

TRAVIS INTERVIEW

Take your glasses off. I don't like to have those on. Alright, well, thank you for coming on.

It's been a long time, you know, we've been talking about this for really about a, probably about a month now, possibly doing an interview. Yeah, some jackass kept insisting I don't have you on. So, yeah, well, welcome to the show.

So tell me a little bit about, tell the audience a little bit about your case and, you know, what you're, you know, being persecuted by Zog and, you know, tomorrow you have this court date and explain how you got to where you are. Okay, well, basically, first off, I'll say that with respect to your former partner that you seem to have been involved in, that's how I first encountered you and discovered your work. Although I still don't know very much about it because I don't delve over much into the alt-right really at all.

It's just mainly like the old school stuff that I focus on. So, yeah, but that guy, I had an interview with him and right away I suspected what he was pushing. He was pushing, you know, a lot of sort of Covington type stuff and so forth.

And so I was thinking, well, this guy is obviously an operative, if you will, some sort of like one of the cabal's operatives or minions that they're pushing all these sort of little sub-issues, these psyops of, you know, white natalism as the only focus of your life. Don't bother involving yourself in real life activism, whatever else he's pushing. There's sort of a drug culture or some type of like a Uyghurized culture or something.

So right away I thought that he was a Jew and he sort of looked like a Jew. He had sort of like an Ashkenazi physiognomy. And I've seen some of your comments in some of his videos about that, I think, or at least someone else's comments.

And then for yourself, I thought you might be like some sort of Christian who is bound up with a guy because often they do that. They have like their little Christian operatives working with them so they can. I am not an operative.

I can assure you that much. Yeah. Well, I wasn't I didn't mean to open a can of worms there.

But I mean, this this asshole, I mean, I don't mean to be profane because that's a kind of a Jewish trait. But, you know. Yeah, I mean, he just came up with he came up with this drama out of his head and.

Yeah. As for Covington, I've read his work and, you know, I think he was a decent storyteller, but I mean, he did have a bit of a dubious nature behind him. You know, Ben Classen, obviously, you know, he had some beef with him back in the 80s.

Well, I don't I don't I mean, he did have a he did have a pretty thick beard, but I don't know if I go that far. But he Covington. He sort of there was a letter that he did where he was threatening William Pierce and Tom Metzger and like David, like all pretty much all the one point oh guys, he like had a letter where he was writing like a death threat to him.

So he clearly had something going on, but his whole his whole modus operandi is pushing a northwest imperative, which is to say Billy Roper's imperative at this time, balkanization. And the whole point of that is basically just to corral all the white people into one area and then who knows what they would do to you then just poison the wells or release bio weapons or carpet vomit with napalm or something like that. Right.

It seems to me highly suspicious of its own right balkanization, but obviously people do what they can to relocate to more trustworthy as pure white areas as possible to get away from the chaos. It's almost certainly going to be brought into the world soon. So, yeah, but still, I don't trust Covington or any of these types, because just what they're pushing, they're pushing a sort of a terroristic, you know, that side of white terrorism that they're always trying to push.

So you mean in the sense of, you know, go, you know, go out there and do something, meaning go out there and go kill people and make us all look bad, you know? Yeah, it's obviously what the Jews want is for people to create this chaos. And that's why they wanted me to be put forth in this case, because there was a bunch of firearms that I didn't have properly stored, allegedly, in my house here. That the police entered into the premises based upon the tenuous link of a Safeway clerk discovering a Safeway money bill, which had stamped upon it Jewish white genocide.

And then from there, they traced things to me through my making a noise complaint on the neighbors for having a party late at night. And then from there, they gathered data on me and were spying on me and my residents. And then from there, arrested me outside of a counseling session that I had to go to in order, as a sort of implied condition of my continuing to receive welfare monies.

And if I didn't do that, then they would probably have cut me off. So I went there to these counseling sessions and also the stress of life and so forth. And from there, they arrested me after that when I came out.

And I allegedly had some money bills in my bag that they possibly didn't even search legally. And so from there, they tried to build a case that that was good enough evidence to get a search warrant for my place. And then from there, they basically B&E'd the place and they trashed it and threw stuff all over the place.

Left like McDonald's hamburger packages all over the ground. And, you know, basically just ended up taking about $8,000 worth of my stuff, about $2,000 worth of these bills with the same stamps on them, Jewish white genocide. They took a bunch of firearms, a couple SKSs, a Ruger 10-22 takedown, a, what was it, a Weatherbee pump-action shotgun, and then a bunch of ammunition, a couple crossbows they took.

What else did they take? All sorts of other stuff. A lot of my written material and material that I had, like survivalist material, I had printed out and I had laminated it and put it in cases and so forth. And they just took all that.

They took about four computers, about 20 USB sticks and things like this. So basically it totaled up in money terms to be like $8,500 or so of my money that they took and leaving me basically destitute afterwards. And so what they were trying to do, the Jews who control society, of course, as everybody knows, who watches your content probably, they wanted to... Right.

But maybe they're on the list and somebody else's list, some other pro-white people, so-called white knights or whatever, government people, who knows. But yeah, so that's what the Jews are trying to do is to build that case to create this appearance of the evil white terrorist with his guns who's going to go and kill the innocent Jews and so forth. And so just before this interview, I was talking to a lawyer who called and he said that that is going to be thrown out, all the firearms charges, because the information to obtain, which is the search warrant, the means that they have of obtaining the search warrant, was so procedurally false and full of all sorts of whatever you want to call it.

Discrepancies procedurally, that they had to throw it out, that part of it. So otherwise I could have amounted to like a couple of years in jail for me. So that's good.

Pretty cold in here, so that's why I'm a little bit shaky. Because it's like very cold outside in Canada. So basically, the firearms are now gone.

So I don't need to worry about that. The only thing I need to do for that is to concede tomorrow that I did not have legally, what is it, a firearms license at the time. I had to renew my firearms license.

And so because I didn't do that, then I might have to have like a $200 fine or something like that. And they, of course, took all my firearms from me so that I can never have a firearms license ever again, probably. And then they took all the guns and everything else and so forth.

And all of that just because allegedly, there were some scratches of the serial numbers being scratched off. And, you know, I had, there were magazines in the guns and so forth. And in this country, you're not allowed to have magazines that have more than, I think it's like five or so rounds or something like that.

So when I had ordered them, I had ordered like large capacity magazines, and I had allegedly drilled out the pin that was put into those so I could have a full capacity magazine, you know, to in the event of obviously self-defense or something like that. And then from there, they were stored, allegedly in the basement here. And so they took all that and they were going to try to slap me with all sorts of charges like, what was it exactly? I can't remember exactly the details of every one of the charges, but they were improper storage of firearms, they were tampering with the device or having a prohibited device because the magazines had a little drill, you know, the pin was drilled out and so forth.

And then I don't even know if the serial numbers being scratched off was considered illegal, I guess, because some criminals do that. Maybe that's illegal. I don't even know.

And so from there, basically, that led to that I was arrested, I was put into the holding cell for like 40 something hours or whatever it was. And I just refused to consume any of the food in there and the water almost. I drank some of the water, but I drank almost no water at that time, too, because it was just so full of chlorine and all this sort of stuff like that.

I usually drink distilled water. So basically, I did a water fast and a food fast in there. And then when I went out of there, yeah, actually, do you want me to just tell you the story in sort of like a sequence or something like that? Chronologically? I think that's sort of what you've been doing.

But I have to say, I mean, it really goes to show what happens when you challenge those in power. Right. Yeah, I hope that people don't interpret my gestures here as a Jewish gesture.

It's just because it's freezing cold in here. But yeah, if I could do it in a sort of sequential way. First, I'll just give people the website.

They can look it up on the website that basically goes into the sequence of events. free-speech.is-great.net free-speech.is-great.net. And I wrote up a little document of the sequence of events on that website, which shows all the sequence of events based on my journaling of what happened from the 1st of August 2018 to about August of this year. And I don't know if I want to go through every little detail or so because it could be a little bit tedious.

But all the evidence on that website is what they had, except for the disclosure, which is the police report, which I was forced to take down by the Crown. Not to say I put it up there originally, of course. But the police report was put up.

