

nordlux bellator 2nd interview duke and varg

Okay, so we're recording now. So, welcome back Nord Lux Belator from Bulgaria. Thank you and for me it's an honor to talk with you.

I want to tell the story and I'll try to be more, I'd say, back to my experiences with these people. Because you mentioned Dr. David Duke and Varg Vikernes. Now, Dr. Duke, none of them, let's be clear, I'm not a guy that was in physical contact with these people, so I don't know them closely, but these are my suggestions based on my connections with the nationalist circles in Europe and also based on some analysis, based on my experiences, of course.

As I said before, I'm in this, how Patrick Siegman said, movement since basically late 90s, since my teen years, so half of my life. So, on the basis of that and on the basis of the things that I saw, I can conclude that at least I'm 100% sure about Dr. Duke. And I think that I will take a flag for Varg, because including in my close friend circles, online and personal life, there are a lot of, I would say, followers of Varg, including me.

When I was a teen, he was very popular. Like Burzum when they were playing or when he was in prison? Yeah, when he was in prison, he was very popular in these black metal nationalist, heathenist or pagan circles in Bulgaria, and not only Bulgaria, of course, and he was like semi idolized, let's say, or idolized. So, for me, I was listening to this type of music, still from time to time, I listen to his old music and so on and so forth.

But let's put first things first. So, David Duke, as I said before, since 2006, I was a member of Bulgarian National Alliance or Union. I saw that they're presented like Union, Bulgarian National, it doesn't matter, basically the same.

And so, at that time, I was quite politically active, even though on personal level, I was quite busy. I was working two places and so on and so forth. So, even though I was not exactly pro, how to say, political activist, I was against this political, how to say, the development of the organization, the political organization.

I prefer to be more, what will be, to work more with the youth, to educate them, to be more like youth organization, to spread nationalism. And then, after a decade or maybe even two decades, then we can take the fruits of the propaganda work on the political level. At least back in the time, this was my thought.

But anyway, a lot of the guys in the organization backed the political development, taking part in elections and so on and so forth. It didn't work. But anyway, so we kept close contacts with a lot of nationalists in Europe, including National Democratic Party in Germany, which is a very close organization to Bulgarian National Alliance, or also called NPD.

One of the leaders of the NPD is Udo Voigt. You can see, by the way, a picture of Udo Voigt. This is Jewish Wikipedia, by the way.

Sorry, but this is... How do you spell the last name so people can see it if they don't see it? I will send you a picture so you can use it even for the show. So basically, David Duke, a friend with Udo Voigt. He was a leader of NPD.

I'm not sure about now. Maybe he's retired. He was also, if I'm not mistaken, in early 2000, 2005, 2006, he was even a deputy in the Euro Parliament.

But I must check that. So, Bulgarian National Alliance was very close with NPD. So at some point, 2012-2013, I had this idea to organize a large, let's say, what will be the word in English, congress, a meeting in Bulgaria.

Bulgaria was not very popular in the national circles. It's not still popular, but more popular than before, because the guys from the Bulgarian National Alliance, or union, whatever, BNC, they're keeping with the... A lot of American nationalists are visiting the event. What other American nationalists have showed up there? Yeah, I thought that only my buddy that visited me in the beginning of the year will be the first.

So I would say another page of history, basically, making the event basically intercontinental, not only European. But it looks like another American nationalists were visiting the Lukumash. One of the guys was basically the prosecuted member of Rice Above Movement, RAM.

Then that's a legitimate movement, you think, and not just a controlled operation itself? I don't know. I'm repeating again and again, I don't know much about American nationalists. I'm honestly a lot of Bulgarian nationalists that I know that are buggers.

I could give some information about that. For example, the ex-leader of the Bulgarian National Alliance, 100% control agent and sexual pervert and so on and so forth. Yeah, that's how they make them into controlled agents through masonry and their initiatic rituals and their perverted behavior.

They probably film it and so forth so that they can get them bound to their cabal. In his case, he was a swinger, Bojan Rasate. He was a popular figure back in the 2000s, but now he's out of favor, so to say.

Anyway, Bojan Rasate gave me contact with Udo Voigt. So, what was the idea? I and my Austrian friend, a very close friend of mine, had this idea to make these connections among the European nationalists and to work for networking. Because, honestly, I still have this idea and that's why I said that it would be good to work on some projects together.

If it's possible, of course, and we must think about exactly what kind of project it is.

Because we are too few. Yeah, got the whole world against us, basically.

Yeah, and very few resources, and we are spread so thinly in all different continents and nations. So, my idea was, let's try to concentrate in some country or something like that, that is not so obvious. I mean, if you go in the United States, we will be targeted immediately by FBI, CIA, or whatever.

Or maybe in some of the major European countries, it will be more or less the same, but maybe in Bulgaria it will be a little bit different. But this is a suggestion, of course. Maybe I am not 100% right on that point.

But I think that our commies here, they are very much concentrated on other stuff. They are too lazy and corrupt, and they are looking only for absorbing money from the European Union. So, anyway, the idea was that we are creating this big conference, and we will invite different people.

And I was following David Duke back in the time. I like his style. That was very positive messages.

And, yeah, I didn't know much about him. So, I knew that Vogt and Duke were friends, and I've heard from my Austrian friend, that was also an ex-member of the youth movement of NPD, when he was living in Germany. That he could, basically, Vogt will give me information about Duke and how to contact him.

And also, I've heard some story, that I'm not sure to this day, that at that period, we're talking about late 2012, early 2013, Duke was living in Austria. For some, I don't know, reason, maybe tax evasion or whatever. And he was getting some PhD given to him or something like that? I will reach about the PhD.

So, I was in Austria, in Germany. So, I've met for brief period with Udo Vogt. My impression is that he's quite nice guy, but my German is not good.

Basically, my English is not perfect, but my German is worse. So, let's say my impression as a whole was quite good from Udo Vogt. He gave me a telephone number to contact.

And he said that in reality, there was such thing that Duke at that time was in Austria, or at least he think he was in Austria. He gave me a telephone number and that's why I decided, oh, great, I'll be in Austria for at least one month. So, I'll make a contact with him and try to talk with him and make him a guest to our conference.

And I was planning other people from Bulgaria and from Germany and other things. Basically, what to do with the way the white race or the Europeans were going and how we are planning to oppose the globalist Jews. At least at that point in 2012, you can speak, I'd say openly for these things in Bulgaria.

Now, it's not so. Well, not so much censorship than the media is more, let's say, pro-EU, which means lefty BSers. Yes, and take in mind that, as I pointed out with my podcast with Jan Umpirek, that the media since 1989 is in the hands, in the majority, 99% of the cases, in the hands of descendants of the ex-communists.

So, they cannot be ex-communists. Do you have any censorship laws, though, in terms of actual hate speech laws and things that curtail ability to communicate? If some of these Jewish organizations decide that I'm spreading propaganda, ideologies that, how to say, that will basically propagating genocide or something, there could be some problems for me. So, it's very thin line between.

It's not like in Sweden, for example, you can be open national socialist. In Bulgaria, it's, let's say, not on the same level, but still we have the right to reject the Holocaust. I say the Holocaust was bullshit, which it was, of course.

So, it's not so much about witch hunt there as it is in Canada, because in Canada, they have hate speech laws here, where it's not really certain what constitutes hate speech. So, people have to walk on eggshells in terms of what they say. There are some cases, for example, I believe the publishing company in the beginning of 2000s won a court case against them because they published Mein Kampf and some other interesting books.

And they started a court case against them and they won. But it is, you see, the problem with the Jewish organization that they're fucking octopus, right? And they basically are throwing money at some organization and they could start endless, basically. And at some point, even though they won the court case, they, let's say, were not in good financial shape and they stopped to publish such books.

And I believe they bankrupted sometime. So, it's a typical Jewish, these bastards, they know their work. I mean, they're very, very destructive agents.

Anyway, going back to the story with Dr. David Duke and my connections with Udo Voigt. So, I spoke with Udo Voigt. Our German friends made the translation a little bit better and I tried my quite corrupt German there.

I'm not too sure how to pronounce his name. Is that how to pronounce it or is it Voigt or something or Voigt? No, no, no. It's Voigt.

But maybe it's not exactly my pronunciation because it's a cheat. I'm not a native German speaker, of course. So, maybe some of my German friends will correct me.

But anyway, I'm trying to find some linguistic Udo Voigt. Let's try. Udo Voigt.

Yeah. So, I'm right. It's Udo Voigt.

So, anyway, my impression was quite good. As I said, he gave me a telephone number. I spoke after a few days with a guy that I'm not sure that he was David Duke.

And basically, the voice of the other side, he said that Duke is not in Austria right now. He's in Russia. Now, remembering the voice, it could be David Duke, by the way.

Just saying that I could spoke with him. But what he was doing in Russia, he said that he has a fiancée or girlfriend there. And I believe he married this girl.

I'm not sure. But he took his, what is the term in English? Doctorship, maybe? Degree, PhD or whatever. I believe he took his PhD in Russian University.

Am I right? I'm not too sure. I thought it was Ukrainian. Ukrainian, whatever.

And he was residing at that point in Russia or in Ukraine or something. And later, when I was watching his position on the war in Ukraine, he was strongly pro-Russian, pro-Putinist. Yeah, I doubt that he's really on the side of the Ukrainians there.

If he's living in Ukraine. Yeah, but he said something about the regime, how they were basically, the Ukrainians were financed by the Westerners and so on. And to some extent, I could say that it's a very muddy business or quite messy thing in this war in Ukraine.

There are a lot of the Jews infiltrating the nationalists. That was broadcast or covered on Jeff Rents' show quite a lot around 2014. I think they had like a puppet figurehead, a puppet prime minister that they put in, the Jews, to enable that to occur.

Yeah, I believe that the present president of Ukraine is Jewish and the previous one was also Jewish. They mentioned some of their oligarchs. They even said something about the Jewish oligarchs financing Azov, but I'm not sure about that.

Now, I spoke with some of the guys, Russians mostly, that formed units in the Azov battalion. Azov was quite multinational back in the time. There was a Swedish volunteers, Bulgarian volunteers, Croatians, a lot of Russians, as I said, French guys.

What else? There were professional Swedish guys. I had the connections with them, but he refused to talk publicly because I believe he received threats. His girlfriend or wife that was Ukrainian was threatened.

The guy you're talking about who received threats? This Swedish guy that was a professional sniper, basically. He's a mercenary working in Ukraine. Yeah, he was a mercenary, but he was with our political ideas.

So, I'm not sure that he was a mercenary. It's more like he was a volunteer. It just depends on how you interpret things.

If you receive money for your services, then that doesn't make you a bad person. If you're a fighter, then it's whatever your side is on. If you're on the side of the whites, then obviously that's a good thing.

If you're called a mercenary, you receive money for killing people, then that's not necessarily a bad thing. Yeah, not to mention that from the other side, there were open Bolsheviks. I mean, they were parading on the night of May, the day of the German capitulation.

Yeah, I heard there were a lot of Jews that had come over from New York and places like that. I think I heard some soundbites on Rents Radio where they showed one Jew saying, hurry up, hurry up there. It sounded like a New York accent.

Where, you mean? In Ukraine, when they were doing the fighting there? Maybe some of these mercenaries, like the sergeants were Jews, like Mossad or something? There was an article, but I believe it was removed back in the time about the units that were taking part on the different sides. And there was 100% Israeli and Jewish, because there are different things, of course, the Jews coming from Israel and some local Jews, fighting on the side of the separatists, of the Russian scumbags. Yeah, they want to take Ukraine for themselves.

I think that's what Dugin's plan was, to take Ukraine for themselves. Yeah, because it's the promised land of Kazaria. And, of course, not to mention that the old Great Bulgaria was in the present day in Ukraine.

That's why partially, especially the Western Ukrainians are closer genetically to Bulgarians. And at least white Bulgarians and white Ukrainians, because the total mess that was left by the fall of the Byzantine Bulgarian Empire and the Mongol invasion and so on and so forth. And the Russian Empire, of course.

But anyway, back to the story. So, Udo Voigt, I lost contact. Me personally, this idea for conference in Bulgaria failed to some extent, because I had an accident in early 2013.

So, I spent some time in the hospital and then I was not very active. And then there was a split in the organization. A lot of people basically, I lost contact with a lot of people.

And at some point, the idea was, let's say, put on the back side of things. There were other things to do. And in 2014, I started to think, how to say, to create this conference and to organize the things and to connect people and so on.

But at the late, I believe, 2014, this uprising in Ukraine happened. And I started to look at the things closer. At that point, I connected these guys from Azov.

I believe Azov was not formed at that point. It was the right sector. And there are other movements that were quite openly pro-NS and pro-white.

Now, I'm not sure how, because they were throwing accusations, who is who and who is Jew, basically. I'm not sure who is who. I will say the same thing for Americans.

I'm not sure who is operative, who is agent, who is misinformed, who is misinformed agents and so on. And this is my concern, because I think at some point, the movement, Europe will become more nationalistic at some point. And I'm afraid that these nationalists will start to look for Russia for help.

And it's not a good idea at all. And I can give an example. At some point, I will try to convince my American friend to give an interview podcast without disclosing his identity, of course.

Sure. Come on here. That would be great.

