LOKI HOLGER HULGAARD

STATEMENT OF ADMISSIONS

Pursuant to Section 655 of the Criminal Code, the parties make the following admissions for the purpose of dispensing with the formal proof thereof:

1. The events in question in this matter took place in the City of Medicine Hat, Province of Alberta.
2. Saamis Immigration Services Association ("Saamis") provides assistance to new immigrants to settle in Canada. They assist people from all over the world, including many visible minorities. In the last few years immigrants have mostly been coming from Africa and the Middle East. The office of Saamis is located at 659-3rd Street S.E. in the City of Medicine Hat, Alberta.
3. Yi Fan ("Fan") is an employee at Saamis. The office closed at 4:30 p.m. on May 14, 2018. On May 15, 2018, Fan arrived at Saamis at 7:30 a.m. to reopen the office. Upon arrival, she discovered a sticker had been placed on a white piece of paper sticking to the front door of Saamis. The sticker stated "Immigration = White Genocide" and "immigrantwatchcanada.org". Fan reported the foregoing to the Medicine Hat Police Service (the "MHPS") on the same day. The sticker made Fan feel very bad for the clients of Saamis as they are immigrants, as well as for herself as she immigrated to Canada in 1994; the sticker made her feel hurt and excluded from Canada.
4. Constable Michelle Brunet ("Cst. Brunet") is a Police Officer with the Medicine Hat Police Service ("MHPS"). On May 15, 2018, Cst. Brunet attended Saamis in response to the report by Fan, in paragraph 3 herein. Cst. Brunet observed the sticker as stating "Immigration = White Genocide" and "immigrantwatchcanada.org" and collected the sticker as an exhibit. This sticker will be marked as EXHIBIT. Cst. Brunet saw approximately four of the same stickers on various buildings and parking signs in the area on this date.

5. Marie-Claude Scahill ("Scahill") is an employee at Saamis. On July 3, 2018, Scahill discovered a sticker had been placed on the front door of Saamis. The sticker stated "Immigration = White Genocide" and "immigrantwatchcanada.org". Scahill reported the foregoing to the MHPS on the same day. Scahill felt it was very ignorant of the person that left this sticker as this is an Immigration office.
6. Constable Kevin Weisgerber ("Cst. Weisgerber") is a Police Officer with the MHPS. On July 3, 2018, Cst. Weisgerber attended Saamis in response to the report by Scahill, as discussed in paragraph 5 herein. Cst. Weisgerber observed the sticker on the front door that stated "Immigration = White Genocide" and "immigrantwatchcanada.org". Cst. Weisgerber attempted to peel the sticker off the door, however the sticker was destroyed in the process.
7. Chelsea Masterman ("Masterman") was a Minister at the Westminster United Church ("Westminster"), located at 101 6th Street S.E. On July 15, 2018, Masterman discovered a sticker had been placed on each of two doors at Westminster. Each sticker stated "Immigration=White Genocide" and "immigrantwatchcanada.org". Masterman reported the foregoing to the MHPS on the same day. The makeup of the congregation at Westminster is primarily Caucasian people, and also includes some visible minorities.
8. Constable Jason Ross ("Cst. Ross") is a Police Officer with the MHPS. On July 15, 2018, Cst. Ross attended the Westminster United Church in response to a report by Chelsea Masterman of finding stickers on two doors of the church. Cst. Ross observed the sticker as stating "Immigration = White Genocide" and "immigrantwatchcanada.org". Cst. Ross seized these stickers. These stickers will be marked as EXHIBIT
9. Joanne Bradbury ("Bradbury") lives in the South West of Medicine Hat. On Sunday July 15, 2018, she found pamphlets on two of her and her husband's vehicles, and one on the ground near her husband's work vehicle. She placed the pamphlets in a Ziplock bag (the pamphlets and bag, collectively, the "Pamphlets") and on July 16, 2018, gave the Pamphlets to Constable Les Roberts ("Cst. Roberts"), a Police Officer with the MHPS, at the MHPS front desk. Cst. Roberts then placed the Pamphlets on the desk of Sergeant Jeff Wieschorster ("Sgt. Wieschorster"), a Police Officer with the MHPS. These pamphlets will be marked as EXHIBIT
10. On July 17, 2018, Sgt. Wieschorster gave the Pamphlets to Constable Roger Page ("Cst. Page"), who then scanned the Pamphlets into a PDF.
11. Jeffrey Lackie ("Lackie") is the Minister of St. John's Presbyterian Church ("St. John's") located at 504 Second Street S.E. The congregation is made up of predominantly Caucasian people, and some visible minorities. St. John's Presbyterian Church has also assisted a Syrian refugee family immigrate to Canada. On July 18, 2018, Lackie discovered a sticker had been placed on a church sign at St. John's. The sticker stated "Immigration = White Genocide" and "immigrantwatchcanada.org". Lackie reported the foregoing to the MHPS on the same day, and took a photo of the sticker which will be marked as EXHIBIT . This sticker worried Lackie as the Church does work with Syrian refugee families; he was concerned for them and other immigrants.

Notes

July 29, 2021 3:36 PM

1444hrs attend 473 8 St SE to assist MCS with search warrant execution - residence of Loki Hulgaard 1983-01-05

Sgt White and Sgt Garrecht were speaking at rear of residence with Hulgaard's father, Brian Dell 1944-07-05

1452hrs Dell goes inside and I follow inside with Sgt White, Sgt Garrecht, Cst Ladouceur and Cst Johnston

Dell came downstairs as he was speaking with Hulgaard I the upstairs of the home

Cst Johnston went to go past Dell for preservation of items sought in search warrant, Dell blocked the stairs and would not let officers past

1453hrs Dell was told he was under arrest for obstruction by Cst Johnston, he took left arm and hand (Dell was also holding a cordless drill in left hand), and I took right arm. Sgt Garrecht assisted with right arm and I got cuff on right wrist

Dell uncooperative, resisting, trying to pull away, I told him to stop resisting.

Once right cuff on Dell was tense, still pulling away

I took second set of cuffs and used two to make it easier to get cuff on left wrist

Because Dell was struggling, pulling away and twisting to try and get away, there were small cuff bites on each wrist.

Sgt White C&C

1502hrs EMS requested to assess Dell

1514hrs EMS arrive on scene and assessed Dell in back of ambulance

1520hrs EMS advised all checked ok

1522hrs Dell transported to cells by Cst Guerra

Date / Time	Investigative Notes:
July 29, 2021
1342	Took position ½ block west of residence with Cst. Lado
	Advised by Sgt. White that warrant was signed and he was proceeding to the residence at 473 8 St SE
	I took alley approach with Cst. Page and Cst. Wyrostuk
	Sgt. Garrecht was talking to a belligerent male, later ID as Brian Dell and explained the warrant for a few minutes. Brian saw that I couldn't get into the back yard and laughed at me and yelled "Fuck off" I jumped the fence and Brian disappeared from view into back of house.
1455	Sgt. Garrecht and I entered after him and encountered him on the stairs with a cordless drill in his hand. Refused to allow police to go upstairs. I explained to him that we have a warrant and that he cannot obstruct police. After his refusal I took him by the hand and led him away from the stairs, he began to resist trying to tear his arms away from me. I placed him in an arm lock (left arm) Cst. Lado pulled the drill out of his hands and he continued to fight the application of handcuffs that Cst. Wyrostuk was attempting to place on him. After in cuffs he complained that his wrist was hurting and wanted medical attention.
	I began my role as searcher and to preserve evidence and went upstairs, Loki had since come down stairs and exited the residence.
	Into Loki's room and immediately noticed a computer monitor scanning for input signals, video cords and mouse and keyboard cables were hanging from the side of the monitor. I suspected that a computer was recently removed and hidden.

Notes of Cst. Adam Johnston #389

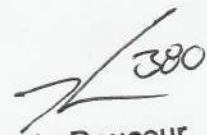

1514	Found a Zotac mini computer, still quite warm to the touch, in a file cabinet beside the bedroom door.
1519	Seagate SSD in file cabinet that served as a computer desk.
1526	USB drive located inside a brass cylinder on the desk in a pen cup
1527	2 TB HDD and Alcatel phone in file cabinet that held the Zotac computer.
1528	Toshiba laptop located in same file cabinet.
1532	Caltrops and many stink bombs and 2 ampules of Ammonium Sulphide located in a duffle bag located on bedroom shelf.
1541	HP laptop computer located in luggage inside neoprene case.
1549	Located a USB wrapped in tinfoil in a black backpack
1602	Took pictures only of Loki/Brendan's ID for residency.
1605	Located a black briefcase with handwritten Racial Theory docs.
1611	Sgt. Garrecht removed docs from a wastepaper bin and handed them to me to seize.
1619	Seized an old tower computer in the main floor back room just prior to leaving the residence.
1620	Out of residence, direct to station with Cst. Lado.
	All exhibits with exception of the old tower computer were from Loki's room.
1935	All property into locker #4 with exception of Zotac computer which was locked in tech crime holding locker to await the 487 to search the device.
	July 30, 2021
1255	Warrant picked up from Court House
1305	Exhibit #1 Zotac computer out of Tech Holding Breach Probation - Loki Halgaard.

file/info received from INSET.

related to information posted online
by Halgaard - Hate info, books, etc.

ASIS Sgt Halgaard assigned me this file and sent me the email thread that he had.

Email contained 2 PDFs attachments one had a bio page about Loki Halgaard and 20 pages containing books and descriptions of those books that he has posted to a web site called "Colchester Collection" (www.colchestercollection.com)

The 2nd PDF is a RRC message to RCMP from the RCMP indicating that they have captured a number of online images believed to be posted by Loki Halgaard and trace for a breach of his active CSO. stated that this displays "an escalation in behaviour connected to white supremacist ideology and may indicate movement towards a rad. ally-motivated incident that could threaten public safety and security."

Cst. Nicholson had originally been assigned to this file.

1325 Cst. McInnis forwarded me an email thread that he and members of RCMP had been conversing on related to this file.

Appears that Cst. Don Campbell has the most info from this point.

He says no grounds for breach of CSO. PO's order not valid until CSO expires in Oct.

Complying with order to counselling, although may not be effective.

If the link can be made between online post & Holgaard then firm grounds to breach CSO exist.

- You shall remove the manifesto written by you, and all videos you posted from the internet, within 2 weeks, and refrain from uploading any new materials of the internet or social media (MHPS file 18-20330).

