, then they would just do it.

There wouldn't be any issue. The problem is that no one wants to do it. So they got to brainwash the shit out of you and force you into this prison-like society.

So that's obviously clinically insane. You are fucking insane. God and nature got it wrong, and you need to come in.

Look at Bill Gates, right? That guy is obviously, he can't even hide the fact that he's a psycho in public these days. He has the jupiter's delight all over his face. He laughs at inappropriate moments.

His wife denies obvious facts on national television. These people are fucking out of their mind. I think there's no God in Bill's life at all.

There's only numbers and science. That's it. There's nothing outside of that.

Yeah, that's sort of what they're pushing for. Even though they claim that they're all about so-called God and so forth, what they're really about is just a sort of rationalist, atheistic materialism. And the God that the Jews speak of is probably sort of this demiurgic entity.

I like Steiner's Ahriman. It's basically science God. Everything's numbers and formula, and it's cold, hard science and technocracy.

I like his model where he sort of has Lucifer being a soul that's striving to be better or to be more like God or something, striving to be more than man. And then he has Christ, who's sort of the more reserved but still enlightened being. And then he has the lower form, Ahriman, which has no striving at all.

It's trying to drag everything down to hard facts and numbers with sort of like no poetry, no art, no fun. Just all of our worst nightmares from science fiction. Yeah, this whole society is like that now.

It's pretty much this technotronic, this big new world. There's still a lot of humanity out there. It's under this umbrella of technology.

But yeah, I can see humans becoming a lot more like robots. I think that'll be kind of common, actually. Their intention is to robotize people through literal transhumanization.

It's definitely already happening. The smartphone was... It used to be only a retard would spend half the day stroking the palm of the hand with their finger. And I also thought a lot of these people must be getting robbed or kidnapped.

If you're walking down the street just with your phone, you have no awareness of what's going on around you. And all predators are very... They'll notice that. So you're going to have no idea that someone's just about to walk up behind you and knock you out and take all your stuff, including your thousand-dollar phone.

I think people... A wildebeest drinking from the water. Yeah, a lot of people who used to maybe... To me, it was quite common for people in the past to recognize that there were predators in the world. People used to know this.

People now sort believe we're all herbivores with no killer instinct or something. But they're all still out there. I'd say it's a lot easier for them these days.

But yeah, people walk around like nothing's ever going to happen to them. It's unbelievable. Yeah, whenever I'm in a city or in an environment with lots of these types of non-whites, especially, I'm always on full alert and in sort of a controlled mode.

The only people who ever tried to fight me for absolutely no reason are black people. And I haven't even come into contact with many black people in my life. And yeah, like four of them have tried to fight me for no reason, including a woman.

I guess they can sense that you're aware of the distinction between so-called... No, I'm not. There's nothing that led to it at all. It was like them wanting to fight me, for sure.

Yeah. Another problem we have in Australia, I guess, is Arabs. Arabs obviously fucking hate us.

It is so obvious. They look at you like they hate you, right? And they want you to die. I'm just like, what the fuck are you even doing here? Like, if you've got this much hatred, why are you here? I think they're animus in part, but not in whole, as a result of all the Jewish Zionist incited wars in their countries.

And then, you know, they get the opportunity to leave, and then they blame all the white people for it because they've seen some white soldiers, you know? And that's sort of what the Jews are intending, is to use whites as a scapegoat for whatever they do. That's why they always blame... I don't know. That's extremely devious shit.

Like, they deserve the worst for that, you know? I think that's what we have the most contempt for, is the lying, the gaslighting, and the yeah, accusing us. Like, they do a crime and then they accuse us for doing it. That is the most contemptible shit ever.

Yeah, because, for example, a perfect example of that is hate speech cases where you're criticizing Jews, and then you get your life destroyed because you're criticizing them for what they're doing to you and your own race. This is a very strange one, right? Yeah, the hate speech thing. Because I've seen Family Guy, right? They use racial slurs and they're constantly ribbing at races.

They even make fun of handicapped people on that show. Like, that show's brutal. But how can Family Guy do it? It's on mainstream television.

But yeah, if you say the same thing in public, you could be thrown in jail. Yeah, that's the thing. That's more of the schizophrenic type of programming that they put forth.

They put in the media, you know, something that they don't want you to do, and then that sort of encourages you to do it. But then, when you're in public, then you have this extreme prohibition brought against you. So, it's like the lights of a siren.

You know, red, blue, red, blue, stop, go, stop, go. Totally, yeah. So, it confuses you and puts you into a state of trauma, basically traumatizes you.

Yeah, totally. You can see people tripping over their words and stuff when speaking. The look of fear in people's eyes when you bring up the wrong topic.

Right, they don't want to lose their job, they'll lose their money, and then they'll lose their ability to live, basically, when they have a stigma against them. They become an odd person in society. So, they want to avoid anybody who is associated with that, or any discussion which is associated with that, to the greatest extent possible.

And that's all part of the programming, is to marginalize those who are a threat to the system, to vilify them and associate them through false associations with all sorts of things that are not necessarily related to them, such as, you know, sex perversions or anything that people... Yeah, that's clearly a big one. They'll basically just make up stories and say, oh, this guy's mentally ill, look at him, you know, what a horrible person. But in reality, it's just, you know, their way of flinging mud against those who are a threat to their power.

So, the more they slander you, the more you know that you're doing something which is obviously effective as a strategy to overcome what they're doing to you. But now everybody's tied in to this grid, this cybernetic prison that has been constructed by the Jews on their earthly plane, which traps people in on a higher dimension. So, it's like as above, so below, and as below, so above.

