

Nordlux: Security (part 2)

of self-security and self-defense. What we must do in the present world to protect our life, our dignity, and our property when we're surrounded by enemies. My guest is Zygarde.

Hello, Zygarde. Hello there, NordLux. How are you doing today? Fine, I hope you're fine.

So, what we missed from the first conversation? I think the first conversation was mainly oriented around knives and martial arts, so far as I can recall. But I think that there's quite a lot of significant details that were omitted or neglected to be mentioned in the first discussion, especially when it comes to infrastructural security and improvisation of weapons or self-defense weapons, whatever you want to call them, which we're unfortunately not, we're not able to discuss those at length. So, I think a good way to approach the subject is just to consider it from the perspective of what, maybe if you could attach the handbook that somebody had written recently on that subject, this handbook related to security, personal defense, and this handbook discusses all sorts of these techniques of how to prepare for things and so forth, mainly discussing equipment and various diagrams of what a good approach to personal security and personal protection is.

This handbook, it goes into like security threat levels based on a diagram of concentric circles of security, starting with yourself. It goes into like a different schemas of self-protection, protection of others of your own kind, you know, different circumstances that you're going to be in, where you're going to have to have different forms of protection. So, that handbook can be consulted if you're going to attach it below.

Yes, yes, of course. So, pretty much everywhere at this time in history now, we're under attack at every step we take in urban environments, in rural environments, in suburban environments, as a collective group, in terms of your mind, your body, your culture. In every single form, they're coming at us and attacking us in a multi-pronged approach.

So, we have to have that sort of, basically, a mindset of a warrior, of war everlasting, 24 hours a day, everything you do, everywhere you go, they're assaulting you, they're attacking you. So, you have to be always semper vigilans, as they say, you have to be always vigilant and always thinking in that regard. Because even though people don't understand it, maybe viscerally enough, we are basically being assaulted on a personal level, as well as a collective.

Because these Jews and these communists and these Zionists, they all have spies in every community, everywhere you go. And they always try to find out people in those communities who are what Evola called men of race, or people who have a more racial conscience, racial consciousness, who have a blood memory, I guess, if you want to call it that, an awareness of their ancestral traditions. And these enemies are always witch hunting and trying to persecute people, and they're trying to find out who you are.

So, if you look even the slightest bit conservative, then they're going to be coming after you, and they're going to target you, and they're going to say, okay, this guy is potentially an enemy, he's potentially a threat to, quote unquote, safety and security. He looks white, he doesn't look, he doesn't have all sorts of tattoos, he doesn't have all sorts of, you know, pink hair or, you know, jewelry all over the place. He doesn't look like a fag, he doesn't, you know, have a sort of goofy, sarcastic personality.

He looks like he's a serious type of person, he doesn't speak very much. You know, this guy might be an enemy, he might be, you know, somebody who might harm us, us, the Jews, and all of our cronies who have been brainwashed by them to look upon the white man as a major enemy in society. And of course, all the non-whites are inherently enemies of whites, they look upon whites as competition, and they look upon them as simultaneously as a cash cow.

So they're doing whatever they can to undermine us at all times. And they're always singling out and targeting white men specifically, because that's the greatest threat to their tyranny, is the intelligent white man. So that means they're always attacking us everywhere we go, in every environment we're in.

In terms of the mind, the way they attack us mentally, they're always using demoralization tactics, all these other cunning little stratagems and games, these cowardly behavioral games where they act out street theater in front of you, you know, try to find out how you're going to react to certain circumstances. They'll, for example, they'll take a non-white out in public. If they're like a churchy, they go around on the Sunday with their non-whites in public, and then they'll try to throw them in front of your face, you know, virtue signal in front of you.

And then if they see you don't behave in a way like you have a negative attitude toward that, or you don't smile in the face of a non-white, then they're going to look upon you as potentially a so-called racist. And then they're going to further target you on that basis. So even on a behavioral level, if you want to call that a phenomenological level, they're going to be targeting you because you display behavior that is not basically effeminate, that is not the behavior of a cuck.

So they're going to be coming after you. And this is part of their gang stalking protocol where they have the whole community, they turn it against people, and they get individual members of the community to try to, you know, bait you and try to entrap you to make statements so they can gather more information on you. They try to find out more about you.

And that's one of the, that's like a sort of net that you get trapped in, in this sort of spider's web of a society, this spy society. You are like one of the flies, and they're trying to trap you inside the net through all these secret means, spying on people, informing on people, eavesdropping, listening to the, on the other side of the walls of your residence or, you know, whatever it may be. Anytime you look a little bit conservative, they will target you.

So even these normie conservatard types, the hunting and fishing types, even they are being targeted and are being looked upon as a sort of security threat to society. This is part of this total Jewish panopticon that they're trying to construct. Yeah, it's basically like a pan, a war, a ubiquitous war against white people from all sides, from all perspectives.

So we have to be aware of that. Yeah, yeah, yeah. You mean that they're trying to destroy our people, both socially, racially, psychologically, financially, and to eliminate us in one way or another.

That's why we always have to keep in mind that security, it goes beyond the physical. It's always spiritual first, and it's physical at the lowest level. But beyond that too, they're targeting you.

For example, if you go to a grocery store, they target you, they poison the food, they've got the whole monopoly on the food supply. It's not just Monsanto genetically modified foods, it's that they actually inject poison into food, literally, with Botox needles. They poison it with glyphosate, with other sorts of chemical poisons.