On July 23, 2021, Sgt Travis Pereira of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) - Integrated National Security Enforcement Team (INSET) - notified S/Sgt Ryan Thorburn of the Medicine Hat Police Service (MHPS) about a potential breach of Hulgaard's CSO as they observed literature posted to the Internet authored by Hulgaard. Sgt Pereira provided screen shot images of the website <http://www.colchestercollection.com/authors/H/loki-hulgaard.html>

On July 26, 2021, Sgt White of the MHPS Major Crimes Section (MCS) was assigned to investigate the alleged breach of CSO. Upon searching the Internet for <http://www.colchestercollection.com/authors/H/loki-hulgaard.html>, Sgt White observed a photograph and short biography of Hulgaard, along with a list of twenty online PDF form books authored by Hulgaard. The page also showed a publish date beside each of the book titles, all of which occurred between 2018 and 2021. These books are:

- White Destiny: Stories of Destiny (2018)
- White Shrapnel: A White Philosophy (2018)
- White Praxis: A Practical-Ideological Handbook for the White Race (2019, 2020)
- Absolute White: The Collected Works of Loki Hulgaard (2019)
- White Alchemy (2019)
- White Light: Transmutation of All Values (2020)
- Universal Peace: A Story of the Jewish Hypocrisy and the Necessary Reaction Thereto (2020)
- Ubermenscheit: Becoming a Superman (2020)
- Who Is the Jew?: The Jew Identifier Document (2020)
- Anti-Alcohol: Purging the Poison (2020)
- Jewish White Genocide (2020)
- Jewish Genocide Techniques (2020)
- How ((They)) Ruined My Life: Autobiography of Loki Hulgaard (2020)
- Targeted Individual Handbook: Combating Gangstalking & Directed Energy Weapons (2020)
- Hard Target: Philosophical Counterstrike against the Cabal (2021)
- Contra Judaeus: Exposing Jewish Psychopolitics (2021)
- The Mask of Power: Hockey's Spiritual Virility (2021)
- The Despotism of Matriarchy (2021)
- Classism: An Indictment of Rich & Poor (2021)
- Security Manual: Self & Race (2021)

Upon inspection of the book titles, Sgt White discovered that each title was a link to a PDF copy of the publication in its entirety. Many of these literatures are hundreds of pages long, and contain Hulgaard's beliefs that immigration and people of the Jewish religion will cause the genocide of the whites, and that Aryans must cause death to them before they cause death to the Aryans. They also include detailed and structured templates on how the Aryans and White Supremist groups can carry out their ultimate goals. The general theme of the literature is of Hulgaard's deep rooted beliefs in the philosophies of White Supremacy. They also include many homicidal drawings. In total there are 3,091 pages of literature claiming to be authored by Hulgaard.

Sgt White also observed that all of these books are accessible and readable to the general public via Portable Document Format (PDF) version through an open source website.

Based on the the above information, on July 29, 2021, Sgt White was granted a search warrant for Hulgaard's residence, 473 8 Street SE, authorizing police to search for and seize computer devices, cellular telephones, documents, books, notes or written material that provide evidence that Hulgaard is the author of any of the online publications found at <http://www.colchestercollection.com/authors/H/loki-hulgaard.html>, and any other items found that will afford evidence with respect to the named offences.

On July 29, 2021 at 1450hrs, Sgt. White and other members of the MHPS attended to Hulgaard's residence, where they were met by Hulgaard's father, Brian Dell. Dell was non-compliant and uncooperative. Sgt. White informed Dell that police have a warrant to search the dwelling house, but did not intend to arrest anyone that day. Dell was provided a copy of the warrant. Dell obstructed police movement to the second floor where Hulgaard was isolated in a bedroom. While holding a drill with sharp drill bit in an offensive manner, Dell blocked police access to the second floor staircase preventing police access to Hulgaard's location. Dell was arrested for obstructing police and subsequently resisted arrest. Hulgaard was located and upon search of the room he was in, it was discovered that he had hastily disconnected a Zotac mini computer from its components and was attempted to conceal it as police were entering the residence. When found, the computer and its cords were hot to the touch.

Hulgaard was cooperative and was explained the search warrant. He waited outside with Sgt. Czember while MHPS members conducted the search.

The search warrant resulted in the seizure of the following items which were located in the bedroom belonging to Hulgaard:

- Zotac Computer;
- Alcatel cellular phone;
- Internal 2 TB hard drive;
- Seagate Solid State hard drive;
- Camo folding knife;
- Fillet knife;
- Silver USB inside;
- USB Drive;
- Lexar 16 GB drive;
- Racial Theory Documents;
- Flare gun;
- 2 boxes of caltrops;
- 2 ampules of ammonium sulfide;
- Toshiba Satellite laptop;
- HP Pavilion laptop.

On July 30, 2021, Sgt. White then obtained a second search warrant to search the contents of the electronic devices seized during the search warrant at Hulgaard's residence.

A search of Exhibit #1 (Zotac computer) conducted by Cst Johnston of the Tech Crimes Unit on July 30, 2021 revealed the following:

A cursory preview of the contents of the hard drive located within the Zotac computer located numerous known hate literature documents listed on the ITO. One document specifically had a hyperlink to a URL: https://mega.nz/folder/BMVyhDYR#OLLLzfoCIQ\_H1leXklh6Ag which is titled "Loki Hulgaard Works" and upon brief analysis shows numerous documents listed on the ITO written by Sgt. White. The documents appear to have been uploaded between late 2020 and July of 2021. A specific document called "HOW ((THEY)) RUINED MY LIFE autobiography of Loki Hulgaard.pdf" was uploaded to Mega.nz on July 8, 2021. This specific uploaded document was a single upload amongst 5.6 GB of videos and documents. Of significant note was a file named "killer I guess we all have a breaking point" that was last modified on July 29, 2021 at approximately 7:00 am. Considering the complexity of the investigation and amount of electronic exhibits that required to be analyzed, a complete Forensic Analysis report for all exhibits will not be completed for 4-6 weeks.

Based on the above information, on July 30, 2021, at 1650 hrs, Sgt Czember and Cst Johnston attended Hulgaard's residence where he was arrested for Breach of CSO. Hulgaard was read his Charter Rights and Caution which he understood and requested to speak to a lawyer.

Subsequently, Hulgaard was transported to the police holding cells where he was provided with the Notice of Intention, Allegations of Breach, the CSO itself and officer notes (witness statements). Hulgaard contacted the same lawyer he called the previous day and also called Legal Aid as his lawyer directed him to.]

Upon inspection of the book titles, Sgt White discovered that each title was a link to a PDF copy of the publication in its entirety. Many of these literatures are hundreds of pages long, and contain Hulgaard's beliefs that immigration and people of the Jewish religion will cause the genocide of the whites, and that Aryans must cause death to them before they cause death to the Aryans. They also include detailed and structured templates on how the Aryans and White Supremist groups can carry out their ultimate goals. The general theme of the literature is of Hulgaard's deep rooted beliefs in the philosophies of White Supremacy. They also include many homicidal drawings. In total there are 3,091 pages of literature claiming to be authored by Hulgaard.

Sgt White also observed that all of these books are accessible and readable to the general public via Portable Document Format (PDF) version through an open source website.

Based on the the above information, on July 29, 2021, Sgt White was granted a search warrant for Hulgaard's residence, 473 8 Street SE, authorizing police to search for and seize computer devices, cellular telephones, documents, books, notes or written material that provide evidence that Hulgaard is the author of any of the online publications found at <http://www.colchestercollection.com/authors/H/loki-hulgaard.html>, and any other items found that will afford evidence with respect to the named offences.

On July 29, 2021 at 1450hrs, Sgt. White and other members of the MHPS attended to Hulgaard's residence, where they were met by Hulgaard's father, Brian Dell. Dell was non-compliant and uncooperative. Sgt. White informed Dell that police have a warrant to search the dwelling house, but did not intend to arrest anyone that day. Dell was provided a copy of the warrant. Dell obstructed police movement to the second floor where Hulgaard was isolated in a bedroom. While holding a drill with sharp drill bit in an offensive manner, Dell blocked police access to the second floor staircase preventing police access to Hulgaard's location. Dell was arrested for obstructing police and subsequently resisted arrest. Hulgaard was located and upon search of the room he was in, it was discovered that he had hastily disconnected a Zotac mini computer from its components and was attempted to conceal it as police were entering the residence. When found, the computer and its cords were hot to the touch.

Hulgaard was cooperative and was explained the search warrant. He waited outside with Sgt. Czember while MHPS members conducted the search.

The search warrant resulted in the seizure of the following items which were located in the bedroom belonging to Hulgaard:

- Zotac Computer;
- Alcatel cellular phone;
- Internal 2 TB hard drive;
- Seagate Solid State hard drive;
- Camo folding knife;
- Fillet knife;
- Silver USB inside;
- USB Drive;
- Lexar 16 GB drive;
- Racial Theory Documents;
- Flare gun;
- 2 boxes of caltrops;
- 2 ampules of ammonium sulfide;
- Toshiba Satellite laptop;
- HP Pavilion laptop.

On July 30, 2021, Sgt. White then obtained a second search warrant to search the contents of the electronic devices seized during the search warrant at Hulgaard's residence.

A search of Exhibit #1 (Zotac computer) conducted by Cst Johnston of the Tech Crimes Unit on July 30, 2021 revealed the following:

A cursory preview of the contents of the hard drive located within the Zotac computer located numerous known hate literature documents listed on the ITO. One document specifically had a hyperlink to a URL: https://mega.nz/folder/BMVyhDYR#OLLLzfoCIQ\_H1leXklh6Ag which is titled "Loki Hulgaard Works" and upon brief analysis shows numerous documents listed on the ITO written by Sgt. White. The documents appear to have been uploaded between late 2020 and July of 2021. A specific document called "HOW ((THEY)) RUINED MY LIFE autobiography of Loki Hulgaard.pdf" was uploaded to Mega.nz on July 8, 2021. This specific uploaded document was a single upload amongst 5.6 GB of videos and documents. Of significant note was a file named "killer I guess we all have a breaking point" that was last modified on July 29, 2021 at approximately 7:00 am. Considering the complexity of the investigation and amount of electronic exhibits that required to be analyzed, a complete Forensic Analysis report for all exhibits will not be completed for 4-6 weeks.

Based on the above information, on July 30, 2021, at 1650 hrs, Sgt Czember and Cst Johnston attended Hulgaard's residence where he was arrested for Breach of CSO. Hulgaard was read his Charter Rights and Caution which he understood and requested to speak to a lawyer.

Subsequently, Hulgaard was transported to the police holding cells where he was provided with the Notice of Intention, Allegations of Breach, the CSO itself and officer notes (witness statements). Hulgaard contacted the same lawyer he called the previous day and also called Legal Aid as his lawyer directed him to.

Det White went to the front door and Deell was seen inside and talking to White through the window. I was on the 2 side of the house and could hear the male asking what he wanted. I then went to the back door, where Deell exited with a cordless drill in his hand and told me to get off his property and that he had a weapon, pulling the trigger on the drill. I asked him to have Laki come to the door and Deell said he was not home and I told him I know he's in the house because we just saw him go in. Det White was now in the backyard with me and told Deell we had a search warrant to enter the house. Deell wanted to see the warrant which Det White allowed him to read. Deell was very rude to police telling us we were not going into his house. Deell was advised that he would be arrested for obstruction if he didn't comply. Deell told police he would tell Laki to open the front door. Det White went to the front door. Deell went back inside the back door. Myself, Det Johnston & Det R. Page went in the back door.