Yeah, because he's a young guy and quite nice American gentleman from German origin. So, decent guy from what I know for him. And I don't want him to have some problems in America, especially in the present bullshit situation there.

Anyway, so, Udo. Udo Fort. The thing that I found that in 2015, I believe, or 2016, 2015, I could make a mistake there with one year.

There was a conference in Moscow. Interesting thing is that the official Putin's propaganda was spreading the idea that the West are backing these evil fascists, Nazis, and they're fighting in Ukraine. They want to genocide the Russian speakers, to ban Russian language, and so on and so forth.

At the same time, Putinists, I'd say, I'm not sure that Putin directly or some of his tools organized the big conference in Moscow. So, basically, the thing that I wanted, but in Bulgaria, they organized in Moscow. Of course, Russia is much more prestigious, unfortunately, than Bulgaria.

And they organized these people, and it was quite a big fuss in Russia, because some people said, well, look, these people that you organized to meet in Moscow are supposedly Nazis. Or at least originated from the NSDAP in Germany. And I don't remember.

Udo Fort was there. I believe maybe David Duke was also there. But also these guys from France, what was their name? National Front, I believe.

Yeah, Front Nationale, that's Le Pen's organization. Yeah, Le Pen, Shoe Bullshit, and so on and so forth. And they were quite influential back then.

I spoke with some of their members. Basically, some kind of mixed civic nationalism with Christianity. And most of the French nationalists... We don't want everything we don't want.

Yeah, I mean, most of the French nationalists came from Catholic background. So, from their perspective, Russia is some kind of Christian fortress against the forces of American evil or something like that. Gog and Magog or something like that.

Yeah, yeah. This is kind of funny, because Gog or Gomev is the name of the Cimmerians. And the Cimmerians are forefathers of the Bulgarians.

So, they pointed the Russians like Cimmerians, but in reality, you can find Cimmerian descendants all around the Black Sea or the Pontic Sea. So, if something happened to the Jews will be... Because the story is, or at least my understanding of the story is, that Cimmerians had incursions in the Middle East and the Scythians, of course, because very close cultures. The Cimmerians were older culture, but very close to the Scythians.

That's where the Cimmerian comes from. Yeah, Conan, the Bulgarian-Scythian podcast. But the Cimmerians, of course, a lot of people originate from Cimmerians.

But let's not go in that direction, because the podcast will become, again, five hours. And anyway, the myth was just that Cimmerians basically slaughtered a lot of Semites back in the time. And joined Bulgaria because of that.

And not only Bulgaria, but Romania, Ukraine, even maybe European Turks. When I say European Turks, I uploaded some images of... Because I had arguments with these Varghese, by the way, and this is how the propaganda works. He's spreading colorism.

So, people don't know what is colorism. It is inner racism and separation in the white race. So, basically, he's spreading this misinformation that, for example, if you're a brunette, you're not Aryan.

But he, on the other hand, he used the term Aryan at first when I contacted him in 2014. And then he turned to 180 degrees and he started to attack areas that they are some kind of inferior because they mix with Indian society. Let's finish with Udo Voigt and David Duke.

So, Udo Voigt was at this conference in 2010. I don't know how the conference was. Maybe there will be something in the article, but it's in German.

So, you can look at the article about Udo Voigt here. So, if you know some guys that know German and translate it, it will be better. Okay.

So, during the war in Ukraine, Voigt appeared with Nick Griffin and Roberto Fiore. And, of course, extreme right in St. Petersburg in 2015. And he criticized the EU sanctions against Russia.

So, he was also pro-Russian as a leader. And at that point, I started to realize how many of these leaders actually were pro-Russian or received money from the Russians. And that's why there are so pro-Russian sympathies and pro-anti-American feelings in European nationalists.

American nationalists, that's what they're trying to do right now is to ramp up that agenda in American nationalism. Yeah, they're very successful. Even the guy that I mentioned before, my friend, he was quite pro-Russian.

But I started to show him materials. And it's easier for me because he understands Russian. And I started to show him material, Russian material from original sources, from their national propaganda TV.

And you must understand, all of the TV stations in Russia are owned by Russian or Jewish oligarchs or directly by Putin. The oligarchs, those are basically just Jews who have lots of power and money. Isn't that right? Are they part of the Organizatsiya, that Jewish mafia or the so-called Russian mafia, which is Jewish? I'm not sure about every single... What? They probably have ties to the Organizatsiya.

Absolutely. I mean, in one way or another, I'm pretty sure that there are some competing Jewish structures and organizations there. And I'm pretty sure that they are still connected with the... What was the name that they use? The Kazakh Jews, Shagau or something like that.

They're a traditional Jewish cabal, basically, organization. Like Lubovitch? It's more like the name, but I forgot this fucking Jewish name. It was more like the society organization, how they were organized back in the time when they were settled in Poland, for example.

Like Jehela? Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah. Something like that. The name that they used to designate their Jewish community is the Jehela? Yeah, yeah, Jehela, something like that.

So, you see that Vogt made this statement at that time. Duke made these statements, how the Russians, how conservative they are, how the West is pushing this thing in Ukraine and so on and so forth. And I started to connect the dots and look at the different statements in the Bulgarian national circle.

And take in mind that one of the small groups of people like me that are not exactly fond of the Russians, and we are not exactly... We don't like the present EU and America. This puts us in the... And this is because I'm a national socialist. I mean, we are the true third way.

I mean, basically... Yeah, not capitalist, not communist. Yes, not libertarian, not pseudo conservative Bolshevik or something like that. So, I pointed out with other people that this thing in Ukraine, this is part of bigger plan, because in 2008, I believe, in the Bulgarian national circle started to circulate a conspiracy theory that it could be some psyop.

There was a Bulgarian, and I believe it still operates, but it's like a Bulgarian equivalent of Stormfront. So, you can imagine what kind of people are there. Conservatism.

Different type of nationalist, but mostly idiots. So, in this Bulgarian forum, Bulgarian journalist, I believe it was the name, Bulgarian nationalist. So, unknown user, at least unknown for me, started to spread the idea that, this is back in 2008, I believe, started to spread the idea that Russians at some point will take back Ukraine.

They will take back Ukraine because of the important geopolitical location. Also, the breadbasket of Europe too, isn't it? Yeah, yeah, yeah. And there will be a war in Ukraine.

And, unfortunately, I cannot find the statement. Of course, the statement is in Bulgarian. Anyway, there will be a war in Ukraine, and he claimed that they will take back the old Soviet facilities.

And one of the facilities that he mentioned was the naval bases in Crimea. Now, Crimea is basically Russian. And take in mind that, I believe, in 2014-2015, there was a... Basically, some of the facilities were operational, like a naval base in Crimea.

There was a Russian naval base and a Ukrainian naval base. And there was a negotiation, I believe, between Ukrainian government and Russian government for prolonged exploitation of the Russian base. And the same case was with some other ex-Soviet republics, because the Russians want to keep their military presence because of geopolitical, geostrategical means.

And the rumor is that the present or the Ukrainian government at that time, even though it was pro-Russian and quite corrupt, they started to negotiate with the European Union, with the Americans. And at some point, they thought that they could stop this contract with the Russians. So, basically, the Russians were afraid that they will lose their military presence in the Black Sea, which was very important.

It still is very important for them. And maybe this triggered the operation. Now, the operation, I remember, because I contacted a lot of Ukrainian nationalists, and, of course, their information could be kind of biased.

But they showed me pictures of different pro-Russian, pro-separatist groups with the same banners. By the way, the banners of the Russian separatists are very much representing the Confederate banners of the Americans, if you look at them. And this is made for purpose, on purpose.

So, Russian separatists, as in those who want to separate from Russia, you mean? Is that what you're saying? No, they're separating from Ukraine. Because Donbass was part of Ukraine. And they separated from Ukraine with the idea to join Russia or to establish a puppet state, basically, of Russia.

So, Russian... Yeah, I see the banner now. It's like a sort of, what is that called, the St. Andrew's Cross, the cross where it's diagonal, it's blue. Yeah, yeah.

The white line around it on red background. Yeah, it's similar to the Confederate flag. And if you think about it, they're referred as rebels.

It's, for me, from my perspective, it looks like fucking psyop. And they showed me these pictures that were dating back from 2006, basically with the same guys that later became leading figures amongst the separatists with the same flags. So, they were preparing this thing in advance.

It's a contrived psyop, you mean? Yeah. And then it looked like there was some negotiations, at least this is my theory. I'll never prove it, of course, because maybe there are some documents if they keep documents for these things in CIA or maybe some of the European intelligence services.

But from my perspective, they are negotiating these things in advance between the major powers. And I'm pretty sure that the Jews are moving the things in their direction, too. My understanding is that they're just trying to serve up nationalists as a sacrifice.

They're just going to try to foment tension between left wing and right wing and then just justify getting rid of nationalists through terrorist activity on their part. Yeah, yeah. Yeah.

And it's very funny because on the Russian side, they claim that there was a detachment of volunteers that were National Socialists called Kulvrat, but they were fighting side by side with some Merkava detachment that was basically formed by Israeli Jews from Russian descent. Supposedly, they wanted to fight the evil Nazis in Ukraine. So, I don't know.

It's obviously a fishy thing. The other thing is, I was following the early 2000s, some of the Russian movements, and they, until the coming of Putin, were very active. And let's say they prefer direct action, maybe because of the nature of the Russians, they are more, I'd say, aggressive.

Yeah, it's not a bad thing if you think about it. But I believe that they are lacking organization, or maybe they were infiltrated from the get go. But anyway, they had a lot of different movements until 1999.

From the coming of power of Putin, and he was pointed out by Yeltsin, which was Jew, or communist, or drunkard, so you can understand that he, I'm sorry, he chose Putin on the basis that he will follow his example, right? He started, Putin started basically merciless campaign against the nationalists in Russia, including very dirty campaigns, infiltrated agents, provocateurs, false accusations. For example, yesterday, I'm following one channel that was the official channel in YouTube of the Azov battalion at some point, even though I believe that the guy stopped presenting the Azov idea. The channel in YouTube is called A Radio, stands for Azov Radio.

And he presented the case of basically a Russian lady that is married to a guy that was sent to prison in 2006 for 18 years because of false accusation. He was a member of the football, for the Americans, it will be soccer hooligans, right? And the Russian prosecutors, basically Bolsheviks, or Jews, or who knows, they accused these hooligans that they're organized terrorist group. And because there was a case, member of this hooligan group that killed some mixed-race Mongol or Turk or whatever girl, and they were supposedly, according to the accusation, their whole 100 and who knows how many people were basically terrorist organization.

They are preparing, gathering guns and so on. And of course, this caused enormous amount of pressure and the whole group was sent in prison with different lengths. For example, some of the guys were basically sent to life and some of the guys were sent like this.

The husband of this lady was sent for 18 years and she presented what were the conditions in Russian prisons back in 2015. And she said that the prison was penal colonies. So basically we're talking about Gulag type of prison.

So like forced labor? No, I'm not sure about forced labor, but she said several things. She said that until 2015, they practiced tortures there. Because Jews get enough power, then they start torturing people just like in Israel.

Yeah. That's what they're trying to bring into more or less everywhere in the whole of the world. Once they can work toward that and set white people up and say that they're all terrorists, then they just start rounding you up and charging you with false charges and so on.

Of course, of course. But even if the charges were right, I assume, of course, they were highly exaggerated. I would think that the white Russians had the right to live in an ethnic state without racial invaders.

Yeah, once again, might makes right. Basically, there really is no human rights. It's just a concept to pacify opposition to the jog, tyranny, basically.

Yeah. But my assumption that it's highly exaggerated and they turned maybe a criminal case and a terrorist case because they wanted to destroy these groups that were formed around paganism. Whatever they had the right to create religion and to follow their ancestral gods, of course, and it was based around National Socialism, more or less, even though they were football hooligans.

I suppose the level was not so high. And also young boys at that point. So they're more or less my age, my age.

They're your age now or they were your age then when they were sentenced? No, no, no. They're my age now. I mean, we're more or less the same age.

The lady said that her husband in prison is 36 now and 37. So more or less, I follow some of the groups that they mentioned. So I know some of the story.

So anyway, she mentioned tortures and I'm saying that because most of the listeners and most of the people that are following your channel will be North Americans, Americans and Canadians, I suppose. Predominantly, yeah. And they had some fake ideas that Russians are based in pro-white.

It's not pro-white. It's basically hidden Bolshevism. And if you think that I'm not sure what will be the situation in American prison, but the thing that the lady described is basically medieval tortures, like basically stretching people, stretching people.

It's what they call breaking them on the rack. Yeah, something like that. Then she said that there were depravity of sleep, depravity of water and food in some cases.

I know a case where one of the guys, there was a group. As I said, these refugees from Russia, basically in Ukraine, volunteers and so on. This guy passed away.

He died in fighting back in 2016, I believe. He said that there was a case, so basically a group of skinheads or something. It's different from the first story, but a group of skinheads in Russia, one of the guys confronted a band of Antifa.

Because Russian, of course, he took AK-47 and he shot one of the Antifa. The funny thing is that he said that it proved that the Antifa have no brain because he shot them in the head two times with AK-47, which is quite a powerful weapon if you think about it. And the fucking Antifa survived.

