Re: July 14, 2020 letter

Hello

Thank you for your letter of July 14, 2020, which arrived today. And, its "Bill" please, not "Will"

Thank you.

Your letter was somewhat difficult for me to read, but, I will answer as best as possible.

I cannot currently taking on new phone and email contacts, so, I apologize for that. I'm glad you enjoyed my letters. The Overthrow.com site is currently published by Paul Angel. I have no idea what's on it. I've asked him to take it down insofar as anything attributed to me is published there but, he has apparently not done so. Several people, Harold Covington in particular but also Helen Hall and others - all FBI informants (or other agency informants) - have faked letters from me and I don't know if any of that material is there, so, I cautiously accept your appreciation of whatever you've found there.

The "origins" of white people are obscure but history can be taken back much further than is generally believed. I was just reading Evola's comments on the "threshold" of history that used to sit between 700 and 500 BC. It's now around 3000 BC, with increasing amounts known about the preceding 7000 years. The real problem is the deliberate effort to obscure history, much of it rooted in Marxism and Judaism. So for example, during the brief time I majored in Near Eastern and Classical Studies, the Marxist idea that each ancient society was a self-contained reflection of its economic and class conditions was taught, with the idea that there few if any cross-cultural influences - other, of course, than imperialism. And, this is total nonsense. No historical civilization developed in isolation, nor is each civilization a wholly unique cultural reflection of its people, taken as distinct from all other peoples.

Equally bad as far as Near Eastern history is concerned is the effort to historicize the Bible, whose story of the founding of the "Jewish people" is as fake as the fable of the Holocaust. (Which, structurally, is the alchemical-Kabbalistic myth of the "gold in the furnace.")

As for feds and the rest, if you were Blackie the Federal Negro, I'd gladly answer your questions as long as they were intelligent and not malicious. My experience with the feds is that they always reveal themselves through clumsy and obvious efforts to lead the conversation. I've