Deell came down the stairs again telling us to get out of his house and blocking the stairway from officers from going up there where Laki was.

Myself, Det Johnston & Johnston grabbed Deell by the arms to come off the stairs where Deell then started pulling away, swearing at police to get out. Deell was advised he was under arrest for obstruction from Det White.

Sgt White had first grabbed onto his left arm from the stairs and then Wyrostok, Johnston + myself take control of him and tried to place him in cuffs. Deel kept pulling away trying to avoid arrest and was told a few times to quit resisting.

Cst Wyrostok got the right cuff on, and then the left, but the left didn't finish up and scratched Deel's left wrist. Deel then said Deel's broke his wrist. Wyrostok grabbed a 2nd pair of cuffs and Deel was cuffed up. Deel throughout pulled away + tried stomping on my feet.

After in custody, EMS were called just to check him over, and he was cleared to go to cells.

We then searched the residence. I searched the main level - nothing located other than a computer in the back room (seized by Johnston).

Johnston + Gado searched upstairs. Sgt White and I went upstairs and Sgt White found 100's of pages of writings. All seized + exhibited by Johnston.

When I released Deel from cells he was very polite + co-operative. I asked him why he acted out like this earlier to avoid going to jail. Deel said he had work to do and we were disrupting him.

“Appendix A”

Introduction of the Affiant

1. I, Sergeant Clarke White of the City of Medicine Hat, Province of Alberta, a member of the Medicine Hat Police Service (MHPS), make an oath and say that:
  - a. I have been a police officer and member of the MHPS since January 27, 2004. I am presently assigned to the Major Crimes Section as an investigator and have been since January 6, 2020.
  - b. During my 17 years as a member of the MHPS I have worked in a variety of sections, including Patrol Section, Mountain Bike Unit, Canine Unit, and since obtaining the rank of Sergeant I have been assigned to the Supervisor of the Traffic Unit and an investigator within the Major Crimes Section.
  - c. During the course of my duties I have participated in large scale criminal investigations, both as an investigator and as a supervisor.
  - d. With respect to this investigation I am the primary investigator and affiant.

Locations

2. All of the locations described in this information are in Medicine Hat, Alberta, unless otherwise stated.

Overview

3. Between April 16, 2018 and July 18, 2018, leaflets and pamphlets inciting hate and genocide were distributed throughout areas of Medicine Hat. These documents were left on targeted public buildings, public locations and parked vehicles, and contained literature about genocide and killing “gays” and “Jews”.
4. On July 31, 2018, Loki Hulgaard entered the Safeway at 615 Division Ave Southeast. He paid for his purchase using four $5 bills. Hulgaard fanned the bills out and displayed them to the clerk Michele Burton. This was done so that she would observe the ink stamp he had put on the bills that stated Jews=ESAU Jewish White Genocide. This is a reference to the belief that Jewish people are taking over the white race. Burton observed that Hulgaard appeared to be showing her the bills in an attempt to solicit a response from her. Burton was disturbed and contacted Police after Hulgaard left the business. Hulgaard was identified by CCTV.

5. On August 1, 2018, MHPS Priority Street Crimes Unit arrested Hulgaard for inciting hatred in public. Upon his arrest he was found in possession of $5 and $20 bills stamped in ink, matching those that he passed in the Safeway.
6. On August 1, 2018, a search warrant was obtained for the residence of Hulgaard at 473 8 Street Southeast. As a result of the search, Police located four firearms that were cached with hundreds of rounds of ammunition. Two of the firearms were SKS rifles with the serial numbers ground off. With the rifles were four high capacity centrefire magazines where the pin that prevents more than five rounds had been removed making them prohibited. Also found in the residence was currency stamped with "Jews=ESAU", hand drawing of a male bombing buildings, Klu Klux Klan and religious documents supporting white supremacist beliefs, research on chemical, nuclear and biological warfare, Manifestos, interrogation, combat survival skills and combat medicine. A search of this electronics indicated that Hulgaard has knowledge of storing and protecting computer data. Police also located a large number of knives, collapsible batons, bats, and handcuffs, along with commando style clothing and survival kits.
7. Upon seizing the handwritten manifesto of Hulgaard, it was discovered that it closely resembled, almost mirrored that of Andres Breivik, who was known as a Norwegian domestic terrorist who carried out a series of mass murders in 2011 after detonating a bomb killing 8, then attending to a Worker's Youth League summer camp and murdering 69 people by gunfire.
8. On August 1, 2018, Hulgaard was charged with one count of Incite Hatred in Public, four counts of unsafe storage of firearm, four counts of unauthorized possession of a firearm, three counts of possession of a prohibited device, and two counts of possession of a firearm with the serial number removed. MHPS file 18-20330 refers.
9. The investigation team at the time believed that they had interrupted a plan that had been set into action by Hulgaard to target specific groups with acts of serious violence. They also believe that this plan began with Hulgaard authoring his "manifestos", a structured template for carrying out his acts.
10. On August 3, 2018, Hulgaard attempted suicide by cutting his wrists. He was treated and released by the hospital.
11. On October 22, 2020, Hulgaard was found guilty of the above mentioned offences and the court adjudged that he be sentenced to a Conditional Supervision Order (C.S.O.) for a period of twelve months. One of the conditions of that order states that Hulgaard shall not publish or post, directly or indirectly, any material to any Internet site or any other social media site or platform where such postings or publications can be read by the general public, any information about immigrants, persons of Jewish religion or ethnic origin.

12. On July 23, 2021, Sergeant Travis Pereira of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP), Integrated National Security Enforcement Team (INSET), notified Staff Sergeant Ryan Thorburn of the MHPS about a potential breach of Hulgaard's C.S.O. conditions as they had observed literature posted to the Internet that is authored by Hulgaard. Sgt. Pereira provided screen shot images of the website <http://www.colchestercollection.com/authors/H/loki-hulgaard.html>

13. On July 26, 2021, I was assigned to investigate the alleged breach of C.S.O. I searched the Internet for <http://www.colchestercollection.com/authors/H/loki-hulgaard.html> and on that page observed a photograph and short biography of Hulgaard, along with a list of twenty online, PDF form books, authored by Hulgaard. The page also shows a publish date beside each of the book titles, all of which occurred between 2018 and 2021. These books are:

- a. White Destiny: Stories of Destiny (2018)
- b. White Shrapnel: A White Philosophy (2018)
- c. White Praxis: A Practical-Ideological Handbook for the White Race (2019, 2020)

- r. The Despotism of Matriarchy (2021)
- s. Classism: An Indictment of Rich & Poor (2021)
- t. Security Manual: Self & Race (2021)

14. Upon inspection of the book titles, I discovered that each title is a link to a PDF copy of the publication in its entirety. Many of these literatures are hundreds of pages long, and contain Hulgaard's beliefs that immigration and people of the Jewish religion will cause the genocide of the whites, and that Aryans must cause death to them before they cause death to the Aryans. They also include detailed and structured templates on how the Aryans and White Supremist groups can carry out their ultimate goals. The general theme of the literature is of Hulgaard's deep rooted beliefs in the philosophies of White Supremacy. They also include many homicidal drawings. In total there are 3,091 pages of literature claiming to be authored by Hulgaard.

15. I observed that all of these books are accessible and readable to the general public via Portable Document Format (PDF) version through an open source website.

16. On July 29, 2021, a search warrant pursuant to Section 487 of the Criminal Code was granted by the Honourable Judge Brand for a search of Hulgaard's residence located at 473 8 Street Southeast. Upon arrival at the location police were met by, Hulgaard's father, Brian Dell, was non-compliant and uncooperative. Dell was informed that police have a warrant to search the dwelling house, but did not intend to arrest anyone that day. Dell obstructed police movement to the second floor where Hulgaard was isolated in a bedroom. While holding a drill with sharp drill bit in an offensive manner, Dell blocked police access to the second floor staircase preventing police access to Hulgaard's location. Dell was arrested for obstructing police and subsequently resisted arrest. Hulgaard was located and upon search of the room he was in, it was discovered that he had hastily disconnected a computer from its monitor and accessories and was attempted to conceal it as police were entering the residence. When found, the computer and its cords were hot to the touch.

17. As a result of the search warrant mentioned in paragraph 16, police seized from that location; four computers and/or laptop computer devices, one external hard drive, one internal hard drive, one cell phone, three USD drives, hundreds of pages of handwritten literature, stories, notes and books, and various weapons, including two boxes of Shuriken's, a starter pistol, a cap gun replica hand gun, stink bombs, and two knives that had been sharpened to surgical sharpness. All items seized were maintained and secured into MHPS property control by Cst. Johnston.

18. It's the intent of the police to search the electronic devices seized in paragraph 17 for any and all data and information related to the named offences.

Investigation

26. On July 26, 2021, I reviewed MHPS file 18-20330 and learned that on August 1, 2018, Hulgaard was charged with one count of Incite Hatred in Public, four counts of unsafe storage of firearm, four counts of unauthorized possession of a firearm, three counts of possession of a prohibited device, and two counts of possession of a firearm with the serial number removed.
27. On July 26, 2021, I read a copy of the Conditional Supervision Order (CSO) issued to Hulgaard on October 22, 2020 and learned that Hulgaard was found guilty of the offences mentioned in paragraph 22 of this information and the court adjudged that he be sentenced to a CSO for a period of twelve months. One of the conditions of that order states that Hulgaard shall not publish or post, directly or indirectly, any material to any Internet site or any other social media site or platform where such postings or publications can be read by the general public, any information about immigrants, persons of Jewish religion or ethnic origin.

28. On July 23, 2021 at 14:32hrs, the MHPS received a CPIC message from AB01214@cwmail.nps-snp.gc.ca, Subject: HULGAARD, Loki – Breach of CSO.

a. The message read:

“RCMP National Security analysts have conducted open-source checks on Loki HULGAARD, currently on a CSO for a conviction of willfully promoting hatred, and are in the process of capturing a number of items posted online that we believe are in a breach of HULGAARD’s CSO. Our unit has consulted with outside professionals who are of the opinion that HULGAARD’s recent posts display an indicate movement towards a racially-motivated incident that could threaten public safety and security.

Please contact Cst. Steve PURVIS at (confidential number) or Sgt. Travis PEREIRA at (confidential phone number) for additional information.

Your file #18-20330 refers.”

29. On July 23, 2021, S/Sgt. Thorburn responded to the CPIC message by contacting Sgt. Pereira, acknowledging receipt, and then turned over the file to the Major Crimes Section.

