

STORMS OF BAAL & THE MUD FLOOD

API: Storms of Baal & the Mud Flood

Welcome to Aryan Practical Idealism. Today we have two guests on the show from different regions of North America, with myself being in the north, the northernmost, and the others forming somewhat of a different pattern in totally different regions of the states. So welcome aboard, Southerner, and another guest.

Yeah, whatever you like, I don't care. So I guess the whole topic of the discussion will be a sort of analysis, maybe a psycho behavioral analysis of non-whites and our relations with them and how to deal with them, and different groups and their particular different behaviors. So it's sort of a bio-anthropological, anthro-psycho-logical, whatever, podcast here.

So I guess first we can start with Southerner. Tell us about your experiences. You don't have to be overly specific in your region, your geographical region, to whatever extent you feel you want to, and let us know, you know, your perspectives on these issues of the mud flood.

Yeah, it's getting, as time flies by, especially since I live not too far from the city, this whole mud flood is just getting out of hand, especially compared to 20 years ago. So you — With all these Negroes, especially being southeast. You have in your memory, you know, you've been around for more than 20 years, I guess, so you have a recollection of the difference in time.

Most definitely, especially since I grew up in a practically white ethno-state of an area, too, basically in the middle of nowhere. Yeah, I guess that's very similar to myself, because I also grew up in the middle of nowhere. We'll talk about me and my experiences later, but I guess from your perspective, now that you've experienced that change and the rapidity of change that has been going on, obviously because of the Kalergi Plan, the Jewish white genocide agenda of pumping— It's not always that, but it's the mind control of our own people, too, it's just how they're just so oblivious to what is truly going on.

Yeah, they are sort of like a zombie in the nest of time. A zombie, yep. And that might also be related to the electromagnetic fields that are being transmitted from cell towers to manipulate people's brainwave activity and force— They can most definitely do that with radioactive frequency, like right-of-way frequencies.

Yeah, radio frequencies, RF generators, because there's a guy named Royal Raymond Rife, R-I-F-E, right around the turn of the last century who had Rife machines that he would use to try to cure people's diseases by targeting certain vibrational frequencies of bacteria and stuff, and he could destroy them through simply bombarding them with or exposing them to those radio frequencies. So obviously that manipulates and modifies your consciousness when you have certain vibrational frequencies, radio frequencies, transmitted into your mind, into your brain. The brain is like an electromagnetic transceiver that processes information and that can be manipulated, so the people are definitely robots, robotized— It's not always that.

We're just surrounded by all sorts of radio wave frequencies, these days especially, with like these cell towers, you know, the Wi-Fi routers, cell phones, 5G. That's going to be an absolute weapon. A lot of people are speculating that 5G is going to be used as like some sort of weapon to even possibly destroy people in some way.

It could very well be, but I think they're mainly doing it for surveillance purposes. I think it's surveillance, but it's also, like we had just said, the mind control aspect. They're basically looking to implant people's minds with whatever sort of thought forms that they generate and transmit.

I guess that'd be called synthetic telepathy, voice-to-skull technology that they're utilizing. And what they're doing, given what I've researched in my personal experience to some extent through the gang stalking protocols, is they're stalking people, they're chipping people. Obviously they can chip dogs and criminals, so it's not a far stretch of the imagination that they would chip humans.

And then they're monitoring their behavior and their behavioral reactions. 24 hours a day, they've got people on targeted individuals where they can use radar to look through the walls of their properties and possibly even thermography to observe their physiological reactions to stimuli. And then they deliberately try to rile you up and harass you and observe how you'll behave and respond to those stimuli.

And then also, you know, they're implanting thoughts in your mind so they can possibly turn you into like a Manchurian candidate, like a false flag operative that they'll set up. And that of course will help to build the police state more and so forth and to fearmonger the population. So obviously that's going on.

And yeah, how do we combat that exactly? And also, they actually have, they've had technology for over 100 years to manipulate the weather to their liking as well. Yeah, I guess that's Tesla technology. Mm-hmm.

Something like that. Yeah, and they've obviously been doing that with forest fires all over the place. I mean, how do you think, I mean, where do you think all these hurricanes have come from the past few decades? Right, exactly.

Especially in my region, it's almost every year. Hurricane Sandy, Hurricane Katrina. Why don't you tell us about your experiences, now that we're on that topic, about Hurricane Katrina and that region, if you might have personal experiences.

Well, that was around Louisiana. Was it Louisiana that was most affected by it? Yes, New Orleans. In New Orleans, exactly.

But yeah, I think they mainly create these so-called travesties that make people go out and just buy a bunch of shit they really don't need. Not only that, the insurance companies are raking in money through the roof. They sabotage the economy and then they can buy up people's property at pennies.

When they default their mortgages or they lose their business or something like that. I think that's what they're doing now. Yes, with the corona.

These small businesses go out of business because, well, they're not getting any customers because they're not going out as much and thus their business fails. Then the Jews can come in and snag up these cheap assets without having to pay for much. Yeah, that's obviously what their one of their protocols is anyway.

Obviously, there's even larger protocols, which is just justifying the existence of the police state in the mind of the average person so that the average person learns to love their slavery. They look upon the police or the state as their saviors and those who control it, the politicians as their pastoral priest kings who will lead them, the sheep, to comfort and safe pastures and so forth. That ties itself in with the biblical narrative as well.

The priest of the orders of Melchizedek, this pastoral shepherd kings who are the ruling elite. It reinforces that subordinate consciousness of the masses and works in conjunction with biblical prophecy that they create to, you know, it's like they're reenacting biblical prophecy. Since you're in the South, you would know a lot about, because you're sort of around the Bible Belt type area, I guess.

Yes. Oh, my gosh. Most definitely.

But you are not a Bible believer? Not fully, per se. It was kind of just forced upon me during my childhood, but I sort of just instinctively knew that this isn't what we should be fully believing in, per se. Yeah, so I guess you have... It doesn't pertain to reality, is what I'm trying to say.

I just sort of instinctively knew it. Yeah, they sort of would... You don't want to tell your family members about it because you'll be afraid that they'll disown you, you know? Well, basically what they do is, you know, like what you're saying about your family is they sort of program you from your early childhood to sort of think that that's how the world is and that's the absolute truth. And if you question it, you know, there's a whole fear and shame narrative that if you question it, you're going to go to hell, you're going to fry in a pot furnace for the rest of eternity.

And that's why at times in my life where I never... Everyone else thinks I'm right type of mentality. I'm the only one who's right. That's the Christian boomer in a nutshell.

They have that narrow-minded sectarianism type of mentality. Yeah. So they're all sort of like Southern Baptist types, I guess.

I went to a Baptist church, actually. So yeah. And I did not like it, let's just say that.

I know that that conspiracy theorist who is affiliated with Alex Jones, Texie Mars, claims to have been a Southern Baptist. I guess he was probably putting that position to try to market to that demographic through fear-mongering them with the, you know, it's the Freemasons and the Illuminati type disinfo shift away from Jews. So that's sort of like the culture of the Southern states.

Is this largely based around the Bible still, or is there a lot of... I think more people are starting to wake up, especially the younger ones, but the older crowds is lost and gone the way I see it. Yeah, it seems like that. Into the, still plugged into the matrix.

Yeah, it definitely seems like that. In terms of biblical prophecy or whatnot. Right.

Yeah. There's a lot of the Israeli flag wavers. That's their main, like, hotbed.

Yeah, exactly. I actually got photos of this one, this one bitch who owns a, what do they call, thrift stores? She's the owner of a thrift store. And I figured this out because I saw the sticker on the bumper sticker on the back of her van at this thrift store.

I found it elsewhere within this town near me. So, yeah, it's one of these Zionist Christians. Yeah, strangely enough, that's sort of a perfect encapsulation of America right there.

You know, like Siege Man says, it's a Freemasonic shopping mall. Yeah. You've got the Zionist flag waver and, you know, obsessed about money and so forth in their thrift store where they're selling Chinese garbage.

Yeah, I actually saw Chinese shit in there too. Like literally statues from like Korea or China. I swear to God, that's a good description.

Postmodern pastiche in a nutshell. Yeah, where I am here, it's very similar in terms of the Zionist nuttiness. For Canada, that's sort of like an anomaly because most people in Canada, so far as I know or have experienced, they don't really seem to be very Zionist oriented.

They're more of a liberal minded. Yeah, pretty much. Canada, in my opinion, is like maybe 75% liberal and then 25% Christian and America would probably be like maybe 50-50.

Yeah, I don't know. Depends where you're located. Yeah, true.

They aren't very different in terms of how they zealously look at things and, you know, how if you are outside of their line of thought, they sort of will give you this passive-aggressive stare or whatever that may be or just sometimes scream at you. If they pretend like, oh, I respect your opinions or your beliefs and then they try to suck you into their own death cult using passive-aggressive sort of speech patterns, they just will sort of stare at you or look at you like you're evil or there's something wrong with you or you're crazy. I get a lot of that, you know, extreme hostility look.

And here I am just walking around, you know, minding my own affairs. Sort of mind my own business. Yeah, but if you criticize their Jewish masters and they'll just go out of their way to rip you to pieces.

That's pathetic. Yeah, pretty much that anyone would worship another biological group and when their own It's cuckoldry the way I see it. Exactly, spiritual cuckoldry and spiritual slavery or pseudo-spiritual because it's not even really spirituality anyway, it's just a lot of emotion for the most part.

They get put into their emotional state of consciousness and then just disengage the rational brain and they're not capable of, you know, rational thought once it comes to their dogma. But yeah, so I guess that's the sort of context you're in right now that the younger generations are shifting away from Christianity. Pretty much.

And in the so-called younger Christians, the one that called, they're only Christian in name, not in character, really. They're just probably doing it just so they don't get completely, you know, disowned or ostracized from society. Yeah, I guess there's a lot of social pressure they have to go along with in order to get money and a job or whatever the case.

I sort of see it as a corpse, like, you know, these people like E. Michael Jones and, you know, Fuentes or whatever, there's sort of like a last gasp of that, you know, just the whole cult, the Christian cult. I think that as time goes on, it's certainly going to die out. Seems like, obviously, the Christians are really big on bringing the non-whites in to fill their empty pews.

That's what really makes me go. Yeah, that's sort of seen now with the poor feral savages. Sorry, go on.

Yeah, that's sort of what made me, makes me, it scratched my head. It's like, why would you want to bring these feral savage niggers that are nothing but a burden upon our society? Yeah, well, for them, that's how they make their money. I know in Canada, they get more money.

It's cheap labor. Yeah, it's like giving a monkey a wrench, basically. They can't get anything done properly.

They're getting what they pay for, essentially. Yeah, it's like, hey monkey, hey monkey, go screw that in over there. Okay, no, no, don't smash that monkey.

You screw it in. You don't smash that. You screw it in.

But that's why all this construction never gets done, because all they do is hire these cheap ass niggers. Yeah, that's what I see around here. They don't do anything.

They just, half the time I'm looking at them, they're just standing around. Yeah, it's the same here when I'm in. Good monkey, you get your $10 an hour.

Good job. In this country, it's predominantly white in this town, and the only construction companies I've ever seen were run with Jewish foremen overlording Arabs, Negroes. Wait, that's a thing? They don't actually work, though.

They're just sort of overseeing their little slaves. They just sit around there and do nothing. It takes forever for them to do the slightest efforts.

And there are companies from the major city here, the nearest major city, which is Calgary, which is like two hours and 45 minutes drive away. So the Jews are more like overseers of their little slaves, pretty much? Pretty much, yeah. That's the sort of template.

Everywhere you go in this country, the only people you see, I don't know if it's the same in America entirely, but the only people you see are Jews in the back room controlling it all. And then in the front, you've got a bunch of non-white minorities and then a couple of white females. And that's pretty much the general pattern that you see.

The only white men working are those who are slightly older. You know, all the white men are working in construction. Those are pretty much the types that can't really retire either.

Yeah, where I'm at, if you go to, I don't know if it's where you're at, but where I'm at, if you go to any fast food restaurant, I never really see any white people working at any of them. It's kind of sad, actually. That's kind of why I don't like going to places like McDonald's or whatever.

Well, their food is garbage. It's not food. It is garbage, but it's still amazing to just go to those places and just not see really any white people working.

You walk into the Walmart, you'll just witness nothing but cultural decadence when you walk into the stores. Those stores somehow just attract the lowest of the low types of people. Exactly.

They're always these fat, homeless, cholo, wigger types. There's a lot of baby boomers in Walmart too. Yeah, there's a lot of race mixers as well.