So when you're buying a Starbucks coffee, let's pretend somebody actually goes to that monstrosity of a corporation and buys their white guilt coffee, you know, if you look like a conservative type, they're going to pay people to poison your coffee. If they've targeted you, if they look upon you as a subversive, a white racist, then they are literally going to pay the people who work there to poison your coffee, to put poison into it. That sounds crazy, but it is a reality.

So that's something that people need to understand, that you can't trust anybody in this society because they've been brainwashed to look upon you, the normal white heterosexual man of race or somewhat more healthy-minded white male, white man. They have been brainwashed to look upon you as a terrorist, basically. So according to them, it's fair game to do whatever they want to you.

So what is the option to, because my suspicion is that the best protection, the best defense is not to be recognized. I would say that that's a serious, one of the most effective solutions. But how to protect ourselves with all these systems of face recognitions, and they admitted years ago, I believe, four or five years ago, that they could literally read our thoughts.

I mean, there was a system, I believe, developed in, oh my God, I forgot, is it some of these Judeo-controlled high-tech countries? I forgot, maybe it was America or even Israel, that they claimed that they could read alpha waves and on the basis of the results, they could suggest what is your thoughts. And before that, there was all these Y-detectors that were not really very... Polygraph. Polygraph, yeah, that they were not really very reliable, but still there were a step towards their dream to totally control your thoughts and your process.

Yeah, that's definitely the Jewish megalomaniac's dream is to control every single thing at all times, to have total control and total power. That's their megalomaniacal mentality. But there are such technologies that what they do every time you go around, if you're targeted, if you're a targeted individual in their gang-stalking program, which is called community policing, they'll take their phone, they have a specialized app for their cellular phone, the people who are part of this community policing, maybe some people might want to infiltrate that, pretend they want to register for community policing, and then maybe become a part of that.

And then they can expose it from within. That might be some idea for people. Might be a bit of a risk, though, to stick your neck out in that way.

But if it's clandestine, you might be able to get away with it. What they do, they have a cell phone app where they can read the frequencies, the biometric frequencies that are emitted by your energy bodies. So what they do, they point the cell phone at you, they capture your image, and then they activate the app and then put it back in your pocket.

And then that cell phone can pick up your energetic frequencies. And then they take your energetic frequencies and they put them into a database so that they can remotely neural monitor you. And then they can use their directed energy weapons to manipulate your consciousness and to manipulate your autonomic nervous system.

So they can basically beam microwave weapons at you through the walls, and they could make you urinate, or they could, in public, they could basically beam it at the base of your skull. And they can pretty much make you dysfunctional or, you know, knock you out, make you unconscious. So there are many strategies and means of overcoming this, and that's discussed in that handbook, which is basically for if you're that targeted, then your strategies are definitely limited.

But it's discussed in quite a lot of detail in that handbook. I won't get into too much of the details, but it deals with pretty much shielding yourself and then, most importantly of all, controlling your mind, doing concentration exercises, third eye meditations, a means of trying to transcend what is going on around you. Otherwise, they could basically drive you crazy, which is what their intention is.

They could basically try to drive you insane and then get you to go and kill somebody or kill yourself or, you know, complain to the police that people are trying to attack you.

And then it seems so implausible that they'd actually do something like that, that anybody would, that they would just be able to justify putting you into a mental institution. And that's basically their strategy.

So either you go to the mental institution or you go to the jail for assaulting somebody or you kill yourself. So in either case, they can set you up to murder you. They can put you in the jail and then they can, you know, poison your food or beam you through the walls with their particle beam weapons that they have.

This is all part of fourth generational warfare. And that's basically what we're in at this point in time, is most of the government and the people, just like in the Soviet Union, have been conscripted to play a role as a, as a more or less an apparatchik of the system to attack individuals in the system, their own people, basically. And this was spoken about in the protocols of the elders of Zion with, you know, that they will make this looked upon as a civic duty, as a civic virtue to spy on your own people and so forth, on the goyim, to get them to spy on themselves.

And there's that quote of the Jewish banker, you know, I don't need to fear the peasants because I can always pay half the peasants to enslave the other half. And that's basically their strategy in a nutshell. So of course, the most significant principle is to be as clandestine as you possibly can be.

Don't fall for the trap that you should show your face or stand up, you know, be a public spokesperson, because that's basically a recipe for disaster. Because once they know who you are and where you are, then you're going to be targeted and they're going to be imposing this community policing terrorist campaign on you. And there's almost nothing you can do about it, because they've got the whole society against you and they've got advanced weaponry and everything else.

And all you can do is just try to resist it and defend yourself through shielding yourself with electromagnetic shielding devices and magnets and creating electromagnetic fields around yourself with high power magnets to try to buffer the fields that are beamed at you and so forth. Beyond that, there's really not much you can do. But if you're just an average person who's not targeted in this gang stalking community policing protocol, then obviously you're still, you know, you can still blend into the crowd.

You can be a gray man. It might be a good idea for some people out there if they really if they live in an environment with a lot of left wing people, it might be a good idea if they actually, you know, looked to some extent, you know, not overly conservative in dress, you know, they maybe dress up in like some of these leftist clothes or whatever. Maybe not taking it too far, but, you know, just looking a little bit a little bit less conservative if they're forced to live in a place like that.