30. On July 26, 2021, I was assigned as the primary investigator for this breach of CSO allegation. I reviewed the documentation provided to me in the form of screenshots of the website www.colchestercollection.com and its various subpages. I viewed that website via a desktop computer and observed that it is an open-source and unrestricted website open for all public to see. I also observed that Loki Hulgaard has a subpage within that website. On this subpage can be seen a photo of Hulgaard with a short biography, and a list of twenty titled books that claim him as the author. These books are listed and titled as such:

- a. White Destiny: Stories of Destiny (2018)
- b. White Shrapnel: A White Philosophy (2018)
- c. White Praxis: A Practical-Ideological Handbook for the White Race (2019, 2020)

31. It is my belief that the bracketed dates beside each of the book titles is the date of publication or authorship to the website.

32. Upon further inspection of the book titles, I discovered that each title is a link to a PDF copy of the publication in its entirety. Many of these literatures are hundreds of pages long, and contain Hulgaard's beliefs that immigration and people of the Jewish religion will cause the genocide of the whites, and that Aryans must cause death to them before they cause death to the Aryans. 34. On July 27, 2021 at 11:39am, I spoke to Cst. Marshall, who was the primary investigator of the Hulgaard file 18-20330. Cst. Marshall stated it was his belief that the publications posted to www.colchestercollection.com have never before been seen by him and were not in Hulgaard's possession in 2018. Cst. Marshall is of the belief that these literatures appear to have been created following the 2018 investigation.

35. On July 28, 2021, I received documentation from Crime Analyst Amber Thomson that contained confirmed facts about Hulgaard through past investigations. Along with other facts already mentioned in this Information to Obtain, I learned that:

- a. Hulgaard was born with the legal name Brendan Dell to Hanne Hulgaard and Brian Dell of Red Lake, Ontario.
- b. Hulgaard legally changed his name to Loki Holger Hulgaard on May 26, 2016.
- c. When Hulgaard was a child he was disciplined by his mother and retaliated by killing a number of birds and leaving their corpses in the kitchen for his mother to find.
- d. Hulgaard received a Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy in 2008.
- e. Hulgaard worked in security in 2008 and joined the military, enlisting as a naval officer. He received basic military training and was released in 2011. He stated in an interview with a prolific white-supremacist Internet broadcaster that the military was not for him.
- f. In 2012 Hulgaard sent emails to extended family members regarding conceiving children and only marrying within the white race. Those family members told investigators that his mother has no contact with Hulgaard as she is scared of him and his family believes he is capable of carrying out a mass shooting.
- g. In 2014 Hulgaard was staying at the Medicine Hat Homeless Shelter, where staff members described him as angry and displaying a hate towards women.
- h. In fall of 2017 Hulgaard moves into a house at 473 8 Street Southeast, registered to his dad, Brian Dell.

36. On July 28, 2021 at 10:36am, I conducted an OURS query for the address located at 473 8 St SE, Medicine Hat, Alberta and observed the active utility account holder is Brian Dell, known to me as Hulgaard's father.

37. On July 28, 2021 at 10:38am, I conducted an RMS records query for "Loki Hulgaard born January 5, 1983" and observed that shows an address of 473 8 St SE, Medicine Hat, Alberta. His last involvement with police at that address was June 23, 2021.
38. On July 28, 2021 at 10:41am, I conducted a CPIC and Alberta Operator's Licence query of "Loki Hulgaard born January 5, 1983" and observed that he remains on conditions of his CSO to reside at 473 8 St SE, Medicine Hat, Alberta, and his Alberta class 5 Operator's Licence shows an address of 473 8 St SE, Medicine Hat, Alberta. He does not have any registered vehicles. I also observed that he has no convictions on his criminal record.
39. On July 28, 2021 at 11:48am, I spoke to Cst. Johnston, who was the computer technician who searched and analysed Hulgaard's electronic devices in 2018 and learned that the publications observed on www.colchestercollection.com have never been seen by him and he believes they were not in Hulgaard's possession in 2018. Cst. Johnston also informed me that if he had access to Hulgaard's computers and any other devices that can access the internet, he has the skills and capability to determine if those computers and devices were used to upload related content from the computer or device to the internet.
40. On July 29, 2021 at 2:28pm, I received a search warrant pursuant to Section 487 of the Criminal Code, signed by the Honourable Judge Brand, authorizing a search of Hulgaard's residence located at 473 8 Street Southeast.
41. On July 29, 2021 at 2:50pm, I attended, along with several other police members to 473 8 Street Southeast, where we were met by Hulgaard's father, Brian Dell, who was non-compliant and uncooperative. I informed Dell that police have a warrant to search the dwelling house, but did not intend to arrest anyone that day. Dell was provided a copy of the warrant. Dell obstructed police movement to the second floor where Hulgaard was isolated in a bedroom. While holding a drill with sharp drill bit in an offensive manner, Dell blocked police access to the second floor staircase preventing police access to Hulgaard's location. Dell was arrested for obstructing police and subsequently resisted arrest. Hulgaard was located and upon search of the room he was in, it was discovered that he had hastily disconnected a computer from its components and was attempted to conceal it as police were entering the residence. When found, the computer and its cords were hot to the touch.
42. As a result of the search warrant mentioned in paragraph 41, police seized from that location the following items:
- Memory Lane tower computer,
  - Zotac Mini PC computer Model ZBOX-IQ01-PLUS,

  - ii. a starter pistol,
  - iii. a cap gun pistol,
  - iv. stink bombs,
  - v. two knives with surgical sharpness.

43. On July 29, 2021 at 4:21pm, police left the residence of 473 8 Street Southeast, with Cst. Johnston in possession of all seized items listed in paragraph 42. Cst. Johnston maintained continuity of all seized items until such time as they had all been documented, logged and locked in exhibit control lockers at the MHPS building located at 884 2 Street Southeast. They remain secured inside those lockers.

Internet, Computer Devices (including Cellular Telephones), and Other Items Capable of Uploading and Storing Electronic Data

44. I spoke to Cst. Johnston regarding the Internet, computer devices and other items capable of storing electronic data and was informed of the following:
- a. The Internet is a worldwide network that connects computers, and other devices capable of accessing the Internet, and allows for communications and the transfer of data and information;

- b. The Internet allows individuals to trade documents, videos, pictures or images. Documents, videos, photographs and other images can be used to create data that can be stored in a computer device. This storage can be accomplished by using a digital camera and transferring the digital images or videos to the computer device, or by using a camera that is part of the computer device, such as a web-cam or cell phone camera, or by scanning a paper copy and converting it to digital form;
- c. A Website is a site (location) on the Internet. Each Website contains a home page, which is the first document a user sees when they enter the site. The site might also contain additional documents and files. Each site is owned and managed by an individual, company or organization.
- d. Documents, videos, photographs and other images can be stored in a computer device. The storage of this data can be accomplished by using a digital camera and transferring the digital images or videos to the computer device, or by using a camera that is part of the computer device, such as a web-cam or cell phone camera, or by scanning a paper copy and converting it to digital form;
- e. Cellular telephones are capable of performing the same functions to computers. Cellular telephones commonly contain digital cameras, internal and external storage capacity, web browsers, and email programs. Cellular telephone users can access the Internet, send email, and take digital photographs with their cellular telephones;
- f. Cellular telephones can be used to send files or images to the user's computer or to any other computer or device that is accessible via the Internet. Files and images can also be sent from an Internet accessible computer or device to a user's cellular telephone;
- g. A person's use of the Internet necessarily results in data being written to their computer device's hard drive or its internal memory. This Internet history is temporary in nature and may be overwritten or deleted during routine use of one's computer device. Once data has been overwritten, it is, for all practical purposes, impossible to retrieve even forensically.

Search and Seizure of Electronic Devices (including Cellular Telephones) and Other Items Capable of Storing Electronic Data and the Data Contained Therein

45. On July 28, 2021, I spoke to Cst. Johnston and further learned he has had specialized training in using software applications designed to retrieve data that has been cached, stored or deleted on computer devices and other items capable of storing electronic data. Cst. Johnston further advised me that he has performed numerous forensic examinations on computers and other items capable of storing electronic data and has located various types of data on them including images, video and text communications. He provided me with the following regarding the search and seizure of computer devices and other items capable of storing electronic data and the data therein:

- a. Search and seizure of evidence from computer devices and other items capable of storing electronic data commonly require law enforcement officers to seize most or all computer items (computer hardware, computer software, and computer related documentation) and all other items capable of storing electronic data to be processed later by a qualified computer examiner in a laboratory or other controlled environment. An analysis must then be conducted on the seized items to search for data which will provide evidence of the offences. This is true because of the following:
  - i. In order to fully examine data from a computer device, the analyst needs all data storage devices as well as casing and computer hardware components used to make the computer operate and function. In addition, the analyst needs all the system software (operating systems or interfaces, and hardware drivers) and any applications software which may have been used to create the data (whether stored on a computer device's hard drives or on external storage devices);
  - ii. Computer devices and other items capable of storing electronic data can store the equivalent of hundreds of thousands of pages of information. Digital data is also extremely portable and can be easily transferred onto multiple items capable of storing electronic data. When the user wants to conceal criminal evidence, he or she may store it in random order with deceptive file names and on multiple devices. This requires searching authorities to examine all the stored data to locate evidence of an offence. This sorting process may take a significant amount of time, depending on the volume of data stored, and it would be generally impossible to fully accomplish this kind of data search on site;
  - iii. Searching computer devices and other items capable of storing electronic data for criminal evidence is a highly technical process requiring expert skill and a properly controlled environment. The search of a computer device, and other items capable of storing electronic data, is an exacting scientific procedure which is designed to protect the integrity of the evidence and to recover even hidden, deleted, compressed, password-protected, or encrypted files. Since computer evidence is extremely vulnerable to tampering or destruction (which may be caused by malicious code or normal activities of an operating system), the controlled environment of a laboratory is essential to its complete and accurate analysis;