When you go to those places, yeah, I saw that about a year, I remember a specific instance, this was a year or so ago, where I went over there and there was a blonde with a negro and I just sort of looked at them and I was like, oh, that's weird or whatever. And then I left and I was walking out. In one night, I saw three of those.

What was weird about that was I walked outside and I was walking down the sidewalk and all of a sudden, I didn't know it was them. I don't know if it was them or not. But somebody threw like a bottle at me immediately.

It was really weird. I didn't know if it was them or if it was just some drunk. It's just a result of your microaggression, I guess, by looking at them.

You're not allowed to look at race mixing. They caught wind of your Aryan essence. Yeah, I guess.

They gave you some spirits. It looked like they were drunk, too. I mean, it was whatever.

It's pretty silly. Oh, boomers and alcohol go together quite well. I know that because my father's a drunken no account.

He just lived his life to drink away his parents' money. And he's a total liberal who worships Noam Chomsky and various other of these Jew leftist spin doctors who spend their like Michael Moore, that fat piece of garbage. It's Jabba the Hutt, man.

What's so special about that guy anyway? Michael Moore. He's just an aggressive Jew, basically. Life is terrible.

I mean, like you watch his documentaries, like what was it, Bowling for Columbine? It literally didn't mention Columbine much at all. It was just like a gun control propaganda video, basically. Yeah.

Oh, yeah. I watched that when it came out. And for some reason, I was like, yeah, that's really profound.

That was more than likely probably a false flag of some sort. Well, it's kind of like these shows where they paint, you know, like the Big Bang Theory, for example, where you have a bunch of like so-called smart, like, you know, Jewish people living together. And it's like they're trying to program you to think like, oh, they're really smart or whatever.

Like, go on. I thought those, you know, tithes were fags, personally. Well, yeah, I mean, that's another thing, too, is they try to normalize, you know, faggotry or whatever with these shows.

Yeah, that's exactly. To make it seem like it's all normal when they really just take something that's healthy and good and they twist it in a sort of mocking or ironic way. Yeah, it's typical.

Go on. I believe half of those so-called actresses are trannies. They just do not have these so-called actresses do not look like women.

I mean, a lot of them are not. They don't certainly look or act like women. Well, a lot of them just speak in a very vulgar way that just is not very feminine.

It sort of turns women into men and, you know. Yeah, that's why you have pants. Makes the women wear the pants and then makes the men into passive.

I don't mean to talk over you. I'm just trying to get my point out. Go on.

Sorry, I don't mean to talk over you. Probably just connections that are messed up. Yeah, it could be delay, lag.

But yeah, that's why you have all these women who act all hyper-masculine because their subconsciousness is taking it in as it being normal, really. Yeah, that's the behavioral modeling and predictive programming that the Jew Media does. You know, they put this brassy Jewess on film and she's like, oh yeah, yeah, I'm a feminist.

I'm here to cut your balls off, white man. Not going to let you keep me down. All the other women just go along because they want to be popular.

Exactly. That's the whole nature of the Jew Messiah. Yeah, whatever woman I've seen in real life is like a feminist or whatever, they're most likely probably a lesbian or really ugly or, you know.

They're just very vulgar looking and behaviorally too. Yeah. I guess most women who are more, what would the word be, archetypally feminine in appearance, you know, like they're very good looking women, that they understand that that's their meal ticket right there is their appearance.

So they try not to mess that up too much by going to two great extremes of self-harm. Yeah. So they tend to avoid that, you know, extreme feminist position, at least so far.

But that's what the Jew wants, is to drag them to that position so that they can, you know, obviously destroy them. Especially the party culture, you know, drinking and listening to nigger music every weekend or so. Yeah.

So it's either they get the females to gravitate toward extreme feminism, and it's mainly only the more, you know, ones who have to overcompensate because they don't have the natural beauty, or it's the ones who are natural beauties who get sucked into the race mixing angle. So it's one or the other, typically for females that the Jews are on. When I was in college, I couldn't even tolerate the, just the, how every time I'd go outside, I'd always have to hear that same garbage, fucking, you know.

Low vibrational jungle. Jungle, back to the jungle music, as they call it. I'd have to hear it every time I'd go outside, and it just got so annoying.

And I remember these guys that were on my hall at the time, you know, I would go in this guy's car or whatever, and we'd go somewhere, he'd play the same garbage any, every single time we'd go wherever, and I'd just kind of sit there and try to, you know, uh, pretend like I don't feel like my ears are being raped, basically. Yeah, so obviously that music is designed to just completely lower your subconsciousness to an animal-like state. I was just going to mention that the Jews obviously have deliberately contrived that musical form, if we can call it music, as a means not only of that, of degenerating the consciousness, lowering it, but basically as like a vehicle of primitivization, so that they can reduce you into a wigger from a white person, and then that way it opens your subconscious up, your consciousness, to, you know, being more receptive to the non-white, and that way it enables the non-white to get more power too, and to, you know, take away from the power of whites, because the whites have directed their attention toward non-whites as a standard.

That becomes their culture, they look upon the Negro as the standard. I gravitated toward that when I was a teenager also, the wigger culture, and it basically completely dumbs you down to the lowest level of functional consciousness you could possibly get to, basically. I would say the same thing happened to me, where, I didn't mean to cut you off there, but basically, you know, I was sort of on an upward path before that wigger phase, you know, I was sort of getting to higher seats of consciousness, and then I stumbled onto this, you know, garbage rap music on the internet, or whatever, when I was like 13 or so, and, you know, and then I basically was stuck in that sort of low, dumbed-down frequency for pretty much a few years, and then I luckily was able to pull myself out of it.

At that point, I was just listening to more, like, obscure groups or whatever, and then I sort of weaned myself away from just this simplistic stuff to more things that were more complex. Yeah, thankfully, I've never really circumscribed the whole rap culture, number one, because my dad's side of the family is very racist, and I find that as a very good upbringing for my life. Were they ever in the KKK or in any groups or anything? No, not that I know of.

They're just, like, of a healthy mind for the most part? Yeah, maybe, except for the Christian part. Other than that, they're pretty healthy. Yeah, that's my... Both of my grandparents were farmers, too.

I guess that's also one of the major factors, I guess, if you could call it that, of a healthy mind is to live in the countryside in a more organic, holistic environment, whereas the cities being unnatural and artificial, they condition your mind to be very deviant from living an authentic life according to your own nature, because obviously nobody was ever born in a city as an organism. You're not suited to living in a chaotic environment of that nature. Right, and, you know, what Southerner mentioned about my, you know, with your family or whatever, it's sort of like my family, they're either liberals or they're Christians, basically.

It's like you're either one or the other, and I'm not either, so I'm sort of like the black sheep of my family, in a way. Go on. But yeah, that's probably the only downside of my dad's side of the family.

But other than that, they were, you know, they're very naturally skilled in hunting, farming, you know, just being self-sustainable in that sense. Of course, my grandfather was drafted in the Second World War, probably done so on purpose because for being a white, self-sustainable farmer. Yeah, the Jews really look down on people like that for whatever reason.

Well, I think the reason is, as others have speculated, is because the independent farmer, I think that's even in Mein Kampf, it said the independent farmer is the basis of society. They are, if you think about it, because if you don't have the farmer, where are you going to get your food? Well, that's sort of what Stalin did, where he made all the farms, you know, publicly owned or whatever. And that basically took that, you know, idea of private property away.

And that's kind of what they want, is they have a communistic mind. So they want to basically own everything and have everything for you know, like you have something that I don't have. And then they have that envious, you know, attitude towards those that have something that they don't.

They don't want independence because they know that that's the greatest threat to their powers. People who live in the country are typically of a more strong and healthy nature and don't get so easily sucked into deviant, twisted ways of life like intellectuals who live in the city. And so that's why they want to strike against the middle, against the... A lot of city types don't have a lot of life experience, such as us.

Yeah, that's why, that's why they're so easily manipulated. They're easily manipulated because in their mind, you know, reality is just this Freemasonic shopping mall. It's a theater of the real.

You know, it's whatever, whatever the control... Whatever makes you feel good. Yeah, whatever... Whatever, if you don't like reality, change the channel. If you don't like to, you know, see what's going on around here, then you can move over there.

You know, you go to the downtown and drink your liquor. And then when you're done, you can go hide out in your suburb or something like that, or whatever, in your bohemian district, you know, across the river or something away from where all the bad people live. That's sort of the way most city dwellers think, you know, that they're, they typically, at least from the middle class, they're always hiding away in their suburbs, usually.

And they only go into like the downtown areas when they work or when they're going to like an entertainment venue. Yeah, the bourgeois types. Yeah, and then when their offices are shut down, then they're all basically commuting back to suburbia and the whole downtown... They move away from their non-white brethren.

Yeah, hypocrisy, basically. Yeah, they're the biggest hypocrites. Yeah, the champagne socialist types.

That's why you always want to get rid of the people in the rural areas. And where I'm contemplating going, the politicians there, they're trying to, you know, just like they are everywhere, to create these smart cities and force the people off the land through countless regulations and, you know, even insidious criminal activities, like dumping poison on their farmlands and slaughtering their cattle. You know, they could be doing that with the chemtrails.

Yeah, that's exactly what they're doing. If you look up the case of this guy named this farmer named Werner Bock, B-O-C-K, his farm was basically totally sabotaged by all these gang stalkers who are all like the hired goons of Freemasons. They have a bunch of Chinese pilots flying over the land, dumping poisons on it.

And then they go there and they use like directed energy weapons to kill the cattle and so forth. Yeah, that's pretty disgusting. Yeah, so basically that's what they do.

Or they'll just even assassinate the farmers, too, because I heard that there are some other people who had just... Kind of like what happened, what's going on in South Africa, how they use the Negroes to kill off the white farmers. Yeah, and I think that's what they're going to do, if not what they're already doing. I've heard some incidents in Canada about how they use the Redskins, you know, raiding the farms and so forth, and just going up to people's isolated properties and so on.

That's pretty much the standard operating procedure of the Jew, is to use these non-whites as like a bio-weapon to destroy white people. On the one hand, through Christianity and liberalism, oh, open up your hearts, be loving, peace, compassion. And then what that does, once they're in there, then they can be used to create low-scale crime and violence on a continual basis, rape, drug dealing, murdering.

And then, of course, draining the system through the welfare, building up their numbers and ranks. And then from there, I'm sure the Jews already have them all in place with their gangs. And most of those gangs are probably created by Jews in the first place, Crips and Bloods and Gangster Disciples and MS-13 and whatever else.

And then from there, they'll just give them a signal to go and kill once they get a critical mass. You're braining your mind to have a suicidal mindset, to basically just sort of let your emotions take the wheel and let your enemies walk all over you and, you know, love your enemies, you know, turn the other cheek. Yeah, I think that's sort of a very self-defeatist mindset.

You know, it's not healthy for anyone to think like that. It's suicidal, basically. It's suicidal.

Yeah, that's why Klassen— That's the easiest way for them to pretty much wipe us out. Klassen had a good reputation in Christianity with his creed, the White Man's Bible. That's definitely a better Bible than the King James Bible or whatever.

Right, yeah. I heard King James was actually a homosexual as well, as probably— You know, there is actually a quote in the Bible, if I can remember, there's something about, like, dressing up boys in gay clothing. Quote! This is a quote.

I think I found out about this quote from one of Drew Bergstein's videos. You'll have to look up on his channel. It's pretty interesting.

And I looked at—I didn't believe it at first, so I grabbed— I actually do have a copy of the Bible for, like, reference purposes. So I go over and grab the book, open it up to the exact verse, and yeah, it's pretty much along the lines of that. Well, there was one where — It's pretty much just nothing.

Yeah. Yeah, the whole Bible is basically just a tangled skein of various perversions and sneakiness, and then a lot of crazy messianic prophecies and worshipping, you know, these magic man in the sky, and the magic man's going to kill this, and he says, destroy that. But when you actually read it for yourself, can I interject? Oh, they stage, you know, like generational warfare, like Luke 14 26.

If anyone comes to me and does not hate father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, yes, even their own life, such a person cannot be my disciple. So basically, it's pushing you to hate yourself and hate your family and basically just self-destruction. Go on.

Anyhow, I was going to say that once you actually read the Bible for yourself, you begin to realize that it's a very contradictory book. Yeah, not just between the Old and the New Testaments, but throughout— No, it's all around. It's very inconsistent.

It's just very inconsistent, and that's because a lot of these own stories and whatnot, quotes or whatnot are stolen from other cultures, really. Yeah, there's a really good book. I think it's about 40 pages called The Great Jewish Mask.

I guess you're familiar with that book. Um, I think I've heard of it. Yeah, it was done in audiobook format by Jan Lamprecht, some South African author.