This was my idea. Basically, this is a thing that we talked years ago in the Bulgarian National Alliance that you must look basically like, I suppose, the modern National Socialists would call it normie. But we thought that we must look different from the most of the stereotypes of these, what is this national socialist, fascist or whatever, right wing.

So we try to look as normal as possible. This is the thing that we in the in the in the in the of course, this is back in the time normal was rather normal. Now, it's I'm not sure what is normal right now.

But let's say in Bulgaria, normal is relatively normal. I'm not sure in the Western world what is what is really normal right now. It depends on where you are, like what specific environment you're in.

If you're in a more conservatory environment, you know, with a lot of hunting and fishing people, people who are actually somewhat normal and somewhat decent, then you can blend in more effectively there and not have that sort of clash of your personality with your your outer appearance, your true personality. But if you're in like an urban environment, then you're going to be pretty much sticking out like a sore thumb if you dress like an alt-right type of person, you know, just with this fashy haircut or whatever the case, that'll be like a red flag against you and people will start targeting you. They'll start monitoring you and then they'll start singling you out.

It's basically a witch hunt against the heterosexual white male at this time in history. So you have to unfortunately clothe yourself or cloak yourself in whatever the whatever the normal average garments are so that you don't stick out excessively. Obviously, people should relocate to the countryside if they could or to a smaller environment.

Of course, of course, I mean this will negate some of the outer influence on your daily life and your psyche and your social life, I suppose, because we are more or less imprisoned in this system. And unfortunately, we are limited to that system and one of the great desires that most of the national societies have today is to create a parallel society. Unfortunately, my point is that if this society still exists, if this propaganda structure still exists, these parallel societies could be targeted.

Targeted with drones too and that's another... With everything. Yeah, exactly. True enough, they can poison the wells, they can do whatever they want, they could send in basically, you know, busloads of Antifa people or whatever, you know, non-white criminal gangs, set them up there and then they could just chew apart the society, which is why it's more or less impossible to do that.

The only thing you can do is basically, which is what many people are doing at this time, is just basically leave the cities and then go to the nearest sort of wider area and then from there, you know, try to form groups and networks. And of course, that's an inevitable necessity, but still it's not going to be, you know, guaranteed to really have long-term success, as you had said or implied, because they can just, you know, do the same thing in the smaller towns that they do in the big cities and basically chase you over the whole of the earth if they really wanted to. Yeah, that's why I think that the whole system, well, it's doomed to fail, but also it must fail.

Right, exactly. Because otherwise, we will be like sitting ducks for whatever they have. They could experiment with high-tech weapons, they could use the old accusation, they could say that we are some kind of doomsday cult or whatever, they could send their luck.

Yeah, exactly, exactly. I heard too that there's actually a discussion about the aerosolization of this vaccine and just dumping it on top of people in chemtrail form. So that's another thing that people should do is get HEPA filters to cover up the air ducts or air vents of your residence.

It's another thing, but unfortunately, I don't have enough knowledge on that. I'm looking for a guy that knows a little bit more about stuff like building shelters, building nuclear bunkers, if you want, things like that. Then maybe we'll make a lecture on that stuff.

But also, because obviously, you can hide a lot of things underground, a lot of food, water, products, and maybe this will provide you very important supplies if shit hits the fan. But also, you must take in mind that the modern day have a lot of ways to find you even underground. I mean, all these thermal sensors, even in the, I believe, in the 1990s, in the first Gulf War, they used an algorithm to look at the sand dunes in the desert.

And a lot of these supposedly natural hills, they found that the Iraqis were buried their tanks. They found that on the base of algorithm that is comparing the sand pattern. Interestingly enough, so they had these technologies like, what, 30 years ago? And of course, the safest way is not to look for you.

So basically, to hide somewhere that they are not looking for. But still, I must insist that if this system, if this giant Jewish death machine is still operational, the people that will try to separate themselves will be under constant threat. Even if they manage to hide themselves for one generation, and their kids are still normal and healthy, the system will still try to indoctrinate your kids.

And because it's very, the system is very attractive, showing all these very flashy lifestyle to the young kids. Right, especially females are attracted to that sort of thing. Yeah, yeah, exactly.

And I will give you an example. I've watched a documentary about a very strange Christian fundamentalist group called Mennonites. Maybe you know something about the Mennonites? Yeah, there are quite a lot of those Hutterites and Mennonites in North America.

Yeah, in that case, there were Germans and Dutch that moved in Central America in the 70s. So very conservative. They're almost like the Amish to some degree.

I'm not sure what are the differences with the Amish, but let's say that they're a little bit more modern than the Amish. And they're banning everything. They believe, and rightly so, even though I will disagree with some of their concepts, of course, but they believe that the smartphone is from Satan.

Of course, if you think a little bit about it, they're right. But from what I've got, even with these very fundamentalist conservative communities, they are still indoctrinated with Jewish propaganda, of course, through the Bible. But also, the modern society managed to infiltrate them.

And a lot of people start to adopt, for example, smartphones, supposedly to help them to do good deeds, to cure diseases, or to obtain information, or to study the Bible, of course. They infiltrate, basically. Yeah, and this slowly and gradually, they're managing to indoctrinate the people.

And to create this... Fragmentation of their community? Yeah, yeah. And of course... I see that a lot here, too, where I am. A lot of these, whatever they are, Mennonites or whatever, Hutterites, they all have their little cell phones, and they're all part of the gang stalking protocol that they work for the Jews, because the Jews know that they bought their loyalty through their Christian religion, so they worship Jews.