- b. As is the case with most digital technology, electronic communications can be saved or stored on hardware and data storage devices used for these purposes. Storing this information can be intentional, e.g., by saving an e-mail as a file on the computer or saving the location of one's favorite Websites in "bookmarked" files. However, digital information can also be retained unintentionally, e.g., traces of the path of an electronic communication may be automatically stored in many places (e.g., temporary files or ISP client software, among others). In addition to electronic communications, a user's Internet activities generally leave traces or "footprints" in the web cache and history files of the browser used. Such information is often maintained for very long periods of time until overwritten by other data;
- c. Importantly, the interplay between software applications and the computer device's operating systems often results in material obtained from the Internet being stored multiple times, and even in different locations, on a computer device without the user's knowledge. Even if the computer user is sophisticated and understands this automatic storage of information on their computer device, attempts at deleting the material often fail because the material may be automatically stored multiple times and in multiple locations within the computer device and on data storage devices. In order to retrieve this data, an analysis must be completed by a trained examiner;
- d. In order to obtain evidence in relation to the offences, an exact duplicate image of all the data contained on any seized items must be acquired and the subsequent analysis is then completed on the image in order to protect the integrity of the original seized items. If an exact duplicate image of the seized device is not possible, an evidentiary data recovery method will be used, which will ensure that the integrity of the device and the data is maintained in the state it was located in, and a copy of the data will be acquired and preserved. An exact duplicate image or acquired data copy ("the acquisition") is required so that the data contained on the seized items may be analyzed in the exact state it was found in upon seizure. This analysis, which will be completed subsequent to the acquisition, includes the location and preservation of any files, documents, images, communications, or other data of evidentiary value, as well as supporting electronic data which demonstrates the movement and history of the files, documents, images, communications, or other data on the seized items and any evidence related to knowledge, possession and control of the seized items and the data contained therein;
- e. The analysis will be limited to data the examiner believes will provide information related to the offences. As well as identifying direct evidence

Affiant: aw Commissioner of Oaths for Alberta: jm

Warrant Control #21-161

of the offences, the analysis may be used to confirm alibis or statements, determine intent, or identify sources of data;

- f. The acquisition of the data can be a lengthy process depending on the number of devices and the storage capacity of the devices. The Technology Crimes Unit has specialized training and tools available to complete a full analysis and has been requested to conduct the expanded scope analysis of the items sought in this Information to Obtain. The time required to complete the subsequent analysis of the data will depend on several factors including, but not limited to: whether the device is password protected, the amount of data contained on the seized items, the amount of data that is relevant to the offences, and the manner in which the data is stored. As Crown and Defence counsel often have questions about the data after the results of an analysis are provided, the analyst may need to re-examine the data multiple times right up to and including the date of any court proceeding in relation to the offences.

Conclusion

- 46. The 2018 investigation into Hulgaard revealed evidence of his hatred towards certain ethnic, cultural and minority groups, and that he may have been preparing to carry out act(s) of violence. Investigators believe that his arrest and the seizure of this weapons, electronic devices, literatures and other items at that time may have interrupted his plan.
- 47. Hulgaard's past behaviours display a propensity for homicidal and suicidal tendencies, along with deep rooted beliefs in White Supremacy, with targeted hatred towards immigrants and most specifically those of the Jewish religion.
- 48. Hulgaard has been bound by the conditions of a CSO since October 22, 2020, including that he shall not publish or post, directly or indirectly, any material to any Internet site or any other social media site or platform where such postings or publications can be read by the general public, any information about immigrants, persons of Jewish religion or ethnic origin.
- 49. It is my belief that Hulgaard has authored at least twenty documents, aimed at inciting hate, murder and genocide and that these documents may be stored on electronic devices and electronic storage devices that were seized by police on July 29, 2021. It's also my belief that at least six of those publications were uploaded to the Internet while Hulgaard has been bound by the CSO conditions that prevent him from doing so.
- 50. The material that Hulgaard has authored contains information about immigrants and persons of Jewish religion and ethnic origin, and that material has been uploaded to the Internet, where the general public can view and read it.

- 51. It is unknown at this time who has uploaded the material authored by Hulgaard to the Internet but it's my reasonable belief that a search of Hulgaard's computers and electronic devices will prove that he participated in, either partially or fully, with the uploading of such content to the Internet.
- 52. The search of Hulgaard's residence on July 29, 2021 located computers, electronic devices, electronic storage devices and a cell phone and I have reasonable grounds to believe those devices store evidence related to the named offences.
- 53. Pursuant to Section 487 of the Criminal Code, I am requesting that a search warrant be granted to authorize the post seizure examination of the cellular telephone, computer(s), tablet(s), storage device(s) capable of storing data, and any device capable of accessing the internet including peripheral components that have been seized and are currently stored securely at the MHPS building at 884 2 Street Southeast, Medicine Hat, Alberta.

Subjects Activities

- Extensive research on potential armed conflict, the procurement of chemicals to make explosives, the psychology of people relative to incidents and interrogation, Nuclear, Biological and Chemical warfare and personal protection, combat survival skills and combat medicine. Manifesto and memes of Andres BREIVIK and Dylan ROOF the memes were some of the last things downloaded prior to the search warrant (One specifically involving Andres BREIVIK stating something like Don't wait for the revolution start the revolution)
- HULGAARD has knowledge of computers pertaining to storing and protecting data, some of the more concerning documents were hidden and difficult for forensic to uncover.
- Military background is minimal and was release as a non-commissioned officer in 2011
- JUDE Stickers began to surface in Medicine Hat in April 2018, and expanded to the Immigration = White Genocide and the Kingdom Identities Ministries leaflets and finally the stamping of money with the ZOG info
- Explanation in his manifesto regarding his removal of the serial numbers of the guns (to make them untraceable)
- Search warrant he had "go bags" as well as prep bags for various possible scenarios including gas masks/radiation suits and survival bags with food and survival materials
- Prior to his charges he remained on forums with individuals with common ideologies. After his charges he created a you tube page and has since been interviewed with individuals very prevalent in the right wing/free speech ideologies including Paul FROMM, Brian RUHE and Brandon MARTINEZ (MARTINEZ perspective)
- Recently, started attending the downtown YMCA (March 2019) and his current physique indicates that he is very physically fit and leads strict and regimented health regime
- Members tried to serve documents April 2019 he refused to answer the door and members believe he was home. He has refused to answer the door on numerous occasions in the past as well when officers attended.

Extreme Right Wing Ideology

- Leaflets left on only veteran plated vehicles were belonging to Kingdom Identity Ministries with Southern Poverty Law Center –classifies as a designated hate group

- Lifestyle – when completing the search warrant it was apparent to officers that he lives his life in correlation to a Nazi SS soldier: purification techniques, strong belief in racial purity.
- Strategic placement of his cause (stickers and pamphlets) – churches, immigration office, veteran license plated vehicles ( he speaks to his placement techniques as well)
- References war and the Jewish Police state, a war based on a paranoid fear.
- HULGAARD refers to multi-cultural society as being unstable and doomed and likely to fall into violent warfare between the competing groups, making biblical references.
- Firm focus on the issues of racial purity, his perception of the Jewish community, equality, and particularly that he feels he has not been treated equally by the support systems, and feels unjustly treated.

Present Charges before the Courts:

- Section 319(2) CC – Willfully Promote Hatred
- Section 108(1)(b) CC x 2 – Possess firearm knowing S/N removed
- Section 86(1) CC x 4 – Careless Use/Storage Firearm
- Section 91(2) CC x 4 – Unauthorized possession prohibited device
- Section 91 (1) CC x 4 – Unauthorized possession of a weapon

Potential to Move Toward Violence

- Threat Assessment completed by Sheriff's Branch- ASSIST stated there is a moderate risk for HULGAARD to commit violence. The threat assessors had the basic first set of details on the investigation. Since this date further computer forensics have been completed and further information presented itself in reference to research on various techniques on attacks including locations of specific building that could be targeted, how to set charges to implode a building and manifesto with detailed lengthy planning how to carry out an attack to create the largest impact.
- Despite not being involved in documented directed violence HULGAARD was gathering and researching the necessary information and tools to have the potential for an act to be carried out, he also references the reasoning behind his present charges and the calculated removing the serial numbers from the firearms was for evasion purposes

Hello Sean,

Sorry, I just came into the office for something else and just saw your email today. Let me know if you were able to obtain an answer.

As per your question, no issue on identifying that the information came from the RCMP. We have been monitoring the file that MHP charged him on. I know that your member, Eric Marshall has in-depth knowledge of this file/subject however I believe S/Sgt. Thorburn said he was away on leave.

From my understanding, the information the subject posted would be a breach of his conditions. Cst. Campbell from our unit is back from holidays tomorrow (Monday) and is well versed on this subject and can also assist with answering any further questions that you may have. Dan Campbell

Hi Travis,

We are having a little bit of confusion, with the direction on this file.

Are we able to mention where our initial information came from? Do you have an issue with us indicating that INSET provided our starting point? I realize we can grab all of the website information ourselves.

Are you working a file on this subject? Or is he fair game for us to investigate in the event there further charges from his online posts.

You had mentioned to S/Sgt. Thorburn that you believed there was an elevated risk from this subject, are you able to elaborate, and is there any precautions we should be taking?

Thanks,

FACTUM

1.TABLE OF CONTENTS

This document outlines a number of serious concerns regarding the circumstances leading to the Appellent's signed agreement to the Conditional Sentence Order on 22 October 2020. At the time of signing the agreement, the Appellent was under extremely stressful conditions, in addition to which he was subjected to undue influence and gaslighting by his lawyer, into signing this agreement. For a number of reasons, as laid out within this document, the Appellent claims the the lawyer's counsel and duty of care towards the Appellent has been violated.

The Appellent contends that

- 1) the guilty plea was not voluntarily entered as it was uninformed and the essential elements of the case were not admitted
- 2) the lawyer failed in his duty of care and didn't provide the Appellent with informed advice;
- 3) the sentence imposed contains conditions that are unreasonable and which conditions violate the Appellents freedom of conscience and are unduly restrictive of his basic liberties

THE PARTICULAR CIRCUMSTANCES, AS DESCRIBED BELOW, WITHIN WHICH THE Appellent HAS SIGNED HIS AGREEMENT TO THE CONDITIONAL SENTENCE ORDER, SHOULD RENDER THIS AGREEMENT TO BE NULL AND VOID. IT IS THEREFORE REQUESTED OF THE COURT THAT THE EXISTING CONDITIONAL SENTENCE ORDER BE REVOKED.

THE Appellant REQUESTS THE COURT TO BOTH REVOKE THE CONDITIONAL SENTENCE ORDER AND GRAN THE Appellant A TRIAL BY JURY.

HOWEVER, IF, IN THE MEANTIME, THE APPELENT IS REQUIRED TO ABIDE BY THE EXISTING SENTENCE ORDER FOR ANY SIGNIFICANT PERIOD OF TIME, THEN, AS A MATTER OF URGENCY, CLARIFICATIONS ON THE CONDITIONS OF THE SENTENCE ORDER ARE REQUESTED (AS SET OUT BELOW) IN ADDITION TO A REVIEW OF THOSE CONDITIONS, TO ENSURE THAT THEY WILL BE FULLY PRACTICABLE FOR THE Appellant TO ADHERE TO.

It is on this basis that the Appellant seeks to retract his agreement to the said Conditional Sentence Order and appeal his decision to plead guilty

Please note that the lawyer referred to within this document, who was appointed in June 2020 to represent Mr Hulgaard, ceased to be Mr Hulgaard's legal representative, as of 27th October, due to Mr Hulgaard having ended the relationship upon realising the consequences of having been pressured into agreeing to the Conditional Sentence Order, as explained below.