Do you think it's worth, in general terms, do you think it's worth even involving yourself in these protests where you confront Antifa like that? Isn't that just like walking into a trap to get yourself criminal charges? No, I'm middle-aged now. Let's put it that way. If there is an option to take the streets by force like our guys did before 1933 and confront these scumbags and they receive what they deserve, basically, and a legitimate revolution, so to say, I will be for that.

But now, from the perspective of what we have now and how we are decentralized with no resources, and I'm sorry that I sound like black peeling or something like that, but it is what it is. The situation is not good, really. It's not hopeless, but it's not good.

Yeah, I don't think that's in any way productive to just throw yourself into the street. You can be seen. Who are you? Here's your face.

You're on camera. And then it could be set up, you know, there could be plants in the crowd on either side, your side or the other person's side, and they could set it up so that they create a situation like that. And then they use that as a justification to get the police in there to gun you down or something like that.

That's what they do in Israel. I've seen video footage of that in protests and so on. That they set the people up there and they put plants in there and then they just step out.

The plant steps out and they just gun down the protesters. To make them open for attacks, all kinds of attacks, including personal, including against their families. And the girl said that back in 2007, so the things were quite bad even back then in Germany, there were some gatherings or meetings of some nationalists in Germany.

I don't remember. It was maybe NPD. Most likely they were NPD.

And some cameras, some cameras on the street managed to film the face of the boy or the girl, both, I don't remember. And the boy lost his job and the girl that was a student, I mean in university, had a lot of problems back then. Yeah, and then once they target you and they know who you are, then they persecute you after that.

Yeah, so I'm not, I don't know, there must be a thin line between to be total coward and to be a smart guy. And we must... Prudence, not cowardly or reckless. We must find a way to move our things without being destroyed by the superior forces of the enemy, which are basically most of the societies against us.

It is interesting how they are against us, even though they will agree with a lot of, at least in Bulgaria, I don't know about America and Western Europe, at least in Bulgaria, a lot of people agree with the basic concepts of National Socialism. And when they are hearing the pennants without knowing that they belong to the National Socialist, they say, yeah, yeah, yeah, I 100% agree with that. I also don't like gypsies and I don't like Turks and I don't like faggots and I want some kind of normal social behavior.

And I want basically young Bulgarian families to receive some help from the state and something like that. But if you say I'm National Socialist, oh, I'm not fascist. Right.

They don't understand the reality of the history. Yeah, yeah. And that's why I spent a lot of time convincing people in Bulgaria that they basically don't know their real history, the history of the Bulgarians back in the time, back in pagan time, when they were not infiltrated.

They were much more, how to say, racially orderly society, more even the symbolism of the first Bulgarian Empire was kind of fascistic, if you think about it, because one of the myths of the Bulgarian is that the sons of Kurt or Kubrat, one of the sons is the founder of the Danube Bulgaria, basically. The sons of Kubrat were united around the fascia or fascia. Yeah, it's sort of an Aryan symbol.

I know Julius Evola speaks about that. And I think it was in the Introduction to Magic book, he speaks of all the Aryan symbols, the bear, the axe, the eagle, the bull, swastika. Yeah.

And the eagle was the symbol of the first Bulgarian Empire there. Even a silver eagle that had the 12, how to say, 12 little signs. Signs is not the correct word.

Let's say that this Bulgarian imperial eagle with 12 little spots on the back or something like that symbolizing the 12 months and the zodiac, so on. Yeah, yeah, yeah. And in the cross of the eagle, there's a snake.

So this is also important. But anyway, going back to the Dugin Duke and Voigt and so on. So I found that a lot of people are pro-Russian, especially in 2014, 2015.

Also, I found that a lot of people sympathize with Crowley one way or another, which was also quite shocking for me since. Yeah, I think it's because they don't want to be Christian. They see Christianity as a negative thing, so they think they have to go in the opposite direction.

Yeah, but this is a false Jewish duality, which is not really the two opposing forces as I understand them in the Bulgarian perspective, the pagan perspective. Yeah, it's a Jewish distortion of the actual reality. Yeah, and there are a lot of points towards that, that Jehovah or these deities or whatever this mythic demon is, that he is some kind of dualistic force.

Yeah, I think it's because in the Bible, if I remember, there was a quote that basically rhetorical question will be bad things. No, no. How to say this in English? Because, of course, I've read it in Bulgaria.

Basically, every bad thing in the city came from the world. This is the translation without being illiterate, of course. So, they're pointing out that the world is doing also bad things.

And I made a video, maybe three years ago, with the quotes of the Bible, with the translations from the three oldest translations for the language that I kind of know. So, Bulgarian, German, and English, and you can find every from every translation on all languages, I suppose, because I had the argument with Bulgarian National Socialist, supposedly, but he was also pro-Christian, that the Bible was translated. And through translations, a lot of things are wrong or mistranslated or something like that.

And I showed three cases that basically the evil things that Jehovah stands for are the same in English, German, and Bulgarian. And there are different translations, one was the King James Bible, the other was the first Bulgarian translation that was 865, quite old, starting like 1200 years, and the third was the first German translation by Martin Luther. So, one and the same text.

Basically, one and the same text. Oh, Jehovah is cursing the people of Samaria, they're eating their children, raping Moses was also for killing the women, not only, and the kids. Yeah, so basically it's like a dualistic God, if you don't bow down to the commandments of this God, which is absolute, then you can be subjected to all sorts of atrocities, and that's immoral and virtuous.

Of course, of course. So, and I think that Crowley is behind that, because the thing that he was doing, and I talked quite a long time with Apollonian Swamberer, Apollonian Swamberer is popular, let's say, in these YouTube circles, a YouTuber from Australia, quite a nice guy. Apollonian Slumber, is that what his name is? Yeah, yeah, and a common friend with me and Dungard.

So, I spoke with him something like maybe a month ago, because he was pro-Crowley, and I said, look. That Augustus Invictus guy in the States was also a pro-Crowleyan guy? He was like an operative? Yeah, but this Augustus Invictus, his look is even quite disgusting. I call him Augusto Invictus, like a mestizo, like a Mexican, because he's half-breed, it looks like.

He was sacrificing goats, if I remember something. Quite, quite. Anyway, so I spoke with the guy and I told that he was not well informed about, because I was not attacking Aleister Crowley from the perspective of how evil it was.

Even though he was evil from the moral standpoint of the Christians, but he's also evil from the moral standpoint of the pagans. And he's anti-white, anti-German, he was British operative, he was a homosexual degenerate or bisexual degenerate. He was directly addicted, he was quite, well, he was very intelligent, obviously, he knew ancient languages, very, very good in chess.

These people, they're very intelligent, but they have no wisdom and they have no decency at all, basically. Yeah, yeah. They think that they're better than everybody else, that they're beyond good and evil, but they willfully practice what is considered evil, so that just demonstrates that they're not really beyond good and evil, because why would they select that of all things to do? Yeah.

If they were not evil. Because they think that they're smart, basically, and in the case of Crowley, he came from a very, for a very long time I thought that he was some kind of crypto Jew. Now, I'm not so sure, because a Polonian swamper claimed that he was from Irish origin, but in any case, I found in many books, including a book written by most likely another Jewish operative called, it's a Russian, Klimov.

His name is Klimov, and it's called The Prince of This World, Knyaz Natozisvyatoy, Bulgarian translation. And he claims that the Jews naturally alight, or I must say, the degenerates that are not Jews naturally alight with the Jews. I've heard a lot about that recently with the Anglo-Israel Psyop, but it's sort of true in a way, because people like Crowley are the sort of spiritual Jews who are mentally degenerate people, so they have the same sort of consciousness that Jews have.

In the case of Crowley, he was, I mean, obviously degenerate, I mean, it's not even a... Let's put it that way. I know that the Christians are making a lot of black propaganda for a lot of things. A lot of Christians think that, for example, being a pagan, I'm making some weird sacrifices and run butt naked through the forest.

The other funny thing was that one of the guys in the comment section of Bitchute, oh, you're a pagan, so you're a liberal, blah, blah, blah. I said, how the fuck? They just kind of think beyond false dichotomies. To them, it's either you're a devil or you're an angel.

They think outside of those false dichotomies. And it's very childish, very childish, but it's stupid to religion anyway. But it's working very well for the Jews.

That's why I believe that these Nazbols, these new wave of Bolsheviks, they decided not to remove Christianity, but to use Christianity and to mutate Christianity. Yeah, well, the thing is in Soviet Russia, they kept Christianity around also. Yeah, yeah.

Because they had the power to destroy all the churches if they really wanted to. So, if Christianity were really a threat to the Jews, then they would have just destroyed all the churches right there. Well, Stalin revived Christianity.

He used Christianity against the Germans. He rallied a lot of Russians using basically agents in the Orthodox Church against the Germans. He used this concept of the War for the Fatherland, this holy war almost.

It's a Christian concept. There were a lot of these, he even revived a lot of old Imperial Russian medals, a lot of uniforms were taken from the Imperial Russians. But this was all just bullshit.

I mean, false nationalism to create multicultural pro-Jewish empire. The Nazbols and the new wave of conservatives around Putin are basically the same. They use the natural feelings, the healthy natural feelings of the people that want to be proud of something.

And they use basically this false idea that this victory against Germany is some kind of justified. And they must be proud with their forefathers that were basically child rapists and sadists and torturers. People will make up any excuse to make themselves feel good, especially when they're really race-mixed and of that nature, because they don't have the truth in them, basically.

They have a distorted consciousness. I'm not sure. Some of the Russians are not race-mixed, quite nice people for working, but their mentality, they're very naive.

I mentioned before that, for example, according to the official Russian media, 3,000 schools in Russia don't have toilets. And what will be the normal reaction to this in a normal white country, even in Bulgaria that was occupied by the communists? The people just will, on a local level, will collect money and build toilets because it's not so complicated, right? I mean, it's a normal thing. You cannot leave the kids without basic things like toilets and water and food and things like that.

It's a simple organizational level. What the Russians did struck me and I understand that basically these guys, because the Russians themselves know what are the problems with the Russians and why the Jews so easily overwhelmed the Russian empire. The Russians in this material, they wrote a letter to Putin to build them toilets, which is, I don't know, slave mentality, serf mentality.

I don't know how to describe that. Begging from an external savior, an external authority to give you something instead of just doing it yourself. And this is because the Russians until they're throwing the shit against the Americans about how they had slaves and how bad they were and how good the Russians are and they're not racist and so on and so.

OK, but the Russians had white slaves until the midst of the 19th century. They had serf system until the midst of the 19th century. That's a testament to the primitivism of the consciousness of the people there.

And there are very good. I'll try to find if we have time because we're going to the direction of the fifth hour. But I'll try to find the article.

Have you ever read the book The Occult War by Emanuel Malinsky? No, I'm afraid. I can send it to you if you want. It's about how the revolutions from the Jacobins onwards had been used deliberately to destroy the white societies and were orchestrated largely by Jews.

Oh, OK, OK, OK. So basically, it's a feudal system. And until the 19th century, the feudal system in Russia was active, actually.

And there was selling white babies for something for equivalent of 15, 50 American cents. Yeah, crazy. And these people are accusing the Americans of selling Negroes.

And I can understand selling Negroes because they're basically a hominid species and whatever. And I know, I know that there are some guys that say, oh, you know that the South was infiltrated by Jews and Masons and so on. Yeah, this could be like this.

And I'm not for the slavery, not because it's so bad that we oppress these evil white people, oppress the Negroes. I'm against it because the Negroes sold themselves to white people as slaves, as like workers for cheap, cheap labor. Yeah.

Not as luxury. It was voluntary for the most part. Maybe not so much in the States, though, but in the African colonies, probably it was.

I can imagine that it will be much better for the Negro to be a slave of the white master than to be in Africa with free, supposedly free with his hominid buddies there. But I'm opposed to slavery because, especially in the case of this foreign race that you are importing, because you have problems like this. You have problems like in Rome.

Well, it leads to that eventually and inevitably. The collapse of civilization. Somebody's going to be either there's going to be insurrection or they're going to rebel or someone's going to lead them into like a slave rebellion against you.

Or there's going to be interbreeding and then it'll lead to the collapse of civilization. So it's just like introducing a genetic contaminant into your gene pool. It is the example with early Spartans and the late Spartans is quite obvious.

I mean, the early Spartans, every Aryan virtue that you can imagine, they represented the bravery and the discipline and I would say the lack of gluttony and the self-sacrifice for the state. Everything good that you can imagine and you can say about the Aryans. And of course, their facial features and their body characteristics were very, very Aryan.

But later, because all systems had some weak points, they didn't produce enough children. And it is also a Jewish way that they were homosexuals. The early Spartans were not homosexuals.

I have a small book called The Spartans that I advise everyone to read. It is The Spartans written by, what was this? I cannot find the, basically the walls of forming the Spartans and they're represented by the enemy. So basically by Athenian, I forgot the name, for God's sake.

Anyway, so he said that for homosexuality, if you're accused of homosexuality, you are kicked out of Spartan. You cannot be Spartan or in the worst case, you will be killed. So the early Spartans didn't tolerate homosexuality like at all.

Contrary to the Athenians at that time that were quite pedophile and they practiced homosexuality. Because of Jewish infiltration as well in Greece. Very possible.

In Hesiod, he laments the fact that they are no longer blonde in Greece. Very, very possible. Very possible.