And, you know, they're even allowing, like, Filipinos and Mexicans into their community and so forth. This is rather disgusting. The people that I've watched were, I believe, at least, they were 100% Germans and Dutch.

Good people, good people, definitely good people, but brainwashed by the Jewish religion, so... Yeah, that's unfortunately the case. That's why all those communities are left alone, because they're serving the Jews, you know, by being farm slaves to the Jews, because they do all the work on the farms, and then the Jews just rip them off and sell their produce and so forth. Yeah, yeah.

So there's no way you can hide, basically, in a community, because you're going to be targeted anyway. Even the Jews, kosher slaves are targeted, so there's just no possibility that you can escape. The only thing that I can think of is not to be recognized, your community not to be recognized as conservative.

But the only thing that this will do is to buy you time, because even if they don't recognize you as some kind of Nazi group or whatever, they will still target you on the basis of your conservatism. I mean, even these Mennonites are targeted, even though they're indoctrinated by the same Jewish Bible. But they're targeted because, first of all, they're Germans and Dutch, and second of all, because they have some kind of conservative patriarchal principles.

So these people must be targeted because these principles could be brought to the next generation. They want to destroy these principles in any shape or form. So basically, these communities are basically like a small form of experiments to how to destroy all kinds of conservatism and patriarchy.

I've seen that too in some of these communities. The media will make a lot of smear campaigns about them, about how the younger generations are trying to break free from the community, but it's just so hard, blah, blah, blah. So in other words, they're trying to pretend that they're like prisoners who are kept as slaves on these communities.

Can you elaborate a little bit on that? Well, basically, the media will just make a story about one of the local Mennonite or Hutterite communities, and they'll say, oh, the younger generations, they want to break away to be more modernized, but they're being kept back by the elders of the community and so forth. And then they'll also do stories on something like, you know, there'll be false reports of pedophilia and so forth, which is another typically Jewish slander that they put forth to discredit others. So there basically is no community that you can really form that will be allowed to perpetuate itself.

Craig Cobb in Lathe, North Dakota, proved that trying to buy up that small little town. And even if you didn't wave guns around or act like a yahoo, doesn't really matter because the whole of society is brainwashed to attack anybody who's white and is pro-white. So if they see just a bunch of white people going to certain areas and they're not white, and if those white people in those certain areas don't accept those who are not white in their areas, or if they don't overtly enable them to come there, then they're going to be associated with white supremacy and so forth.

So basically, that's the way it works with the Jewish system. They've got Masonic lodges in every town. They've got churches in every town.

And then they've got these universities and college campuses, as Siegeman had spoken of before. All of these sort of like Trojan horses and spy networks that they use as a means of tearing apart traditional societies, you know, inoculating people with their poisonous ideologies, trying to make them important, make them feel like they're important by going along with a program, progressivist program, and then have only the Christian alternatives so that it's always the Christian versus communist false dichotomy. So either you are a Christian who goes to the church and condemns anybody who isn't a Christian who goes to the church, or else you're a leftist progressivist.

So one way or the other, the Jews win and you lose. Because they're both all targeting the white so-called racists. Yeah.

Together, they're basically just two sides of the same coin, the same equality coin. So, and again, I will say that maybe we can buy some time if we create these communities in the countries that are not in the, how to say, in the epicenter of the Jewish control matrix. Like, obviously... The Five Eyes countries? Yeah.

And obviously, the United States could be a very dangerous country. Also, some of the more developed Western European countries. Australia could be dangerous.

Most of these countries that are very important for the Jewish matrix, that they could, they obviously cannot afford to lose Germany. They cannot afford to lose England, France. Most importantly, the United States.

Yeah. Australia also, especially, is very hot, you know, progressivist. It's in the vanguard of progressivism for the gang-stalking protocol and all the technology that they're employing against the population, because it's one of the major big tech creators.

On the other hand, Australia had a lot of, quite large territory, obviously. But you're not going to be able to get there because they'll be able to see you by satellite, right? Yeah, yeah. Of course, if the satellite still works, we set that already that until the system exists as a whole, it will be very hard to hide from it.

But still, I believe that there are still places in the earth to hide and to create these communities eventually, that to operate on the small scale and not to attract any attention. And of course, you can say about that the satellite could target you, of course. But eventually, if you just operate and they're not aware of your existence, maybe this will give you some time for the next phase.

Yeah, you have to do what you can to try to conceal yourself, try to be a gray man in society. Obviously, one of the best solutions to being a gray man is just to not involve yourself over much with people outside of a certain group or whatever. Don't be overly friendly or open with people.

And if you're going to be talking to people, then only talk to them within the kosher paradigm. Don't bother introducing any topics that are the slightest bit different. Yeah.

Yeah. Yeah. This was what I tried to say.

And of course, there are a lot of ways to how to say, to train your awareness, your ability to adapt to society, so to say, to to recognize the dangers and, of course, to basically to to protect yourself and your family, your relatives, your your comrades, if you will. So the the first principle is basically gray man strategy concealment through creating the appearance of norm, normalcy or normality, and ideally non nothing that would relate to or suggest what people would associate with violence. In other words, if you've got a bunch of females around you, sometimes it's better to to look like a faggot than it is to look like one of these, you know, whatever, whatever they would find offensive or dangerous or something like that.