So then they told me to take it down. So otherwise, that would be a violation of my bail conditions. The bail conditions were that I had to check in every Friday at the police station between business hours and that I had to carry around this piece of paper or a bunch of papers, a notice of recognizance with all my charges listed and so forth.

And I had to keep that in a fanny pack everywhere I walk around. Every time I leave the house, I either have a backpack or the fanny pack with those papers in it. And then I'm not allowed outside of the house between 10 at night and 6 in the morning.

So every night. So I can basically more or less than put under house arrest for the entire time. And then that's basically the bail conditions in a nutshell.

Last year in the fall, I violated that by not checking in in time on Friday because I'd forgotten. I was just too busy by my baby boomer drunken father who came around and harassed me all the time. So it was disturbing my ability to concentrate to a massive extent.

So I didn't check in on the Friday and then the next Friday I check in and then the person's like, oh, we're going to have to get you to speak to a police officer. And then when the police officer comes into the holding cell, you go. And that was another 12 hours or whatever in the case that I was trapped in there.

And they never offered me any food or anything like that. And when I was in there, this was just in this past fall, there was some sort of Arab Muslim guy. He was given preferential treatment in the next cell.

He was given a 30 minute or more conversation with his special interpreter or translator lawyer and so forth. And, you know, he was given kid glove treatment and he was just let out in like a couple hours, not even. So who knows what he did, right? Probably just some jihadist, you know, doing some sort of nefarious whatever drug deal or something like that.

So obviously you can see that he is like the Jew's pet for the most part. And then when I was in that holding cell last year or this past fall, also, they had put in some some probably a red skin or something like that into the cell next to me. And that guy, that guy was basically screeching and shouting and yelling about how he doesn't like Christian Nazis and so forth.

Right next to the cell that I'm in. And they put him in there probably 10 hours after I'd been in there, you know, just when I'm going to be all weak and tired and so forth. So I'm thinking they did that deliberately to try to get me to make some sort of statements that they could record or something like that.

Because after I told the guy just to shut up and then, you know, after a while he just became quiet and then he just left or something. And then I was allowed out because the Jews couldn't justify keeping me in the jail cell because all I had done was just failed to check in. So they were going to try to put me in jail for that as well.

And then, so that's that. From that time. Going back to the beginning in August of last year 2018 in two years ago.

What? I'm in the cell, then I'm out of the cell. And yeah, I finally get released out of there. Like 46 hours or so later, I think it can only hold you for 72 hours.

I'm not too sure. It might be even 48 hours. I don't know here.

But once I'm out, I'm thinking to myself, oh, no. Now that they know all about the firearms and so forth, they've got all these charges on me, you know, who knows if it will be five years or more years. And, you know, what's the point of living? You know, it's just horrible world and so forth.

And of course, I was fasting and basically hadn't had any water or anything like that, too. So all of that combined to just put me into massive stress. So I basically just said to myself, you know, stoically, I'm just going to kill myself.

I don't want to be in this world anymore. I don't want to have anything to do with it. So basically, I just went to sleep and had vowed to kill myself the next day.

And then about six hours of sleep later, I wake up and I write this little manifesto that's on the website. At the time, I was sort of influenced by Christ-hard identity or Christian identity to a great extent. And so I was, I guess that's one of the reasons why I had a willingness to, you know, give it all away to kill myself because of Christ-hard insanity.

Because, you know, you're just you're living for your fairy land or whatever beyond. And so I have some Christian viewers. They probably won't be too flattered by your comments.

Well, I'll say to them, please far away from Christian identity as you can, because that's just a psyop on the part of the Jews. You can check my website, the-struggle.net. I wrote a treaty on that, I guess you could call it, Christ-insanity identity, pro-white or kosher psyop. And that, I think, fairly well disproves Christianity.

That and the website JesusNeverExisted.com is pretty much convincing proof. But yeah, I was under that influence. So then I basically, I don't know if you can see, can you see that? Yeah, you have an X and you have, I forgot that symbol.

I've just been out of it. Yeah, I see it. It's like a backwards Z or something.

I forgot what that symbol is called. Christian type music. And I was cut my wrists and was waiting for it to bleed out, but it was just congeal.

The blood would just congeal. And so I reattempted. It was pretty gruesome.

You know, you can see your flesh split open and so forth. And, you know, pretty horrific looking. But luckily I missed this left wrist by just a very couple of millimeters.

Otherwise it would have probably killed me. So that was good that I missed that. And then it congealed.

So I said, well, obviously this is a sign from God or something like that, or providence intervening that I shouldn't do that. So then I called the ambulance and then the ambulance came. But before that, there were two police officers who came there.

One was a white guy who seemed like a pretty competent officer. And the other one was a Filipino. As soon as a Filipino guy comes in there, he knows that I'm the one who's been arrested for the hatred.

So he's going right after me right away. He's like, oh, yeah, yeah. That's not how you commit suicide.

You've got to do it here in this other region of the anatomy. So basically, you know, giving me a means to kill myself for the most part. And so I'm taken away by the ambulance.

And then in the hospital. First, there's a Jewish psychiatric nurse. And this one is, you know, I'm telling her I might just have to kill myself again.

You know, if I have to spend a long time in jail, I might just kill myself or repeat the attempt. And so then from there, I speak to the Jewish psychiatrist and I tell her the same thing. I tell her I don't hate Jews explicitly.

And then what happens later on this past year in the police report? Loki spoke about his hatred of Jews. That's her verbatim quotation. Right.

But I explicitly stated I don't hate Jews. And there are witnesses there as well. And then from there, I also told that Jewish psychiatric nurse, hopefully I'll be able to lodge a formal complaint against her to try to get her stripped of her professional license or something like that, because she's obviously encouraging me to commit suicide.

I tell her, you know, if I have to spend a long time in jail, that I might just kill myself. And then she's like, oh, OK. And then she just lets me go at that point.

And the Jewish nurses and so forth, they're pretty much most of them were all Jews. They're just like, say, OK, you can go now. And they're just like, you know, don't even give me any boss fare.

I don't even know where I am in the hospital. It's just like, where is this hospital? I don't even know. I mean, it goes to show that, you know, if you just say anything that's even critical of them, they they basically want to fucking kill you.

Sorry. Yeah. They'll do whatever they can to try to destroy us as a race.

That's obviously what their intentions are. Yeah. Pretty obvious.

Yeah. Yeah. I mean, it's you know that there's that phrase every single time and.

Right. You know, what do you know? And. Or that or that image from the the old 80s cartoons.

The more you know, when it's got the star with the rainbow. Yeah. And, you know, they say, oh, the protocols is fabricated, fabricated.

And I'm sorry, I'm completely tired and fabricated. And, you know, if it's fabricated, then how come it's for the most part, you know, you see it right in front of you coming into fruition. I mean, it's you know, there's this idea that, you know, written in the protocols about controlling the opposition.

And that's precisely what they were doing with things like, you know, these media creations like, you know, the alt-right and Charlottesville. And, you know, those were all psyops. You know, encourage our censorship and increase their power.

I mean. Yeah, exactly. Basically, I'm not too sure about that protocols passage, where that is in the protocols.

I have a copy of the protocols, but I don't recall that specifically. But yeah, they obviously want to control the opposition. As to Charlottesville, you could tell that that was just a sort of orchestrated psyop.

You know, this Jew, he just gets 400 million years in jail, right? Okay, sure thing. And then, of course, Stormfront's in there. They're like, oh, yeah, we're all down with the alt-right, because Stormfront is a psyop also.

I got basically shadow banned from Stormfront for posting criticisms about Christianity. So they were burying my content under huge amounts of other posts. As soon as I post, they would bury my content.

And that's only if they would post. And then when they did, the view count, it used to be like 500 or so per post, and then it goes down to like 10. So I'm thinking Stormfront's another psyop.

Oh, I, you know, I was blocked by David Duke, because I pointed out that he endorsed, you know, a race mixer. I mean, he has, you know, children that are products of miscegenation. And there's literally a picture of, you know, Augustus Invictus, you've probably heard of him.

Yeah, with his, like, I think he was like a mulatto wife or something. And, right. Yeah, he sees kids.