With regard to the validity of the Conditional Sentence Order, as it stands, contrary to the signed statement of the Appellant's lawyer, that he "took reasonable measures to ensure the Offender understood the Order and the explanation" this is clearly not the case, given that explanations regarding the implications, to the Appellant, of the conditions comprising the Conditional Sentence Order had not been provided in adequate detail to the Appellant, prior to the Appellant having been persuaded to agree to them, and that the requirement for such clarifications remains unsatisfied to date.

The Appellant made initial contact with his lawyer, Mr Hadford, in June 2020, and that conversation largely involved Mr Hadford's questioning as to the Appellant's background. During the subsequent conversation, the Appellant's lawyer discussed with him the matter of having his guilty plea overturned, convincing him of the likelihood of winning his case. However, during his conversation with his lawyer on 17th October, the Appellant states that his lawyer provided him with a much more pessimistic assessment of the likely outcome of his case. This is despite no new information, or change of circumstance, to suggest why this assessment had altered so considerably over such a short time frame. This very contrary view, provided by the Appellant's lawyer is the context within which the Appellant became increasingly anxious about his potential fate, and is arguably a significant factor in why the Appellant felt under such pressure to sign the Conditional Sentence Order.

It was as a consequence of the fact that the Appellant had failed to appear in Court at the required time on October 22nd, having made an error regarding the time that he was due to appear in Court ( the Appellant fully acknowledging his error), that he was arrested and held in custody. The Appellant's lawyer visited his Client whilst the Appellant was being held in custody, having been put in leg irons. The Appellant was at the time, naturally, in some distress and had been given no indication as to how long he would have to remain in this predicament. The Appellant's lawyer indicated to him that he had no idea how long he might remain incarcerated, suggesting that he may remain in custody indefinitely; but that on signing his agreement to a pre-prepared Conditional Sentence Order (which the lawyer presented to the Appellant there and then, for the first time) that the Appellant would be released from custody (effective immediately upon signing the document). With regard to the length of time that the Appellant may otherwise have had to remain in custody, without having been charged, it appears that the Appellant may have been provided with misleading information.

The Appellant asserts that his lawyer was extremely persuasive, almost insistent, that the Appellant, in the midst of this very distressing ordeal, should sign the Conditional Sentence Order, which the Appellant had not previously been provided with a copy of, nor had he received an explanation of what it entailed with adequate clarity to make an informed decision with respect thereto given its ambiguity and generality as well as the vague statements provided by the lawyer with respect thereto. The first mention to the Appellant of the (proposed) Conditional Sentence Order by his lawyer had been during a conversation on Saturday 17th October, the lawyer having promised to forward a copy of that proposed order to his Client two days later (Monday). However the Appellant only received a copy of that proposed order on the date of the Court hearing while in custody (too late to have had the opportunity to consider the details of the order before that hearing was due to take place or to consult with outside third parties as to its meaning and implications). This constitutes a failure by the Appellant's lawyer to act with due diligence, in providing this most essential information, at the most critical stage of his Client's entire legal case.

As a result of the circumstances described above, it can be asserted that the Appellant has been coerced into signing his agreement to the Conditional Sentence Order document, under conditions of duress, without having been equipped with the necessary information with which to make an informed decision.

Additionally as far as the Appellant can recall, the Appellant was unaware of the penalty he was facing prior to having heard of it for the first time while in custody and thus had no standrad against which to weight a prudent decision.

Additionally the lawyer did not provide the client with the full disclosure to consider and thus the client was uninformed as to the evidence against himself.

Additionally he had not been informed by hiw lawyer if his previous lawyer, Michael Gilchrist had been contacted and what were the fruits of any such discussion should there have been such.

Additionally the Appellant was unaware of any legal work undergone on the set aside application of his previous plea by his lawyer, Scott Hadford and what specifically Mr Hadford simply presenting the Appellant with his opinion that the case would not succeed. His lawyer had simply focused in the later stages of their brief relesionship on persuading his client to accept the CSO agreement and all of its entailments which were unkown in theri particulars to an adequate degree for the Appellant to make an informed decision. The lawyer employed gaslighting techniques in persuading the Appellant that the appeal had minimal probability of success and that jail would be almost a ceratinty should the Appellant not plead guilty.

Further, the Conditional Sentence Order comprises a list of 21 conditions that have been referred to, within the sentence order document, as 'Optional Conditions'. These conditions are somewhat ambiguous and may certainly be described as ‘onerous’, with some of them being positively unworkable (as explained below under ‘concerns specific to the Conditional Sentence Order) and yet the Appellant’s lawyer has failed to address the flaws inherent within these conditions, which render them impractical, nor has he demonstrated concern for his Client regarding this fact. Additionally, as already mentioned, the Appellant, prior to having been pressurised into signing his agreement to the sentence order, has been denied the opportunity to reflect on, and to request clarification on, the implications to himself of each of the ‘Optional Conditions’, as well as of their implications in their entirety.

As previously mentioned, the circumstances within which the Appellant was persuaded to sign his agreement to the Conditional Sentence Order were brought about by the Appellant’s error, having been mistaken about the time that he was due to appear in court on 22 Oct 2020. However, the purpose of the Court hearing on that date was simply to consider the Appellant’s appeal to have his guilty plea overturned, and had not been for the purpose of sentencing the Appellant for his alleged crime. It appears therefore that the matter of sentencing need not have arisen at all at this stage in the Appellant’s legal case.

The Conditional Sentence Order in question, demands that the Appellant serve a 12 month sentence, 4 months of which being under house arrest with the remaining 8 months under curfew. However, for the previous 18 month period, during which the Appellant’s legal case has remained pending, the Appellant has been required to live under curfew conditions that, arguably, ought to count as being a part of any potential sentence term. Taking these curfew conditions of the past 18 months into account, the sentence term that has been handed to the Appellant totals two and a half years, in addition to a further two year probation period. This appears to be excessive given the nature of the alleged offence. The Appellant’s lawyer does not appear to have made any attempt to negotiate a more proportionate sentence on his Client’s behalf, which raises a further issue of some concern. No knowledge was had by the Appellant of any greater penalty or what the Appellant was facing in terms of punishment if convicted against which he might have weighed the CSO.

Regarding the probation aspect of the sentence, in the copy of the Conditional Sentence Order document that was provided to the Appellant, the terms of the probation period have been redacted. It appears therefore that the Appellant is expected to be bound by these terms without having been provided with details of what they in fact are.

A further cause of significant concern is with regard to a recent CBC article about the Appellant, in which the Appellant's lawyer, Mr Hadford, made disparaging remarks about his Client. It was shortly following his ordeal, of 22 October, of being held in custody and pressured into signing an agreement that he now bitterly regrets, that the Appellant was further distressed by the discovery of the 'CBC' article about himself, in which his lawyer, Mr Hadford, described his Client as being "a disenfranchised individual" and that "he will be involved in a program where he meets with various case workers to assess his needs and address them through the appropriate agencies. If one relationship doesn't pan out, it doesn't end his relationship with the program," Hadford explained, adding that "the goal is to integrate Hulgaard into society at a level where he can establish some form of collegiality" (link to the article: <https://www.cbc.ca/news/canada/calgary/loki-hulgaard-medicine-hat-brendan-stanley-dell-john-maher-1.5773693>). Additionally the CBC article had originally selected a stillshot photo of the Appellant from an interview wherein the Appellant was shown in an awkward pose so as to suggest he was unbalanced or defective as the article also implied. The Appellant had contacted CBC about the defamatory article and the photo was changed but no apology was offered for the article nor was it changed in its wording or content.

Regarding the article in question, the Appellant's lawyer, Mr Hadford, has publicly made sweeping, and certainly inaccurate, judgements about the character of the appellant; this being on the basis of just two meetings and two telephone conversations that he has had with his Client, during which Mr Hadford did most of the talking. Thus, Mr Hadford is not qualified to form such opinions, and certainly not to publicly assert them, on the nature, character and integrity of the Appellant.

The program that is referenced by Mr Hadford, within the article ("Chinook Model Program"), is one that the Appellant is very unclear about, in terms of what it will entail, and of what exactly the expected outcomes are. Mr Hadford further stated that various 'caseworkers' will be involved in working with the Appellant on this program, and yet Appellant has not been provided with any information as to what the role of these 'caseworkers' would be, nor of the capacity in which they would be working with him. Mr Hadford's statement that "the goal is to integrate Mr Hulgaard into society at a level where he can establish some form of collegiality" infers that the Appellant is in need of some assistance to adapt and integrate into society. This is both inaccurate and unfair. Indeed, this view that there is somehow something amiss with the Appellant that requires intervention measures to adjust him to a form of "collegiality", does in fact have somewhat sinister overtones and, arguably, far reaching implications within the legal profession, regarding the issue of 'boundary creep', in addition to being subtly defamatory to the Appellant's reputation.

Given that the Court itself, having stated that it is satisfied that the Appellant presents no threat to the community; it begs the question of why a counselling/intervention program for the Appellant should be required at all. Mr Hadford's statement that the Appellant requires adjustment "to a form of collegiality" is wholly unfounded. Furthermore, this statement suggests that Mr Hadford does not consider that the Appellant should be simply left to be the person that he is, in his unique character and his own manner of interacting with others (providing of course that he remains within the boundaries of the law, and causes no harm). It is the principal of 'do no harm' that is arguably paramount, and there is no cause to give rise to any concern that the Appellant would ever be a threat to anyone. The problem of insisting that anyone should be moulded to conform to any other person's idealised view of how everyone should 'be' is in fact very troubling. Far from promoting diversity, it actually serves to stifle it, being itself, arguably, an intolerance of difference.

Although the matter of the CBC article cited raises a separate issue to the matter at hand, that being the validity of the Conditional Sentence Order, it nonetheless serves to illustrate the lack of regard that Mr Hadford has demonstrated towards his Client, in terms of failing in his obligation to uphold the principal of client confidentiality, as well as in his duty of care towards his Client. Mr Hadford has shown no regard for the impact his comments, within this article, would have on his Client in terms of how it may prejudice his Client's reputation within his community, especially given that Mr Hadford's statements are entirely unfair and inaccurate. This portrayal of the Appellant is in fact in stark contrast to how the Appellant has behaved throughout the entire two and a half year period, during which he has lived under curfew conditions. What is particularly troubling about such statements is of how it could also prejudice the Court supervisors' approach towards the Appellant, thus putting him at risk of being obliged to undergo assessments that would be wholly inappropriate and wholly unwarranted.