Yeah, more or less like that, though, even though it's honestly, I'm not absolutely sure that being a faggot is absolutely gray man gray man strategy. Yeah, maybe, maybe the nearest future, maybe the nearest future. At the present time, though, if you're in an urban environment where you're like around a university or something, you know, the only way that you can really cope with these freaks is being like a sarcastic type of goofy type of person.

Yeah, yeah, yeah. You can't really be a serious person or they'll just come at you and target you just on sight. That's what happens to me all the time.

Everywhere I go, I get these non whites or these leftists. They'll deliberately just run at you basically for no reason, just because they're irrational. Like I'm crossing the sidewalk across the crosswalk and I get this red skinned female like, you know, I'm walking straight and then she deliberately walks right at me from like the other side of the crosswalk, tries to slam into me and so forth.

Or I'll walk along the street and I'll get a bunch of Chinese. They'll be walking like four abreast or, you know, feminist females. They'll walk four abreast right on the sidewalk trying to slam into me.

You know, that's sort of a juvenile, aggressive behavior on their part. Yeah. But the only way you can circumvent that is to try to be like a goofy type of fag type.

Either that or just, you know, don't care and, you know, slam into them. But you're just going to call attention to yourself. Absolutely.

Absolutely. The other thing, of course, being normal and things like that, the problem is how to keep, as I said, you need at one hand, you need some kind of secrecy, obviously, and to conceal yourself and your ideas. At the other hand, you need a certain numbers of close associates to help you in your endeavors.

So that's obviously maybe we could call that the second principle of security would be a strength in numbers that if you don't have anyone on your side, if you're an isolate, then you're a very easy target for people because they know that all you are is you and all you have is yourself. You don't have a witness. They can set you up and frame you.

They can, you know, throw a bunch of baby strollers at you and then take pictures of you, have one of their operatives snap photos of you and then spread the photos around. And they could try to frame you as a pedophile or they could throw a bunch of Jews or minority children, non-white children in front of you, which has happened to me plenty of times. They'll throw the Jews right in front of me and then they'll have their operatives snap photos and spread it around the community, you know, pretending that I'm, you know, a dangerous person that I'm looking to attack Jews or whatever the case.

That's basically the, one of the frame up type of gimmicks that Jews use. And all of their little puppets adopt the same behavior because they're, they're mind controlled by the Jews and mimic their behavior. If you don't have witnesses, you're going to be more likely to be set up and framed.

So that's the sort of necessity is to have somebody have your back. And obviously, in this movement, you got a lot of backstabbers. You don't really have so much in a way of people who are, have your back.

So if you, if you try to do some activism and then, you know, you get caught or you, you get harassed by people, then most of the people in this movement, they don't really give a damn. You know, they're not on your side, even maybe just in word, but they don't actively do anything to really assist you. Absolutely.

That's the unfortunate thing about this movement is it's become fragmented through this divisive pettiness without any real justification or, or real motive. And if somebody criticizes somebody else or questions or calls into question who they are and they have, you know, legitimate motives or intentions, then they should not be attacked because it should be a question of discussion, right? Like, why does this person think this way? Okay. Are they, are their concerns or questions legitimate? Was it reasonable for them to think, you know, these, these certain thoughts, where were they motivated by good motives, in other words? And if they were, then why would you attack them? You know, just spiteful, petty nonsense.

And that's what, that's what the enemy wants. They want infighting and divisive, you know, whatever sort of divisions they can introduce. So you have to learn to rise above that sort of nonsense because it's not going to benefit anybody except your enemies.

Yeah. So that's all part of the psychological warfare. Exactly.

People become very aware of that particular topic. Exactly. That this is, this is a little bit off topic, but passivity, passivity is one of the biggest problems in, in, in, I'm not even talking about movement.

This is not movement because they're not moving anywhere. It's just circle because it's circle jerk basically. So the passivity is a, is a, is a problem.

And most of these people that are online, they don't have a real time experience. So I can understand why they don't want to have any type of real time, real organization experience, because this will dox them, they will expose themselves and things like that. I understand absolutely their reasoning.

But at the other hand, at the other hand, a little bit older guys with kind of organizational experience, but like me, they knew how to operate and what to do. And also they're not afraid to do a lot of things because. Well you have to take risks because if you don't take risks, you don't get any reward.

Yeah. Yeah. And when, when you're targeted and everybody is targeted, cause everybody's in it together as a white person, you're going to be targeted.

Doesn't really matter if you go out of your way to say, I hate white people or I just love everybody equally. Nobody gives a damn if they're not white, they're going to come after you. They're just going to use you.

They're going to use you to attack your own race. And then when they, if they can achieve that, if they can get rid of the healthier minded men of race, who actually have the blood memory in their consciousness of their own race and tradition, then they're just going to target the unhealthy minded race traders afterwards and then just destroy them all. I'm pretty sure that's what happened in the Soviet union.

I'm not too sure on the details. Yeah, basically you're more or less right. I mean, they, as I said before the conversation started, they used the different type of forces to destroy the Russian empire.

And then they smashed these nationalists and anarchists and these leftists or centralists, they were used against the old system, against the Tsarist Russia. And then they smashed them. So they are using all these elements for just, basically they're doomed.

These people are doomed. And the same with so-called racialists that are not doing anything. They're doomed in one way or another, because even their existence actually is a threat for the totalitarian system.