And it's like, why would you go around saying you're for, you know, our people, yet? This is it just, it really doesn't make sense to me. So I pointed that out. I asked, why would you endorse that guy? You know, an individual who, you know, would practice acts like this.

And I put the image of him with his family in the message. And then right after that, he blocked me. So, well, basically, yeah.

I mean, Augustus Invictus. Is that even his? Obviously, that sounds like it's not his real name is like Austin Jalispie or something like that. Jalispie or whatever.

Yeah. See Jalispie, Austin, Texas, you know, maybe it's another fake name, too. So far as we because this guy claims that he was a Freemason at one point.

Oh, well, I mean, there is that picture of him, you know, doing this, which is a Freemason pose. Yeah, the hidden hand. If you're a Freemason, almost certainly you're going to be involved in things that are compromising you.

And you're an operative of the cabal. I doubt you're just going to be a Freemason, like a gentleman's club, like he tries to sort of soft play it and represent it as if it's just a benign, you know, amusement. These people take blood oaths and they are not just, you know, people having fun in a gentleman's club or something like that.

They're basically hardcore, entrenched operatives and they will pretty much have to do whatever the Jews tell them to because they have dirt on them. Like in the movie Occult Forces, if people have seen that movie from 1943 about Freemasonry, how it exposes it. And then there's the book Destruction of Freemasonry Through Revelation of its Secrets by General Erich von Ludendorff.

And there's all sorts of other proof about Freemasonry being just Jewish, Jewish contrivance totally. So yeah, as to the alt-right, if people check out my channel, my Bitchu channel, in capital letters, White underscore God, that will give you a lot of my commentary on the alt-right. I'm trying to come up with a little booklet refuting the alt-right called Alt-Kyke, Refutation of the Alt-Right.

As soon as I first saw the alt-right, I was thinking to myself, I saw this on Red Ice Radio, Andrew Anglin, I think in like 2015, he was on there. And I said to myself, what is this garbage? Andrew Anglin is a pedophile who takes trips to Thailand. I mean, and this is the leader of the so-called movement.

One of the figureheads, at least. I mean, it's a joke. I mean, that's why I think that the 1.0 guys like William Pierce, or I mean, you could probably put Ernst Zündel in there.

Yeah, yeah. You know, these things are eternal verities. They don't just come and go like a trend.

You know, Andrew Anglin, Richard Spencer, James Fields, Charlottesville, and so forth.

These are all basically contrived events that are staged by the cabal deliberately as a part of their little dialectic. I wrote on my website, the-struggle.net, if I could plug that.

I wrote a document called White Terror Jewish Psyop, which basically, upon, what's his name there? Michael Hoffman's book, Secret Societies and Psychological Warfare. Yeah, he wrote When We Were White and We Were Slaves. Yeah, but that specific book, Secret Societies and Psychological Warfare, relates to how the Jews use or create a sort of idealized simulacrum or fake idea, and then they reify that or they make it real by having other people believe in it and acting upon the basis of that, making that their own identity.

So they create subcultures and say, here you are, this is who you are, or they'll put someone like Augusto Invictus into public eye, and then they'll say, look at this, this guy's a champion of your white rights. Yeah. They associate that with all sorts of false associations that aren't really associated with it, a lot of irrelevancies that lead you in directions that are harmful to you.

So basically it's mixing water with the wine, 90% truth, 10% lies type thing, so they can lead you towards where they want you to lead you to, which is basically white terror, James Mason's siege, and Augustus Invictus is working with James Mason. I did actually watch that interview. I own a copy of a first edition actually of Siege.

I never got around to reading it, but I have heard stuff going around about him, that he's an informant. I don't know if it was, I think, well, I mean, it was definitely not acceptable considering he was in his forties and she was, I think 16 or something, definitely not acceptable, but there is a bit of a dubious nature to the guy. I mean, I think that I mainly purchased it for collection purposes, but this, I really do think that a lot of the ones that are living are generally not very authentic.

The ones that are put forth as the figureheads of this sort of thing, I mean, going back to that earlier point where you brought up Freemasonry and David Duke endorsed Augustus Invictus or Austin Gillespie, whatever you want to call them, both Freemasons. I mean, you don't become the grand dragon of the KKK. I mean, there's no, you really have to go through some kind of process to get to that sort of point.

The KKK, so far as I know, is a Freemasonic organization. Albert apparently created that organization, you know, the head of Scottish Rite Freemasonry or the creator of Scottish Rite Freemasonry. So to me, it seems like just another little game with these people that they're controlling the opposition.

I'm not really too sure myself, though, if it is entirely Jews behind things entirely. Maybe there is a pro-white faction that's counter to them. Difficult to say.

I'm not too sure. I'm thinking I've heard from various sources, such as the joyofsatan.com, the National Socialist Satanist Organization. I've heard from them that Freemasonry was just basically ripped off by Jews and perverted, and that its origins was in Egypt, and that was Hermeticism before that, and that it was corrupted by Jews during the time of Adam Weishaupt.

Adam Weishaupt around 1771, and around that time when the Knights Templar were destroyed around the late 1600s. So not too sure. I'm pretty sure, in fact, I'm almost certain that the pro-white faction is an actual reality, and that Jews don't have total power at all.

But it's confusing and difficult to understand exactly who's who and who's Jew or who's bound up with Jews. You can't really tell entirely. Well, they have.

They obviously—I mean, it's a no-brainer, but they obviously control the highest amount of power out of any demographic. But at the same time, it's more than that. It's not just—there's other groups involved, even though they play a large role.

I'm not undermining that, obviously. But yeah, there are other factors to power, but they play a major, major role. I am not trying to say, oh, it's—I can't do it.

The Jews, they don't control—it's like with Peterson. He was like, I can't do it. I'm sure you've seen that clip.

No, actually, as soon as I heard of Juden Peterson, as I heard of that guy, I said to myself, this guy's obviously just trying to sort of create this little soft, weak, turn-within, go-within, and ignore reality, you know? Yeah, live in your head. Basically. And, of course, he's from Toronto, which is a major power center of the Jews.

It's the Canadian version of New York City. It's the financial capital. New York is the financial capital of the states.

Toronto is near Ottawa, which is the political capital, and New York is near Washington, D.C., which is the political capital. And so, too, in England, they've got financial capital in the city of London, and then they've got Buckingham Palace in London, or whatever. And then in Rome, they've got the Vatican, and then they've probably got some Vatican Bank or something.

Basically, that seems to be the way they divide things up. They've got their power center of politics, and then they've got their power center of banking. Right, and that's why with our foreign policy, they say the most commonly said thing is the media attacking North Korea because they're isolationist, and they're not under their control.

So that's why you have this - what I call Jewish imperialism, where we - it's kind of like with Libya, where we went in and took out Gaddafi because he had his own monetary system that was free from the central banking system, the international system I'm referring to. And that's what resulted in him being taken out. It wasn't because - oh, he was - the media just said, oh, he was an evil dictator and blah, blah, blah, and even though he ruled his country for 30, 40 years, and they just sort of - stupid phone.

Yeah, you get the point. Yeah, basically, it's just a central banking system regime that runs the entire world. But the thing is, the Jews' power is spiritual as well as purely whatever, banking, money, monetary, political, in that sense, in the sense of abstract, because their spiritual power is based upon their control of the minds of people through Christianity mainly, and through Islam.

They created Islam. All Abrahamic religion is basically under their thumb and created by them from the beginning as a means of mind-controlling people to worship them as God and to look toward them and their fictional Jewish archetype of Jesus as the sort of savior. So it's the same with Zoroastrianism, which they apparently created as well.

If you read the book, The Origins of Christianity by Reville P. Oliver. Yes. He's very critical of Christianity.

Yeah, he's got a good website. I think it's RevilleOliver.org. Kevin Alfred Strom of the National Alliance set that up, and it's basically an archive of all of his writings and discourses or lectures. And yeah, in that book, The Origins of Christianity, he basically proves, more or less, that Zoroastrianism was created by Jews also.

So it's the same sort of psyop. They create the ideology. They impose it on people.