He basically just proved that the Bible was basically just thieved from Babylon and Greece and various other areas of the ancient world, that all these stories just derived from there, basically verbatim in some cases. They just changed a couple words here and there and, you know, so forth. Changed names.

Yeah, there's also— You know. Go on. It's just doing the thing.

I'm going to add, let's delay. You know the story about Abraham sacrificing his son Isaac to God? Well, about Abraham, it doesn't make sense about that, is that there's a story in that about Abraham and Sarah having a child at the age of 90. I mean, that doesn't sound very realistic.

And then another one would be, like, Methuselah living to 900 years old. I mean, you know, things of that sort just, you know, it could just be because I look at things from a, you know, whether or not it's realistic and could happen. It just sounds like a bunch of fiction, really.

And I think that, you know, there really isn't any proof. You can even go back to that time period. There isn't really any proof that any of this stuff really happened.

Like, they're sort of like when the Roman emperors were alive, there were actually documents from that time period, you know, like Levy and, you know, Tacitus or what have you, you know, actual documents that these Roman emperors existed. Meanwhile, when Jesus Christ existed, there were no statues, there were no written proof of really any of that. That's because God said not to make graven images.

Don't you know, that's the only reason that Jesus existed? Of course, there's a website, jesusneverexisted.com. That's a good reputation right there. But maybe we should just focus more on the non-whites now, because we understand, obviously, that Christianity is pretty much like a baleful influence on the consciousness of whites. And that's one of the major reasons why non-whites were allowed into the countries of white people, and why whites didn't even, didn't just go around killing them all and taking over totally.

Like with the Monroe Doctrine in the States, I'm pretty sure that's got something to do with like the Freemasonic deists who created America, probably under the control of the Jews. Yeah, they wanted to hamstring white people from taking over the whole of the Americas, because that way they could contain them within America. And, you know, more easily put them to use in creating what they would call the New Jerusalem.

Yeah, I personally believe that the Freemasons were always controlled by the Jews from their very inception, because they borrowed a lot of their symbolism from the Knights Templar and the Rosicrucians. And those societies were also controlled by the you-know-who. Yeah, I'm not sure exactly.

It's probably the case, because, you know, most of them, they're following the same sort of path, which is a pantheistic naturalism slash mother goddess worship slash becoming a god, you know, the sort of theurgical, whatever you want to call that, being a member, a priest of the Order of Melchizedek, or a sort of bail priest type figure, where they're the consort of the mother goddess. And that's the whole gimmick with them, is using all sorts of like sodomic rituals and so forth in order to transmute their consciousness. So it's all pretty much a parallel throughout history.

That's a golden cord, I guess you could call it. It's more like a red cord for the most part. And they're either involved in themselves in all sorts of demonic practices related to human sacrifice, which Jews have always been involved in.

Oh, it's been documented for centuries. Oh yeah, there's quite a few books on that. Helmut Schramm, Jewish ritual murder, Arnold Lise, My Reflections on Jewish Ritual Murder in Jail.

Where do you think the depiction of vampires came from? Well, exactly, yeah. The Jews, they made all that stuff up themselves too, a lot of these novels and movies, because that's the way they have of revealing themselves to other people for saying, here we are, you know, where we're hiding in sight. We're letting you know what we're doing to you before we do it.

Basically predictive programming. Yeah, therefore it's your fault, because we told you what we were doing to you, so you didn't understand it exactly and didn't do anything about it. Now we're exempt from our karma, apparently.

According to 9-11 too, you know, before the incident even occurred, they put tons and tons of references of it going to happen in the past, just in like magazines, TV shows and whatnot. Just very subtle, subtle imagery. Yeah, and even not so subtle.

Even not so subtle, yeah. There's an album where he's standing on, he's wearing red clothes and red shoes, and he's dancing on a checkerboard and there's towers in the background. There's this one painting of the Cookie Monster from Sesame Street destroying the Twin Towers.

Stepping through New York. He's like really huge and it's kind of discover, so yeah. Yeah, everything with them, all their pop culture is basically just predictive programming.

That's why it becomes questionable whether anyone should even waste their time reading or watching anything, because it's all sort of garbled up and, you know, confused by them. I'd say definitely stay away from watching TV and Hollywood movies. Yeah, I stopped watching movies in like early 2000s.

It's just, I could just... I did around the late 2000s, which I was still pretty young at the time, surprisingly. Well, how old are you right now? Or do you want to review it? I'm 26 right now. So you're like a decade younger than me.

So for that reason, obviously, yeah, that's the same thing as the, more or less the same time as I got rid of it in my life, like around the age of 17. I sort of just felt like I was being spoon fed and didn't pertain to reality. It was just all scripted and contrived.

Well, I guess we could continue to move on to the non-white, try to focus on that. Yeah. So it all sort of ties in together in terms of experiences.

This is the one of the major, if not the major weapon that the Jews are using is to use the non-whites against us by vilifying us and portraying us as villains who have harmed the non-white in some way and instilling in the consciousness of the non-white, that they've got some entitlement, that they have an entitlement to attack us or to pay us back. So I guess we can start, since Southerner hasn't spoken over much, we can continue then to reveal more of your personal experiences and then we'll try to pass it around here to shed some insight onto their psycho-biology and what can be done about them, if anything. So, yeah.

So when it comes to the Negro, working with these beastmen, savages, it's just burdensome at the end of the day. I mean, there's just nothing these people can really do to act. They don't actually work.

That's the thing. It's like they're getting paid to just be there because of affirmative action laws that are used to hinder us. You know? Yeah, what's funny about that is they would complain.

It's slave labor. Yeah, and they would complain. You have to work three times a week.

Sorry, go on. You have to work three times as hard just to get things done so you can actually get a break for yourself. But no, these niggers, they just like to come and maybe do a little bit of work for five or ten minutes and then they just wander off for hours upon hours.

But no one does anything about it, nor no one complains. No one is against this. Yeah, I was just going to say that they also— They're clearly plates and pieces of shit.

They also complain about not being paid enough. Yeah, I'm sorry. Go ahead.

I was just saying, I was just throwing this in there, they also would complain about not being paid enough despite working so full. Dude, this negro, he's like, oh, I don't make enough money. Yeah, he actually has more hours than I do, but he doesn't work as much as I do.

So he's actually probably making more than I am. And that's the whole error, I guess you could say, about calculating wages based on simply man hours instead of actual productivity. Exactly.

Because that's how it should be measured. If you don't produce anything, just sitting around in some lazy office job or wherever in any job, obviously you're not doing anything at all, so you can't call it work, so you shouldn't be rewarded or remunerated for not doing anything. Exactly, budget needless micro-management, jobs like that.

I think that's basically the nature of the non-white, because they're organically developed in warmer areas, typically, that in those areas, they don't really have to do any work, whether we want to look upon them as having evolved or whatever, developed somehow through whatever process, not necessarily Darwinian evolution, but they are who they are, and they've lived in those conditions for a very long time, in warm conditions where they could just reach up on the vine and snatch off a banana or go and throw a rock at some animal and rip out its flesh when they get hungry, or have a butcher shop, like that book, The Negroes in Negro Land by Hilton and Hotema. They could have a butcher shop of their own people there, where they have whole thighs and body parts hanging on down, and so on. Yeah, they're basically built to live in very extreme situations, well, yeah, well, they're built to live in, yeah, in climate- Extreme environments.

Yeah, in climatic conditions where things are comparatively easy, where there's a super abundance of fauna that they can feast on, fish and animals and whatever, monkeys and so forth in the jungle, not necessarily in Africa, but everywhere in South America and wherever, and so for that reason, they've had an easy life, or we could speak of it from a more esoteric standpoint, that what most of them are is a result of devolution or involution, which is where the whites interbred with them, or the whites were killed, or maybe they voluntarily interbred with them, and then that led to a sort of degradation of their soul, where they don't have any spirit, they don't have any will, any motivating principle that motivates them to achieve something beyond the immediate moment, so they're sort of trapped in this state of imminent consciousness, where whatever they see is all reality is, there's no imagination, there's no future, no past, it's just whatever exists. Yeah, you tend to realize that they really do not think about consequences or the future very much, which is probably why they end up getting themselves in trouble quite a bit. Yeah, they're emotionally reactive because they don't have a development.

And when they get caught doing these things, they just act like they're innocent, they actually believe that they've done nothing wrong. Exactly, didn't do nothing. And that's, of course, because they are basically what is called an empiric, in Elizabethan jargon, basically some being who is just like an animal, basically, that just reacts to stimuli and acts according to weather conditions or momentary stimuli, impulse.

They don't have any impulse control, they don't have any will, higher consciousness. They're very self-centered as well. Yeah, so to the extent that they don't even really care about their own people at all, except as a means to profit themselves.

So they're always like, yeah, yeah, black lives matter because it's like a state breach or something. But the reality is, obviously, it only matters because it refers to themselves as an individual ego, but they don't really care about their own people. And that's depicted in the Turner Diaries where when they're being kicked out of Los Angeles, they just sort of like have their old Negroes smashing their heads on the ground and they're just laughing at them and so forth.

I don't know, have either of you experienced anything like that, like witnessing their lack of regard for themselves? Well, a lot of times when fights would break out when I was in school, it was pretty predictable about who generally were fighting each other. Yeah. That's basically in their nature.

Or their emotional outbursts, just over stupid things, you know? Yeah. There's a bit, it's just very emotional. You'll probably notice them just start smashing, just banging on things randomly.

Yeah. I saw this one incident of a couple of red-skinned females who were just screaming and shouting at each other like banshees and like scratching each other. And then they fell on the ground and one of them was smashing the other one's head against the concrete.

And then when they parted, like animals sort of scattering, then the one who had her head smashed against the concrete just sort of like popped up and then she's like, fuck you, eh? And then they just went away. Like there was nothing, you know, just like par for the course, basically. Because that's their culture.

In this country, I've heard that the red-skinned males, they basically fight each other to the death for females on their reserves. So they're basically like selected for violence and aggression. And they just like dispose of the corpse of the one that loses the war.

Yeah. They're pretty brain dead. Yeah, there's all sorts of incidents that happened to me here with the redskins.

Like my uncle- I've heard of the Pollocks too. What's that? So they're major alcoholics too. Yeah, a lot of people call them chugs here because they're always chugging liquor.

In my hometown, there's this brand of alcohol that they would always buy called Cold Duck. And it's this, you know, really cheap wine or something like that. And they would just like throw the bottles all over the ground in my hometown.

And I would go around with a baseball bat smashing the bottles. Just out of amusement. Yeah, my uncle, he had his fly and fishing cap burnt to the ground by a redskin before.

Oh, that sucks. Yeah, but he just set it up again. Another one.

It's pretty funny where I'm from is the most famous so-called native artist in Canada. He's from there. And my father's... What's that? So what did you say? The most famous native artist in Canada.

You know, they're famous for their paintings, right? In this country. Or at least they were. I don't know if they still are.

But that's what the Jews always do. They portray the non-white as a sort of superstar of whatever. You know, if they manage to make some shitty little painting or something like that.

Yeah, we'll pay you bronze. Pretty much. If you look up this guy named Norval Morisseau, he's one of the most famous redskin painters in Canada.

And my father's aunt saved his life when he was in a drunken state. He was like freezing to death. And then she brought him in so he wouldn't freeze to death.

And my dad had like an art gallery and he would sell redskin paintings. He would just give them like bottles of liquor for their paintings. Weren't you mentioning that your dad was selling like a bunch of that kind of garbage literature like Charles Bukowski and stuff like that? Yeah, well, my dad reads that.

He reads like Che Guevara and stuff like that literature. He's even got books. He's even got books.

Or like commie literature. Yeah, pretty much. Or like communist literature.

It is. He is basically a communist, but he's another typical champagne socialist scum who like drank over a million dollars of his parents' money and so forth. But, you know, that's the hypocrisy of liberals of that kind is that, you know, they're pretending that they're all about they have such regard for the innocent nonwhite.

And yet they're, you know, buying up their paintings for like bottles of liquor. And then he lets the Redskins go into his washroom in his store and they just smear shit all over the walls of his washroom. Yeah, that's like when I was in middle school, where I basically, you know, there weren't very many white kids there really at all.

And I had some classes where I was the only white kid in the room. And basically, whenever I go to the bathroom, people would be like they would be smoking or they'd be rubbing shit on the walls. It was really just horrible.

So that's a lot of mestizos, right where around you are? Yeah, yeah. Yeah, I never really care for those types either. You have an idea of where I'm at.

Yeah. Saying too much. It's like, you know, you're I'm basically on the other side of the, you know, country.

The Freemasonic shopping mall. Yeah, you're in the barrio buying all the maracas or whatever the tortillas and so forth. And he's in the other area there.