Yeah, because they don't, the Jews don't want you to communicate even the slightest thing about white people to know what they're doing, because then you could communicate it to somebody else and it could replicate. That's why they shot everybody on site who had the protocols of the elders of Zion in the Soviet union, because they don't want anybody to know what they're doing. And that obviously proves the truth of the protocols right there, that if they have to kill people who have it, obviously then that proves its legitimacy, that it correlates with reality and that's probably what their plan is.

Yeah, yeah, exactly. So you can only defense the best defenses and offense, and that still necessitates what could be construed as defensive measures. So we have the first principle is concealment or the gray man strategy.

The second principle is strength in numbers or group activism. And the third principle would be activity over passivity, both as an individual and as a collective group. You cannot perpetuate your own survival as an island unto itself.

No man is an island unto itself, as a quotation has it. You can't be a libertarian living for yourself, smoking your weed in some trendy little chalet that you bought because you're rich or famous, because they're just going to send the gangs after you and kill you and take your property anyway. And that's the fate of a lot of these expats in South America.

You know, they'll go to South America with their money and then they'll buy up some rich property, have concrete walls around it, have paid bodyguards and so forth. And then the bodyguards will just side with the indigenous people and they'll just kill their paymaster, take all their wealth. Absolutely.

And if they're their own bodyguards, if they're some sort of retired military veteran, if they're their own bodyguards, then they're going to be against a whole town or a whole large area of non-whites who know where they are. They're like, oh, the gringos are there on the hill. Pedro, let us go and take their stuff, Pedro.

And then they'll just crash right through your concrete wall with a bulldozer or something or whatever. They'll shoot your dogs, poison your guard dogs, poison your well. There's no way you can get away from these types just by having a lot of money for yourself.

It has to be an active process. Yeah, but a lot of our elites, they're convinced by our enemies that they are actually different from the people that they rule over. So basically, for example, the case in America, I'm pretty sure that these elites, these types in the past, they followed British Israelism, right? That one way or another mutated into a Christian identity.

But the modern elites like Bill Gates, for example, they're coming from these older families, like elite families. But what is their ideology to avoid with the Jews? I think Bill Gates is a Jew. I'm almost certain of that.

But those who are white elites, they're all basically either Freemasons or they're tied into sort of a luminous ideology, theosophy, anthroposophy, whatever new age variant of that. Or else they'll be Christians and the Christianity that they'll espouse is a Zionist, Jew worship, globalist Christianity, which is what Christianity really is in reality. It's just basically a primitive communism, a egalitarian communist ideology, like Oswald Spengler called it.

Christianity is a grandmother of Bolshevism. It's basically what it is. So all of these people, they're all globalists, and they're all thinking that they can stand above reality, that they're not needing to be related to their own people, that they can be beyond that according to their moral values or whatever, or their esoteric values where they think that they're a soul that's evolving, that's going to go from planet to planet in all these theosophical rounds and chains.

If they do good works and they develop their soul, or they commit all these atrocities and these rituals and their lodges and so forth, and then this way it empowers them and then they can ascend to higher planetary chains according to the theosophical worldview. They will become one with the higher consciousness or whatever these new age bullshitters are talking about. They will start the new root race, as Blavatsky said, or whatever.

Yeah, yeah, this is their agenda. So the parties care about their own race, basically? Yeah, yeah, yeah, but they don't see themselves like a part of our race. Right, they think that they're enlightened, that they transcend racial realities.

Yeah, yeah. So that's why the Jews are using them, actually, like they used in the past the Masons, and I believe that they will get rid of the Masons like it's written in the protocols. But they did that probably in the Soviet Union too, didn't they? Did they assassinate all the Freemasons? Yeah, they sent them in the concentration camps and they confiscated their occult books, and to a large extent they eliminated the Freemasons.

But also I must tell you that Trotsky, he wrote a book, his research on Freemasonry while he was in prison, in the Russian imperial prison. Was it like a Masonic book or was it a critique of Masonry? It's a research on Masonry. So we don't know exactly what was the book because he lost his manuscript while he was trying to escape the prison.

And he was sorry, according to his own words, he was sorry all his life because he lost his research. Now it is kind of, I wonder what would be the research, because in the evil imperial prison of Russia, he had access to a quite rich library. That's usually the way they put somebody like Antonio Gramsci in the prison or something like that, and they get a nice leisure time to just write and do whatever they want.

Yeah, exactly. If they ever imprison any white, like Bill White, William White of America, then they're going to be torturing you. They're going to be depriving you of all rights, waterboarding you, you know, whatever, putting you into rooms with black mold in the air conditioning vents so that they can give you like tuberculosis type conditions, poison your food, whatever it may be.

You know, they don't have the same sort of regard for others as at least white people historically have, which might be a result of Christian mind control too, to have too much sympathy or regard for your enemy. So what we could say more about the protection, self-defense and... Well, that basically covers a sort of general broad overview of security. Obviously, you have to take into consideration what your objectives are in life.

What do you need in order to live, and how can you secure those necessities? You need food, water, shelter, heat, physical security, communications. How are you going to secure your food when it's being poisoned by Jews, when they dump chemtrails in the air, when they control all the mega GMO corporations like Monsanto? Do you have a greenhouse? Do you have a fish pond? Do you live in the woods? Do you have crossbows? Do you have, you know, hunting rifles? Do you have shotguns that you can hunt duck and geese with? Do you have, you know, firearms license, hunting license? Do you have a bow and arrow or compound bow? Do you know how to hunt? Do you know how to clean and dress animals? Do you have a skinning knife? Do you have a freezer or something like a large freezer for meat? Do you know how to dry meat? Do you know how to can meat? Do you know how to can butter? Do you know how to homestead and so forth? Do you have a chicken coop? Do you know how to... Do you have feed for the chickens? All these very minute particulars related to all these necessary things are essential to cover, of course. Water.