Then they get the people to undergo all the sort of the melodrama bound up with that ideology. You know, worship magic master in the sky. Everyone else is an unbeliever, a devil, or... Where would you describe your spiritual beliefs? Asatru, or Wicchan, or Odinist? I would say, basically, esoteric Hitlerism of Miguel Serrano.

Oh, sort of like Savitri Debbie or Miguel Serrano. Not entirely. Serrano is basically Gnosticism for the most part, but not entirely.

It's separate from that insofar as basically as his book, his main book, Adolf Hitler, the Ultimate Avatar, says that Adolf Hitler is an avatar of Vishnu, meaning that he is basically a sort of like an incarnation of that deity. And that basically the deity to come is Kalki Avatar. I don't know if you've heard of that or not.

Kalki? K-A-L-K-I? I've heard... Could you elaborate on it? As far as I understand, I could say, basically, my limited knowledge of it is that Kalki Avatar is this being who will come with the... and that's pretty much Wotan. It is Wotanism. It's the same thing, basically.

Kalki, Wotan, that they come back to bring about the Golden Age and the end of the Kali Yuga, which is what this age... Dark Age, yeah. Ride the Tiger, that goes... yeah. Sorry, what were you going to say? I was just going to say, basically, that is the general spiritual conception that I adhere to, although it's obviously been, for me, or not obvious to you, but for me, a bit of a confusing path, I guess you could say, trying to figure out all these things, these ideas, ideological conceptions and so forth, what is true, what is not true.

I've studied philosophy since the year 2000, so I pretty much span the entire gamut of philosophy, but I would say it's probably quite likely that that is the truth. There's such a thing as... like in, for example, the cartoon He-Man is a good general metaphor of that. He-Man is the Aryan, who is a devia, or the god, who involuted as the Kali Yuga or the ages continued to progress, he became more and more involuted, more and more materialized or materialistic.

You know, the white race from there, and through race mixing, which is like the original sin from that time period, which led to, as Evola speaks of in Revolt Against the Modern World, a gradual spiraling down towards more and more materially dense set of circumstances or states of consciousness, which I guess is called the demiurge, to some extent, or the effect of the demiurge. Which is that things become more and more materially dense and less and less spiritually high in their vibration. And so, He-Man is the Aryan that you're trying to become, which is the god-man, through the appropriate ritualistic means, such as yoga and things of that sort, meditation and tantra and so forth.

And that will enable you to develop your soul, to build your true self, you know, your lower self with your higher self, or your true self, and then to be able to ascend beyond the material plane, and at the same time to live within it, through attaining immortality of the soul, through those ritualistic means. And so, He-Man is basically the blue-eyed, blonde-haired Aryan, Skeletor is the Jew, who lives in illusion, or the veil of Maya, and Beast-Man, of course, is the non-white, he's the Beast-Man, who works with Skeletor in illusion against He-Man, who lives in Eternia, which is the Pleroma in Gnosticism, which is basically the realm that pre-existed the Demiurge, which is the Big Bang, which is Jehovah, which is Satan. Basically, once the Big Bang happened, then that was the creation of the sort of fallen world, of a simulacral, or fake world.

And then from there, the goal is to get back to Eternia, I guess you could say, to the realm of the immortals, to Asgard, from Midgard, through the Bifrost Bridge, which is alchemical transmutation. The Magnum Opus, through the appropriate ritualistic activities, yoga, meditation, and so on. JoyofSatan.com has all the copious details of that, of the alchemical process, the Magnum Opus, how to transform yourself into a god, basically.

That's very interesting. You know, when you said Skeletor, that sort of makes sense to me, because, you know, I will get you, He-Man! You know, the sort of voice. Can you see that? Posters? I cannot.

Oh, I can see one of them. Oh, I can sort of see part of each one. Not in its entirety, but, oh, okay, I can see it better.

He-Man! Right there, see? The Raha, right there. So, that's what we're in the midst of right now. And that's part of the alchemical process, is basically fighting against what Miguel Serrano called the robots of the Demiurge, meaning that they're basically involuted entities, that they're a product of the involution of spirit into matter, the Jews.

That they are basically a false, a fake, anthropoid entity, which is what the Neanderthals were, and the Jews derived from the Neanderthals. So, basically, in order to get back to the eternal states, you have to reduce or oppose the materialization of the spiritual, because that's what the Jews' intention is, is to trap you in material plane, in the matrix, so to speak. Right, right.

In the realm of Maya or illusion, Skeletor's realm of illusion. So, you have to fight against that and fight them to the extent possible, so that they cannot achieve their objective of trying to race mix us out of existence, because we are basically, however defective we may be, are the result of the devias, the Aryan, involuting through race mixing with the non-whites, and then becoming a more inferior being, but we still retain the structures of consciousness, like the pineal gland and the pituitary body, that enables us to attain godhood. So, third eye meditations and things like that can lead to that, and basically, that is the path to tread.

So, the Jews are basically robots of the demiurge, that they are the involuted products of the Big Bang, of the fall of spirit into matter, and we want to get back to that, and Tolkien's allegory of the Lord of the Rings is also that, too. That allegory of, you know, returning to... Gollum is sort of like the materialistic Jew, you know, like, my precious. Gollum is a Christian, and why that is, is because he is enslaved to the demiurge, which is Jehovah, which is what they call God, which is the demiurge.

Oh, so Sauron, then Sauron would be, okay, yeah. Nazgûl and Sauron, and Wormtongue is also the Jew who whispers poison into the ears of Denethor, and Saruman is the White Hand. I write about this in that book I just sent you, actually.

The White Hand of Saruman, that's Freemasonry. Isengard is the technocracy of the Freemasonic, whatever you want to call it, technocracy of Freemasonry. In Isengard, they've got all sorts of crazy machines and stuff like that.

They've got orcs, and they're breeding the orcs with men, mixing races. Orcs are the beast men, or the non-whites. The mongrels.

Yeah. And basically, Sauron, the Jews, and the Dark Lord are working with Saruman, who is of the White Hand Freemasonry, who is basically in spiritual bondage to them. Saruman has a coat of many colors, which means that he has a failed integration of the soul.

Like in that Pink Floyd album, when you have the prism of that triangular prism of pure diamond, and then the light beam is going through it, and it's refracting into the rainbow. Dark side of the moon, yes. Yeah.

Rainbow represents, in that case, all the different vibrational frequencies or whatever. They're not integrated into the diamond body. They're separated.

So the rainbow flag basically connotes separation in occultism, so far as I know. Because they're different wavelengths of light, or whatever the case. So they're not integrated.

Gandalf is the, you know, the Arian, the whatever you want to call that magician. He becomes the Gandalf the White. He has a diamond body.

Because he fights against the Balrog, he goes down into Mount Moria and fights the Balrog, and then he ascends again and becomes immortal, Gandalf the White, and so forth. And so we're basically the hobbits, basically. What's your rebuttal to those that say that Tolkien was a Christian? I would say that's probably false, because if you read between the lines of his works, it suggests... It uses a lot of that sort of imagery that wouldn't really coincide with, yeah.

Yeah, I would basically say that he is probably an agnostic occultist or something like that. I'm not too sure what that would be. I remember hearing that he had a subscription to a magazine, a Nordicist magazine, that one of his children found.

So that connects him to basically a racist consciousness. Even though he had claimed that he knew a bunch of Jews, and he found them to be wonderful people, some of them, blah, blah, blah. And some of his quotations.

At the same time, especially English people, they're always making allusions in sort of subtle forms. So you can never really be sure if he's not just trying to imply something there about Jews. Yeah, I would say he's probably some type of agnostic occultist and so forth.

So far, I'm thinking that there is some hope for the future, even on this material plane, because, you know, a lot of these whites seem to be on the side of truth and so forth. So maybe they're opponents of Jews, probably. I think that we, at the same time, we're always looking for the truth.

But we're also a naive race, as you can see with, you know, I know it's sort of a cliché term at this point, but pathological altruism, this sort of idea. We're sort of conditioned to, you know, do things like the 1965 Immigration Act, do things like campaign for open borders or, you know, oh, I'm going to - that's fine. Let them, you know, let them rape my daughter or whatever.

You know, it's OK. You know, it's sort of an – it's sort of a – sorry. I'm just very tired.