Yeah, you're more in the jungle. Yeah. Welcome to the jungle.

Mm hmm. So is there a lot of gang activity where you guys are? Well, basically, I went to school with a lot of types who would kind of pretend like they were bloods or whatever. A lot of like cholo types.

And basically, this one guy, you know, there were a few people where they were expelled because they had a knife or whatever at school. And I would always be called by these people, a school shooter, because I was like the introverted white kid. And I didn't really talk much.

And so cholo kids would always say, like, oh, school shooter, school shooter. And I would basically say, you know, shut the fuck up. And then they would like, you know, look back at me like they were surprised because, you know, they're so used to pushing the white guy around.

Yeah, they're not used to seeing white people stand up for themselves. I know Joubergstein had a video where it showed some Negro mouthing off to a white guy and then a white guy just knocked him out. Probably deserved it.

So there's no gangs around where you guys are? There probably are near this within like the southern part of the city near my area. It wouldn't surprise me because there's a lot of crime in the area. And surprise, surprise, there's a bunch of niggers, pretty much nothing but niggers around there.

And I've had to drive there a few times. And the thing about entering a Negro ridden city is that you can just sense that it just feels lifeless. You can even sense that the color is just sapped out.

You can sense the sort of low vibrational frequency. Exactly. When you compare it, for example, if you're driving through like an affluent suburb or, you know, whatever, a regular middle-class white suburb and the vibrations pick up and then you go down into the downtown and then you sense this sort of like, you know, sort of anchorage.

Yeah. You sense this sort of like a violent aggression, like you're attacked almost. And then if you go off into the countryside where there's less than most people, then the vibrations, you know, it literally feels like you're opening up.

Yeah. Because they're probably thought forms that are generated by these beings, that, you know, the denizens of whatever environment. And that, you know, that is either harmonious or inharmonious thought form.

Which doesn't mean, you know, sugar-coated Christian lions lying down with lambs. It means, you know, things work together harmoniously. You know, like a lion eats a lamb, a lamb flees from a lion.

And they, you know, they all have a sort of agreement, implied agreement. That's what the country offers. But when you go into the city, which is an artificial environment, then you have the, you know, sort of chaotic thought forms that bombard your consciousness.

That are manifested into reality. Yeah. And you can see that too in the case of jails.

That's why they usually have jails and prisons built far away from people. Either that, or they'll build it right around where there's like a river so that it can carry away all the negative energy. Because the flow of the river will, you know, dissipate that.

So that's one of the reasons why any multi-cultist society will never work. Because there's different vibrational frequencies. Yeah, they just sort of clash against each other.

Yeah. And once you're, when you're in an environment and even babies and children can understand, especially white babies who have a higher consciousness, they can pick up that, whatever you want to call it, that discord of, you know, discordant vibrations. And so you see that with little Jew children too.

Like I walk around and I'll have these little Jew children just sort of like come at me. Like they're trying to attack me. Like they'll walk towards you sort of like aggressively.

Well, that reminds me of when I was in the fourth grade. Are they'll sort of hawk over you? What's that? I said, or the Jew children will just hawk over you. Like they want to just control every aspect of your life.

Usually kind of very controlling. Like I, when I was in fourth grade, I had this, there was this angry Jewish kid and there was this scrawny, like kind of, kind of German kid that he would always like harass regularly and yell at him and punch him. And, you know, the kid was certainly, you know, the German kid, he was certainly very sensitive and very like, he was a bit of an odd guy, but he was very sensitive.

And like, he would take that stuff personally. And basically one day this, you know, this angry Jewish kid kept punching him. One day when there was this trip, this camping trip, and there were a bunch of kids stuck in the tree or whatever, and he was punching him on the tree.

And then basically he ended up being expelled because he kept harassing and yelling and berating this kid the whole time. Yeah, that's sort of their nature. When they're younger, they're not as subtle because they haven't developed, you know, sufficient subtlety, but their true personality comes out.

That's why if you look at younger people in general, you can see the inner nature of them come out more explicitly, I guess you could say, because it's not bound up with all sorts of varied experiences. It's more like a raw state of being. Right.

Yeah, it was a show that Jews and whites are cosmic enemies. Pretty much. I definitely think that the conception of Bill White, that basically Jews derived from some type of reptilian aliens or something.

Oh, it wouldn't surprise me because if you look at these people, you can just tell that they're just, they just act very robotic, you know? Yeah, that's what Serena would call them. You can just tell they're demented by looking at their eyes. So I guess you're in the South.

What is going on there now that you see and that you anticipate to occur? We'll see in this town that I currently live in, I just noticed, ever since four years ago, I noticed this explosion of foreigners of all kinds, Negroes, Filipinos, Mestizos to a certain extent, and maybe Jews somewhat. It's just out of nowhere. Six years ago, it was practically a white ethnostate, but now it's not so much.

Still majority white, but you can definitely tell that these non-whites are being flooded from the city. They're pretty much, yeah, they're just coming out of the city and flooding this area. So that's probably a deliberate plan on the part of Jews to brown out the area.

I definitely feel like that's the case. Yeah, I was liking it too, sort of metaphorically, like they're spreading shit on a piece of white bread. They want to spread it as thin as possible or as thickly as possible all over every corner of the white bread so that you can't even have a single white town in the middle of nowhere that you can escape to, to get away from them.

So yeah, I definitely recommend the people out there to get as far away from the city as possible. I'm talking about like at least an hour to an hour and a half away from a major city. Yeah, because usually they set up or there already exists, you know, bedroom communities and places that are like towns of maybe 10,000 outside of cities, usually, you know, from whatever, zero to, or, you know, like maybe a couple thousand to 10,000 or so within the first, like 40 minutes, 45 minute radius.

Usually, at least that's the way it is in this country in Canada. They usually have it all designed around, like, you know, they're big major cities. And then, you know, around that, there's like affluent suburbs half an hour out or, you know, half an hour out of the downtown core.

And then half an hour outside of that, they'll have a smaller town that is still for more like affluent people. So there's within commuting distance. So basically what you want, if you can manage it, is to get away from the commuting zone because the non-whites are going to be typically within that radius because the only thing they do for work, if they're work at all, they'll just hang around in welfare, is basically working in the city in a service job or factory or whatever for the Jews or some government job.

In this country, most of the government workers are Jews. And then under them, you got the white race traders. And then under them, you've got the token minorities.

So I guess the safest bet to avoid the chaos is obviously get your own farmland somewhere and then have a bunch of people on it. But even then, you still make yourself out to be a sort of a target though. That's true.

Like Ruby Ridge in Waco. Yeah. So that's why you don't want to, you don't want to live in the city, but at the same time, you don't want to live.

Yeah, the real estate agencies are going to know who's moving where almost instantaneously. Yeah, and all the realtors are either Jews or Freemasons probably. Most of them are probably.

Most of them. It wouldn't surprise me. Yeah, that's been my experience when I came here to this place as I wrote about that autobiography of mine that I just did.

The guy who is showing the real estate, it wasn't advertised this one place, this one residence. And then we called them up, I got a sensation somehow, almost like maybe they were using synthetic telepathy to implant this thought maybe that, oh, we should call the real estate agent again. Maybe there's another property.

And lo and behold, there was. And that property was like just within our budget. Cheap, the cheapest, one of the cheapest ones in the whole of the town.

And the real estate agent, he was like this privileged piece of shit, liberal who, you know, whose family was wealthy and so forth. And he just had this sort of psychopathic little attitude, you know, like, you know, I'm better than everybody else. It's holier than thou type of attitude.

And at the same time, sort of robotic nature, pretty corrupt. So I'm sensing that he was probably a Freemason or something, just given the way he behaved. There's a lot of people around here that are like that.

And I guess. Speaking of Freemasons, I've been noticing a lot of them lately. You know how they'll have the G symbol on their license plates? That's how I figured them out.

Freemasons. So they're moving into your area. I've just I don't know about them moving in there.

Maybe they're recruiting more. You know what could be happening to you? What could be happening is that you're being gang stalked because that's what's happening to me here. Maybe that's just sort of within this area.

I just noticed that I don't notice them following me per se, but because you could never be sure. Yeah, that's interesting. About that is when I was at the local Union Cemetery a few weeks ago, it was wandering around and the vast majority of the graves there were Freemasons.

So I think that the area I'm in probably has a good amount of that influence and they're just very covert about it. Yeah, my dad's a good friend. I actually became one not too long ago.

I think he's more of a low level Mason, so he doesn't know what it's really about. Yeah, I guess in the Blue Lodge they don't really reveal too much to them, apparently, but at the same time I climb up and yeah, they know what's going on. Yeah, so what I was going to say about, you know, the Freemasons, how they're how you're seeing more license plates is that maybe what they're doing is just revealing themselves to you.

So that they can say we know who you are. We know where you are. Here we are and and from there it escalates because that's what gang stalking is all about.

You know, they'll monitor your every move and they'll try to sabotage you in every way they possibly can. Get you fired, set you up, and then, you know, if you know about gang stalking. Now that you mentioned gang stalking, I have noticed these people in white van and maybe a white van and a car would just go around those spy around.

They will just creep around the neighborhood. Like I was because I live in a gate. Well, not in a gated community per se, but my property is gated and well secured.

I just saw this this woman. I don't know if it's a woman or dude per se, but the windows on the vehicle were most definitely tinted, which is pretty dubious. Yeah, that's what I'm just sort of.

They were just sort of creeping up around the interest of my property, but oh, you can come on ahead. As soon as I came right, drove right beside him, they just kind of came up and came to this halt, you know? Yeah, well, that's to me. That would suggest that you're probably being subjected to that because that's the main technique of the Jew to try to sabotage white people is, you know, monitor them all.

And then at a certain point, they're going to try to probably kill us off through assassination through their Mossad and so forth. Or they could be playing. They could be playing some sort of false flag attack.

Yeah, well, what they can do and do do is to set people up as a Patsy for false flags where they subject them to harassment, mind control, and then they harass you to an extent where it basically drives you crazy. And then you try to get revenge or try to attack the people who are harassing you. And then they just, you know, they've got all sorts of black ops operatives around who will basically do away with you.

You know, police on the periphery and so forth. There is actually a police officer that was in my neighborhood too. Now that I remember.

And he did pull me over for speeding, which I was speeding. I was like 10 or 15 miles above the speed limit by accident. Well, the police, in my experience, are basically, if not wholly, then at least in part involved.

Oh, they're most definitely controlled. Yep. It's like, you know, the boys in blue serve the Jew, you know? Yeah.

Well, even now, as we speak. Pretty much proxy warriors for the Jew. Even now, as we speak, I'm looking out of the window and I'm seeing the gang stalker across the street deliberately shoveling his snow right at the very moment that I mentioned that, you know, this issue.

So and what happened yesterday when I was attempting to communicate with our fellow on the show here, I got kicked out. Yeah, basically right as we started recording it, he was signed out. Yeah, I said I'm going to record now and then they signed me out of Skype.

Right there. And that's happened multiple times. So the thing is they're monitoring electronic communications and everything else.

There's actually a cell tower literally blocks away from my area, too. So they could. They could be monitoring people that way.

Close proximity. And what they do, even though it sounds, you know, very exaggerated, they actually set up those cell towers around people who are targets. I mean, really, they even set up construction sites around where they live, too, because that way they create noise pollution in their area to deliberately harass them.

That's one of the major techniques they use to perpetually harass you is deliberately have a bunch of fake construction sites, you know, do it yourself. Yeah, there is a lot of construction not too far from the road. It's not really on the road leading to my neighborhood, but it's, you know, within that area as you go further, further down, you'll see all this construction and nothing ever gets done as usual.

So long as you can hear it right. Can you hear the construction where you are? No, but as far as noises come, I do sometimes hear this guy just blaring this loud music, music outside. It's usually around like 10 or 11, at 11 o'clock.

At night? Yeah, at nighttime. Yeah, that's probably something they're doing, too, because right what they do with me here, they'll have the Jews next door deliberately banging on the walls to interrupt my sleep, you know, just after they think I've gone to sleep, maybe half an hour or so, they'll start knocking against the wall or they'll have a bunch of pieces of shit come around at night and start making noise deliberately to try to wake you up. That's another one of their techniques.

But they've got all sorts of very detailed procedures for this. What I'll do, I'll- Should be illegal what they're doing. Well, the whole state is basically a terrorist organization at this point.

It's basically not even a legitimate government. In any- Especially in Canada. Yeah, well, basically, yeah, here is very socialistic.

I'll link- Yeah, it's more communistic. I'll link a channel for people on this podcast, so it'll be down in the show notes, to a gang stalking channel that goes through copious details of what they're doing and how they're doing it. That's very, very important.