Do you have a water purifier? Do you have, you know, a water distiller, a non-electric water distiller that you can distill water to get rid of all the poisons in it? Because if they target you, they're going to poison your well and they're going to try to poison you and your water supply. And this has happened to me before where they poison the water and the water ends up looking like orange in color or something like that. And then the air.

Do you have HEPA filters on your place to block any chemtrails? So what these people do, these creatures will do, they'll release noxious substances like poison in the air and then they'll blow them into your house if you have your windows open and so forth. That way it blows all the poison into your place. They could dump it in chemtrail form all over you.

This reminds me of a book written by a Negro faggot that is hating obviously the white race and he wrote a book. I'm not sure what was about the book. I've just read an article about the race war and he said how he's imagining how he's killing his white fellows and he's walking them in a house and he's filling the air valves with poison gas or something like that.

Yeah, that's a pretty recent case. I think Randy Martinez talked about that in the Martinez perspective. He talked about how this spoiled nigger got a free job as a professor and he's writing about like, yeah, yeah, I'm a victim.

Meanwhile, you're a spoiled coon who gets everything for free. You're not on the streets like all the white people are on the streets. So who are you to complain? You spoiled monkey.

But you can see that they're just ramping up for the race war. Once they throw BLM at people, it's going to be, you know, they're going to go just like they did in the 60s with the Watts riots and various other of the riots they had. They had all over the states with the Negroes during that time.

They would go to people's suburbs and burn them up with Molotov cocktails. George Lincoln Rockwell wrote his article Nightmare on that, which discusses, you know, like a hypothetical scenario. You know, you're watching TV and all of a sudden the lights go out.

Then, you know, you hear in the background some noise on the street and you try to contact your neighbors, you know, what's happening, so forth, but you can't find the cause of it. Then all of a sudden you hear, you know, you hear some loudspeakers or something or, you know, whatever. And then it's the Negroes coming into your area and so forth.

And then you wish you had, you know, kept your service revolver, stuff like this. That's basically what they're going to be doing. They're going to be coming to your neighborhood literally to try to murder you.

Use Molotov cocktails, mortar rounds, whatever to basically blow up your house, create fires all over. And in urban environments especially, this is going to be very, you know, almost a near certainty they're going to be doing that. They've already done it with the smashing the windows, smashing buildings and burning cars and so forth.

That'll just escalate because the summertime is when they always stage these riots, because that's when it gets hot out. When it gets hot out, people get stupid, you know, their brains fry in their skulls. It's crime time in the summertime.

That'll be the major, most serious threat in that handbook attached to the video, hopefully, the link. There's a chart for security threat level, which the authors divvied up into three levels, least immediate, intermediate threat, and immediate threat, or most intense. And the most intense threat, that's going to be in urban zones.

That's going to be where lots of non-whites are concentrated, obviously. So obviously, you're going to want to try to get away from there. Anybody who lives currently in an urban environment who doesn't have to be there, probably you should leave unless you want to stay there and fight.

It depends on what your motives are, of course. But there's going to be definitely serious heat coming down in the summertime. I can definitely predict that.

So that means you're going to want to have necessary security implements. Whatever those may be specifically depends on the environment, depends on the threat level. You know, you have to assess where you are, what your objectives are, and then what you need to achieve those objectives.

That would be like the fourth principle of security, which is, I guess, situational suitability, or whatever you want to call it, the context for your equipment. If you're going to be in an urban environment, you're going to need more serious security paraphernalia, both in terms of purely armor protection, you know, maybe ballistic vest, stab vest, maybe even a Kevlar helmet or a Kevlar face mask, Kevlar gloves, and so forth, slash resistant gloves, depends on the severity of your environment. The more intense, the more protection you'll need, and the more high power offensive weaponry, depending on the legality of where you are, and so forth.

But once it hits a certain point, you know, legality doesn't even really matter at that point. Yeah. But also the best protection is to be hidden.

This is the best protection. Right. So you don't want to go and, you know, join the riots or the rallies or whatever, you know.

Yeah. Don't put yourself into a situation where, you know, like a lot of these social justice warrior types, they'll be targeted, you know, it doesn't really matter if you're for the white, the Negroes or, you know. It's, well, it's basically distance from the large cities, a distance from a large source of any kind of pollution, chemical, biological, microwaves, whatever.

And also a distancing from people that could be dangerous or unreliable. Because drug dealers and alcoholics, especially. Yeah.

And, yeah, that's it. And, of course, any kind of protection, a hideout that is, what is the term, that could provide you additional protection from threats coming from above. This also must be considered.

Right. Yeah. That's why something like a sea can house would be a good idea for people.

Yeah. Yeah. Or if you're in a normal house, you can have like aluminum siding on your house that will help to, you know, prevent any sort of directed energy weapons or scalar weapons that planes can beam at you.

They actually do that. They fly their planes over your residence and they can, obviously, they can target you through there. They can see you through radar.

They do have military, obviously, that technology. And then they can just blast you with scalar weapons or whatever you want to call those particle beam weapons from the airplanes. They actually literally do that.