There are a lot of things with the Jews and with the trading, especially in this Greek policies. They infiltrate through their economic, you know, the commercial promises of booty for the upper class. Like always, I mean, they're doing the same thing in Bulgaria and Greece and Persia.

The upper military cast of the Persians were very white people. Like their Greek representation of the battle between the Persians and the Greeks. And the people that, the artists that represented these battles.

What is the term? They basically lifted, they were witnesses of the battles. So they didn't represent the Persians like dark people. I remember seeing that picture, actually.

I think it's like a mosaic or something. You know, mosaic paintings. Yeah, yeah, yeah.

The battle scene, I believe, was very, the Persians were actually lighter skinned than the Greeks. Because the Greeks didn't have the habit to cover yourself. That's why they mocked the Persians.

Because they thought that if you're afraid of the heat, you are some kind of, not manly enough. And they mocked the Thracians, by the way, because they covered themselves. The truth is that in the case of the Persians, it was too hot.

And there were smart people and white people. And they didn't want to die from overheating. Or at least white people.

When I say white people, I mean the upper military caste. Like in the Turkic Khaganates, we are talking about elite. There were white people.

The lower classes, of course, there will be race mixing and so on. Same with Egypt, too. In Egypt, the women were always covered.

That's why on the wall paintings, they're always portrayed with white skin. Yeah, and the men were painting their skin with red paint. Oh, really? I didn't know that.

Yeah, they had to cover to protect them. So that's why you have paintings of people with blue eyes, but with red skin. Or people with blonde hair, and obviously European picture, but with red skin.

Or the other understanding is that they just had a tan, which is not natural. And I will go in the second part to talk about Varg and his bullshit and his cowardism. Yeah, he's introducing some twisted ideas there, that's for sure.

Okay, maybe it's time to start with Varg. And I'm feeling the fuck. I don't think you got to Duke, though, entirely.

You didn't really expose him or put the nail in the coffin of him entirely. Now, Duke, from my sources of information, of course, as I said, I don't know how reliable they were. According to them, Duke received funding from Russia.

And they're doing this from different, not directly, of course, because it will be quite obvious and you can find some material on that. But indirectly to different channels, different foundations. They mentioned different famous names, like this Jew, Nathaniel, for example, Father Nathaniel.

Nathaniel Kaptner, the alleged Orthodox Christian guy, the Jewish propagandist. Yeah, they mentioned this guy. What was this? What was the Taylor? Taylor, I believe.

Gerard Taylor. Gerard Taylor, yeah. The white identity and who's married to a Jew.

Yeah, they mentioned that. How they know. Now, the idea is that they're receiving money, not directly, but for example, there was this printing company Arctos.

Right. And they're receiving money like, what is the English, the royalties for their books. Royalties, is it a thing? And this is, can you imagine how complicated and how much money you receive? It's a very clever way to receive money to doing stuff that will destabilize your enemy.

But you're keeping control through the money and through wives, because a lot of these people are married to Jews or to Russians. Like Richard Spencer was married to a Georgian woman, I believe. And with these Georgian people, it's a very interesting area because Erdogan, Stalin and some other people were from that area.

And take in mind that these Karakazars, these dark Jewish types, that some people believe that these dark Jewish types actually came from India at some point. Maybe that's why the Arab historian that I quoted the previous time compared them with the Indians. These dark types invented, invited the territory of the red-haired Scythians and Bulgarians and so on and so on, Kazars, through the Caucasus mountains.

So, they were not at that point in history, they were not the, they were the birthplace, one of the birthplaces, obviously, of the white Aryan race, the Caucasus mountains. But at that point, this type is replaced. And now, when I say in the anthropology, when I say Caucasoid, for the American speakers, it is white European people.

But for the classical European anthropology, Caucasoid, is it a correct term? Yeah, Caucasoid. It's something different. And I'll try to show you the racial type of the Caucasoid, or Kaukazid, Kaukazid is the correct thing.

Basically, it's very similar to Stalin, how Stalin looked like, or like how Erdogan looked like. That's probably why Jews always want to try to represent white people as Caucasian, so that they could mock them and sort of curse them by projecting their own image on them. That seems like a capitalistic black magic act on my part, or so far as I can perceive.

I don't know, is it true? Maybe just the Americans are followers of the little bit older anthropological school, because, obviously, the white people, the Aryans, I mean, and there are other white people that didn't come from the Caucasus mountains. The Aryans came from this region. And maybe this stuck.

I'm not sure. Maybe you're right about the Jews. I'm not sure.

I was just saying that they call white people Caucasians to curse them because that's their capitalistic means of attacking their enemies. Maybe, maybe, maybe this is the trick here with this Christian identity, that they're turning the white people into Jews, Israelites. And the same trick they're playing to the black Israelites.

Basically, they're turning everyone into Jews, basically, into Israelites. And the people don't get it. And they're pointing out that, oh, this person was blond or this was reddish.

Of course, could be... They curse them. What? Then they just end up cursing themselves, the people who adopt the labels that Jews project on them. Yeah, I mean, you cannot identify it with your enemy.

There was even a Spartan saying about that. So, a point about Duke. Duke most likely was financed by the Russians.

Maybe they helped him with his PhD or whatever. I've heard from Americans that he had bad habits of gambling or something. And that's why he was quite, how to say, dependent on the money from the Russians.

And he's not the only guy. And this is all known. There are a lot of... What the fuck is this? Oh, my God.

Oh, yeah. And they had these interesting infiltrators that are usually women because there's a whole... Yeah, like Monica Lewinsky types. Yeah, they are very famous.

Honeypots, I think. Honeypots, yeah, very famous Russian agent. She's slightly with Mongolian face, otherwise with red hair and I believe blue eyes.

So, there could be some Kazakh connection, by the way. Just saying. That was caught in America.

And she created these connections with some ultra... I don't remember how was... Maybe Portman was her name, something like that. So, there was... No, no, no, no. I will try to find what was her family name because, of course, she changed the name when she escaped to Russia.

And now she's a popular TV... I think her name is Natalie Portman. I'm pretty sure it's not Natalie Portman. But it's a famous Russian lady that was part of some spy scandal.

She was accused of spying and collecting data in Western Europe, in Great Britain and America. And then she was extracted to Russia. And now she has a very popular TV show with very bogus things.

They're talking about UFOs. They're talking about whole Earth, all kinds of stuff. So, they're putting these bits of this information in this kind of alternative type of information that came from official sources.

And they're always talking about the evil Nazis having a basis under the Earth. How they're aligned with demons. All kinds of bullshit.

They're always twisting... That's what Miguel Serrano is always pushing in his books. That's what Miguel Serrano is always pushing in his books. Yeah, he has this point of German UFOs and the whole Earth.

I'm not absolutely sure that he meant the same thing like these people. They're always twisting the things to be like... You see, the viewpoint of the ancient Aryans and the viewpoint of the present day Christians is totally different. I mean, for the ancient Aryans, the underground there could be basically heroes sleeping there.

Like Asaset Krum for the Bulgarians. In Denmark, there's a guy called Holger, which is the middle name that I adopted for myself when I changed my name. Holger's name.

You've been in Denmark at some point? No, my mother's from Denmark, so I just adopted that name. It's the same sort of mythology of the guy sleeping in the mountain and then he wakes up to save the race of people. Yeah, I've been in Denmark.

Very good people, by the way. I'd like to go there, but I have no money. Yeah, it's a must.

Let's put it that way. If you have money, it's a very pleasant place, even though I was back in 2013 there and maybe the things changed. But if you manage, I'll try to find my old connections there.

Anyway, so Duke, his position for Russia obviously is paid. The rumor is, and this rumor came from the Russian side, that he's receiving money for his presentation and his propaganda in the nationalist movement. I don't know how popular Duke is.

I think he's actually quite popular. He's sort of shifting the attention toward that sort of agenda, you know, the pro-Russian, pro-Christian type of agenda. Yeah, yeah.

And the thing maybe to start to say about VARC. Yeah, we're going to Bickerness now. Now VARC.

VARC is a very interesting case. First of all, let's say that I, being younger than VARC, when he committed his burnings and killings and so on. So this is, I was something like 9, 10, something like that.

And growing in, let's say, Bulgaria, maybe in some parts of Europe where the people looking more nationalistic, more traditional way. VARC had the status of some kind of idol, right? Amongst the more rebellious youth, let's put it that way. So I was growing, listening to the music of VARC, and this was quite an experience because this is before the era of MP3s.

And with very crappy tapes that I don't know even from whom I took these tapes, but it was quite rare. And we were listening to this kind of black metal and other stuff. And this was quite popular topic in my first pseudo-organization, the Hitler Front.

In Bulgaria, at least, there was another factions of Hitler Front in Germany, I believe, in Scandinavia and Russia. I don't know where. So it could be some kind of idea that was thrown by some operatives or something.

But he was quite popular. And if I remember correctly, there was a guy that I know from Bulgaria nationalize that he was writing letters to VARC. And even he received some letters.

And of course, he received some of his early books about paganism and so on. So I'm not coming from some anti-VARC perspective. I believe that I was one of the early subscribers to his YouTube channel that he opened in 2013 or 14, something in that time.

And the first videos that he was doing were quite OK. I mean, I had a conversation with VARC. There was such thing called Google Plus.

This thing was closed for some reason, maybe because there were too many nationalists communicating with this platform. And VARC, at first, he had this kind of interesting ideas. He was talking about Sumerians being Aryan people.

And there were some other guys that were quite, let's say, pro-Aryan. And I said, yeah, Aryan. I was using the term Aryan.

I'm always using the term Aryan, not Hindu-European, not Nordic or something like that, because I know the history. And I know that the Aryans or the Hindu-Europeans, if you will, first of all, Hindu-European is a fake term. I repeat that.

Like in the case, Slavic is a fake term. Yeah, it's sort of a geographical term more than it is any sort of biological term. Yeah.

And first of all, I pointed out, even back in 2014, that there are a lot of words with the root Aryos or Aryan or Arya or Aryana or something like that in different languages. So, most likely, this was their personal name or it was very important for these people. The term was very important for these people.

And some people called them Kurgans, of course, which could be right. But there are a lot of different Aryan tribes for thousands and thousands of years that were using Kurgans. So, it was, of course, part of the traditions, but not at some point, not all Aryans were using Kurgans.

There were a lot of things that, for example, if you are in some northern forest, it will be quite hard to dig all this earth and to build this artificial hill. And Varg also admitted that there were a mixed type of burial in the Scandinavia, some were with Kurgan type, some were with funeral pyres, some were traditional like earth barracks and so on and so on. So, at some point, Varg started to post videos that were, from my perspective, very controversial.

He started to attack, for example, Aryans. And I said, well, one of his videos that basically I unsubscribed as that, there was a little bit of minor internet drama, was that he was starting to attack Aryans. And he was presenting that the Aryans were these inferior people that mixing together with the Indians and they were bred out and so on and so on.

And I said, well, first of all, you have a quite wrong understanding of what is Aryan and what is not Aryan. I mean, he's referring to Aryans on the linguistic term, to the Vedic Aryans. So, these people that invaded India, something like 3,000, 3,200 years ago.

And maybe to some extent to the Persians, because Persians also call themselves Aryans. But it was very funny because the Persians, even though themselves recognized that they came from the Scythian tribe, from the Saka tribe, they called the Saka fake Aryans. So, even back in the time, there was this who is more pure Aryan and this bragging who is the better Aryan, so to say.

Unfortunately, there is such thing in Europe, there is this local chauvinism, which is, at least in America, from my understanding, it's a little bit less of a problem. Because more or less you, like white people, are oppressed by the same non-whites. And at some point, it's not so important who is Italian, Polish or Irish, let's say.

Yeah, the great enemy has to be taking priority. Yeah, yeah. Who said that the color of your skin will be your uniform at the end? Yeah.

The uniform of the next war is the color of your skin. Yeah. And it's very true.

In Europe, this is a big problem. And part of the problem is VARG. Now, he's presenting these bogus theories, and I will reach the Russian connection with him and how I know.

First of his bogus theory is that real Europeans were all born and descended of Neanderthals. Yeah, that's obviously false right there. Yeah.

First of all, I started with the Aryan thing and I said, first of all, most likely the people that you call Indo-Europeans, this is a linguistic term and it's quite fake. And these people, and I pointed out that Arius was a thing, right? And the word hero, like a heroic figure, right? It's derived from the word heroes. Aristocracy obviously is connected with Aryan.

The Germanic name, like Aristopou, Ariovist, was derived from Aryan. The name of Ireland was derived from Aryan. They said, oh, no, no, no, no, you're stupid.

It's not Ireland, it's Arya, but you're so stupid. And I found that Varg is very, he's not, how to put it that way, it's not an argumental discussion with Varg, he's attacking you a lot. He's called an ass.

Yeah, and he's using his hordes of mindless supporters that basically are less literate than him. And at some point I found that Varg himself is not well literate or he's misinterpreted information. And I pointed out, for example, one of his scandalous, stupid videos that he deleted.

He claimed that all brunettes in Scandinavia, because I pointed out that in Scandinavia, I was in Denmark. And for a very short period of time, basically one day in Sweden, Norway, I saw, of course, the blondes there, the Nordic types were often. And they're blond, Nordic types that are not blond.