Regarding the matter of the mandatory counselling program, prior to having signed the Conditional Sentence Order, the Appellents' lawyer had advised him that that the issue of counselling was a possibility only, and yet the sentence order makes this a mandatory requirement. The Appellant was later informed by his lawyer that counselling would be mandatory if jailed thus providing yet another disincentive for the Appellant to continue with the appeal given his state of mind. The Appellant therefore has clearly been misled in this regard; indeed, it may have been the lawyer himself or in collusion with the crown that determined that a counselling program should be mandatory (this matter requires clarification). It is unclear to the Appellant who was responsible for determining precisely what conditions should comprise the Conditional Sentence Order, and whether his lawyer prepared them himself, or had a role in preparing them. If so, then the Appellant's lawyer has taken it upon himself to determine that his Client should undertake a mandatory counselling program, having also taken it upon himself to determine what that counselling program should be.

As previously mentioned, as yet, the Appellant remains entirely unclear as to this counselling program would entail. If the Appellant's lawyer is indeed responsible for having made such a determination, which in his capacity of legal representative he is not qualified to make, this would constitute a gross overreach of his role. It is not a defence lawyers' place to determine any given potential psychiatric or counselling treatment that a client should be forced to undertake; his role should be restricted to ensuring that his client receives a fair trial and that any potential sentence is proportionate to the offence. This particular matter raises an ethical matter that warrants investigation.

Additionally, after sentencing the Appellant was made to be put into contact with an organization called the "Organization for the Prevention of Violence" whose existence he had not been aware of at that time of signing the CSO (albeit with hesitation and reservations at the very moment of signing only having done so through the coercion of incarceration as an alternative). This organization is apparently as far as the Appellant understands not officially related to the government and the Appellant questions why the court is mandating he involve himself with said organization. This especially given that apparently the organization deals with violent individuals and the Appellant has never been charged with a violent crime and has been released into the community and as stated by Justice Mahar does not pose a threat to the community as quoted verbatim in the CBC article. To coerce the Appellant into contracting with such an organization as a condition of avoiding incarceration (being in effect placed under duress) implies that he is violent while the circumstances surrounding the cases have proven otherwise. The organization entails the signing of a contract allegedly 'voluntarily' entered into while the court claims that such a contract is mandatory. Hence signing such an 'agreement' amounts to no agreement as violating the very principles of contract law being not agreed to by the Appellant but being done under duress. Hence he is being subject to conditions which violate his basic rights.

Additionally the organization entails a mandatory psychological and/or psychiatric evaluation which is a violation of the Appellant's freedom of conscience not least of all because he does not ascribe legitimacy to the disciplines of psychiatry ("Psychiatric Fraud", Richard Lighthouse; "Theology of medicine", Thomas Szasz, M.D; "Does Mental Illness Exist", William Ramsay, JD) or psychology ("The Misdeeds of Psychoanalysis", Rene Guenon) which are antithetical to his worldview.

Additionally he is well aware of the usage of punitive psychiatry and/or psychology as a mechanism of giving false diagnoses of 'mental illness' to people alleged to be critical of government or corporate interests or policies ("The Myth of Psychiatric Diagnosis", William Ramsay, J.D). The Appellant suspects that the government wishes to set legal precedents for the association of politically incorrect speech and even thought/behavior with 'mental illness' as a means of justifying the institutionalization of its alleged critics or potential critics based on the discourse of psychiatry/psychology. In the CBC article referenced above he has been spoken of as 'paranoid' and portrayed as a defective and unbalanced person defaming his reputation in front of an audience of millions. This can be inferred from the context of the articles which have appeared in mainstream news ever since the case began in August 2018 and the selection of a screenshot of the Appellant from a video interview which was previously unavailable on the net but was presumably selected deliberately to show the Appellant as defective capturing a stillshot of the Appellant in an awkward pose. The Appellant herein affirms that he is of sound mind, body and soul and takes great issue with being portrayed otherwise by those who hold positions of influence over the minds of others. The Appellant views coercive participation in the Chinook program and with the organization for the Prevention of Violence as entrapment and a violation of his fundamental right to freedom of conscience.

Other than the matter of being mistaken about the time at which he was required to attend court on 22 October 2020, the Appellant, throughout the period of the past 30 months, during which he has been subject to curfew conditions, has been of good conduct and there has been no occasion to call his conduct into question. It follows, surely, that his good behaviour, throughout this entire period, should inform the nature, and the terms, of any potential sentence going forward. The existing Conditional Sentence Order, for the reasons described, is not in keeping with this principal of proportionality.

The Appellant has been further failed by his lawyer, in terms of having been provided with an obscured view of the likely outcome of his case, were the Appellant to plead 'not guilty' (which of course would necessarily involve the Appellant pursuing his application to have his guilty plea overturned). This is due to the fact of the evidence against the Appellant being very weak, arguably to the point of being no more than 'hearsay' evidence. Regardless of the nature of the evidence, the Appellant has not been confident of receiving a fair trial. This is as a result of a series of underhand attempts to pressure him into declaring himself as guilty, in addition to a number of implied indications of there being a much greater likelihood of him going to jail under a plea of not guilty.

In addition, the Appellant has been the victim of a number of malicious communications that included death threats (see Appendices 1; 2; 3; 4), which made his fear of the outcome of a trial, on the basis of a plea of 'not guilty', so much the greater. The Appellant was subject to vigilante style harassment, being followed about town by one Lauren Froment (Appendix 2) a member of the terrorist organization 'antifa' who had also harassed him via email over the course of the two and a half years since the case began. Other members of the members of the community have also been subjecting to Appellant to subtle forms of harassment such as creating noise disturbances outside of his residence at night and interrupting his sleep intermittently since that time. There appears to have been no attempt by the Appellant's lawyer to have assuaged his fears in this regard, nor to present him with a clear, objective, view of the realities of his case. This pressure from outside forces has been the most significant factor in the appellant's decision to plead guilty as he feared for his life if jailed based upon the specific implied harm he would be visited with should he be placed into custody.

Additonally the Appellant had discovered in court documentation after signing the CSO that he had forfeited the property (Appendix 6) which was obtained by police from his residence without his being able to formally request its return or compensation for the value of the items. He was unaware of this condition prior to signing the CSO.

The various matters hereby raised, concerning the failures of the Appellant's lawyer, Mr Hadford, to serve the best interests of his Client, calls into question the entirety of his counsel to his Client to date.

THE PARTICULAR CIRCUMSTANCES, AS DESCRIBED BELOW, WITHIN WHICH THE Appellant HAS SIGNED HIS AGREEMENT TO THE CONDITIONAL SENTENCE ORDER, SHOULD RENDER THIS AGREEMENT TO BE NULL AND VOID. IT IS THEREFORE REQUESTED OF THE COURT THAT THE EXISTING CONDITIONAL SENTENCE ORDER BE REVOKED AND THAT THE MATTER BROUGHT TO A JURY TRIAL.

HOWEVER, IF, IN THE MEANTIME, THE Appellant IS REQUIRED TO ABIDE BY THE EXISTING SENTENCE ORDER FOR ANY SIGNIFICANT PERIOD OF TIME, THEN, AS A MATTER OF URGENCY, CLARIFICATIONS ON THE CONDITIONS OF THE SENTENCE ORDER ARE REQUESTED (AS SET OUT BELOW) IN ADDTION TO A REVIEW OF THOSE CONDITIONS, TO ENSURE THAT THEY WILL BE FULLY PRACTICABLE FOR THE APPELMENT TO ADHERE TO.

CONCERNS SPECIFIC TO THE CONDITIONAL SENTANCE ORDER

In this case, the sentencing order prescribed was of a 12 month sentence, 4 months of which being under house arrest, with the remaining 8 months being subject to curfew conditions. In the case of this Appellant, five conditions, which appear to be the Court's the standard, generic, conditions for cases of house arrest sentences, have been redacted. In place of these redacted conditions are a range of highly specific, onerous, conditions that are referred to within the Sentence Order document as 'Optional Conditions' thereby forming a Conditional Sentence Order that has been tailored in very specific ways to the Appellant.

As previously stated, the Appellant was placed in the position of being pressured into agreeing to all of these very specific conditions, as being integral aspects of his Conditional Sentence Order, covering an entire 12 month period. This is of great concern, given that each of these 'Optional Conditions' warrant a great deal of clarification and consideration, yet the Appellant was heavily persuaded to agree to each of these Conditions, without first having had the opportunity to seek clarification on the implications of these Conditions, nor a reasonable amount of time to consider each of these Conditions. Further, it has not been made clear to the Appellant who is responsible for drafting these 'Optional Conditions' that comprise the terms of the Conditional Sentence Order.

Please advise whether the redacted conditions on page one of the Conditional Sentence Order document represent the courts generic conditions for cases of house arrest sentencing. If this is the case, please advise the extent to which it is standard practice to substitute the Court's generic conditions for house arrest sentencing for alternative 'optional conditions' and the extent to which the Appellant's Conditional Sentence Order varies from the norm.

Clarification is also required as to who was responsible for prescribing the above mentioned, tailored, range of 'Optional Conditions' within the Appellant's Conditional Sentence Order.

Although the conditions listed on page one of the Appellant's Conditional Sentence Order have been redacted, the text however can still be made out to reveal the precise wording of these conditions. These (redacted) conditions, as they are listed on the Conditional Sentence Order, are as follows:

- Keep the peace and be of good behaviour
- Appear before the court when required to do so by the court
- Report to a Supervisor on or before 23rd day of October 2020 and thereafter when required by the Supervisor
- Remain within the jurisdiction of the Court unless written permission to go outside that jurisdiction is obtained from the Court or the Supervisor; and
- Notify the Court or the Supervisor in advance of any change of name or address, and promptly notify the Court or the Supervisor of any change of employment or occupation.

Please explain why these conditions were crossed out (serving to indicate that there are not deemed relevant in this case).

Despite the above conditions having been redacted, the following sentence states “it is further ordered that the Offender:..” This sentence implies that the above conditions (despite having been redacted) are also to be included within the Conditional Sentence Order, along with the additional ‘Optional Conditions’ that follow. Please clarify whether or not this is the case.

Optional Condition 1

It is noted that the first ‘Optional Condition’ exactly mirrors the first of the Courts’ generic conditions.

Optional Condition 2

The second ‘Optional Condition’ is similar to the second redacted condition except for a difference in wording. Whereas the redacted condition states “appear before the Court when required to do so by the Court” the 2nd prescribed ‘Optional Condition’ states: “appear before the Court when required to do so”. This therefore has a different meaning to the redacted equivalent in that the redacted version specifies that the Appellant must appear before the Court when the Court requires, the ‘Optional Condition’ does not specify who may require the Appellant to appear before the Court and it is therefore open to interpretation as to who can legitimately instruct the Appellant to appear before the Court.

Such ambiguity is arguably unacceptable and at the very least necessitates clarification regarding to exactly whom, and in what capacity they are involved in the Appellant's sentence, will have the necessary authority to instruct the Appellant to appear before the Court.

Please also clarify exactly why this 'Optional Condition' varies to the equivalent redacted condition to the extent described.

Optional Condition 5

This Condition requires the Appellant to remain within the jurisdiction of the Court unless written permission to go outside that jurisdiction is obtained from the Court or the Supervisor.