And then they can use drones and so forth. They could try to target you with an IED on a drone or something like that. I could definitely see them building to that point where they just start to, you know, drone striking people.

So the best thing is like, you know, like Mao Zedong says, you know, the gorilla, if that's a quote, swims in a sea of the fishes or the whatever, swims with the fish, with his fellow, with the school. Right. You're blending into the mass, not sticking out over much.

But the danger there is that if you're in the mass, you're going to be in the crosshairs too when it becomes hot. Yeah. Yeah.

So, you know, you don't want to be too isolated and you don't want to be too in the mix of things unless that's your goal, of course. And of course, you must have, as we said in the previous time, you must be supplied well, have some kind of basic idea what you're doing. So some kind of plan, some kind of basic training on the things that could be life saving.

And also to have some kind of a back plan or reserve plan and also reserve hideouts because everything could change in the last moment. Right. You have to think of yourself sort of as an action figure in an action movie where you're basically targeted by everybody and you got to go from one vehicle to the next vehicle.

You know, you got all these thugs and gangsters tailing after you, basically like a James Bond type of scenario. You know, once all the enemy comes after you. Yeah.

Yeah. And if we have some kind of any additional thoughts on that question. I think negotiable items and barter items are very important to have on your personal times.

You should always have like a miniature bug out bag on your person, wherever you go. In this security handbook, there's one of the diagrams is this seven topological layers of security diagram, which basically outlines a sort of, you know, layers that you would be involved in starting from yourself. You're the center of this diagram.

And then it radiates outwards to like the whole of the sum total of being, you know, you're in yourself and you got your bug out bag, you got your vehicles, you got your allies, you got your dwelling, you got the region that you're living in and the actual events that are transpiring. So it's just a holistic type of conception. You know, you might be in a little house somewhere, you know, you got concrete walls, you got, you know, a well, you got all your food stocks and firearms, but you have no communications, the outside world.

So you don't know what's happening outside. You don't know when the chaos is ending. You don't know who is doing what, who is the winner, who is the loser.

So you can't know what to do. You don't have any understanding. You don't have that information.

So communication is essential. And that implies coordination with others in whatever area you're in. And that implies an ability to gather intel of the proper nature.

So maybe you might want to buy yourself a drone that has a, you know, a wireless camera on it or something. You can fly it around for security purposes, whatever the case. Put up a bunch of pinhole cameras all over the place, cameras like they use for hunting.

You can position them in trees or on buildings. People don't need to know about it. You know, you can go to the roof of your high-rise building and you don't have a camera set up right there.

Nobody's going to know or care. Something along those lines. And then you can have basically the whole of your area mapped off and you could have it, you know, all these cameras working, giving you a live feed so that you can basically monitor the whole environment where you're in.

The more complex the environment, the more cameras you'd want to have, taking all the angles into consideration. And then you can basically, you know, like a video game, you could basically fly your drone out there and then do whatever you have to do. Or, you know, communicate with other people through walkie-talkies or something and say, okay, this street's covered, that street, you know, the non-whites are coming down this way, so forth.

So you basically have to think about like an urban guerrilla type of scenario if you're in that type of environment. If you're in that type of environment, but it's also good to manage preemptively to escape this environment because I don't think that your chances of survival in an eventual collapse in a city environment are very high. Yeah, it's definitely not a wise place to be unless you're somebody who just wants to, you know, who is really bound to the place and you look upon that place as your home and, you know, you're not willing to ever leave it to regroup and to fight again or something, live to fight another day.

You're just wanting to go down there, then I guess that's your choice. You know, if you think that that's something that's worth the fight, then I guess that's obviously what you're helped to do. So plan for that.

Yeah, of course, you're right, but also I must add that a lot of people with families, with little children and things like that, they most likely will prefer either to organize in a larger group for bigger protection, which may or may not work, it depends, or to just change the location because it will be safer for the kids since the kids are the most vulnerable. Right, exactly, yeah. So, yeah, I think that we can continue with that topic.

A lot of things could be said about about security, self-protection. Especially integrating it with homesteading and things of that sort. Yeah, yeah.

Infrastructural security. Yeah, also internet security. A lot of things, there's an enormous amount of topics that could start with this.

Like communication security, Intel, Cypher. Yeah, even the security of banking, of cryptocurrencies. Every single thing could be connected with the security.

Yeah, it's a holistic type of paradigm that we have to think in terms of, that there's no divorcing yourself from reality. You know, you're in the midst of it and you don't have a choice to ignore it. You know, your Jesus man isn't going to save you just by praying or whatever.

That's cowardly cop-out, basically. Yeah, but that's why they created the rupture, right? This idea of rupture. Right, escapism.

Yeah. You just pray and then you can be floating away to wherever, to never-never land, basically. Before, what was the biblical term? They will be ruptured before the turbulations or something like that.

So basically, they expect to be saved before shit hits the fan, which is a very dangerous thing because they actually will want these turbulations to come. They will help the coming, supposedly, of the Messiah. Seems like that's what the Zionists are doing right now, actually, that they are basically deliberately working with the Jews to create that.

You know, they seem to delight in sabotaging civilization, those types. And the Antifa people are right there behind them, basically. This is their final goal.

I mean, their anti-wife, anti-nature, anti-white-man civilization, obviously. So, yeah. Any other thoughts on that topic? I think that's good enough for now.

We can save that, save the rest for another discussion on the security topic. Yeah, yeah. I think it was a good conversation.

And Hail Victory! Hail Victory!