You must take in mind that. Yeah, my mother is from Denmark and she has brown hair. Of course, but this is normal, but this doesn't make them less Nordic.

And I pointed out that the difference between the Mediterranean, at least the European type Mediterranean, because it's a big hodgepodge, especially in the modern physical anthropology. The more southerly you go, the more mixed they get. Yeah, and the European type of Mediterranean, like the Pontic race or the Kurgan race.

They also pointed out that the same type of people were found in the Kurgans, which means that basically direct descendants of the Indo-Europeans or basically the Aryans. And there are some people that are Mediterranean race, but they are not European, like a very southern type of Greeks and some Italians, maybe something like that. And of course, on the Balkans, let's not be purists here.

We also had these types that are descendants of the Byzantium Empire and some basically the Christianities behind that, because at some point they didn't follow the ancient, let's say, if we say racial wars, we would be very strong. But let's say ancient traditions of separation of the castes. Yes, castes, there was a thing called, at least pre-Volga Bulgarians, we know that there was a thing called Idel Bulgar.

Now, Idel, which is the correct pronunciation, Idel could be translated to English like ideal. In German it means noble, Adel. Yeah, yeah, yeah.

This was my second point that basically means noble in all Bulgarians the same. And they said that, they described it like it must be brave and honest and keep the oaths, also very important for Bulgarians. We have a saying that, which means the spoken word is like a thrown stone, so you must keep your promises.

This is very important, especially how the men will be accepted by other men. So, it's very important for the men to keep his promises and not to promise things that he is not able to do and so on. So, the oaths are very important for the old Bulgarians.

So, one of the things to keep their oaths, the other thing was to be brave. And the third thing that they mentioned, to have the features of Idel. So, what are the features? They mentioned that he must be tall, he must be strong, he must have stride features.

The stride features is not described, but they listed the people that could be Idel. So, they mentioned Tervelini, which most likely came from one of the old names of the gods. They mentioned, what was the name, Turini, I believe, which is one of the names of the Scythians, because the followers of Tur.

And maybe the Turks, they took the name, not to mention that there was an Aryan tribe called Turani in present day Afghanistan. They were Turinians, were they? Yeah, yeah, yeah. Basically, their name came from the god Tur.

So, Tur in the Persian mythology is not a god, but it is a very popular hero in their epos, Shahnameh, the name of the king, the name of the shah. So, anyway. That's Tithor and that's related to the Aesir, as we said on the previous show.

Yeah, yeah. And take it by that, for example, Thracians. We pronounce it Thracians in Bulgarian, modern Bulgarian is Thraki.

But their old name was Tiraki, with Tir in front. And the Greeks name, the Greek name Tiraki came from the Thracian name of the god of war. And they also said, they're using the Greek name Ares, right? They said that Ares was Thracian and the Thracians were the sons of Ares.

It's all Aryan and not Indo-European as Vargas is trying to claim. Yeah, but he also is attacking the Indo-European tradition. He said that basically the Indo-Europeans were not so spread in Europe.

They just married, exchanged wives, and this was some kind of cultural influences. And basically, I started to laugh at that point because it was obvious that there was archaeological proof that he is wrong. For example, in England, there was a total change of the culture.

It's not just some guys will say, oh, this is so nice that you have a chariot and let's adopt this chariot. No, it's a sign of destruction, of invasion. So the Aryans, the Indo-Europeans, if you will, they were invaders.

They were raiding, they were kidnapping women, and they were very successful because their way of thinking was very organized, very hierarchical. Their religion was very dominant and very patriarchal. They were very strong physically.

So it's similar to what Julius Evola speaks of in his works in terms of the Aryan traditions. For the Uranian and solar principle, yeah. And the thing that the wife of Varg is pushing is basically this pre-Indo-European, pre-Aryan invasion, cult of the mother.

And everything that, of course, this is not a bad thing if you think about... Can I just say something about that? There's a book written by Bill White, formerly of the National Socialist Movement, called The Tradition of the Mother, which is based on Julius Evola's writings, which critiques that same thing, you know, the mother goddess cult. There was a channel, The Fortress of Luke, that basically yesterday, I believe, the guy is from Welsh and Irish descent, I believe. And he made a video.

It's on YouTube with very small following, but very, let's say, good material. And I'm trying to find more things about the cults because I don't know a lot of things. I'm still lacking information for some things from Bulgaria, but they're missing.

So I think that it won't be... You can put it in a book someday and then people can get that. Maybe. Some of my friends here in Bulgaria, they're trying to make me to write things about the religion.

And the second thing is to write fairy tales, Bulgarian traditional fairy tales, because some of the guys had kids and they want to read them stories with good examples. And there are a lot of Bulgarian fairy tales that, for example, Snow White. Snow White, it looks like it came or it's very similar to Bulgarian myth of this Cimmerian princess.

It's a dark hair, very fair skin and blue eyes that were escaping these evil sorcerers and marry a prince. Maybe she managed to escape in Germany. That's why maybe the story is popular there also.

Marry a prince that fought back these evil sorcerers to try to sacrifice them. Basically, this is the Bulgarian variant. These stories are a lot more hardcore than the Disney versions, that's for sure.

And who are these evil sorcerers, if you think about it? Of course, these evil Gargamel style sorcerers. When I was a kid, I read this book called the Ukrainian Folk Tales. And it talked about Ilya Muromets and Nightingale the Robber, all these, you know, caught to Harashka Rolopee and, you know, crashing a dragon into an iron threshing floor with like a giant iron cudgel and stuff.

It's all the same sort of themes there. Yeah, yeah. But it's a popular, popular, I would say, Iranian.

It's not well understood. When I say Iranian, people are thinking about Iran, that they came from Iran. It's Iranian speakers, but it's not Persians because these Scythian, Sarmatians, Cimmerians, they were supposedly Iranian speakers.

So basically, when the Persians came from these, from the modern day Ukraine and through Caucasus mountains, they took the language, not vice versa. It's not. The European people living in Europe, never leaving Europe in some cases, that was speaking Iranian language.

That could be a form closer to the ancient Indo-European. And the people must look at the Kurgan hypothesis and see that there are several ways of moving. For example, the Anatolian Aryans that were basically ancestors of the Hittite, these Aryan speakers.

There were Tukharians that moved in Central Asia, something like 7, maybe 8,000 years ago. There were Germanic wave, let's say, in Northern Europe. And supposedly, they have most of the genes, I would say, preserved from the original Indo-Europeans.

Or at least from this part, that were R1B something. That were called the court-ware culture and the double-axe culture. And there were these... Like the Madovans in Greece, they had a double-axe there too.

Yeah, and we also had the double-axe. And they said that it was a feminine symbol at first, but later it was turned into a patriarchal symbol. I'm not so sure, you know that.

I'm skeptical about the interpretations, because they said that the double-axe is the symbol representing the female... Right, I doubt that. Female reproductive system, let's put it that way. According to Julius Evola, the axe represents lightning.

It represents from the sky coming downwards as a sort of very direct force, like from heaven, from the higher planes. For me, the axe is a male... It could be looked at different ways, right? It's represented because the forces of creation are doing the things in a similar way. That's why, for some people, the swastika is the northern... You see, the big dipper that is rotating is representing the swastika.

For me, for example, it's a solar symbol. And for the ancient people, even before the Indo-European invasion, they are connecting the swastika with the snakes, because these 7,000-8,000-year nephrite swastikas found in Bulgaria, they are in the form of frogs. So there are some connections with the pepi frog, by the way.

I thought that the pepi frog was just a sign up on the part of Jews. I guess it's not. Maybe it's a part of the Jews, because at some point they're infiltrating all kinds of Aryan or pre-Aryan... They destroyed everything.

So basically, the Star of David was also not a Jewish symbol at some point, but now it's obviously their symbol. So let's go back to Varg, because the podcast will become enormously big again. So Varg started to attack the Indo-Europeans.

His wife is pushing this Neanderthal hypothesis that the Nordics are direct descendants of the Neanderthals. I have several videos that I prepared, and maybe I'll upload them when I have time. Send them to me and I'll upload them too, to spread them around more.

Okay. This is bullshit. I mean, it's enough to see the skull of Varg and his wife, that the Nordic, obviously, his wife could be some Celtic Nordic, Varg is Nordic.

These people don't have the same skulls. They are Neanderthals. And they are basing their theory on the data that is derived by Half Jew, German Half Jew, that claim that... I forgot the name, but in one of the videos that I have, I have the name of this Mischling.

He said that some people have more Neanderthal DNA than the others. And Marie Cachet, so basically the wife of Varg, claims that the Nords have more Neanderthal DNA, but it's not true. In reality, the Nordic is the opposite, that they have less Neanderthal DNA.

And the Neanderthals, if you look at the skull, even in the Mediterranean type, even the Eastern part, they have similar face shapes and proportions like the Nordic people. Well, if you look at Julius Evola's face, it looks pretty Nordic. He looks Mediterranean, but this doesn't mean, from a racial perspective, it doesn't mean that he's not Aryan, because if you look at the German anthropologists, they classified the people in several different categories that they classified as all Aryan, right? One of the sub-races were called Dinarid race, and the Dinarid race were quite dark in their representation, even though they are classified as Aryan.

And, of course, I believe that this German historian that I mentioned before that wrote... About H.F.K. Gunther? Yeah, I believe that this was his family name. Is that the racial elements of European history you're referring to? Yeah, yeah. So they're talking about different elements in the European history, and the most leading element is not even pigmentation of the hair, the eyes, or even the skin, because there are different variations between even members of the same sub-race.

There are variations. The women, for example, are white-skinned everywhere because of the lower amounts of testosterone, of course. And the male, darker pigmentation.

I say darker. It's not, how to say, consistent. I say darker, I say dark.

But it's also variation between the different elements, between the sub-races, between the different elements of the races, and so on and so on. So I'm not making the same claims that, for example, that this Mediterranean... For example, he claims that there is no difference between Arabs and Mediterranean, which is total bullshit, because you can find an Arab, you can find... You can see it in their eyes, right? Yeah, and also he's pushing this Slavic bullshit. I said, I read my Slavic... He's deriving, I'm starting to argue with him, and I said, well, this is not true.

The things that you claim, for example, are not true. I know old Bulgarian, but I read this dictionary, and at some point he spilled the beans, so to say, and I found out that his label, at some point, I'm not sure about now, his label that he's producing music for is owned by Russians. And it was... I found this information from my friend that I mentioned from Austria, that he was interested in producing Vark at some point.

But we found that he had the label, he signed a contract, obviously, with the Russians. So, I thought, huh, if Duke is receiving money through his lectures and through Arctus, some of these guys, like Taylor, are receiving money from Arctus, why not Vark is receiving money from this label? Because this is a very good way to cover his funding. And, of course, he's receiving money from some YouTube channel who's selling his, let's say, tabletop game or whatever.

But most likely he's receiving funding through the Russians, through this thing. Of course, I can't prove that, but one of his connections, and there are a lot of Russian subscribers under his sites, and he's pushing this thing, colorism. So, basically, this, how to say, split between the Nordic types and the Mediterranean types.

Could you spell that? Because I'm not too sure I understood what that was. Colorism, the term. Well, colorism.

I don't really understand what that is. Like color. Colorism is basically a type of racism, if you believe, that preferring his own color pigmentation of hair and so on.

Colorism? Yeah, yeah. I misunderstood you there. I thought you said chorism or something.

No, no. Yeah, I'm sorry. No problem.

So, basically, he was praying that all Europeans must be born, which is also a bogus idea. And this guy, the survivor of the GIF, which is much more, let's say, factual in his information about it. And he said, no, no, no, it's not true.

Basically, these Kurgan types, they were brunettes very often with, well, he claimed that they were with whiter skin than the pre-European population. But how pre-Indo-European, let's say, pre-Aryan population was pigmented is quite also misinterpreted. It's basically twisted.

Let's say that, for example, this cheddar man is total bullshit. I mean, he was not so dark. Most likely, they're missing the fact that the pigmentation of the skin, there are some genes that are not present in the modern European population that are for fair skin.

It doesn't mean that there were these people before the Indo-European invasion and before the Neolithic farmers. It doesn't mean that these people were dark skinned. It's basically a Jewish trick.

And there are a lot of facts for that. And in one of the videos, they are quite well presented. It's debunking the Neanderthal theory of Vark based on the anthropology of the measurement of the skull, of the measurement and position of the facial skull.

So basically, where the nose is, with the proportions of the nose, the positions of the eyes, and the proportions of the back skull. That's the occiput of the skull. The Arabs always have a very pronounced occiput.

Can you repeat? I said the Arabs always have a very pronounced occiput, very large occiput back of the skull. Yeah. Because their skulls are shaped in different ways.

They're not like long heads like the Aryans. Their skull is shorter. So that's why the backside of the skull is bigger.

And their ears are in different positions. Let's put it that way. They're not like straight like in the Aryan types.

And, of course, the form of the nose, the position of the hair, and, of course, pigmentation of the hair. But this is not the leading example. And I started to debunk Vark in many occasions, and he just started to use his followers to mock me.

And it looks like Vark either didn't read the sagas, or he read the sagas, but he's misinterpreting the information there. Because in one of his videos, back in who knows when, but it was some of the older videos that he deleted after me started to make fuss about it, he claimed that... Trying to cover his traces. He claimed that, first of all, if a brunette and blonde make a child, it's always brunette, which is not true.