You're saying it's an innate condition of white people. It is. I would say no, not entirely.

I would say that the condition of white people, because they are of a higher consciousness, because they come from the devias or the area from above, literally, probably, that they probably come from the Anunnaki or something of that sort, because of that, their consciousness is attuned to higher states of being. It's more in harmony with the sum total of being. And that being the case, we have a greater sense of harmony or what you could call beauty or truth or justice.

A higher appreciation of culture, in other words. A higher consciousness in terms of spiritual consciousness and awareness. So we have regard for other beings.

We don't just go around like the Jews, you know, like kosher slaughtering, kosher slaughtering animals or torture murdering children in their Jewish ritual murders, maybe drinking blood from blood banks or eating fetal tissue from the abortion clinics or who knows what they're really doing behind the scenes, right? There's the Briss ritual, which is obviously, yeah. And then Neanderthals were reputed to be cannibals. So that follows from the premises that they actually derived from Neanderthal, Homo Neanderthalensis, the robot of a demiurge, as Miguel Serrano said.

So our consciousness is a higher consciousness and theirs is trapped in the material plane, just like all the beast men are. They want to reduce us to their level because they hate us. They want to smash the mirror, which reminds them of their ugliness because they can't stand to look at themselves in the mirror of the white race.

And so that is basically what Nietzsche called resentment morality or people, those at a lower level who have a resentment for those at a higher level who wish to destroy them. And that is all based on, or rather, that is what Christianity is, is, as Nietzsche said, resentment morality in the Antichrist that he wrote. And that is what pathological altruism stems from, in my opinion.

It's not innate to white people. It's a result of Christianity warping their natural empathy for the other, for that which is not white. It's their loss of potential awakening because of their social engineering by their surroundings because that's just basically what modernity, especially the 20th and 21st century.

So you could go back further, but I mean, just the last century specifically has been the most subversive it's, you know, ever been. I would say that that's largely a result of Jewish influence. So Christianity was created by Jews for that purpose, as a subversive creed to destroy white people in Rome, which led to a race mixing in Rome.

And then they used the Roman legions, which became, you know, Christian Rome. They led them all over the place, murdering white people and smashing their statues and destroying their culture, which pre-existed Christianity. So basically that pathological altruism, which is now also in the form of communism, is pretty much a Jewish creation to exploit white people's empathy.

And then from there, they can use that against white people. Basically, it's what I would consider to be white AIDS that's injected into the body of white people, into their consciousness for the purpose of destroying them from within and getting them to destroy themselves. Basically, Christians are the worst when it comes to... So the pathological altruism does not come from their inherent traits.

It's more from their Christian influence, to put it simply, in other words. I would say so, but it's not entirely that. The thing is, when it becomes pathological, it's when the Jew introduces the pathology or the pathogen of white AIDS, of that ideology in their mind, and then they use that to warp it.

So we naturally have empathy for the other, but the Jew comes along and warps that. Exploits it, as they have a history of doing. That's what they do with everything.

Every normal, organic state of being, the Jew comes along and makes it artificial and false and materialistic and destroys it. They divert nature. That's why there's... That brings up another... that brings up a specific verse.

I'm sure you're familiar with Galatians 3.28. There is neither Jew nor Gentile, neither slave nor free, nor is there male and female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus. That's sort of what you are referring to, right? Yeah, basically. They're trying to... We're all one.

Yeah. Julius Ebola spoke of differentiated order versus undifferentiated chaos, and that chaos is the demiurge. Big Bang creates involution, creates chaos, because it destroys the so-called forms of Plato, which are what is in the Eternia, the natural or the preexistent realm of the immortals or Eternia, that which is eternal, being destroyed and perverted by that demiurgic Big Bang, which in turn leads to undifferentiated chaos, and that's what the Jews worship is chaos, and they are sort of like the... whatever you want to call it, instruments of chaos.

Right. By any effort to restore order, that is obviously what they strongly stand against the most. Yeah.

Anything related to what we could call God or being, in other words, the sum total of reality, whatever you want to call that, not Jehovah, not the Jews' God, but the God above that God, that they want to destroy. Anything related to that or of that in its essence, they want to manipulate and pervert the essence of things to create them in their own image, make an artificial reality out of the reality which existed. Right.

Comparing and contrasting Vatican I versus Vatican II, Vatican I sort of was stated to be against rationalism and materialism. Yaqui wrote a bit about that sort of thing in Imperium, and then Vatican II came in, I think it was the early 60s if I recall, and just completely... It was 1958 that that was done. 1958.

Yep. Right. That was under Pope John XXIII? Not too sure.

The XXIII, but right. So your opinion on the two councils and things like Sedeficantism, if I said that correctly. Sedeficantism, which is the belief that the Holy See has been vacant since Vatican II.

OK. It's sort of said to be an extreme... they say it's an extreme traditionalist end of the church or whatever. In the SSVX, the Society for St. Pius X? Right.

St. Pius X, there was actually... I believe he had some sort of involvement with the SS. Nope. Nope? OK.

Basically, I'll tell you about my personal experiences with the SSPX and traditional Catholicism. Firstly, I spoke to E. Michael Jones in 2015 on the phone, and I asked him, because I heard him on Red Ice Radio, and I checked out his Counter-Currents or whatever his Culture Wars website, and I got his contacts, and I called him. And he said... I asked him, oh, what do you... about the Jews and the, you know, race and so forth.

And then he says, oh, no, it's just Universalism. You know, Catholicism is just Universalism. So, yeah, whatever.

And then from there, I further investigated, because I was listening to a few of Bishop Richard Williamson and E. Michael Jones' presentations. I investigated with the... I think it's Loyola University, the Professor Emeritus of Loyola University. I asked him about that, too.

You know, he says, oh, no, those views, we don't subscribe to those views. Then I contacted several other of these SSPX outpost organizations through email. They gave me basically the same sort of talking around the realities of... Right, right.

Because it's all low... everything is low... Yeah, low gas, as he would say with his Philly accent. All that really means is just... that just means word, which is just a Greek word. So if you want to call it... He states that it means, you know, the divine order of God, but it, you know, it... Yeah, I mean, in his case, he's... I have to say I think it's a bit counterproductive that, you know, we see a lot of individuals that, you know, are similar to our sort of views that continue to endorse people like him who don't see the realities of race.

Right. That gets back right to Julius Evola's conception of differentiated order and undifferentiated chaos. If you're going to claim that you're about order, then why would you mix that which is part of the creation together into undifferentiated chaos? Because that's not order, that's chaos.

You're destroying that which is the organic essence of things. You're mixing them together, and that creates chaos, which is against order. So you can't call that order, but that's what the Christians want.

And the thing is, if you read Heidegger's Being and Time and various other works of Heidegger, he discusses logos quite a lot, because Heidegger is basically agnostic, so far as I can tell. He was also a National Socialist, and the National Socialists were not Christian. They're anti-Christian.

And like Miguel Serrano says, Adolf Hitler, ultimate avatar, avatar of Vishnu. Rosenberg was a Marcionite Gnostic. Himmler was a Hindu.

Rudolf von Sabatendorf was a Freemason, but he was sort of against Hitler a little bit. Basically all these National Socialists – and again, joyofsatan.com refutes all of this in the document they wrote, The Third Reich in Christianity, or it might be called Third Reich in Christianity. STEPHAN KINSELLA Right, because the Christians in this – if you want to call it a movement, they tend to cite the 25 points of National Socialism, which is – I forget which number, but I think it was the 8th or the 9th rule where they – it was a quote endorsing that this was a Christian nation.

Something along those lines, but there's also comparing – I've heard mixed things on the validity of table talks. Could you tell my audience a bit about that? Well, actually, I've never entirely read it. I've listened to it, but I spoke to Gerhard Locke through email, if you know who that is, the guy who claims to be pretty entrenched in National Socialism.

He claims to have been sort of around for quite a long time. He claims that it's not certain one way or the other, and everyone else I've spoken to said neither one nor the other. I don't really know, but there's just more circumstantial evidence in addition to that.

