Re: July 14, 2020 letter

Hello

Thank you for your letter of July 14, 2020, which arrived today. And, its "Bill" please, not "Will"

Thank you.

Your letter was somewhat difficult for me to read, but, I will answer as best as possible.

I cannot currently taking on new phone and email contacts, so, I apologize for that. I'm glad you enjoyed my letters. The Overthrow.com site is currently published by Paul Angel. I have no idea what's on it. I've asked him to take it down insofar as anything attributed to me is published there but, he has apparently not done so. Several people, Harold Covington in particular but also Helen Hall and others - all FBI informants (or other agency informants) - have faked letters from me and I don't know if any of that material is there, so, I cautiously accept your appreciation of whatever you've found there.

The "origins" of white people are obscure but history can be taken back much further than is generally believed. I was just reading Evola's comments on the "threshold" of history that used to sit between 700 and 500 BC. It's now around 3000 BC, with increasing amounts known about the preceding 7000 years. The real problem is the deliberate effort to obscure history, much of it rooted in Marxism and Judaism. So for example, during the brief time I majored in Near Eastern and Classical Studies, the Marxist idea that each ancient society was a self-contained reflection of its economic and class conditions was taught, with the idea that there few if any cross-cultural influences - other, of course, than imperialism. And, this is total nonsense. No historical civilization developed in isolation, nor is each civilization a wholly unique cultural reflection of its people, taken as distinct from all other peoples.

Equally bad as far as Near Eastern history is concerned is the effort to historicize the Bible, whose story of the founding of the "Jewish people" is as fake as the fable of the Holocaust. (Which, structurally, is the alchemical-Kabbalistic myth of the "gold in the furnace.")

As for feds and the rest, if you were Blackie the Federal Negro, I'd gladly answer your questions as long as they were intelligent and not malicious. My experience with the feds is that they always reveal themselves through clumsy and obvious efforts to lead the conversation. I've told them, as long as they donate $25 per letter, I'll gladly write to them.

I'm not going to discuss codes and ciphers with you, as the lesser usages of such things are a product of modernity. Of greater interest is the symbolism - you might call it poetic symbolism that pervades myth. Robert Graves was big on this - his White Goddess explores much of it in detail. Associated with each of the twelve gods of Tradition are symbols - animals, colors, trees, etc. The Irish had several score or hundreds of these ciphers that they required their bards to learn. And this was universal.

So, for example, the goddess Asherah (Aphrodite, Hathor, Venus, Ishtar in her "love" aspect, etc - the Life Goddess) is a Dove. She descends on Jesus at Baptism. See eg. Matthew 3:16. And every pagan reading that Gospel recognized Asherah as the Holy Spirit (and the Baptism itself as borrowed from the life of Zoroaster) - until the Church began clamping down on this, from the 3rd-4th centuries AD onward.

Similarly, the Bee symbolizes a "priestess of Demeter". Bee in Greek is Melissos - root of our name Melissa. In Hebrew, its "Deborah" see eg. Judges 4-5. The Lion with a carcass full of bees was a well known symbol of Cybele - the Anatolian Beast Mother. So, when Samson - the Savior, son of the Sun, Shamash - encountered the lion carcass full of bees, Judges 14:8, everyone knew what it meant, though modernity has forgotten.

There are also the word games and riddles. I just was typing on the Roman myth of Caecus, the "blind god" of the Volcani - the fallen Craftsman. The Romans made up explanations about his eyes being "blinded by smoke" and what not, but this is fake. Caecus translates Samael, from Heb. simme, "to blind" - which also means "to deceive". Samael is the Deceiver, the fallen seven-headed serpent - and, so is Caecus. Similarly, look at Modur in Nordic myth - blinded by Loki - though there are crossed-up and confused motifs there.

I have not heard of Cicada 3301. I have also not heard of David Living Avno(?) Illuminism, Masonry, and Theosophy, are united by Kabbalah. Is that second word Sabbateanism? Yes, they are also Kabbalah - much older though.

The Hegelian idea you are talking about is the idea of the dialectic. Hegel's work (like Nietzsche's) is derivative of Platonism and neo-Platonism. Platonism basically degenerated through the various Academies (Old, Middle, New) into empty questioning - like Pyrrhonism, asserting that nothing is true, only questions can bring knowledge, etc. Neo-Platonism took Platonism and merged it with the Kabbalistic religions of the Roman Empire - late Amun-ism, Orphism, Dionysianism, the eastern cults of Cybele, Isis, etc, Serapianism, Mithraism, etc. As Neo-Platonism developed, it degenerated like Judaism into complex nonsense - see, eg. Proclus' Theology of Plato. But, it preserved the seeds of Kabbalistic dialectic.

So, the older Canaanite construct is Eshmun-Reshet. The Greeks adopted this as "aspects" of Apollo, Asclepius and a "dark Apollo" - Orpheus ("the dark one"), Hermes, or, Dionysos. The Persians have Mithras as Shashaynt and Asmodeus. The later construct is the dichotomy of Apollo and Dionysos - made famous in early Nietzsche. The Kabbalistic concept are the paths of "severity" and "mercy", Hegel's thesis and anti-thesis, reconciled in synthesis.

In the modern world, we have "left" and "right" - the "left" moves us to a chaotic state, without hierarchy or differentiation, where everything is the same - ironically called "diversity". The "right" is a fake opposition created to reconcile opposing forces and unite them in a "wicked synthesis". In Hinduism, you'd call this Shiva and Vishnu - Destroyer and Preserver. Shiva, the "left", destroys. Vishnu, "the right", tries to preserve, but, never rebuilds. Thus "history", as Marx conceives it, is a one-way path to destruction.