Well, we do know that there is a certain gang stalking channel you wouldn't want to link because he's probably inoperative and shut your channel down. Probably, well, he's a Christian too, apparently, so that explains it. Even if he were being targeted, being a Christian is enough because they're hooked into the thought forms that the Jews created.

Being a Christian is enough to be a backstabber. Basically, they'll do whatever it takes to you know, set you up. Yeah, because it gets you in the spirit of the, you know, the Jews.

Makes you spiritually one of them, basically. Pretty much. Yeah, speaking about Negroes though, I've been, you see, my grandfather from my mother's side of the family, he's not really my biological grandfather, but he's a good man, so I very much respect him.

You see my biological grandfather from my mother's side of the family, apparently he's an alcoholic piece of shit and I never met him in real life. So, but either way, that's not the point. Anyhow, he was having trouble getting his phone charger to work because apparently the port screwed up and we have, we do service with Sprint, right? You know how they recently had the merge with T-Mobile? Yeah, they had the merge with T-Mobile not too long ago.

Yeah, I did hear something about that. Yeah, well anyway. All my papa was trying to do was, he was trying to, we're trying to send it in for repair.

We didn't know how to, so what would the most logical choice be? Go up to the store maybe and see if they can, if there's a technician that can help them. Well, of course the Sprint's only Sprint store left, of course, which is, which is north of the city, that was closed, that was closed down temporarily because they were rebuilding the store to be more like a T-Mobile one. Well, anyhow, we, well, me and my nanny were actually trying to get this sorted out.

So we drove all the way to the, to the town about 20 or 30 minutes away from there to T-Mobile. Of course, they're all, these stores are, pretty much have Negroes doing all the operations, right? There's, none of these stores have any technicians that actually help us. So we, so we decided to say screw it, we're just going to go online and see how to sort this issue out.

So, so we called the number, we finally got a little bit of insight because these niggers are dumb. They don't know shit about technology, per se. Yeah, I've had a couple of other neck with that.

So let's continue. So my poppy, he was, the next day he was getting a little bit impatient. I told him to wait so I could transfer his pictures and stuff over to the computer because I know how to do that personally.

But he got a little bit impatient. So I went to the store with a Negro running it, surprise, surprise. And guess what happens? He, he pretty much restores the phone's factory settings to a blank state with, and he didn't even, he basically lied to my poppy's face saying, oh, your pictures are backed up, oh, blah, blah, blah, because that's what you're supposed to do when you send your phone to get repaired.

You know, but he never warned my poppy that you're going to lose your pictures if they're not backed up already. So he pretty much lied straight to his face, straight to his face. And he told me to come and look at it and make sure everything was right to have it sent off to get it repaired.

It's interesting. I checked it, it just had enough battery so where I could check the settings and lo and behold, all of his stuff was gone all because of this dumb nigger didn't know he was either stupid or lazy or he was, he deliberately did it. It could also be, yeah, like you said, malevolence on the part of the non-white right there.

Yeah, probably did to him just because he's white, you know? Yeah, and the thing is too, they're so capable or competent in terms of lying that truth does not mean anything to them. It's just words are just an instrument that they use to get stuff for themselves. Words are basically just like a tool, you know, just like a stick that they get termites out of a mound with.

Uh-huh. Pretty much all words are. Yeah, I've been having to deal with these fucking Jewish phone companies for the past couple weeks.

It's pretty irritating, to say the least. Well, a good way to look at it, I think, is words don't really mean anything but actions do. And I think a lot of them just think that they could win an argument by Like I said, if he had just waited for me to arrive to his house, I could have easily backed up his pictures that he collected for a year.

And this is why I tell people to always make physical backups. Do not trust these cloud storage. Yeah, well, the thing is, I've had plenty of those shut down myself.

Omega.NZ and Mediafire. I've had whole accounts shut down. You know, they say, oh, yeah, it's been six months.

You got to sign back in. Otherwise, you're going to get rid of all your stuff. And then you have to remember.

Yeah, that's why I advise people, you know, only solid state drives and USBs and keep them in a metal storage container. Because hard drives are prone to, you know, going down too. So SSDs and flash drives might be the best alternative.

Yeah, I've looked into that myself in terms of what is the best storage option. You know, there's microfiche, which is still magnetic tape. There's, you know, whatever sort of other magnetic tape or something, cassette tapes, you know, archival disks, archival grade disks made of, like, you know, very solid material.

You can get some of those, but then you have to have a disk drive to play it on. So it all ultimately just depends on having a computer or electrical power in the end. That's the thing.

If I was working at that phone store, I could have easily, easily backed that stuff up because I know how to do it because I'm pretty tech savvy to a certain extent. So in terms of storage, the only thing you could have with any degree of permanence is physical printed out papers or, you know, printed out images and stuff like that. And then you can laminate them.

You can, you know, keep them in very environmentally stable conditions where there's not going to be any moisture or whatever, you know, museum type conditions. But that's what I would advise people to do if you have the money. And if you're living in an area that can accommodate that, you know, buy huge amounts of books and materials and then just keep it in like a bunker type environment.

So nobody will know about it. Like in a sea can or something. Yeah.

Shipping container. You never know what will happen in the future. You know, they could always shut down the internet.

You never know. It could just just just cease to exist in the near future. Yeah.

And they could claim it's like an EMP strike by China or Russia or something like that. Yeah. When obviously it'd just be Jews and the Israelis or whatever.

I guess they're all the same thing. Speaking of Israelis, you know, you know, the CPU chip manufacturer Intel. Yeah.

Their manufacturing sites are now have moved to Israel like eight years ago or nine years ago. Right. So they've got back doors to all your computers.

They can basically monitor and hack into your. Oh, absolutely. They've actually had back doors since Windows 95 to be intact.

Probably. You know, Microsoft is obviously owned by Jews. Bill Gates was a Jew, most definitely.

Well, he still exists, unfortunately. Now he's trying to push vaccines upon the masses. Yeah.

That's why I think the Bill Gates Foundation I think it was created to get us into probably in the following year. I think that there's probably going to be some kind of war against China or something. Something happened like that.

And then they bring in Russia versus America. Yeah, and I think that's what the Russia collusion stuff was for was to incite a possible war against Russia. Yeah, of course, Russia is controlled by Putin, who's a Jew.

Yeah, Jews have controlled that since 1905, probably if not even before. I heard that the Tsar Nicholas was actually Jewish himself or partially Jewish, even though he was killed by the Jewish Bolsheviks. So you can never be sure about that.

But yeah, it's all contrived. Basically, it's just a theater of the real. And all we are basically just pawns in their games that they're manipulating and moving around on the chessboard.

Yeah, that's another game of genocide is basically they pit, they make these fratricidal wars kind of like, you know, with the 30 Years' War, which was around Christianity, Protestantism versus Lutheranism or might have been Catholicism. Yeah, it was Catholicism. Yeah, and things like things of that sort.

Obviously, World War Two, that's an obvious one. And then wars you can't, you don't win, you know, these no win wars like. You know, war on terror, the war on drugs, the war on whatever.

Yeah, it's always some game that they use right now. They're creating a race war, obviously, with BLM. Is there any of that type of activity around where you guys are? I haven't noticed it in my area, surprisingly, not yet, at least.

Other than seeing virtue signalers put signs up in front of their houses, I haven't seen. I've seen one sign. That's pretty much it.

Who is in the house that had the sign? Was it a Jew or just a liberal idiot? Pretty much just go on. Could have been. Oh, I didn't know he was talking to.

Well, just yeah, you this southerner. So yeah, I'm not sure who was in the house. I just saw the sign outside of it.

Just one really. There's not a lot of BLM supporters as far as I know, or it's pretty stupid to do that in a small white town. Unless you're a Jew who knows what sort of plans are going to be brought down on that town.

And that's part of their psyop. Well, that or maybe there's sort of like the lone liberal who thinks they're cool for being the only one with. You know what's interesting? I was just maybe like a month and a half ago.

I was woken up in the middle of night at like 130 in the morning by these pieces of shit race mixers that were living two houses down or so. And they were they were chanting Black Lives Matter in the middle of the night. So then I called the cops and the police shut them down.

Luckily, there was at least some police who were doing their proper job. But most of them, you know, they don't they're they're going along with the agenda. They don't really care.

Yeah. Yeah. And another thing is, is too many.

It's really amazing how just calling people names is an effective strategy for some to, you know, capitulate to whatever they're trying to push, you know, calling you racist or whatever trigger word they come up with. Basically, they do that just to silence you and make you submit to whatever agenda they're trying to push. Yeah, it's called weaponized words.

It's really just based on emotion, basically. And it's just a way to manipulate you to because they don't have any rational argument. They try to manipulate you through emotion.

Exactly. And that's what a lot of, you know, either just I mean, you also see that just with stupid people. I mean, they do that oftentimes where they just will play these childish games, you know, calling.

Yeah, they'll play all these fallacies. They'll start these fallacies out of nowhere. Calling you names that are probably just attacking you personally and things of that sort.

Ad hominem. Yeah. Ad hominem.

Yeah, usually that's what they do. They shift people's attention away from any sort of rational thought because that way it creates a scene. That's what Jews always do everywhere you go.

Especially in gang stalking, too. They'll deliberately hover around you and then try to provoke you to say something. And then when you do, then they'll try to like get all emotional, try to create an emotional situation.

Oh my God, did you hear what that guy said? The racist guy. Well, another thing is, is they try to stalk you and try to drive you crazy. Like, you know, another guy who's associated with us, you know, you know who I'm talking about, where there was this incredibly egregious individual who spammed his voicemail for several days calling him a bald virgin.

And he was doing that for like two weeks. And once he didn't give him any attention, he pretty much just gave up. Yeah, I got some of that sort of email messaging where they'd message like, claiming that I was, that they video recorded me watching child porn or something like that.

They were sending me emails like that, these antifa types. If they had their information, they couldn't plant that type of stuff on your computer or whatever device you're using. Yeah, of course they would have that kind of stuff to plant it on there to begin with.

Yeah. Because they're perverts. Yeah, most of them are disgusting degenerates.

Pretty much antifa is sort of like the anti-chamber to the sort of Freemasonic, whatever you want to call that. Black magic, Jewish black magic perversity. Yeah, I won't call it Satanism because Satan is just a Jewish word, which means adversary.

It's a word, satanamon, which means truth in Sanskrit. So that's just a Jewish word. I wouldn't employ it in that context, but whatever it may be.

It's just a punching bag of a word, essentially. Yeah, it's just calling everything satanic or Satan. But Jews are Jews and they're the ones who are the poison on the earth, whatever.

I think satanic is just a spook word to like things that they regard as evil or whatever. Yeah, that way they can confuse people's minds through, again, these weaponized words and semantics that they employ to manipulate people's consciousness. Yeah, it's like the word evil, you're evil.

They try to associate the word like conspiracy with craziness, really. Yeah, just like they associate the word nigger. It's a form of linguistic programming they try to use.

And the word nigger with hate and, you know, violence. Yeah. And so they've conditioned the minds of the non-whites to basically lash out every time you use the word white.

Or if you use the word non-white, then it'll deliberately put them into that state of, you know, emotional reactivity so that they will just act according to their programming based upon classical conditioning, the repetition of, you know, saying the same thing over and over and over again in the media they control. Also, I think even just saying negro, I think even that would like, oh no, you know, you're KKK just saying negro, you know. Even though it's a Latin word, which means black.

Yeah, I know. And even just in Spanish. Yeah, Spanish too.

It's silly. So I guess Southerner, you're basically more infested with the non-white nigger or negro. Yeah.

And the other interlocutor on the other side is more mestizo. That's about it, isn't it? Pretty much. In terms of like the concentration.

I guess here in Canada, it varies in different places, of course. And I think that that's part of the pattern of what they do. The Jews, they deliberately put in different regions, different types so that they can affect different purposes.

So in Canada, for example, and this in terms of like a historical progression. Initially, they put in the best of the non-whites, the ones that are most intelligent and the most appealing so that they can make white people feel like there's something, really cool and intriguing and very interesting and so forth about the so-called culture of the non-white. So they start off with a Chinese or something.

Vancouver is practically a Chinese state as far as I'm concerned. Yeah, I think you can see that, especially with like more upper class neighborhoods and so on. Where it's like, oh, anecdotal case, where, you know, I have smart, you know, Asian or whatever it is, you know, because you're in some gated community that is away from somewhere like parts of L.A. where if you're, you know, that would be an interesting reality show is have some white people walk through like Watts or Inglewood in L.A. with no phone or no money, walk through there, and that's the survival show is just walking through these neighborhoods without getting shot.