Not just that, but Mein Kampf as well. If you read it in Michael Ford's translation of 2009, which I have yet to read, I read the Stalagg edition of Mein Kampf, and that in there, when Hitler speaks of God, he's not speaking about Jehovah. He's speaking about the God above God, which is the sum total of being, which is basically like saying the astral light or the cosmic consciousness being itself, and that's where the Christians err because they assume that the demiurge or Jehovah is that God, but that's just the Jews' God that they adhere to, which is basically chaos.

So that's the absurdity that they don't understand. The National Socialists, as far as I know, had to make the claim that they were Christian, just like George Lincoln and Rockwell also had to do that. Right, he did.

He was an agnostic, by the way. Sorry? Did you say Rockwell was? Rockwell was an agnostic, yes. I'm pretty sure he was actually an occultist.

Like all these people. Really? Yeah. You can sort of read between the lines of Miguel Serrano's, one of his major works, The Golden Cord, Esoteric Hitlerism.

It's like a seamless golden cord, right? It goes from ancient Gnosticism to Catharism and Albigensians to Knights Templar to whatever. And it's a tradition, like Julius Evola speaks of too, the tradition, solar, Aryan tradition, throughout the whole of history. It's never really gone away.

These people are probably initiates at higher levels, so far as I know, not to say I do, but I'm sure that that is the case because they all follow the same sort of template, only they have to appeal to different people at different times, using different images, symbols, language, and so forth. And so, with respect to the National Socialists, they had to pretend that they were positive Christianity. Because that appealed to the masses, right? There was a plan of the National Socialists to completely destroy Christianity, completely routed out of the minds of the Germans and the whole world.

But the thing is, according to Miguel Serrano, Hitler actually won the war because he won it in a spiritual plane, and as above, so below. So, it manifests into matter. Spirit involutes into matter over time.

Everything that happens, happens spiritually first, and then it manifests materially afterwards, because of that process of involution. So, Hitler's ideas and everything else won the Second World War, and because the Jews had to use crude physical force to beat Hitler, they couldn't beat him in an ideological or spiritual sense because his ideas were true, and that corresponds with God, if you will, or being the sum total. Therefore, they lost, and if you read Miguel Serrano's books, he discusses more about the Hollow Earth and things of that sort, and the Black Sun, and the Kalki Avatar, Kalki Wotan, etc., that it will be coming back very soon.

Because this is all based on aeons, or the astrological alignments, based upon the position of the solar system as it travels the galactic plane closer to the galactic center, which we are going into, toward, which means that there's different energies coming from the galactic center to the Earth, and that will affect it and influence it, and then from there, whatever the case. There'll be the Golden Age, whatever you want to call it, Age of Aquarius, we're going from Pisces into Aquarius, and so, inevitably, these Piscean religions of Abrahamism will be destroyed, probably within the next decade or so, I would think, given what I've heard, astrological alignments, 2024, 2025, is when it'll really kick off. So, all the better, as far as I'm concerned, to be able to live at that time, basically.

Yeah, I can see this decade as being, if I had to sum it up in one word, I could see it as potentially being revolutionary. Oh yeah, it's inevitable, because there's no way that the sum total of circumstances that exist at this time could ever be sorted out in any peaceful manner. It's impossible, because, you know, if you read the novel of William L. Pierce Hunter, or the Turner Diaries, or read the book, O.T. Gunnarson's Hear the Cradle Song.

Yeah, that's on the National Alliance website. Everywhere else, it's been gone, for the most part. I'll have to order it straight from their site, then.

I'll be sure to do that. Is that the Hear the Cradle Song? Yeah, yeah. It's been sort of, you know, obviously, many of these books tend to be more difficult to locate.

I mean, it's sort of like The Savage States of America, I don't know if you've heard of that one, by Kevin Berry. That one's up on Noontide Press, and that's the only place you can buy it. So, I want to verify something, since you're from Canada.

Is the Turner Diaries really banned over there? I don't know. I have no idea. I had the Turner Diaries, but then, at the time, I was getting so paranoid, I just gave it away, because I didn't want that.

Just during the circumstances where I was in, I was living in the ghetto, in the murder capital of Canada, which is called Winnipeg, which is the exact geographical center of North America, where they have a center for disease control, like Atlanta has, where they make diseases, basically. And in that city, I was living with redskin drug dealers on either side of my apartment. I had fags and race mixers right across the way, looking in my windows, hooting, and so forth.

And then, you know, I had all this chaos going on around me. Somebody had been hacked to death by a machete just a week before, just right outside of the place, and so forth. So, I was getting really chaotic and crazy.

And so, I just said, well, I can't have this in here, because the police might come, because just outside of the apartment, there were some redskins, had their little chillens outside there, and they were hooting and hollering and screeching. And so, I whipped a cup of water out the window on them, and then they called the police on me. And then, this Jew cop and this Negro cop show up, and they're, like, trying to pump me for information about people assassinating politicians and stuff, because I had allegedly been distributing leaflets and markering up in washrooms, you know, pro-white stuff or anti-Jew stuff.

And then, I'm thinking there might have been spying on me in the city. I go around outside at night, and there's a helicopter flying above my head, you know, when I'm trying to run around, when it's peaceful. Yeah.

And then, they've got this Jew, like, in the mall, when I'm wandering around. He's, like, looking over his shoulder, tailing me, and so forth, over the whole of the city. So, that whole city is basically a totally Jew-infested place, too.

The mayor used to be an Israeli, or the ex-mayor is an Israeli dual citizen, and he was born in Israel, and he runs the media conglomerate, one of the largest media conglomerates. No, he doesn't run that, but he runs a baseball team. And then, his affiliates, one of the richest people in Canada, richest families in Canada, run the media conglomerate there.

The Asper family, then they've got the Bronfman family around there, who are, like, wrong-runners and stuff like that, during Prohibition and so on. So, it's just a sort of dirty little criminal den, the whole city. So, yeah, I was there, and I had the Turner Diaries and stuff, and I was like, no, I can't keep this, because the police are going to come.

It just sounds, you know, Zogland, basically. And this town, too, especially, right outside of it, half an hour outside of it, I've got a NATO base for training British military troops here. It's also got a class four biological tech, biotech facility for making bioweapons, probably.

And this whole town is basically like a Zionist freak show. Everywhere you go, you see these Zionist Christians always spying at you with these big bug-out eyes and so forth. Wow.

I mean, Canada, I've just been witnessing it in the last five years, especially with this jackass Trudeau in power. It's just been really accelerating over there. It's starting to look a bit like the USSR.

I mean, it seems to be going that direction. Well, that's basically the Jews' dialectic, the right-wing, left-wing dialectic. Obama, Trump, George W. Bush, Obama.

Yeah, the illusion of choice. And then in Canada, it's sort of like a little bit offset. Same within the UK and so forth.

In Canada, first, they have Stephen Harper in. At the same time, they have George W. Bush in. Both are conservators.

And then they put Barack Obama in, left-wing. Then they wait a little bit. Then they put Trudeau in, left-wing.

Then they put a right-wing in. Then they try to put a little bit more right-wing populist movement in Canada. It's all control.

I mean, how I view it is a bit like, it's sort of like Zog has a left hook to your face and a right hook to your face. And that's pretty much how they're, yeah. Well, it's like a Punch and Judy show.

Punch and Judy. Did you ever see Jonathan Bowden's lecture on that? A little bit loud in his presentation, but yeah. Yeah, yeah.

He was a phenomenal orator. Yeah. Pope Fascism is an okay book, but again, what is fascism? Fascism could just as easily be totalitarian Judaism for all.

It's just merging state and corporate powers together. Unless it's specifically racist, then it's not something very desirable necessarily. I was listening today to Hunter by William L. Pierce, where he discusses, fictionally, the character of William Ryan, the FBI head.

I don't know if you've listened to Hunter. I actually own it. I read, I had to go back.

I was back at my parents, and I got through five chapters of it, and unfortunately, I left it back there. You can print it off the net, I think. It's an audio book.

Anything could really work, but yeah, William Pierce, you know, the Turner Diaries, I'm sure you're familiar with Who We Are. Actually, I haven't read that book. I have it printed out, but I haven't gotten to it yet.