They're trapped. And that's why they want to get away from any sort of physical money, too. They want to get into like a, you know, digital currency.

So, have you been hearing anything about that sort of thing in Canada? Like, has it been appearing in the news or like, oh, Canada's going to get a digital currency? I don't really know. But I'm sure that it's the same formula basically everywhere. They're just, you know, doing it a little bit more in some countries first before others and so on.

Right. Did you have an opinion on cryptos? Like, do you know much about that? Cryptocurrency? I don't really know too much about that. But potentially, it might be a means for people in this movement to transact with one another so that they can actually live without being cut out.

Because I know I've had my bank account shut down because of my little legal case here, defamation against my reputation for hate speech charges. I've had the major bank in Canada shut my bank account down. I've been prevented from transacting through Western Union and MoneyGram also by having it being claimed that I'm a security risk.

So, yeah, crypto would definitely be beneficial for someone like you. Yeah, if at all possible, if that were done in such a way that it could actually be reliable, because then somebody could just take all your money, right? If they knew... Apparently not. But yeah, I don't necessarily believe what they say about blockchain technology.

But if it's true that, yeah, you can't actually take people's money, it has to be... I think the only way you can do that is if someone's left their money on an exchange, then it's possible. But I think if you've taken it out on a digital wallet or something like that, it's no one can access unless they've got your codes. So they say.

I would be very mistrustful of that because they're... I am, I am. Yeah, they always have inbuilt backdoors, passwords into things. And of course, who can you trust really? Because if somebody comes out with a cryptocurrency, what if they're an operative themselves or some sort of... Absolutely.

I see it as something that we should at least be trying for the technologies there. And I've looked it up, there's seven and a half thousand cryptocurrencies out there. It would be a good idea if people were to like create a cryptocurrency just amongst, you know, locally amongst their own organization or something like that.

Yeah, I'm sure it's something we'll be able to achieve. Because yeah, it seems so accessible. I just, I don't know what the future of it will be.

But yeah, it seems to me is I'm surprised no one's put one out, to be honest. I think there's one guy in Canada who is something like that, but I don't really know too much about it. Yeah, it's definitely something.

So anyone out there with computer knowledge and too much time, that's what you should be doing. Because even if you don't end up using it as a currency, it seems that there's a lot of future work is going to be related to blockchain. Like it's definitely part of our future technocracy.

And I'd say the more we know about it, the better, to be honest. I think it will be the basis of the coming universal basic income and digital currency system. It'll be on a blockchain or something similar.

Yeah, I guess I don't really know. My concern about digital currency is obviously that if you can't physically possess it in a lockbox or a safe or in your hand, you can be arbitrarily cut off and then you'd be like dead in the streets and you wouldn't even have any recourse, especially with the gang stalking and so forth that they're doing. That if you're a public enemy or a targeted individual, then the government works with those gang stalkers to basically screw your life up, prevent you from having employment and so forth.

So what would happen? I saw some videos, there's a gang stalker, okay, so a guy sort of letting it known to another guy that he's being watched or whatever. Well, can't you fuck with these people? If they're driving their car near you, can't you sort of cut them off, take their photo or like actually fuck with them? I mean, the way it works so far as I know, based upon my research, and this is a good channel of Zionist global communist takeover on Bitchute, and that's from Australia. Has anyone followed them? Well, the thing is, here's how it works basically as a general schema or sketch.

What they do, they hire whoever, I'm sure this works hand in glove with the government, they hire a bunch of different people, probably either part-time or full-time, and they conscript members of the community by getting law enforcement officers and people of this kind to go to their doors and say, yeah, we've had really great concerns about this person here. Somebody says they might be a pedophile or somebody says they're a terrorist. We've been very concerned about them, so please have a look on them and so forth.

And so this is how they conscript average people in the community or through churches and so forth. It's basically to team up against an individual so that 24 hours a day there always is somebody or multiple people spying on you and watching you, number one. Number two, deliberately disturbing you through harassment, making noise, creating noise pollution around you 24 hours a day.

And three, deliberately trying to interfere with your life so that they can ruin your life and render you either homeless or put you into a situation where you are set up in like a false flag PSYOP. So they'll subject you to economic sabotage. They'll cut off your bank accounts.

They'll prevent you from having employment or they'll seek to get you fired. They'll talk to your employer, say, you know, this guy's a terrorist, this guy's a devil, or they'll work within your environment, within your work environment to sabotage you because there are Jews everywhere and there are the cronies of the Jews everywhere. Either, you know, everybody's basically united at this time in history for the most part, or not everybody but most, against so-called nationalists or those who they call racists, either on the left wing as a communist or the right wing as the Christians or, you know, just the whatever average citizen idiot.

And so they will get these people against you and then these people... You just dropped out for a bit. Yeah, I can hear you. So basically there are varying degrees of participation in this gang stalking activity.

Some people are not very aware of what goes on, but the more deeply you become involved in it, the more, you know, you'll become very well trained and you'll be indoctrinated into this gang stalking like a cult because it is basically part of their cult that works hand in glove with it through Freemasonry. It's all initiatic. The higher up you go, the more corrupt you become.

And these people are basically working with criminals and street people as well as police. It's basically throughout the whole spectrum of society. And they use all sorts of techniques, very subtle techniques that you can see on, again, I'll cite the channel, a good channel is Zionist Global Communist Takeover or gangstalkingmindcontrolcults.com, I think is a good website that illustrates that.

And what they do is basically just seek to destroy your life in countless ways, economically, socially,