This Condition reflects the redacted Condition D on page one of the Conditional Sentence Order document, except for having specified that the Appellant must remain within the province of Alberta, as opposed to "within the jurisdiction of the Court".

If this alteration makes this Condition more restrictive, please explain the justification for this.

Further, the redacted equivalent of this 'Optional Condition' allows the Appellant the option to apply for permission to leave the designated area of confinement to either the Court or to the Supervisor (stated as 'your Supervisor within the Optional Condition).

Please explain why this alteration has been made, which denies the Appellant the option to also apply to the Court for permission to leave the restricted area.

Optional Condition 9

This Condition specifies the restrictions that apply to the final 8 months of the sentence period. These restrictions involve the Appellant remaining at his approved residence, each day, during the period of 8pm to 6am. Although curfew is meant to be less onerous that house arrest, and although the Appellant will have the luxury of being away from his approved residence for far longer periods, nevertheless, the highly specific prescribed limitations as to where the Appellant may go (as listed in Optional Condition 11) continues to apply during the curfew period. This appears to negate the benefit of curfew as it should compare with the more restrictive nature of house arrest. Surely, provided that the Appellant abides by the curfew time periods, this should suffice to satisfy the conditions of a curfew.

Please therefore explain why such highly specific restrictions should apply as to where the Appellant may go during the curfew aspect of his sentencing (provided that he remains in good behaviour and in compliance with all requirements of the Court).

Optional Condition 10

This Condition obliges the Appellant to be available to answer the phone, or to answer his door to a Supervisor or Peace Officer who attends to verify compliance with the Appellant's term. This Condition is of concern for a number of reasons:

it is not clear what exactly the role of a 'Peace Officer' is;

it fails to specify during which time periods the Supervisor or Peace Officer may decide to contact the Appellant by telephone, or to attend the Appellant's residence, thereby potentially being unnecessarily onerous to the Appellant and therefore a cause of distress;

it is not clear whether the Appellant is obliged to allow the Supervisor or Peace Officer into his residence (which would infringe on the Appellant's privacy and domestic arrangements), or whether it would suffice to speak to them at the door way; for the purposes of ensuring the Appellant's safety, surely the Supervisor or Peace Officer, on attending the Appellant's premises, should be obliged to verify their credentials.

Please address each of the above stated concerns.

Optional Condition 13 [elaborated upon in #...above]

This Condition states “you shall attend for such assessment and counselling as the Court is now directing or as may be directed by your Supervisor.” This Condition is of particular concern because it is not clear what, if any, assessment or counselling that the Court is directing, nor the nature of any such assessment that could potentially be directed by the Supervisor.

This Condition suggests that the Appellant may potentially be obliged to be subjected to mental health or psychiatric treatment. There is no justification for this requirement given that the Appellant has no history of having any mental health issues. The Appellant has already been subjected to curfew conditions for the previous two and a half years and the issue of his mental health has not been raised during this entire period, nor is there any reason to raise it currently.

The Appellant is of sound mind and is not in any way a threat to the community, nor to himself. Had there been any previous concern whatsoever about the Appellant ever having been a threat to any member, or members, of the community, or to himself, then the relevant legal powers would surely not have allowed him to remain within the community.

Furthermore, within the ‘Conditional Sentence Order’ document, the Court clearly states that “the court is satisfied that the serving of the sentence in the community would not endanger the safety of the community.” This begs the question therefore as to why this ‘Optional Condition’ has been included within the Conditional Sentence Order.

Furthermore, this ‘Optional Condition’ specifies the Appellant’s requirement “to attend such assessment and counselling as may be directed by your Supervisor”. One would assume that the Supervisor does not work in the capacity of a mental health professional. It follows therefore that a supervisor should not be placed in the position of making decisions regarding whether an offender should be subjected to any form of mental health assessment, nor to determine the nature of any such assessment that may be appropriate to any given offender.

This Optional Condition is therefore wholly inappropriate and disproportionate in the case of the Appellant.

Please therefore explain precisely why this ‘Optional Condition’ has been included within the Appellant’s Conditional Sentence Order.

This Condition also obliges the Appellant to attend and to complete the Chinook Program, and to provide written proof of such completion. However exactly what the Chinook Program involves, the period of time that it will take to complete and the nature of related work that the Appellant will be required to undertake to complete this program, has not been explained in any detail whatsoever to the Appellant.

Please explain therefore the nature of the Chinook program and what is expected of the Appellant in order to deem satisfactory completion of this program.

Optional Condition 14

This Condition states: “you shall sign any release or waiver of information as directed by your Supervisor to provide access to medical, counselling or treatment information required by your Supervisor”. The nature of such information is usually classed as being of a highly confidential nature. It is unclear why this Condition is deemed necessary in the case of the Appellant in question. A Supervisor working in the capacity of ensuring that a Appellant abides by the terms of his sentence is unlikely to be qualified in utilising such information appropriately, and any application of such sensitive information is surely beyond the capacity of the role of a Supervisor.

Please explain therefore why such information should be required by a Supervisor at all and how exactly would a Supervisor potentially utilise such sensitive information?

Optional Condition 15

This Condition states: “you shall not own or be in possession of any weapons, including a knife”. The Appellant however has not been convicted of committing any weapons related offences. It is therefore unclear as to why this Condition has been included. It is of concern that this Condition could potentially be used as justification for arbitrary searches of the Appellant’s residence or to associate him with 'violence', thereby constituting onerous treatment of the Appellant and thus a potential cause of unnecessary distress to the Appellant.

Please explain why this Optional condition has been included within the Conditional Sentence Order.

Optional Condition 16

This Condition states: “you shall not possess any firearm, cross-bow, prohibited weapon, restricted weapon, prohibited device, ammunition, prohibited ammunition or explosive substance. If you have any of these items in your possession you must arrange to surrender the items.” Again, the Appellant has never been convicted of any weapons related offences. The Appellant does not have the means, nor has the inclination, to purchase any of the above described items and most certainly not any illegal weapons or items.

Please confirm whether this Condition will be satisfied simply by the Appellant making a verbal and/or written statement to the effect that he holds none of the above mentioned prohibited items in his possession. If not, then the same concerns, as have been expressed above, relating to Optional Condition 15, also applies regarding this ‘Optional Condition’.

Optional Condition 17

This Condition states: “you shall sign any such release or waiver of information as requested by your Supervisor providing access to information required by your Supervisor in order to properly supervise you.” This Condition is extremely vague and requires clarification as to the nature of information that may potentially be requested by the Supervisor and precisely how any given type of information may be deemed necessary by the Supervisor in order to equip the Supervisor with the means to “properly supervise” the Appellant.

Please clarify precisely what type of information may potentially be requested of the Appellant by the Supervisor.

Please explain how any given type of information would potentially be utilised by the Supervisor and why this may be necessary, for the purposes of the Supervisor being able to “properly supervise” the Appellant.

Optional Condition 18

This Condition prohibits the Appellant from accessing a range of public establishments. Further, it prohibits the Appellant from being “within 100 meters of any synagogue, Jewish community or cultural centre or public gathering related to the Jewish or LGBTQ community.” The difficulty with this Condition is that, in practice, when moving about town, it will be extremely difficult for the Appellant to assess precisely where a 100 meter parameter, surrounding any of the above establishments, would be. This is especially so, given that the Appellant cannot reasonably be expected to know each of the buildings that are frequented by members of the Jewish or the LGBTQ communities.

This Condition would therefore make it very difficult for the Appellant to navigate around the town, without inadvertently breaching this Condition. Providing that the Appellant abides by the ‘Optional Condition’ 1 “you shall keep the peace and be of good behaviour” then whether the Appellant, whilst in the process of going about his business, should at any time happen to be within very close proximity to any of the establishments in question, should surely be entirely irrelevant. This is especially a concern as he has been subject to harassment by members of the terrorist organization antifa and has been followed around town by them periodically during the past two and a half years.

Please therefore explain why this highly prescribed Condition is deemed to be necessary.

Optional Condition 19

This Condition states: “you may not associate with anyone known to you to be affiliated with a white supremacist group whose purpose it is to promote hate.” The difficulty with this Condition is that it is open to interpretation as to what constitutes a “white supremacist group whose purpose is to promote hate”. If any such group, to which this description may be deemed applicable, are abiding by the law, then surely this in itself would negate the application of any such label being applied to them.

Please explain why this Condition is deemed necessary providing that the Appellant continues to abide by ‘Optional Condition’ 1 “you shall keep the peace and be of good conduct.”

Optional Condition 20

This Condition states: “you shall not publish or post directly or indirectly any material to any internet site or any other social media site or platform where such postings or publications can be read by the general public, any information about immigrants, persons of Jewish religion or ethnic origin.” The difficulty with this Condition is that it is not possible for the Appellant to prevent any other person from posting any historical message or online material that the Appellant may have previously posted. Nor does the Appellant have any means of removing content from the internet which may have been posted onto any site or platform that is owned and controlled by any other person or group. Further the Appellant does not have any means of preventing future posting, by any other person, to any other website or platform, any material. This renders the requirement not to ‘indirectly’ publish or post any such material a literal impossibility to comply with.

Please explain how the Appellant can reasonably be expected to fully comply with this Condition given the difficulties of doing so, as explained above.

Optional Condition 21

This Condition states: “you shall remove the manifesto written by you and all videos you posted from the internet within 2 weeks and refrain from uploading any new material of the internet or social media”. Similarly to the concerns raised above relating to ‘Optional Condition’ 20, although the Appellant will remove the aforesaid manifesto and all videos, he will not be in a position to remove any of those videos that may currently exist on platforms or websites over which he has no control.

Please advise how the Appellant can satisfy this Condition, given the limits of his power to do so, as explained above.

End Statement

Within the terms of the Conditional Sentence Order document (listed under the Court Clerk’s signature) it is stated that “the Supervisor may propose changes to the optional conditions...” This is of some concern, given that it leaves a great deal of uncertainty as to how the nature of the Conditional Sentence Order may, at any given time, be subject to change.

Please explain under what circumstances would any such changes to the ‘Optional Conditions’ be deemed necessary?

Please explain what such changes could potentially involve?

For the reasons described above, the conditions within the Conditional Sentence Order are, in large part, impractical given that one cannot reasonably expect the Appellant to abide by each of these Conditions without inadvertently contravening them. Indeed, arguably, they constitute a means of entrapment, which is wholly unacceptable and which contravenes the principles of fundamental justice.

PART 5: RELIEF:

The Appellant seeks to have a fair trial by jury and an opportunity to prove his innocence of the charges.

The Appellant seeks compensation for the property and money seized from his residence (see Appendix #6) amounting to approximately seven and a half thousand to eight thousand Canadian dollars.

Additionally he seeks a rectification of the defamation brought against him by the media