It's sort of like an Anthropocene. It's like an Aryan history book. He initially was writing it around the time he passed away.

That sort of relates to Kevin Alfred Strom owns the rights to his publishing now, I think. He was accused. He had a whole trial where he was busted with kiddie porn or something.

I'm pretty sure it was probably a setup, because that's just what they do. He's got a website that he attempts to refute that on there. Yeah, I read that.

Apparently, the images were placed on his computer six months before the whole thing happened, and he moved away. The computer was left there, so his wife planted the images on his computer. There's a very high probability he was set up.

That's what they do with everybody. They're trying to call me mentally ill here, too, so I deliberately went to a psychiatrist or got a psychiatrist to give me a clean bill of mental health throughout the entire time until the summer of this past year. For about at least eight months, I was seeing a psychiatrist periodically to verify that I was compus mentis, because if they went to trial and they tried to portray me that way, maybe they could try to justify institutionalization.

Then from there, they can drug me and maybe try to kill me, because on some of my interviews on the Bitchute channels, there are people commenting that, oh, he's going to commit suicide in jail. Someone else was saying that they are going to be using a particle beam weapon on Alfred Schaefer in Germany and so forth, and that they're going to do this to me, too, and so on. This person was a professor from Colorado or something, some female nut job professor who worked in psychology or something like that, who was commenting on the channels.

So I gathered the data on them and so on, but yeah, all sorts of crazy things. The more you try to stick up for yourself in this society, the more they'll try to basically destroy you. Right.

If you deviate too much from the average person, they're going to find a way to make you look like a heretic. Yeah, such as protesters or people protesting anything. I'm pretty sure around here a couple of years ago, some woman had been assassinated here because she was protesting Big Agra, the farms, Monsanto and stuff like that.

And then they said in the newspaper that she committed suicide, which is highly unlikely. Well, so going back to who we are, I actually reached out to Strom on Twitter because I kind of came to the realization that he was probably set up. And he surprisingly still has a Twitter account.

So I replied and I asked, when is who we are going to get another printing? And he said that it was actually under revision when Pierce passed away, but they never got around to really finishing it and revising it. He just never got around to doing that. But he said that when his time frees up, he'll try to get that done.

But I recall that someone republished it on Lulu and it had a single printing and it's become very scarce now. Probably tried to super copyright infringement or something like that. That is very possible that that happened.

There's also that book Serpents Walk by Randall. That's another censored book that's very hard to find. You can find it on DeltaPress.com. It's a site that sells.

I had a whole bunch of those Delta Press books and then the police took them here. They were like, you know, how to make a .22 into an automatic weapon and so forth. Stuff like that.

How to hide stuff. And they pulled a sack full of my survivalist material. I was to the National Alliance.

I actually tried to apply to them during the course of this case, but they rejected my application. They said that they wouldn't allow me to because of my case and so forth. And then they kicked me off their white bio-centrism forum.

It's like a bunch of baby boomers who are just trying to coast on Pierce's legacy. They don't really seem to be doing very much in terms of... No, they're not. I really think they're just sort of living in the 90s.

You know, like, hey, this is Pierce's formal organization. You know, buy our books because we're Pierce's formal organization. You'd think they'd be wanting to have people come in, people like you or your generation, because I'm a little bit older than you, but they'd want to have some more representation there.

But that's the nature of the baby boomers. In this country here, I had two interviews with a guy named Brian Rue, who is allegedly a Buddhist outside of Vancouver. I've actually heard that Brian Rue is a goblin.

Yeah, I don't know. Well, he seems to be a little bit messed up. The thing is, I was trying to deal with him.

I kept asking for interviews, saying, well, yeah, I think it's important that we get this information out about my case because there's all sorts of developments and so forth happening. And then he's like, oh, I got to put up all these Hindu videos or some shit, some Buddhist videos. I'm saying, well, don't you think that this is a bit more important, you know, actual political questions.

But he doesn't care, doesn't give me any representation almost at all. And I even applied to his Thula Contemplative Society of Adolf Hitler for membership for 20 bucks. And then he basically actually slanders me.

I wanted to get on Jan Lamprecht's History Reviewed show, historyreviewed.com, and Jan said that he would give me an interview. But then Brian Rue badmouthed me to Lamprecht, and then that was the last I heard of Lamprecht. He sounds like a subversive, in other words.

I personally, you know, he has a bit of a beak on him. Maybe. Yeah.

That segues into another question. How do you spot, you know, what's the strongest indication of spotting these individuals? I would say the beady eyes, the frizzy hair. Yeah, you go on.

There's a whole constellation of attributes. And what I just did, I sent you that book today. The first part of that book is a sub-document of my handbook on the website the-struggle.net, and that is called Who is the Jew? The Jew Identifier Document.

And in that book, it's about five pages, mainly of images. It gives you all references to primary source material from about a hundred years ago of the actual bioanthropological works in the Jews or names from the Jewish Encyclopedia, Jewish or Anthropological Society or Association of England, the Ethnological Society, and various other books. That explains everything in there in five pages, or not even in terms of text, maybe like three pages.

So that will give you all the references about how to do that. But two main books in addition to that, which are referenced in there, How to Recognize and Identify a Jew by John Doe Goy and The Racial Biology of the Jew by Baron Otmar von Verschuer, M.D. from the Third Reich. And then there's another one, What is the Jew, I think, by Julius Streicher from Der Sterbe.

So that right there covers it all in terms of physiognomy, Nuremberg-style type laws, where you identify the Jew based upon physiological markers and behavioral traits, subtle resonances, their skin color. Overt sexualization. Well, basically, they're definitely a sketch, all right.

There's no question of that. They're characters studying themselves. Freud, obviously.

One way to put it. Freud, obviously, was the whatever, you know, he studied his own Jews to formulate his nutty theories. So that right there is just Jewish psychology in a nutshell, is the discipline of psychology.

And then Jung, who was a National Socialist, tried to take it away from there toward actual spiritual realities in terms of collective consciousness, not in a psychological, but in a spiritual sense. And Miguel Serrano actually knew Carl Jung as well. Right.

He wrote a book called Jung and Hess. That's sort of a book that I've been meaning to get to read. Can't find it anywhere myself.

I don't know where that is. Oh, really? I think it's on Amazon, surprisingly. Yeah, I did see it on something like that, but I couldn't find it for free.

Oh, you mean PDF version. Yeah, I can't afford all these books. Yeah, that's understandable.

But yeah, I guess their character sketch, you know, all of their features, their physiognomy, their behavior is basically a stereotype. It is pretty much always the same. It's standardized.

It never really varies. They always have the same motive, which is stick a knife in your back, pull the rug out from under you, set you up in some way, pretending to be your friend, posing as a friend, working as a spy. If you read the book, The 48 Laws of Power, which is written by a Jew, then you'll understand.

Their walking archetypes of deception. There's a reason. You're probably familiar with Murdoch, Murdoch, but every single character that they have, they're all happy merchants.

They're all just the same caricature. I mean, that's just a demonstration of that. Again, it shows Miguel Serrano's, quote, robots of the demiurge.

I've been meaning to look more into Serrano's work. That segues into probably one of, you know, we've been running for a while here. What would you say is like an ideal book list? Just off the top of your head, what would be books you would recommend to every, you know, every seeker in this truth movement? Basically, in my handbook, which is very sloppy and messy and poorly formulated or formatted, and has lots of Christian identity garbage in it that I would take out.

In that handbook, it's got every reference in there. It was written, it was completed like a year ago or so on the front page of the website. So it's got a whole reference list in there, but I would do a lot of revision about that now.

Right now, I would recommend to people in terms of spirituality, just focus on Miguel Serrano and then Julius Evola to some extent as an encyclopedist and as a critical negation of the negative things that you don't want. But in terms of positive things, Serrano is the way to go. And joyofsatan.com, even in spite of the name, has a lot of valuable content as well in terms of specific practices that you can do.

And then, of course, the National Socialism in general, in its original form, you know, like the National Socialists themselves. From there also, basically, if you read Serrano's works, he gives copious references to other legitimate sources, such as Herman Hesse and Carl Jung, and the list goes on and on. So have you read Foundations of the 19th Century by Chamberlain? That's by Rosenberg, isn't it? No, it's by Houston Chamberlain.