Have you ever been to a place like that before? Huh? Have you ever been to a place like that before? I've been close. I've been certainly close. I've tried to stay away from anywhere that is of such a caliber.

I know my brother lives out in Chicago, and I know that that is not probably not the safest area. Yeah, especially if you're in like the south side of Chicago. I guess that's a notorious gangster disciple hangout.

I think Farrakhan lives in Chicago, doesn't he? Yeah, so that's where they have like all the major stronghold of the blacks in terms of cities. So far as I know, anyway, I guess they've got representation in all sorts of different places. But Chicago is sort of like the black, I guess Atlanta, Georgia would also be southern.

Oh, definitely, definitely Atlanta, Georgia. Atlanta, yeah. It's interesting how they have the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, isn't it? I think so.

Almost as if that was their plan to just use the non-whites to create the chaos and then they're just going to do away with them when they're done with them. Because I remember in the book, The Hidden Tyranny by Harold Rosenthal, it says, we're probably going to kill the Negroes when we're done with them. That's a direct quote from Harold Rosenthal, who is a senatorial aide to Jacob Javits, one of the people who are behind, one of the Jews, I should say, not people who are behind.

Yeah, not human. Well, that's the thing is like when you are of a certain intelligence, you don't realize that they don't realize they're being used because they're dumb. I mean, it's sort of like.

And even if you were to tell them that Jews are not white, they would still prefer just to lump them in with white people because it makes them feel better. Yeah, and if you say that, you're calling them. Actually feel any contempt or sorrowfulness for the white person.

Yeah, and another thing is, is if you say that you're called anti-Semitic or something, just for pointing these things out, just for pointing something like that out. It's pretty pathetic. Yeah.

So yeah, trying to work with the Negro is definitely not going to help us in the long run or even short term. That's obviously what they're attempting to do. I think I had heard, you know, that Charles Manson was trying to foment chaos around in his L.A., trying to create a race war there to do whatever means.

And he was obviously an operative of the cabal. Wasn't that Timothy McVeigh was trying to start something with that with the Oklahoma thing? I don't think so. Celebrities are part of the cabal.

Yeah, I know that that Oklahoma City bombing was just a government operation. Anyway, they were trying to eliminate some type of documents in the Murrah building, I think. And that had something to do with Waco, I believe, possibly.

So what they don't care how many people they kill to get their goals. They just want they just want the ends justify the means, you know. Yeah, there's a communist saying goes their intention was to shut down the militia movement in the states by having the Oklahoma City bombing so they could justify more, you know, police statism against the population.

But clearly, that's their intention. There's even songs about race war, like Ice-T, that military industrial, whatever guy, he was actually like a military brat from New Jersey, probably outside of Trenton, New Jersey, where I think they have a military base there.

He was put into the position to create gangster rap in the 80s in like 1983.

And he had a song called Race War on his album called Home Invasion in 1993. And on the cover of that Home Invasion album is like this white teenager with his, you know, like with his crossed legs is he's listening to gangster rap. And there's all these crazy images coming out of his mind, you know, thought forms of violence and so forth.

And yeah, and that cover also has like the autobiography of Malcolm X or something like that. He's also wearing like a shirt with an African continent on it. He's like a wigger, basically.

So obviously, that's what they're trying to do. A home invasion, right? In your mind, they're manipulating your consciousness to implant these thoughts, to create these realities. That's why there's so many wiggers everywhere now.

Yeah, I've noticed that. They just get so sucked into this garbage that they think that that's what reality is. It's just like, yo, yo, yo.

And not only that, it's trying to emulate the behavior of the Negro. And it's just pathetic, honestly. It just makes them really look stupid.

And it just dumbs down their vocabulary. It's like, oh, yeah, yo, man, bruh, bruh, bruh, bruh, bruh. Yeah, or fam is another one, fam.

And they actually believe it makes them cool. That's the worst thing about it. They just don't have the brainpower just to see how stupid they sound.

Yeah, and I wouldn't even, I think it would be an insult to even call them neologisms. I would just call it gibberish. I wouldn't even say the neologisms.

As a lowkey, call it slangish. Slanguage. Yeah, yeah.

There's actually a book by this rapper called E-40. I think it's called the Dictionary of Slanguage or something. He actually wrote that in the 90s somewhere.

Yeah, we were mentioning before we started recording here about how Ice Cube was in a group called CIA before N-W-A, which, you know, the manager was a Jew, obviously. And then he went on to play a police officer in films. So it's sort of like a revelation of the method where you're making songs called Fuck the Police or whatever, and then you go on and play a police officer.

Totally not an agent. And CIA was this previous group. I mean, it's pretty obvious that they're just like instruments to their plan.

That's just a form of mockery. Yeah, well, that's the inversion of reality and then the perversion of reality. That's the Jewish methodology right there.

They take white culture and then they twist it out of shape and then they say, here you go, whitey, here's your culture. They get you to consume it and believe that that is your culture, which then changes your consciousness and, you know, causes even more harm to you. And then it's really just distorted reality.

And like dumb hicks all of a sudden because of all this garbage media that Jewish media that they consume, they can, oh, this is our culture, it's supposed to be like this. Well, that's true. Yeah, that's true.

And how they make these films like, you know, where they just make, you know, southerners or hicks or rednecks or really, you know, white working class people, they make them look like they're just, you know, basically just trash and pieces of shit, basically. That's what these movies do. Southerners actually do consume that media constantly.

They sort of, they manifest it into reality. That's the worst thing about it. It's a reification of the idea, simulacrum.

If you read the book Simulacra and Simulations by Jean Baudrillard, then that explains the revelation of the method type gimmick on the part of the Jews where they manifest these ideas into reality through that predictive programming type of technique of theirs, getting people to believe that these things are theirs or to, you know, take ownership of these as if they were their authentic culture. Yeah. Or like, you know, putting posters on their wall and like, you know, LeBron James is a hero.

Yeah. I had a Snoop culture as a teenager on my wall. I never, I never understood the, you know, the worship of Negroes catching balls.

It's really, it's. Yeah. It's like what, you know, Fallout man, you know, it's like what he said in that video where he's burning the Star Wars stuff.

He's like, that's all people in this world care about is cheap plastic shit and niggers catching balls. I mean, that's just, that's the modern world. Yes.

That's a by Marica. It's like to call it in a nutshell. Why America have to revolt against the modern world? That's a Julius of all his book, right? Yeah.

Definitely worthwhile reading. I'd recommend you do sound quite interesting. Yeah, I would say that definitely him and Serrano are pretty much on the forefront in terms of ideology or philosophy, esotericism, call it whatever you want.

That's, that's definitely what I seek to hone in on and focus my consciousness on, you know, especially Evola's works, which are very, very well written, not a lot of emotional bullshit. It's just very dry and form. Yeah.

Very detailed and cut and dry Henry Ford's book, the international Jew, the world's foremost problem. That's a very good book. Definitely a much more worthwhile read than that other book that the alt-right like to push.

What's it called? The culture critique. I threw that in the garbage. I never understood the hype behind that book.

Kevin McDonald's obviously a Jew himself and he's a disinformation agent. Pretty much the whole alt-right is just pushing Christianity and it's sort of through the back door, you know, very indirectly, a lot of nebulous rhetoric. But they're pushing a lot, you know, the acceptance of non-whites and faggotry as well.

Yeah, like Greg Johnson is one where he's like, you know, check out this base sodomite basically. Yeah, it's pretty disgusting. I mean, I thought I didn't sign up for this shit.

I just want to kick all these Mexicans and niggers. And then it's like you have Richard Spencer who like basically talks like a fag. And I mean, in the sense of what you're talking about, I would say I would suggest you go read Ben Klasson, man.

Yeah, the little white book is the best. Pretty much all you really need for the creativity movement is a little white book. Yeah, it's a good synopsis.

Once I have my library site up with all my, I got like about 8,000 documents on there in topical arrangement. Once that's up, then I'll be able to send it to you. And maybe you can spread it around to other people, too, because that way we can get a good archive of information all in one place.

I'll definitely work on backing them up, too. Yeah, I would say the little white book is a good synthesis for Klasson. And for Serrano, I would say the Son of the Widower would be a good synopsis of his work, which you could go and find on the net for free.

Both of them you could. They're pretty short works. That's the best way to approach these sorts of subjects is just to read like smaller, shorter works by the people.

And then, you know, you can get more in depth if you really cared to from there. And if you don't, then you can just reject it, obviously. But when you were talking about Henry Ford's The International Jew, this ties into what Jews do in terms of using the non-whites as their tool or their instrument of white genocide.

Is with Henry Ford, when he obviously tried to oppose the Second World War, the Jews came after him very hard because they were trying to get rid of opposition to their plans. And so they sabotaged his company. And he also published The International Jew, putting it in every glove box of every Model T that he manufactured.

I'm sorry, go ahead. Well, yeah, you can interrupt by all means. But I was just going to say that they basically forced his company to use gasoline because it was controlled or, you know, largely controlled by the oil reserves and gas reserves by Standard Oil, which is controlled by the Rockefellers, who are actually named Rosenfelder.

Oh, really? Yeah. Who are Jews. I always figured they were Jewish.

Yeah. They're related to the Rothschilds. I think they're the cousins of the Rothschilds.

So what they did, they basically prevented Henry Ford from using gasohol in his vehicles, which is made from vegetable scraps. Oh, really? Yeah. So it wouldn't have polluted anything in the environment on the one hand.

And on the other hand, the Model T was made to last a whole lifetime for people. So now you look at the cars, they're just made like pieces of garbage. Planned obsolescence to fall apart in, you know, just a short time.

And they're all electronic, so they can be controlled. You know, they can take control. I don't trust those electronic cars.

No, they can take control of your vehicle and ram you into traffic. You know, ram you off a cliff. That's within their capability.

And they can also short circuit it or something like that, when you're in the middle of traffic, driving full speed. Make it look like an accident. Yeah, exactly.

That's what their attempts are. To kill people for assassination purposes, they do that. Probably a lot of car accidents are like that, or deliberately people being run into traffic or whatever, into a brick wall.

So what they did to Henry Ford, they also, after sabotaging his company, then in his town of Dearborn Independent, they deliberately made that into like an Arab stronghold after, you know, whenever they started bringing them in. And so that way they can curse, you know, the jet cuts. Yeah, basically, that's their little technique of trying to stick a knife in people's back.

And they did the same thing with Charles Lindbergh, who tried to oppose the Second World War, too. Ritually murdered his child with the Purple Gang outside of Detroit, Michigan. And, you know, then from there, they bring in huge amounts of Somalians into Minneapolis, Minnesota, where his father was like a governor and so forth.

I don't know if he was a governor, too, but they sabotaged his life. And so that's what they do in the whitest areas, in the areas that have the most blonde haired, blue eyed people, they put in the darkest and the shittiest people, as a means of sort of defiling the culture of the people. They started off in Germany with Turks.

And in various other European cities, they brought in a bunch of Paki's and so forth from there. But usually what they do with the more intelligent groups, they try to bring in the most intelligent non-whites so that they can, you know, not have as much pushback from the white populace, you know, Chinese and whatever, Iranian or Turks or something like that or Japanese. Then from there, once they get them in, you know, down the line gradualistically, it's more and more shitty.

Yeah, that's sort of make it more accepting to the average white person. Yeah. And then once they get to that stage, then the next stage is where they deliberately pump in the most violent and stupid of them progressively.

So from the Chinese and the Japanese and, you know, Iranian and Turkish and so on, and Persian, then from there it goes to like the Arabs and then from there, whatever, Filipino. Yeah, ultimately, it just gets to like the blackest of the black and the most violent and stupid. And that's the whole procedure of a Jew, is this entropic violence that they impose on people.

And they're just trying to do the violence themselves because they're the biggest cowards in the face of the earth. So they have to use other people to do their dirty work. Yeah, because they're passive aggressive, basically.

And cowardness before is, do you think that we will win the eternal war at some point, whether or not it's in our lifetime or not? Well, I know Miguel Serrano says that we already won the war in the spiritual dimensions ever since Hitler deliberately lost the war. According to Miguel Serrano, he deliberately lost the war in the physical so that he could win. Isn't that sort of like the Christian sense of winning by losing? Yeah, pretty much that.

Well, he, Serrano even explicitly makes that statement multiple times, you know, win by he won by losing. So, you know, it's questionable whether it does make sense, you know, in terms of karma that, you know, they have used sort of crude means to gain a victory. And then in doing so, they basically, they had to violate the harmony of existence, which in turn generated karma or disharmony, discord.