Second, he claimed that all brunettes are mixed with some kind of non-Europeans, which is also not true. He claims that all brunettes in Scandinavia are descendants... Which is the stupidest part. All brunettes in Scandinavia are descendants of Portuguese sailors that crashed at some point in Scandinavia.

And then he pointed some stupid article in the Norwegian press or something. That's not a very credible theory there. Yeah, and I started to debunk it, and I used a very Nordic source, which are the sagas.

And I used the sagas of Egil, Egil's saga, which I point out that Egil... Yeah, I actually descended from that guy, from Egil Skallagrimsson. Yeah, he was brunette. He was not only brunette, but he looks like a guy that had a tan, because he's described like white-brown skin or something like that, which is typical for a guy that is traveling to sea and pillaging things.

He basically had a tan because of the sun rays. And this was another bullshit of Varg that he claimed that the real Europeans, aka the Neanderthals, they never had tan, which I don't know what else to say. The tan is the natural reaction to the skin, like from the skin of the white people to the sun.

And even white-skinned people, as I mentioned, I work with tourists, and there are a lot of Scandinavian and Russian Nordic types that tan quite heavily. Even though I'm a Pontic race, I'm a white Eastern or Northern Mediterranean type, I don't tan so heavily like these guys from Scandinavia. And I pointed out that thing, that it's bullshit, and it's not a factor, because these people, and I pointed out different Asian sources that obviously describe European people, in some cases with blonde hair, that had brown skin.

And they had brown skin because, A, they were tanned, or they were covered with some paint, for example, protecting them from the sun, because they had problems with burning or something. And they said all kinds of bullshit. He liked the theory, because I'm not twisting facts, he liked the theory for the paint.

And he said, of course it's a paint, it's not a natural tan or something like that. Then he started to say that the redheads are basically a product of race mixing, which is also bullshit. And I pointed out that... Is that also the world historically, the reds are always the ones that are like the Tuatha Dé Danann and so forth? This is because they're the first wave of Indo-Europeans, and they had a lot of redhead genes.

And my suspicion is that these genes, because they were, the people that had these genes, and they were isolated on the, basically on the edges of European continent in the British Islands, in Ireland, in Scotland. That's why they have this high concentration there. But also take in mind that the Scythian types also had reddish hair, but the reddish hair of the Scythians and the Thracians were different from the present day Irish.

Maybe even the present day Irish, they were also more dark reddish hair, if you know what I mean, than the present day redheads. But everything is changing. I mean, it's, as I said, the pigmentation of the hair is not so important, like the facial and cranial, cranial if I believe.

Cranial matrix. Yeah, cranial matrix. And so, yeah, and I pointed out that I also, like a kid, had dark red hair, and I even still have reddish beard.

And he said, of course, because you're Mediterranean, I mix it. I said, oh my God. I mean, it's not even, it's not even funny.

And I said, well, first of all, according to your understanding, the Neanderthals must be all blonde, right? And there is no proof of that. There is no proof that the Neanderthals are all blonde. Not to mention that Neanderthals, they didn't have, the early Neanderthals, they didn't have negative blood types.

The later Neanderthals had negative blood types when they mixed with the chromagnum type. Oh, yeah, because you know how the Jews always try to claim that they are rhesus negative blood, and they're highly Neanderthal in their DNA. Maybe, but... So they try to claim that for themselves, in other words.

I think that, I think that, that negative blood was a specific mutation at some point for the, for the Aryan or the Kurgan type. But the blood types back in the time could be used for tracing the population. But now it's not like that because it looks like the blood types are connected with the type of, I would say, eating habits.

And the people nowadays, they, first of all, they are a lot of mixing. Second of all, the eating habits are quite also mixed. So you don't have population like in the Aryan types where they're predominantly eating, for example, milk and milk products.

And that's why they were lactostolerant. But you still have these traces, for example, these inhabitants of Scandinavia had the highest lactostolerant genes. They had the highest lactostolerant population.

This is the correct term. So this is what other things are debunking. I mean, Varg, this idea that the Europeans, at first I thought that that he's making this to be, how to say, to oppose this migration theory because in his mind if you migrated from some place and went to another, you could be replaced by other wave of migrants and so on.

So I thought that this is kind of, how to say, positive propaganda from his side, even though it's a fake positive propaganda. I don't like this kind of propaganda when you cannot base on facts and you are faking the facts to twist your narrative. And from my perspective, Neanderthals, they, first of all, they looked quite ridiculous.

They had big foreheads and wide jaws and so on. Yeah, yeah. And obviously they were not ancestors of the modern white men.

The ancestors of the modern white men were Chromagnons. Yeah. And the Chromagnons, according to Varg Vikernes, are mishlings because they had fucked up teeth, tooth.

And this is not true. This is not true. Chromagnons were very, very tall, very well built.

It looks like Chromagnons also didn't have pragmatism, which is also very interesting because this means contrary to the Neanderthals, Neanderthals had pragmatism. Homo erectus had pragmatism and they still have pragmatism because Homo erectus are basically the Negroes. And of course, the modern anthropologists reject that.

And they said that we are all one in the same race. And one of the proof is that we can produce kids together, which is just ridiculous bullshit. Because even the lion and the tiger could produce kids.

Lions and tigons or whatever they're called. But then they become sterile after a couple of generations. Yeah, but they have more genetic differences than the hominid species.

Let's put it that way. With the mixed race types, so-called race, the mixed hominid types, they always have very weak and degenerated and chaotic offspring. You know, prone to crime and all sorts of psychological problems and diseases and so forth.

Like the Jews, who are basically the poster boy for, you know, disease and mongrelization problems. Well, my theory is that the Jews are mixed race, the original mixed race. And maybe the pack of the Jews behind the Jews, there are some or let's say the theory in Bulgaria is that the creators of the Jews like a tribe are these dark Atlanteans that at some point escaped the fall of Atlantis into the Middle East.

And they're described in Sumerian mythologies like these flying fishes or like this Oannis or this Dagon figure. And he's described like this flying fish, this flying dragon. And it makes sense if you think about it, if it's represented, he's coming from the sea.

So basically from what's from the Western Sea, so Mediterranean Sea. So if you think about it, and this is the theory of Manly Pichot, this Mason. Yeah.

He he also pointed out that maybe the fish represented scale armor. Now, the scale armor was very popular amongst the Scythians and Sarmatians because they kept the technology. So part of the technologies of the ancient empire and contrary to the Scythians and Sarmatians, the Romans didn't manage to copy the scale armor of the Scythians.

And when they copied it because they capture some Scythians, of course, they didn't implement the the you got say the technique. The not the technique, the using of scale armor because you see the scale armor is was used only for the horse archers and for the white cavalry that is not fighting from the close combat because the scale armor was what is to deflect arrows and so on. Yeah.

Yeah, exactly. Because in close combat, there is a weakness. You can push the blade between the scales and could penetrate under whatever you have under the armor, let's say what is the term gambeson or whatever.

And you can penetrate that and the Romans didn't understand that at first and they tried on heavy cavalry and with quite fatal consequences because it works at first. It's a perfect armor because it's lighter than the plate armor and it deflects arrows, but they didn't understand the idea. And when the Romans which are not well known for their riding skills, even though their mobility were called equities or horsemen, they when they encountered Sarmatian horsemen or Thracian horsemen even or Scythian horsemen they had problems.

They had a lot of problems. They had problems with the Parthians and the Parthians were all another Scythian or Aryan tribe. So yeah.

So anyway, so Varg is pushing these things and why the fact he's pushing the Neanderthal thesis? Why the fact he's pushing this Slavic bullshit like he's pushing his reliable sources, Russian sources and he's quoting the original sources for some kind of basic understanding of the Slavs, even though I pointed out that the Russian literature is something like 200 years later created on the basis on the earlier old Bulgarian literature and I said well you're quoting things that you don't understand. You don't obviously know old Bulgarian. I know Bulgarian so the things that you're quoting are not true.

So we have an argument about the term Vlada, right? He claims that he was a car in Russia. Yeah, it's a car in Russia, but it's also Vlada means lady basically and he claimed that the Vlada is a fake goddess. It was created and I said no, it's a fake.

Maybe the Russians didn't have these deities. Maybe they adopted because the Russian, the problem with the Russians that they don't have a written history as I said before the alphabet and the literature came to them and the literature came with the Bulgarian emissaries and later with the Byzantine emissaries. So they came bringing Christianity which as I said I'm not a big fan of but it is what it is.

So they didn't have a lot of sources and also I found out that for example Perun is very often claimed that is this the main Slavic so to say deity but I find out from I find out from Russian source that actually in Russia there is not a single name of Perun that survived like a name of the some area or mountain or lake or whatever it was not a single name that came from the ancient times and in Bulgaria there are at least three or four places including quite large mountain Perun mountain came from Perun there was a town called Pernik there was a flower called Perunica so and Peru means basically to strike down most likely with lightning and Perun is another term for beating somebody down so it's obviously connection with this deity so whatever these people that are researching these Russians they said well look on the Balkans they didn't mention Bulgaria but on the Balkans there are a lot of toponyms so basically name of different areas geographical the different mountains and rivers and so on that are named after Peru but in Russia there is not a single name after Peru there was another one place called something of Peru I don't know but this is basically named in 19th century when they're trying to reconstruct the religion and you must understand that the Russian so-called Slavic paganism I don't want to mock people or something because pagan tradition is largely lost even in Scandinavia and the Scandinavians had this advantage that they had some written sagas and some sources so from my perspective they must not mock people like Snorri and they must be quite thankful at least well he could be a Christian he could have some influences from the Abrahamic religions but I think he didn't have some back thoughts of destroying or twisting the religion like an early disinfo agent I'm not sure about that I don't think that he's a disinfo agent I mean what what is the point of that you're saying that he probably wasn't on that basis that he was just maybe confused a bit or something by Abraham yeah yeah yeah maybe he was confused but I don't think that he was writing stuff to confuse and who would confuse at that point I mean who will confuse he wanted after 600 years to create a false fake pagan movement or something no he was writing down information the same things could be said for some Bulgarian authors in the medieval period they had these memories for their Scythian or Iranian origin and they wrote it down like but it was very twisted and they didn't know who from where just coming at that point the Byzantium that were keeping they were keeping the chronicles they know and they're always referring to the Bulgarians like Scythians so basically three names were mostly used for the for the Bulgarians one is Scythians the other is Mesians so they referred to the northern northern Bulgarians like Mesians which is a northern Thracian name and the third is Goti or Goti and this Goti was stuck to the western Bulgarians which are now Macedonians of course until as late as 14th century there was a Serbian prince that Bulgarians rebelled against and he said that basically these Goti these these gods rebelled rebelled against me and they called themselves Bulgarians so he also referred to these people and there are some historical things behind it but going back to Varg so let's put it things in that perspective Varg had very large following he's using misinformation he's pushing false understanding of history like Europeans came from the and especially Nordcs came from the Neanderthals which is not true his wife is pushing this pre-Indo-European invasion religion which is maternal religion which is yeah that's what the he's pushing his maternal matriarchy yeah it's always about the poor center things like that which is let's put it that way there was a reason for Indo-Europeans subjugating the prey and this is quite funny because both of them obviously had very let's say not Aryan Indo-European that's the fake term Indo-European features let's put it that way even though one of my friends in Norway he also said oh Varg is Jew he didn't look like Jew I don't know but I don't think maybe he could be an agent everyone could be an agent he could be misinformed he could be misled but I don't think he's a Jew I'm just looking at him he's probably just an operator of theirs or something like that I have no ideas but the things that I found for example a guy that I'm following and he has a quite good channel called Herd Nord Storm he's a big fan yeah he I believe he's Swedish he has a very nice channel and he's against Putin and pro Nordic resistance movement and so and so but he is posting VARK like his videos are some kind of source of information and one of his recent reports is one of the older videos of VARK that is he's representing that Aryans this inferior people that are mixing and he's referring to the Velikarians by the way that mixing with the non whites and so well they mixed yeah this is true but they wanted to prevent that and that's why they created the caste system and they created the caste system as a attempt to stop the race mixing because if you know how the system works it's not allowed to marry the lower caste members and of course it didn't work so well because they were outnumbered one to I don't know millions maybe thousands tens of thousands because we don't know how many the European Aryans were but we know that even in ancient times the Darwids were numerous we have these claims from the Greek historians so he shows again misinformation he shows a picture of southern Darwidian very dark skin and he said that this is the descendants of the Aryans and this is not true the descendants of the Aryans or upper caste system members that are very white skinned and most of them are from the Brahmanic caste from the Kshatriya class or whatever Rajas or whatever and their pigmentation let's say white skin their white skin for India right their pigmentation is let's say light brown and their features are kind of how to say more symmetrical more likely the European type and also ones that are from the Punjab yep with the Rajasthan the these northern Indians like and northern Indians from the higher castes not from the lower castes of course and it is proven that these people from the Brahmanic caste and so and so they on the genetic level they had something like 30 20 to 30 percent eastern European genes because the people that invaded India the Vedic areas they were from these they were from these areas from this Indo-European let's put the term Kurgans from these Kurgans that were closer to eastern Europeans and by the way making my genetic samples I am R1 A1 so at some point, created the great empires and great cultures. Quite amazing stuff. And people like Varg are spilling basically misinformation, they are seeding distrust between the different sub-races, not uniting the people, even though he claims that he's uniting the people on the basis of paganism, because yes, it's true, on the basis of paganism there are not religious wars, the Romans didn't slaughter the Celts on the basis of, you don't worship Jupiter for example, you're worshipping Taranis, they're slaughtering the Celts for other reasons, including the infiltrations of the Jews, especially if you know the story of Caesar, he was a Jewish puppet, I'm 100% sure about that.