It was sort of one of the 19th century racial scientists. It's kind of like a Gabineau, that sort of, yeah. I'd actually read part of it long ago.

I think 2007, I had read parts of it. But then as soon as they started talking about Jesus, he would just ramble on and on this Victorian prose, you know, babbling on about the Aryan Jesus. I'm like, no.

Well, I mean, it's called Foundations of the 19th Century. Yeah. And the thing is, with that, I remember recently trying to re-listen to that in audiobook format.

And who's the one doing the preface of that? It's a Jew. And Chamberlain, even though he apparently criticizes Jews a lot, he seems to be somehow positive about Jews to some extent. So I think it was just like a push of Christian identity at that time, tying in with British Israelism, Israelitism.

So I don't trust that at all. I would stay away from that. The book by Julius Evola, which I just recently purchased from Arctos, one of the rare ones that I could actually afford, The Myth of the Blood.

I've read that. Yes, I own that. And that has quite a bit of great information in there.

It explains the differences of races. I actually think it's the best work, at least that I've read, from him. I would say it's pretty good.

In that sense, it's a good reference work. I would subscribe to it for the most part. Not entirely, though, because he seems to show his Mediterranean bias to some extent there.

I can see that. I read it three or four months ago. Yeah, I read it about three months ago, too.

Yeah. Yeah, basically. There's a website called EvolaAsHels.wordpress, I think it is.

I'm not too sure. But that is a website, I believe, that was created by the original translator of Evola, who brought Evola into the English-speaking world in the early 2000s. And I've communicated with that translator by email a few times, Jason Tompkins.

And he also, the guy who is the creator of Tompkins Carrying Publishing, around the early 2000s, and he recommends Serrano. He says Serrano is the way to go. If you check him out on the search engine, Jason Tompkins, Evola, or Serrano, I think it's, I don't remember what his blog is, but he's got a website of his own there.

And, yeah, he wrote a book, too, in the same vein as Serrano. And it's, fair enough. It sort of amplifies more about the Black Sun and the Green Thunderbolt, which is basically Eternia, so far as I understand, that he's referring to.

All that esoteric Hitlerist conceptions. What's your opinion of Savitri Dedi? Yeah, I read basically superficial, I would say. Most women's philosophy, if you want to call it that, is basically superficial.

I subscribe to a Nietzschean view of women, for the most part, and a Schopenhauerian view, as well, basically, that women are, you know, they're wonderful, and so on, and intuitive. But in terms of rational thought and logic, women are not very competent in terms of depth or breadth of thinking. So, you know, nice try, I appreciate it, her books, but they're not really very appealing to me, especially since she was touting Akhenaten as some sort of, like, man against time or man in time or something, Bob time.

But the thing is, Akhenaten was just like a race-mixed hybrid that was accompanying the Jews when they tried to destroy Egypt. So there's no way that that guy is some sort of, like, good being or something. Very interesting.

So, yeah, there's quite a bit, obviously, you know, the more metaphysical works of things I surely should look more into, you know, Serrano's work, I've heard nothing, but for the most part, I've heard very positive things about his work, and I should look more into it. So, we've been running a bit long here. So what channels would you like to, you know, have me link or, you know, white God and white philosophy, and you have a third one, I think, too, right? I've got a whole bunch of different channels.

Actually, I can just put them into the Skype chat if you want. For people who don't want to look at that, just check out my website, the-struggle.net. I'll link it. And then for the case, if you want to look up that, you can look it up, free-speech.is-great.net. That'll be a good way to go to find out about the case and so forth.

Too bad I can't put the disclosure up on there. Otherwise, that would reveal more information about it, but that's basically the best reference. Well, I think this was a great discussion, and I wish you well on your case.

Yeah, we'll see what happens, I guess. How are you feeling about it? Well, yeah, I basically just, like I said, talked to the lawyer just before speaking to you, because today has been so pressured. It's been one thing after another perpetually, and we managed to finally get this interview in, which is good, and I appreciate that.

And the lawyer said that the firearms were basically thrown out, totally, so that could have amounted to a couple of years in jail that I managed to duck out of. And then it's just a matter of the alleged distribution of propaganda related to Jewish-white genocide. 99% of the 1% is Jewish, and a bunch of Christian identity flyers from KingIdentityMinistries.com, which I wouldn't recommend ever having anything to do with.

And that's basically it. So if there's any penalties at all, the evidence is pretty sparse for them trying to connect me to it. They just have an image of some guy who apparently is me, the back of their head on a Safeway camera, CCTV camera.

They've got the Safeway claims that, you know, here's a photocopy of a money bill. Then they've got the Safeway clerk saying, yeah, I think it was a white guy who did this before. And then she said that, I don't even know what it meant, and that was it.

And then from there, they arrested me and they found some money bills in my bag. And that's basically all the evidence they have. They have no fingerprints, they have no nothing.

Well, I think that in that case, if there's an honest judge, an honest jury, it'll be in your favor, hopefully. And I have to say, this is what happens when you challenge those in power. You challenge the Chosenites, man.

And it all stems from one money bill being stamped, all this. So in America, you can still do that. And I wrote about that in my handbook, Bank Heist Propaganda Protocol.

Get a bunch of $1 money bills out, stamp them all with gloves, and then deposit it in another branch of the bank. And that way you could go every paycheck, get out $1 bills, that's thousands of dollars right there. Every one of those bills is going to be seen like a million times by people when it circulates around.

So reference a website or whatever, and a simple message, and there you go. Then you're doing massive propaganda without any risk to you in America, because that's not illegal to do that. And then hand the big stack of bills to the teller face down so they can't see it.

You take it out, you stamp it all, you give it back to another one at another time. That's excellent propaganda technique. Yeah, that is definitely a way to spread the word out.

Just today I saw a board where the subject was, write what you think of open borders or something along those lines. I wrote, death to Zog. I wrote that.

So maybe that'll be making headlines tomorrow, who knows. That'll get the message out because most people don't know what Zog is. No, they don't.

They'll look at the board and they'll say, what the hell is Zog? And then they'll look it up. Unfortunately, the first thing they see when you look it up is the ADL. But that could also prove the point of the message of, don't listen to them.

They're supremacists or they're this and that. Yeah, I'm sure, especially in trendy areas like the bohemian, bourgeois bohemian type areas, those coffee shops and stuff and university campuses and colleges. People want to be transgressors.

They want to be cool. The only way you can be cool in today's society is Julius Ebola and Miguel Serrano. Yeah, yeah.

It's like with the 60s, they marketed the whole culture. It's the counterculture, yet it's backed by the establishment. It's control opposition at its finest.

But you see that complete shill apologist of Watson always say, conservatism is the new counterculture. Well, OK, does conservatism get you put in jail in certain countries? No, it doesn't. We don't want to conserve anything.

We want to create a new order. Exactly. Yeah, that's the distinction.

So like Alex Linder said, attack the conservatives. Go and check my channel out, the White God channel. And that'll have a lot of content that people might not have heard of before about negating and attacking conservatives and Christians and people of that sort who stand in the way of white survival because they're the establishment.

Right. They're just in slow motion. That's all they are.

They're just in slow motion. That's the only thing that differences them from their Marxist, you know, Mao, almost. You know, I bet in 10 years, though, you know, the conservatives, you know, will say, oh, check out this base tranny over here.

Well, I mean, they're already saying that now. But you get the point. I mean, it's just that in slow motion, pretty much.

Well, the Democrat icon is the donkey, which is just a stupid, drunken animal like the liberal that goes for it. Jackass, yeah. The conservative is the elephant that just lumbers around.

Yeah, that's just slow and yeah, exactly. That's probably why they made those icons in the first place. It's just occultism, right? It's just left wing, right wing, dialectic.

Yeah, yeah, obviously. Right. Yeah, they're just on their strings at the end of the day.

Pretty much. Well, I think this was a great talk. And yeah, like I said, I wish you well and we'll see how it goes.

Yes. We shall see. Hail victory.

Hail victory. Thanks again Patrick. Yes.

Check out Serrano. Yes, sir. All right.

Have a good night. You too.