And then that rebounds against them and, you know, brings about a reaction. But of course, that, you know, it's not the same really as Christianity insofar as Christianity is more purely pacifistic and it's not really like an authentic Aryan tradition, whereas, you know, the notion of karma and so forth, that is so far as I know, you know, authentically Aryan. But I might be wrong in that regard also.

But I don't think that Serrano's win by losing conception precludes, you know, an act of fighting and opposition. It's just, you know, that from a karmic perspective or like a cosmic perspective. So the question is, then, will we win the race war? I would say we've already won in that respect.

But in terms of physical life and its continuance of white people on Earth, that's definitely, you know, questionable. I would say we probably will. But I think the strongest are going to survive at the end of the day.

But, you know, it's sort of just living in a dog-dog world. Yeah, I agree. I would say that when the, you know, I would say once this, the jog falls apart at some point, I think that at that point it will just be survival of the fittest, basically.

And then all the parasites and the dumbed down peoples of the world will basically perish because of that. Yeah, and they'll all be living in the cities and all the cities will be the ones that are collapsing, which is in a way unfortunate because a lot of the intelligent people are living in the cities, but a lot of them are moving away from there now. You had said, Southerner, about a dog-eat-dog world, but you could say, too, that it's like a dog-eat-God world.

Oh. Basically, because the dog is like the inverse of God of the Christian. Oh, you're right.

Because it's spelled backwards. And that refers to like the dog star of Sirius and the Orion constellation, where apparently the white gods came from the Orion constellation in Sirius. Oh, that makes sense.

Well, it's sort of like the symbology of, you know, Adolf Hitler had a dog. And well, according to the Chinese zodiac, I was born in the year of the dog, too. That's very interesting.

Yeah, my birthday is what's weird about my birthday is that it's the same day that Goebbels died, which I just think is kind of interesting. Yeah, maybe that's reincarnation of Goebbels. Yeah.

Propaganda minister. It is unfortunate that he had to murder his entire family, though. Well, I guess the only alternative is that they'd be tortured to death or murdered by the Allied powers like they killed off the Germans in the Nuremberg trials through strangulation and so forth.

Yeah, it isn't. Yeah, I guess there wasn't really much of a choice anyway. That way he spared his children, you know, even worse suffering.

It's like that movie made by Stephen King called Apt Pupil. I don't know if you've seen that movie before. Movie by Stephen King or book? Well, it's both.

It's basically this kid becomes like a mentor by this ex-national socialist guy, this old man, and then the old man's being hunted down and he's like in a hospital going to be extradited to Israel to be killed. And then the old man basically kills himself in the hospital room to avoid being, you know, taken to Israel to be killed. And it's really sick how they're like arresting people who are in their 90s or even 100s.

You know, it's really fucked up. Struggling to walk in their crutches. It's somehow a threat.

Well, that obviously shows the weakness of the Jews power, because if they have to go so far just to like do that to old people, they just demonstrate their oriental despotism, their tyrannical nature. And that's not going to not going to get any sympathy for them. It's just going to make people, you know, have a hostility toward them.

I think that the Jeffrey Epstein thing really opened a lot of people's eyes to that whole influence of things, at least in recent times. The whole suicide murder, whatever you want to call it, it was a hoax. I think he's alive.

I think he's alive, too. That's just a way the Jews flaunt their pedophilia upon the masses. I sort of wonder if that's the same with Michael Aquino, the Temple of Set guy, who is also specialized in military psyops, about how his death was announced, like nearly a year later after he supposedly died.

So that might have been a psyop in itself. Yeah, about these, you know, strange deaths that occur within a whole sphere. Those dates are obviously numerological with their Kabbalistic coding.

Yeah, they do that to celebrities all the time. They're always killing at the age of... could ever imagine. Yeah, it's weird how Charles Manson claims to worship the god of Braxis, which Kabbalistically would go to the number 365, which is the number of days of the year.

Right. So it's sort of interesting how, you know, you can sort of crack their code by looking at what they're, what they coincide with numerologically with their, the Kabbal. Or like how they like to hijack the number 33, any chance they have? Well, yeah, I mean, isn't that the club in Disneyland, Club 33? I think that number has spiritual significance, that they're just trying to hijack it for themselves.

And there's another example of use of 33 is how the band, the Smashing Pumpkins, they had a song called 33, and they would kind of incorporate a lot of that imagery in their music videos. And a few years ago, I went to go see them live, and they had a lot of that creepy kind of Masonic imagery. It just felt like this negative thought.

Dark. I felt like I had dark forces around me, basically. And then the Corgan guy, the singer was like, he looked like he was wearing one of those like robes.

He's wearing like this red, like, it was sort of like, if you ever saw the Revenge of the Sith, the way Palpatine's robe looked in that it looked exactly the same as what he was wearing on the stage. So it was pretty weird. Like Freemasonic attire? I mean, it's sort of like what that Dragon's Paw operative guy was pointing out about that Madonna ritual from a year ago, where she basically was at Eurovision.

And she was wearing this eyepatch and this robe. And she was like sidestepping down stairs. And it was very creepy.

And then in foreshadowing, they were all having gas masks on for the year 2020. Go on, sorry, I don't want to ramble. I was just gonna say, when you get a lot of people in the same place, then obviously, that creates energetic states, because their consciousness is merged and blended together.

And then when you have all these, this imagery, symbolism, color, tone and sound, all of that manipulates their consciousness and puts them into like a same, you know, this sort of receptive state of consciousness, where they are, they're lending their energy to the event. So it basically is a ritual, all these, you know, that's why I tend to stay away from like nightclubs and bars, because it just, I don't know, they always have made me feel uneasy. I'm not really a fan in general of crowds or live music or really anywhere that's loud.

And I'm kind of, I don't know, I've always been a quiet guy. I don't like loud places. I don't like, you know, anywhere where there's a lot of people.

Seneca said, avoid the crowd. And that's definitely something that I've adhered to, ever since I first heard that quotation. And before that, you could always just sort of sense that all this very loud noise is not healthy for you, even just from a purely like, physical level, you know, you're having all this, this force beating against you, like, and people find this appealing and interesting.

This is kind of like, when you listen to these bands, and you have your headphones on or your speakers or whatever, and you just feel like they're banging your ears out with the loud percussion and the loud, and then you're sort of in a trance state. And then it keeps you in that same frame of consciousness as whatever message you're trying to deliver to you through the the sonic, you know, sound of what is going through your consciousness, basically. And, you know, that's why I just try to avoid anywhere, anything that's really pushing a destructive, uh, self destruction and, you know, things of that sort.

Most of that represents itself as if it isn't destructive, it represents itself, or is represented as if it were something beneficial or healthy, like, yeah, you want to be social, right, man, you want to, you know, go and get some chicks and whatever. And then what is the fallout of all these activities, you know, it's just dissipation, you waste all your energy, your bio energy, you're you're ejaculating all over the place and getting diseases and so forth. And yeah, it's like, Hey, man, you want to be cool, you want to be trying to get yourself involved in all this disgusting ass, this degenerate bullshit, and you'll be cool.

Because that's all cool means it means basically, I guess, the extinction of your divine spark. Maybe that's an occult joke on the part of the Jews is just to create that notion of being apathetic, and, you know, not having your consciousness in really engaged in reality, so that you can become basically like a dead zombie, like most of the people have become through all this so called Antarctic culture that they tie themselves into. Yeah, what do you think of that? The quotes from, you know, Adolf Hitler about, you know, the strongest man acts alone, I believe was how it was.

Yeah, well, that just means that you don't have to depend on others. And therefore, you're stronger because you don't require other people in order to act. Right.

So that's definitely a signifier of leadership, and of being a stronger person is not having to rely on externals in order to prop yourself up. I would say another good quote is do not compare yourself to others. If you do, you're insulting yourself.

It's interesting how all the non-whites, they always have to have huge amounts of their own kind to hang around with them. You know, they're almost never alone. That's true.

I've noticed that with the Filipinos as well. They're always in just groups. Yeah, nattering away.

Their native tongue is weird. Yeah, well, I think they're actually apparently interbred allegedly with quote unquote Spanish. But I'm pretty sure that those Spanish are Jews, actually.

Because of the, what was it called? The Inquisition? Yeah, the Maranos. Well, I'm pretty sure that when the Spanish went to the Philippines that they basically did prima nocte on the Oriental population. So most of the Filipinos are probably like half Jews or something.

They certainly behave like that. They've got that sort of devious little attitude. That is true.

You know, it's interesting. I wrote about this in my little autobiography that I wrote because I wanted to get the message out about what Jews do to people. And there's a couple instances in there where deliberately, like I went on dating sites and so forth just to meet people to hang around.

And the only people that would respond were like Filipinos. So then like Filipino males actually met up with, not for faggotry or anything, but just to hang around, have somebody to talk to. And then I met up with them because there was nobody else at the time.

And they're like trying to involve themselves in sexual activities with me and so forth. At one time I stayed at this place and there was like five Filipinos there. I had nowhere else to go because my drunken father threw me, basically caused me to be homeless.

And that's the only place I could get to room. And, you know, the guy, the guy there was not Filipino. He was saying that it's the culture of Filipinos to involve themselves with each other, like bisexually.

Yeah. What's weird about that is when I was, when I was in high school, a lot of who I, you know, was I surrounded myself with basically, uh, I wasn't really totally aware of everything at the time and why these people were, uh, just really messed up people. And, uh, I really just was around them because I don't know, I, at the time I was just kind of looking for somewhere to sit or whatever during breaks or what have you.

And then earlier this, uh, year back in January, I, uh, I was over at the, you know, the store, you know, just looking for food or whatever. And then right as I was leaving my old high school group, uh, you know, I spot them and they were like, Hey, you know, you know, my, my name, you know, and they, and they were like, Hey, you know, and I'm like, Oh no. And it's like, I just, I just kept walking.

I tried to ignore them, but then they started following me and I was like, okay, you know, and then I started talking to them for a little bit. And then, uh, basically they were telling me about all this like perverted shit that I didn't know about. They were trying to make it seem like it was normal.

Like there was this, uh, like mulatto or whatever that was there. And he was talking about how there was this 14 year old when senior year or whatever, they were joking, they were joking about it. Like, ha ha.

Remember that time where you were stalking that 14 year old senior year? And I was like, what the fuck? Like, I didn't know that about this, you know, or whatever. And then there was this other guy, this Filipino kid who basically was known for stalking, uh, girls. And, uh, basically that was why I tried to avoid him was because he's creepy.

You know what's interesting? He would go out of his way to stalk girls on social media and also stalk them in real life by following them. And, uh, he would sort of sit in the bushes and really, just really disturbing people. Go on.

I'm sure there are gang stalkers that are just trying to set you up. Cause that's what they often seem to do is just set people up as pedophiles or in like, like I said, with the Filipinos that were trying to involve themselves in faggotry with me. You know, they, they deliberately send these people out to try to, to, you know, involve you in corruption.

If you read the book, uh, the hidden evil by Mark Rich, it discusses that these are some of the techniques that the gang stalkers use to corrupt people is through faggotry and so on. Yeah. Yeah.

I mean, that's like another time where, uh, when I was younger, there was this camping trip and there was this, uh, mulatto kid who was next to me in the tent that I was in. And he kept trying to do, uh, you know, uh, gay shit to me. And at that point I was like, get, I was like, get away from me.

I was like, I was like shoving him away. I was like, you know, I think I even punched him in the face. I was like, get the fuck away from me, you fucking weirdo.

And he was like, just rabid, like, yes. Really sick stuff, man. Do you think that, um, the mulatto was a Jew maybe, or like a hybrid? Oh, I don't know.

It's possible. Anything's possible. Thing is when they become hybridized like that, different groups, then that obviously creates a very deviant, uh, character because their soul is not the same as, and their genetics are, you know, totally foreign to one another and incompatible.

Basically makes them schizophrenic. Yeah. Cause they have different souls that are combined together basically.

Not only that, they tend to have a lot of abnormalities behaviorally and even physically health wise. Yeah. Like a lots of disease states and eventually they become sterile.

Sick more often. There's a really good book on that subject called the synthesis of racial doctrine by Julius. Oh yeah.

That, that definitely goes through a lot of interesting, uh, uh, points about that. I definitely recommend that you get that, that book, especially. Yeah.

I would say for that book, I would say read revolt against the moral first, and then that's sort of like expands and what he already kind of said in revolt against the moral world about, well, it's a very large book though. Not too many people have all the time. Well, it's, uh, it's not too large.

I mean, it's only a bit right here, actually. It's like 300 and roughly 370 pages. I mean, that's not horrible.

What I would say for people who don't know anything about Evola's works is read the following works in this sequence. First read heathen imperialism, read elements of racial education, read, uh, three aspects of the Jewish problem. Then you can read, uh, a very, a variety of his articles.