I've actually read that before myself, I'm not too sure what evidence there is though, I'm sure there is evidence somewhere. Write down in Google Caesar Semitophile and you will find interesting things. And you know the statements of Cicero against the Jews, that he was defending his client, and Cicero was a political enemy of Caesar.

Okay. The Jews like to set up their puppets, their fake nationalist puppets, like Bonaparte to Napoleon. Napoleon, I don't, I'm not knowledgeable about Napoleon.

I was thinking that he was a Mason, then I spoke with Jan Lamprecht and he was a fan of Caesar and Napoleon, and he was not changing his opinion about that, and I said, still there is 100% Jewish, I'm not so sure about Napoleon. It looks like he pushed some walls against the Jews at some point. He's pictured with his Masonic pose in some of his photographs.

The hidden hand, you mean? Yeah. The hidden hand. That's a pretty famous photograph.

Yeah, yeah, but you know that some, the Masons are pushing also this propaganda like the Christians that all, basically all are Masons. So this could be some kind of falsification. But I'm not defending, I'm not a defender of Napoleon.

I just don't know enough information. I can defend Adolf Hitler because there are some people that claim that he was a Jew, financing by the Jew, all this is bullshit and there are a lot of sources to debunk that and I was interested in that matter. But I am not knowledgeable in details about Napoleon.

Maybe he was financed by the Rothschild. I don't know. I just don't know.

I don't claim things that I don't know. And the things are like this, this is with the weapon. He was arrested at some point because he was posing with the weapon and the French secret police basically attacked his house.

And interesting, interesting how he's living in France that is not very conservative and nationalistic, not living in very based and conservative Russia. Yeah, France is basically a totally Judeophile country. It's controlled by one of their major centers in the world.

And also another thing, VARC and National Socialism, it looks like he, at least according to some sources, he has close connections with National Socialists and even, but this is a claim from Wikipedia, which is not reliable source, Wikipedia claims, Jukipedia, claims that his mother tried to work with some neo-Nazi group to take VARC away from prison or basically to escape, which for my book, it's not a bad thing. I don't know why he, I can understand that, for example, VARC after years and especially when he's living in France, I can understand that he's not proclaiming National Socialist views and so on and so forth. But if I was in his place, I will keep, how to put it, sympathetic silence, let's put it that way.

I will not attack National Socialism. And some of his attacks were very funny. For example, he's against Socialism.

That's why he's not National Socialist. Well, why are you living in France, for God's sake, it's a very socialist, not to say communist country. And one of my German friends says it's very obvious, they have a lot of kids and they're receiving social benefits, which I suppose are quite a good amount of money.

Right. Which, of course, I'm not against that. But why he's attacking National Socialist Germany, that if you're white, especially in his case, Nordic people with good racial qualities, they will receive money for that, which is very normal.

The state must protect the race that found the country. Yeah, so obviously, if you were really legitimate and you were a racist, you'd want National Socialism. Of course, this is a very, very good thing to stimulate the people to have a lot of children, healthy children.

And this is like investment in the future of the nation. It's for me, it's a very natural thing. You cannot give a jack shit for, for God's sake, if you're National Socialist, you won't allow racial invaders to live in your country.

And I will end with that because he, you, right. But it's a very normal thing to be sympathetic to National Socialism, at least not to attack them. The other thing was, and this is about the time when I stopped my subscription to his channel.

The other thing was the stupid claim that he's against National Socialism because there was a division called Dirlewanger and the Dirlewanger SS division, it was the members of the division were basically murderers, rapists, gypsies. And well, the Dirlewanger himself was a very unpleasant figure, but he was a very, I believe that in National Socialist Germany, he was a friend of Heinrich Himmler. And the Vikings, also very vicious.

I mean, doesn't that, what, what, what Varg touts as the hero figure? Yeah, yeah, yeah. But my point was other that, as I pointed out the previous show, it's not like in the Christianity and Varg is pushing in some way, very Christian view of the war, very black and white and very not exactly that he's, for example, he's rejecting Christianity. And I can understand that because Christianity fucked a lot of things.

I agree with Varg on that thing. And I agree with healthy lifestyle and I agree with close to the nature and so on. But I don't agree with some things.

For example, if we retreat and leave the system and live like, I would say, cavemen away from society, they will come for us. They will come for us. We cannot be passive.

We, if we, I say destroy will be used, if we leave the present system unstable, we will have a lot of time to establish our societies. But if we just escape the system and leave for the next five, 10 years, they will come for us. They will find a pretext.

You are convicted Nazi, you are whatever, they will attack you on the possession of guns, they will attack you on whatever. Some guys in Bulgaria, even though Bulgaria is not, they don't prosecute nationalists for now. For example, they were convicted, they had a suitcase, not suitcase, a court case, they got a court case against them because supposedly they made a bomb against a bunch of Turks or Gypsies.

I don't remember, it was years ago. And they. They all put that innocent non-white.

And they blow these faggots away. But they forgot to mention that these Turks or Gypsies or whatever, they were mafia members. So mafia members very often killing each other.

And they just use this pretext to attack these guys. And it's a very stupid thing. And they use this pretext to attack guys that were popular in the nationalist circle and to discredit them, to arrest them.

But the court case failed. So basically because they didn't have any evidence for that. This is just an example of how they're using every pretext to attack the easiest victims, which are the nationalists.

So if we leave the society at some point, because obviously they will see an enemy in our face, because if we establish stable communities, they will be like an example for other people. Even though it's very hard to establish stable communities, since we are lacking a lot of resources. We are lacking also the most important resources, people.

People. Yeah. It's a parallel society that just sort of like exists as a sort of layer behind the actually currently existing society.

It can't be like Ruby Ridge where you hide away in the woods and make yourself a target. You have to, you know, just sort of like piggyback on the current society and then try to create your own segregated society while you blend in with the current, with the currently existing one, in my opinion. Yeah, they won't, they just don't allow the positive example.

So anyway, the VARC propaganda of pre-Aryan ideals, of pre-Aryan religion, of colorism that is basically separating people. And I saw the comment section, the North attacking the Slavs, the both groups attacking the Mediterranean, the people accusing each other, which is total bullshit, if you think about it. And we have the seeds of that when I'm talking about establishing communities with some friends in some circles and they had prejudices and misinformation.

And my friend that visited me in the beginning of the year, you see, I'm kind of, you see, I spoke with some guys and they thought that here lives basically Turks. And I say, well, it's not like that. Maybe they are not Turks.

And I show pictures. I believe I posted pictures on a video of Dungaard of Pontic-looking Turkish actresses, very, if I didn't mention that they're Turkic, you'll think that they're very European, in some cases, red hair, blue eyes, attractive ladies. But it looks like their forefathers were kidnapped or converted in one way or another and turned to be Turks.

And we in Bulgaria also had these kind of types. And I was pointing out to one of my colleagues in the college and I said, well, how the fuck do you think that you are similar to these guys? I basically pointed to Turks that are very not European looking. Why the fuck do you think that you're the same people like these? And we're talking about a lady with very blonde hair, with blue eyes, quite fair, quite tall, quite attractive.

And she said, oh, no, I'm Turkic. These are fake-created nations that basically absorbed large Aryan populations and converted them to non-Aryan religion. Christianity, by the way, is also non-Aryan, but with more Aryan influences, so to say, than Islam, obviously.

But it's an imperial mess, hot pot, melting pot. And it's totally bullshit. It's a created nation on the basis of Jewish propaganda.

And they will use, that's why I pointed out that the Turks are much more dangerous than, for example, the Arabs, because they have more European genes. In some cases, not only European genes, but they also have European people. Because they are living in parts of Turkey that they didn't mix, for example, with other non-European types, they preserve themselves in some way.

Yeah, well, even in the Turkarian area in China, there's, you know, European-looking people or Aryan-looking people there still. Yeah, just even as I said, in the Mongols, they had some of these genes, but it doesn't change the fact that they genocided the European population of Central Asia. So, I want to show you some pictures.

So, to give an example of what the picture is, ah, look at this. I'm not seeing any pictures. Oh, here's something coming up.

OK. Yeah. So, those are all wearing Turkey or something? Yeah, they're Turks.

Yeah, they still obviously look very European. So, people can just type in, you know, on a search engine, you know, say European Turk or Turkish-European. I'm sure you get at least something, even though there's obviously bias from Google.

They're basically not defined like Turkish-European subject. They're basically Turkish actresses, right? Actresses must look good. They won't show these dark hominids in Anatolia.

They will show these very nice-looking, especially this red hat is perfect, the upper one. They will show these very nice-looking ladies. And when I say Turk and Bulgarians, they say, yeah, we have more or less the same racial types.

I mean, the Pontic is all spread all around the Pontic Sea, which is the Black Sea. I know Ukrainians that look the same with different northern Pontics, of course, with the southern Pontics, which is my case, I'm Pontic. And the Pontics are very often called the Slavic type, even though they're defined like pre-Slavic type by the anthropology.

You see, the people are mixing terms, terms like Slavic, it's just a cultural or linguistic term. We're talking about racial terms. And these people, these ladies, are obviously descendants of European or predominantly European forefathers that were forcefully converted and kidnapped by the Turks.

Yeah. And in most of these cases, it's either the white men, you know, they overrun the white societies and they kill the white men and they rape the women. And then the mixed product is whatever exists there now or else they've abducted them just like they did in Iceland and stuff, too.

You know, they've abducted white women from there and brought them all the way to the Middle East. A lot of these groups. Yeah, because it's very, how to say, I don't know, I don't know, maybe racial envy or something.

Yeah. They desire to blend themselves with the genes of white people because they want to be white. And so that's their way of, like, vampirizing their genome for themselves.

And, of course, to show a similar racial types, this Bulgarian, what is it, music video based on the Bulgarian folk stories about, by the way, the white ladies that I described in the video. So the same Pontic and Northern Pontic types, the blonde ladies are predominantly Northern importing the brunettes Pontics. So these are the Eastern Mediterranean, also called Kurgan types.

So this incline that calls to look to the Yamnaya culture or the Kurgans or the Aryans or whatever. So, yeah. And yeah, one of the future videos I prepared, this information, let's put it that way, like a debunking of Varg's information about all this bullshit that he's spreading.

And at first I thought that he's spreading because of his, as I said, biases. And of course, I don't have problem with people being proud of being Nordic. It's a very good thing.

Actually, I will even advise the Nordics, even if we somehow manage to defeat the Jewish beast, just to prefer marrying other Nordic people, because it's a very beautiful racial subtype. And I believe that it's good to preserve themselves. Subscribe to de Gobineau's conception to some extent about the racial hierarchy.

Yeah, I don't have nothing against them. But on the other hand, I found that there are a lot of, I don't know how to say, the sympathies between the Eastern Pontiffs and the Nordic races. I found that, for example, the German guys, German by origin, maybe, like Bulgarian ladies.

And when I was in Austria, I had, let's say, nice moments with some Austrian girls, with Nordic, I would say from Nordic extraction. So there are some likings between the two groups, which I think it's normal because it was a part of a bigger racial family. And this is part of true Aryan diversity, maybe this is the correct term, not like these Negroes that are totally racially different from you.

And they're not enriching you, basically destroying your genotype and your culture. Like blood poisoning. Yeah, and they're so primitive.

And these totally foreign genes are causing nothing but basically mutations, some chaotic mutations in your blood pool or gene pool. So don't, I don't know, maybe, maybe, maybe, just maybe, because I'm not following Varg since whatever, maybe he changed some of his points. I find out that he deleted, for example, the videos, which was ridiculous that he claimed that when Blonde is producing kids with brunette, they're always brunette, which is obviously not true.

There are a lot of examples. I basically spammed his videos with the links of kids of different sub-racial types from Bulgaria to Germany to whatever, Denmark, that are showing brunettes and blondes having blonde kids. And even brunettes together are producing blonde kids because, because it's genes, the blood, the blonde to the bloodline is presented in all sub-races of the Aryans.

This is the truth. We are recessive carriers of the blood, of the blonde gene. And that's why maybe these, I don't want to use bad words anymore, but these scoundrels, the Jews are trying to destroy all of us because they have this idea that Jehovah hates these descendants of the godly race or angelic race or whatever.

Yeah, if they're angels, then I wouldn't want to see demons, that's for sure. Yeah, yeah. For example, if you know the book of Enoch, the people that are described as descendants of the angels, they are with fair skin and reddish.

The Repham, I think they're called. Yeah, with reddish, with reddish cheeks and obviously with very white, almost platinum hair. And it's obviously, obviously, from my perspective, at least, obviously they're trying to destroy the, ah, this is a very good example.

So this is Bulgarian family with both of them are brunettes, both and the kitties, blonde. And yeah, it's just the things, what they are, I mean, it's very wickedness. I mean, he don't, he obviously don't understand anthropology, how the genes works.

So, it's, it's, I don't know, I won't throw claims like false, like operative for a disinfo agent, but maybe, maybe. Yeah, should I put a question mark on the exposed there? Yeah, maybe, maybe this is the correct thing. OK, maybe he's 100% sure about his lack of knowledge about the Eddas, so the, the Icelandic Eddas, his lack of knowledge of anthropology, his lack of knowledge of genetics, his anti-Aryanism.

His pro-Neanderthal stuff, and this is, this is kind of funny because a lot of followers of VARC are claiming, oh, the Neanderthal, whatever, Neanderthal uprising, yeah, the Neanderthal uprising is basically the Jews that ruling over us. I mean, this is the Neanderthal uprising. It, not to mention that he somehow neglected things like the Neanderthal habit of cannibalism.

Yeah, ritual murder and all of that. Yeah, you there. Yeah.

And they, he claims that, for example, Neanderthals, they, because they buried their dead with rituals and with some kind of, yeah, they maybe buried their dead, but maybe these are the late Neanderthals when they mixed in some areas with the Cro-Magnons. And there are some interesting evidences from northeastern part of European, not eastern part of Europe, basically from European part of Russia, from the northeast, that some of the anthropologists of Dev, I believe the family name was Dev, he claims that they found 50,000 years old Cro-Magnon skeletons that were basically representing European men. And he could say that it's representing the Nordic men also, but he would also claim that he also said that the difference between, for example, the Pontic and the eastern Mediterranean and the western Mediterranean, with some exception of very southern parts where obviously it's not only pigmentation, but some anthropological anomalies caused by races mixing, the difference between these people that are 50,000 years old and the modern Europeans as a whole are very minor.

Yeah, it's interesting. Last time we spoke about Lemuria, 50,000 years old or at least that. And well, it's a very, for me, it's very logical because these Cro-Magnon types, they didn't have pragmatism.

If they didn't have pragmatism, from my perspective, and I will quote another operative, another disinfo agent called Robert Seffer, maybe a Jew, by the way. Yeah, I'm pretty sure. Somebody just posted his video about the ancient alien things on one of their Bitchu channels.

Well, first of all, look at his family name, Seffer, it's close to Sefferot, and I found a guy, he was knowledgeable in Hebrew, he said that Seffer in Hebrew means something like book. And at first, years ago, I thought that he's a German because it's quite blondish and with, let's say, Cro-Magnon face features or Aryan face features. But it looks like he's spreading this disinfo that everyone is the same, the Jews and the Aryans are basically the same and the Scythians were Jews, so basically British Israelism and the Scythians were Jews.

And this is not the fucking right, for God's sake. They are so different from the from the example that the Jews never tattooed themselves. And it's all just that it's all just aliens that are creating these ancient civilizations instead of Aryans.

Yeah, yeah. This is also this is also very, this is very irritating because they're spreading how different they are, how they come from. They also forgot to mention the depictions of these people and they look like European people, European people.

And yes, there are some anomalies like, as I point out, that the giants in the Bible with six fingers, they pointed out several times this this thing. But also, if you look at the video of Survive the Jive about the Tugharians, red-haired mummies in the Far East, one of my favorite, by the way, things because of the, as I said, the Scythian origins of Bulgarians. And I'm quite interested of these people that were genocided and pushed to the West, at least the weakest one were pushed to the West.

And the Tugharians, he quoted the Chinese source that claimed that the Tugharian princes being tall and red-haired and so and so and they choose descendants or heirs on the count of their fingers. And if they had six fingers, they were elected for being a king. And this struck me as I said, oh, it's not some Jewish hodgepodge.

So there is some some accounts for that. You know what's interesting? Yeah, my feet and my hands have sort of like a webbing in them in between the middle finger and the ring finger. There's more in there.

And same with in my feet. And that's genetic on my mother's side, who's pure Danish. And you know how that relates to like Sumeria and Babylon and those Enki and so forth.

You're talking about the winged? Look at the six finger statues of the gods. You'll see a lot of gods with six fingers, especially in Sumeria. Wow.

And take in mind that the Sumerians are tested with the system, our what is that not numerical system, but basically the system that we are counting the time and the system is based on six, because we have 24 hours. We have 60 seconds, 60 minutes, 3600. And so people that have six fingers will create that.

If you have 10 fingers will be basically based on 10, on five, not on five. So and the other thing that I pointed out that these weird pro-Zionist Christians, Americans, I found the very war-tier Christian propaganda, but they found out these mummies with prolonged skulls in Central and South America. And a lot of the skulls had reddish hair.

And they pointed out that the fallen angels had reddish hair, of course, the fallen angels had the reddish hair because they were the heiress, the descendants of these Atlantean and Lemurian civilizations that were destroyed. And maybe they were destroyed by the same fucking cult, let's put it that way. And not to mention that America, according to some sources, is created like New Atlantis, like this British occultist Bacon.

I believe he created, he used the term New Atlantis for the first time. Yeah, he wrote a book called The New Atlantis. So it looked like they covered the truth.

And by the way, these elongated skulls, the so-called Khuns, the people that we, the previous time we read the sources that maybe they in the core, they were white people and not these dark Mongols, they also practice cranial deformation, basically elongation of the skull. So always that. And they're trying to mimic their ancestors, basically.

Yeah, yeah. And these the Eastern Germanic tribes also are using these techniques. And these types in Egypt also had these kinds of skulls.

So what is that? Yeah, you see how Agnoten in some of those wall paintings of Agnoten, his skull is very elongated. Yeah, but he also quite degenerated. So true.

But at the same time, though, maybe he was subjected to that same treatment. Maybe, maybe, maybe. So what is that? And from my perspective, this is all pointing out to the white gods, to the Asir or Azir, and to basically our ancestors.

Because you say creators, yeah, it could be genetic modification, but I prefer the more traditional view of things, like they were direct our forefathers, like, if you will, this biblical thing that the songs. That's just the perspective of the Jew, of course. The biblical perspective.

Yeah, it's perspective of the Jew, but it's much more, I don't know, logical from my perspective that these people are mixing quite directly with women and creating offspring than to believe that they're genetically modified. I don't know. Maybe I'm wrong.

I don't claim that. Because most people are already genetically mixed throughout the world, to whatever extent. Yeah, unfortunately.

And not to mention that the Jews are pushing race mixing and all kinds of degeneration, because they know that their natural degeneration, their mutations and most of the mutations are negative mutations. There are some positive mutations. There, for example, you could be born with very high IQ and higher than your parents, for example.

But usually this is connected with some setbacks, let's put it that way. So the perspective of national socialism that wants to create this stable race with more and more positive mutations, more and more benefits, let's say, in your upbringing and less and less negative mutations, less and less genetical defects. Take in mind that the National Socialists didn't have the technologies and the knowledge that we have today.

Or if we are modern National Socialists, we must implement this racial selection and this, let's say, turn back or this Jewish degeneration program or this genetic program. Because I found very funny these claims that, oh, the elite is practicing eugenics, eugenics from Greek, good genes. They're practicing this genics towards us, maybe towards them.

They're practicing eugenics, right? Yeah. You want to go backwards like the swastika, like the leftward swastika against the current, the current of disintegration and degeneration. You want to go back to the Golden Age through eugenic upgrading over selection.

I know Julius Evola wrote about that in that synthesis of racial doctrine. He talked about trying to weed out the negative elements of the Mediterranean race that had become intermixed in it. I will point out that there are different sub-races.

There are some mixed Nordic races, like Eastern Baltic types. They're blonde and blue eyed, but with wider faces and with Mongolian features, for example. And there are some very northern types that are mixed with the Suomi, basically with Ugru Finns, which, by the way, they're using the term Ugru Finns like linguistic term.

And I figured out that the Hungarians and a lot of Finnic speaking people are not Mongoid, basically Aryan types. So it's not the exact term, but it is what it is. I mean, using Slavic, Ugru Finnic, whatever.

So there are very northern types that are mixed with the Asiatic types. This is what I mean, including some very nice looking ladies, blonde and blue eyed, very fair skinned, but with some, let's say, strange shape of the eyes, for example. Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah.

East Baltic, yeah. East Baltic, like Ukrainian. I know my father's father's ancestors were of that type, but they were sort of like a Dinaric admixture too, not just East Baltic.

From the Ukraine. But take in mind that the Dinarids were, even though they are quite dark in features, they were described like Aryan sub-race because of their proportion. And Dinarids are quite darker than the Eastern Pontids and, for example, the noses and the nostrils, basically the shape of the eye sockets are different, kind of.

So it depends how you look at the... Yeah, it depends on your nomenclature or your terms you're using to describe things. Yeah, but more or less it is, not to be Vark, let's put it that way. I prefer the David Lane's, how to say, the David Lane's understanding of who is white and who is fighting white and who could be on our side.

So if someone has something like, I don't know, 0.01, 0.03 percent, I don't know what whatever admixture, let's say, Asiatic admixture, and he's a white guy that is fighting for our cause, I don't see any problem with that. And take in mind that these admixtures could be, let's say, removed in the future. Or genetic upgrading.

Yes, yes, genetic upgrading, selection. I prefer more natural stuff. I'm not a transhumanist, but we must be very stupid if we reject the possibility of using the strongest weapon of the white race, which is the brainpower, basically.

Let's use our scientists and threats. Because, you see, the spreading of the Indo-Europeans around the world was caused because of rediscovering, I believe it's rediscovering the horse and the armor and the chariot, which was basically a combination with the very militaristic, very patriarchal, very dominant Aryan religion with the discipline and the bravery and so on. So it was a very lethal combination for the rest of the world.

Yeah, I guess the Jews know that. That's why they gave white people Christianity and do whatever they can to disarm and disempower them in every possible way. Yeah, yeah.

They pretty much know the recipe to try to destroy a race of people. So once we understand what their methods are, then we can reverse engineer that or, you know, oppose it with effective means, try to build strength and, you know, orient ourselves toward a more solar Uranian spirituality and patriarchal spirituality. So, so I believe, I believe that they are playing the wrong game, that these, a lot of people, and maybe we must go to finish the conversation.

Yeah, because too long is not good. They're playing the wrong game. A lot of people don't, cannot understand that and they're rejecting this.

They said, oh, it's impossible that Christianity was created by the Jews because this means that they had a wrong plan in the game and you're making the Jews smarter than they are. No, I'm not making the Jews smarter. I believe that there are other powers behind the Jews that are much smarter than them.

Yeah, it's sort of evil intelligence, not unnecessarily physical either. So I don't know, it's, I don't want to scare people, but let's put it that way. We must turn to our spiritual sources and to find a real relation to them, because otherwise we are very open to attack to this evil destructive force.

And when we manage to find our spiritual force, it will be much easier for us to build our, to rebuild our society, our way of life on the material level. Yeah, it's got to be, you know, winning the war of the mind first and then from there we can straighten ourselves out, orient ourselves and our forces toward a better goal than just self-absorption and hedonism and, you know, degeneracy, which is what the Jews want us to do, pacifism and race mixing. Yeah, it's because this is their usual things, right? I mean, they did it in the Roman Empire, they did it in the Greek empires, they did it in every state, in Persia, in the, amongst the Scythians, I believe they also, even though the Scythians were quite harsh people.

I mean, if you read some of the things that they did against the Semites, against the Assyrians, they were quite, quite harsh. You referred to Pogroms last time. You referred to Pogroms last time.

Yeah. It derives from, what was it, the god? It was god Chrom, which is another name for the Thunder God. And it was Thangor or Thangrom in Bulgarian mythology, or if you want, Perun or Perkunos.

Yeah, that's the same as the Blitzkrieg in German, pretty much. Yeah, yeah. It's the, this reference to the, especially the SS is very obviously thunder and also solar symbol, because our people must remember that the swastika is not only a solar symbol, it is the symbol of the Northern, of the Big Deeper, right? Creating this swastika-like shape moving through the different seasons.

And also, we must remember that it's not only a solar cross, but also a thunder cross. Because our people were venerating the sun and the thunder gods. And the thunder is a very good symbol for the warrior, if you think about it, because we must shake the scenes and strike down our enemies.

And maybe we must find a way to restore this warrior caste. And I'm pretty sure, I'm pretty sure there are modern scientific methods of rebuilding the biology, let's put it, creating this uber-soldier, these super soldiers. But we must, this is much more important, we must rebuild the psyche of the warrior, which we are missing.

There are a lot of initiations. There are a lot of sacred mysteries of the wolf and the bear.

And sometimes we will talk about that.

It is definitely something to get into it the next time we talk about more specific details about the Aryan spirituality and how we can implement that and integrate it into our own lives to develop ourselves. And I will advise, I believe that you will find a lot of liking of a video of a podcast with you and Dungard, which is kind of a knowledgeable guy of a Vedic perspective of the things and the Germanic perspective of the Aryan religion. It will be interesting, I suppose.

Yep. And that's it. All right.

I won't keep you longer than that. It's been quite a long time, but very useful information for people out there to get a jump on to start, you know, avoiding the shills and the disinformation agents and, you know, doing some more thorough research so you don't fall into the traps that they try to trap you in with the naturalism and matriarchy and so forth. So I guess we'll go from here.

So nice to talk to you again, Nordlux Bellator. Thank you and hail victory. 88.

How cool.