Uh, again, evolaasheis.wordpress.com is a good site for a lot of the free articles and so forth. And you can get, get the books through there too. Or you can check around on the, on the net for those, but it's good to start off there to like, uh, smaller articles.

Cause not everybody wants to spend huge amounts of time reading like, uh, larger works. Right. But that's why many haven't read, uh, you know, Francis Barbiaki's Imperium because it's fairly lengthy work.

Yeah, I have his collection. You can't even buy that book anymore. Can you? Yeah, you can get it at Invictusbooks.com. Oh, okay.

Can you send me a link? Yeah, you can get the Invictus books one, but the other ones have fallen out of print for whatever reason. Well, at least you can still get it. I would say heathen imperialism is much better in terms of like a political or metapolitical work than Imperium is.

And that's Evola's work. Because the problem with Yawkey is that his conception of organicism is sort of like this fatalistic conception where he thinks that, uh, so-called cultures are like organisms that, uh, you know, come and go, so to speak, in cycles and so forth. And, uh, yeah, his description of race was a little odd about, you know, spiritual idea of race.

Yeah, it's very nebulous. It's, it's sort of like, uh, almost culture at its core is based on race. Yeah.

Whereas he tries to invert that and says that race is based on culture and that these biological groups are like, uh, incarnations of this culture or like the culture is like their oversoul, I guess. Where do you think the word, um, nation came from exactly? Latin natio. It's from the Latin word nati.

Yeah, I think it's something to do with people. Nation is actually a race of people. Yeah.

Nation comes from the Latin word nati, which means, you know, a people. It means a people. Oh, it's nati? I thought it was natio.

Yeah, nati. Okay. Yeah.

And basically, uh, it, it refers to people and what people forget now in this, uh, you know, decadent corrupt world is they just think that, oh, it just means a geographical, you know, you're an American just by, uh, being in America and you're, uh, European just by being in the geographical region of Europe. Because it's like, anyone can just come down here. So what does that mean? This is, it just means America is a dumping ground for third world trash these days.

Yeah. It's like, I've never really particularly identified as an American, even before I, uh, you know, became aware of all this stuff. I never particularly, uh, you know, identified as, it's kind of like, uh, Loki, do you really identify as Canadian? No, I never really have either.

I always looked upon, I was young as like, oh yeah, Canadian. Yeah. It's hockey in the woods and so forth, like where I am.

But, uh, you know, not really. I always looked upon myself as European because my mother's from Denmark. So I always had a sort of like biological orientation or understanding.

Yeah. I'm mainly, uh, like Celtic and Germanic. So basically, uh, central north Europe is sort of like where, you know, I best identify with.

I mostly have, um, English and ancestry and a bit of Scottish blood as well. As far as I know. I heard there's lots of Scottish people in the south.

Huh? Yeah. My, my grandfather, uh, he's, uh, you know, like Irish Scottish and he's, uh, from, he's from, uh, Kentucky. So.

Okay. Yeah. So yeah, you're, you are right about that, that there is a lot of like Irish Scottish, uh, in the, in the south.

So is there any predictions in terms of timelines of when there's going to be race war popping up? You mentioned in your, your manifesto that you think it will be 2024. I would say 2023, 2024 where something happens. I'd say it's going to get really bad around 2025.

Yeah, it definitely seems like it's going to have to build up a little bit more before it really gets, uh, more chaotic to the point where, you know, whites are forced to actually actively engage in a more physical sense as a collective group, you know, not some sort of like lone wolves going to go around causing chaos, but in terms of defensive, uh, action to, you know, prevent their own destruction. Basically foxes in a sense. What do you mean? Well, having to, you know, foxes go out.

He's talking about how in the last stream that we did, we made that comparison between, uh, remember how I mentioned wolves and sheep, and then you said, uh, it was more, we're more like foxes in the sense of being more clever and more predatory like wolves. Yeah, I guess that's sort of the way it is. Basically wolves have to come together and try to survive.

Yeah, we can't all just be like, uh, lone wolves or whatever. You know, we're certainly, it would not be a very prudent idea to just go around doing, you know, sort of terroristic craziness like, uh, all these, uh, shills are putting forward, you know, like James Mason and stuff like that. That's just a recipe for heads.

That's a hit right there that he's more likely an operative. Yeah, and they're always pushing Christian, Christianity too. So that's a, another red flag.

Anybody pushing Christianity is obviously tying people into the Jews thought forms. So that obviously doesn't serve our interests at all. I think anybody who's pushing CI or anything like of that sort or terror or balkanization is probably, um, I mean, some could be useful idiots, but I think more than likely they're just subversives trying to incite violence.

Yeah, pretty much. Yeah. I don't think the balkanization thing is going to happen anytime soon.

They put the lights in one area, they could just firebomb, firebomb the area, kind of like they did in Dresden, Germany. Well, and also it, it alienates people geographically and, uh, you know, it basically leaves those, if you're not, you know, if you're not in this area, let's say an example of the Northwest with, uh, you know, what Harold Covington would propose about all, let's all go pack and move to the Northwest. Anybody who's not in the Northwest is just left to die, basically.

Yeah. And that's why I think Varg Beekerness pushes very divisive rhetoric about like, oh yeah, you know, screw all the American, uh, you know, white people, uh, you know, I only care about the survival of, uh, you know, Nordics, basically. Do they have Nordics who, uh, immigrated to America many years ago? Yeah, I know.

So it's like, you're basically wanting to, yeah, it's like, I don't care if millions of white people die because of geography, basically. Yeah. That's again, the divide and conquer type game that they always, uh, employ to try to tear apart whites.

Obviously the strategy should be more or less pervasive, basically swimming with the sea of the people is the only proper strategy. Yeah. And, uh, also Pan-Aryanism.

Yeah, exactly. Sort of like what Ben Claston said. Claston had a good critique of the Balkanization and probably, I think it was the Raha, this planet is all ours.

And he also refuted Covington as well, calling him out as a Jew and so forth. Yeah. Matt Hale said he was a Jew as well in one of his letters.

Yeah. It's pretty hard to tell who is really authentic and who really isn't. I think it just says a lot about, uh, you can tell a lot about a person by what agenda they push and, uh, how their style presentation, like if they sound very scripted or if their production looks a little too artificial or, uh, you know, we could go into some examples, but I don't know if we would really want to, I don't know if it's really necessary.

What? You know, if the production looks too flashy and fancy, that's a good indication as well. Yeah. It's kind of like Red Ice TV.

Yeah. Very high level graphic design and so forth. Everything is very studio quality.

Whereas if you look at this podcast. Where they get this money, you know, to pay the people to do all this stuff because, you know, all that production takes time, you know, and it takes talent as well. Yeah.

And they usually have like a weekly podcast or something like that, or at least sometimes even more. Yeah. And they have one like certain really high profile guests or whatever.

Yeah. Well, they even had Dugan on, uh, Red Ice Radio before. So.

Yeah. Like Dugan or David Duke or, uh, like one of these very known people. Kind of like the clown.

I'm not going to name his name. That piece of shit. I mean, it's a good thing that he went away because everybody figured out how fake he was.

Loki was kicked off Lulu because of that guy. And I myself was stalked and threatened by this individual several months ago. Loki sent them the how to identify a Jew document.

Yeah, that was what he did. And that pissed him off and got him kicked off. I think that Lulu publishes in Canada and Toronto.

So they're very, uh, you know, totalitarian in terms of shutting down, uh, any dissident discourse. So I'm thinking is if there's any like a third world publishing print on demand companies, I've been checking in India and Pakistan. There's some there, but I don't know if they're legitimate or not, but I think that's probably the only way you can go in the coming to the future for publications that you have to pretty much go with, like, out of the way third world, uh, uh, sources or else just make your own totally.

Yeah. I submitted, uh, your, uh, book to, that's probably what it's a good background, but I submitted your book to that Indian site that, that, uh, what was that one that started with a P that Potha or Pothia, I think it was Pothia. That was what it was.

Yeah. I submitted it there and, uh, they should be reviewing it. I don't know if it's going to go through.

Yeah. It's pretty scathing indictment of, uh, the Jews, even though all I did was just relate. This is what the Jew did here.

This is what the Jew did there type incidents. Right. And then, so basically I think really where things are going is I think we're going to have to keep retreating from platform to platform, because I think, I don't think it's really going to last personally.

Their search function still doesn't even work despite all the funding that they're getting, you know, I just have a feeling that it's going to shut down in some way. I just have, I don't know. I don't know what it is, but the, the, the way they've shut entire channels down now and, uh, and how they've been sneaking in, you know, comment sections or there've been these people who've been trying to spam like porn links or whatever and comment sections.

There's no way to block people that are deliberately spamming. You're not. Yeah.

And that's the thing is you're not, you're still not allowed to ban people. From a coding perspective, you can't even click on their profile to get there immediately. You have to copy and paste a channel name, go to this broken search, search engine and go to their channel that way.

It's such a piece of shit the way they designed it. And there's no notification. So you can't have any dialogue.

There's no notifications anymore. It's just broken. Yeah.

You have to click on the videos to see the comments now, which is really lame. And also, uh, you're still not allowed to ban people. They got some cheap ass to do the coding for them.

The only thing that I like about the new comment system is that you're no longer able to stalk someone's comments like you were able to with Discus. And they're not completely sensitive. You can actually say the word nigger in the comments now.

Right. Discus, I know that they used to, uh, like if you said, you know, words like that, they would, uh, basically, uh, you know, try to not post your comment or whatever that may be kind of like YouTube now. Comments on YouTube is just a hassle.

You can't even put triple parentheses anymore on YouTube. So Southerner, you don't, uh, you say 2025 is when there's going to be the major conflagration. I say so because that's the end of the Iron Age.

That's supposed to be the lowest of the low. What is that based on? Um, trying to think, you know, trying to think what is it called? You know, like the, um, cyclical, you know, the timeline, cyclical type of timeline charts. Based on the Mayans, you mean? Is that the Mayans? Usually that's what they cite people, uh, like the 2012 in the Mayan calendar type thing.

I don't know. I have a feeling it's going to be soon. It can't be no, it can't be no later than 10 years from now.

Yeah, I think it's all going to be pretty much resolved by the end of this decade. One way or the other. I know that Edgar Case from Atlanta predicted that, uh, 2026 slash 27 would be that, and then it would all be over by 2029.

But of course they create all these sorts of, uh, prophecies and stuff like that all the time. And they have throughout history too, as a sign up to get people to, you know, whatever, give up all their money or whatever the case for God or something like that. So you can never be sure if they're not just deliberately predictively programming here too, just so that they could bring in their little Messiah and so forth and pretend it's biblical prophecy.

Well, I think that's why, you know, kind of like what class had pointed out about how, uh, you know, the Christians would point, you know, use that phrase, money is the root of all evil. I think that that's there to, you know, what he pointed out was like, uh, basically it's just there. So you give up all your money because it's evil, you know, it's evil, even though they make offerings, you know, give up your possessions, give it all up, throw it away.

You know, uh, you know, basically it's just, those big churches actually make from these gullible idiots. It is just downright shocking how much money they really make. Well, yeah, I mean, it's sort of like how, uh, you know, that's how they run, that's how they operate basically.

And they're not taxed because, uh, you know, oh, you can't tax, you know, basically in, uh, and then they would go up to your door and like, ask you for money, even though they could say, well, it's ending this Sunday, give us $50. Can I make a point? And that's why all these companies hold charity so they can get tax breaks. It's not really about, you know, yeah, it's just a tax shelter.

It's just a tax shelter. Same with all these so-called philanthropists. Except for the greats, good.

It's just a tax shelter, like you said. All those people who claim to be philanthropists are just a bunch of Jews typically looking to, uh, you know, make some political social capital for themselves. And at the same time to create tax shelters so that they could, uh, you know, create like a slush fund or launder money through their troops.

Michael Milken. That was what he was known for was he's known as like the junk king and he would make a bunch of slush funds basically. I mean, like I was funny.

Yeah, we're, we're, uh, low-key we're referring to that Elmo guy who, uh, went in the time square and was like, don't use Michael Milken's international Jew toy leapfrog. There's a clip of him saying, I'm in, I am a Henry Fordian anti-Semite. I'm a Henry Fordian anti-Semite, all right.

He's wearing his Cookie Monster outfit. Anyway, we don't need to go too off topic. Well, I think we pretty much nailed it down right now.

So I guess that'll be probably good for the show. Most people don't want to hear past two and a half hours anyway. Yeah.

It's been quite some time since we started. I guess we'll cut it off here. And thanks for listening.