Hegelian ideas influenced all late 18th - 20th century ideas - and, is still influential. Is he a "progenitor of fascism"? What does that mean? Mussolini smashed and dismantled "the left", but, didn't do enough to try to restructure society until he founded the Italian Social Republic (something like that) under German guidance about 1943 - when it was too late. Was he a reaction intended to be impatient and to further the "progressive" Judeo-occult agenda? Not really. There was a real effort to break with modernity in Italy - it was just poorly implemented and it failed.

As for "fascism" broadly, in the Marxist sense of "something I dislike"? It's just meaningless - Marxist ignorance is the progenitor of the term.

As for drugs, I always thought the kindest thing that could happen to this country would be the invention of a painless, ultra-lethal, drug that would allow America's waste to self-euthanize. The fact is that all human life does not have value. Much of it is never-ending pain, poisoning a society that has poisoned it. And, much defective life cannot be recovered by society. So, let drug addicts kill themselves. It's like a human body. Live an easy life, consume garbage, and you develop useless fat cells - many genetically defective proto-cancers. Exercise, eat better, experience some scarcity - these cells either become something useful or die off.

I am opposed to trans-humanism. The purpose of life is not in this world. Transhumanism seeks a sterile immortality - the Kabbalistic ideal of man made god within this lesser creation. And, all efforts to "unite the world" in any form - to "rebuild the Temple" - are Kabbalah.

People do have identity. Our modern world makes them afraid to express it. However, they do flock to people who reject that more. Twenty years ago, I used to stop in Bethesda, MD - a suburb of DC - on my way back from work, and I would sit out at this fountain in the evening and read and drink coffee (how much of my day is spent now). One day, I decided to read George Lincoln Rockwell's White Power - which has "White Power" with a big swastika on the front. The reaction I got was very positive from white people (and, surprising - I hadn't expected much reaction at all.) Only when I was released from prison in 2012 did I ever have someone I don't know react negatively to me, whereas people routinely came up to me on the street and thank me and shake my hand.

So, don't assume the world is one way or another until you've experienced it. In my experience only Jews, federal judges and law enforcement, attorneys, and a tiny slice of the white population mostly people too young to know better and badly dysfunctional degenerates - believe this anti-white "woken" bullshit. The problem is that they have money and power and keep the masses of white people from organizing.

Be well. I'm including a copy of Serpent's Blood, Chapter Ten with this letter. Still, ~~copies~~ ~~copies~~. I can't send the rest.

own white working class.

So, not Odhinism. Odhin is Judah. So, Judah is Thoth, Thoth is Hermes. Hermes Trimegistos is the three "infernal" gods - the Ain, YHWH, and Judah, or, Amen, Ptah, and Khonsu. This three born god is also Dionysos - three-born, as Nannos tells us in his Dionysiaca. (Can look at Sabrazos, or, the Agathe daemon - Kake daemon.) Dionysos in one aspect is Bacchus. Bacchus is Odh. Or, look at Dionysos' myth - he is slain, like YHWH, then reborn as a child.

Yggdrasil is the Tree of Life. Odhin was on it nine days travelling through the worlds. His Eye is the Ain (Ain means "Eye"). The Runes he received are the Sephiroth, Etcetera. Basically, the cult of Thoth-Judah was taken into Gaul from Marseilles and Etruria, also entered Germany from Etruria and Thracia; and, went further north from there.

So, none of this is culturally unique. If you want an introduction to Tradition generally, try reading Evola's Revolt Against The Modern World.

As to paganism and Rydberg: Paganism and the Abrahamic religions are not distinct. The distinction in religion is between the Traditional Solar-orientation, and, the infernal orientation of Kabbalah. Traditional religion focuses on the Sun God, the Saviour-Storm God, and, the slaying of the Serpent - accompanied by the blinding of the Eye. Infernal religion focuses on the Magician, the denial of the higher world, the rule of this world, the exaltation of the self at the expense of mankind.

So, a mere "paganism" is not enough. If we practice Judaism but call it "Odhinism", that gets us nowhere. Judah on a dragon ship with a sax and a horned helmet is still Judah. And this, in turn, is why Hitler rejected Odhinism and the "Germanic" paganism of his time.

Rydberg, in turn, was brilliant - though he never "closed the loop" because he looked only for Indo-European parallels. But he was a genius of Nordic-Germanic mythology and he was on the path to many of the key Traditional motifs, for example: Loki. The name means the "bandana". As Rydberg discusses, he eats Gullveig - Heið's heart, an inversion of the usual Dionysos myth - the woman reborn in the man. Loki is the fuller serpent, but, he is also tri-fold, as Rydberg was on the verge of recognizing. Rydberg notes the duality of Heimdall and Loki, which is the of Sun and false Sun. So, Rydberg was on the right path - he just didn't have the Tradition, or the content for making the final connections.

So, the next issue is that of the Indo-Europeans. What needs to be distinguished here are the Aryans, who were always a caste among the Indo-Europeans, not "the race" as a whole. And in fact, the term "Aryan" refers to the incarnation of an "angelic" spirit, as opposed to a certain "bloodline." Technically, you have your four castes: your priestly or governing caste, the warriors, the merchants, and the workers. In Plato, these correspond to the four-fold division of the self: soul, spirit, anima, and the self. The three highest are "governing", but the top two are "Aryan". Now, interestingly, Plato calls these castes the Phylakes, usually translated "Guardians", but also "Watchers" - which is the preferred translation of their name in Hebrew literature. The Aryans are the Greek Μακάριοι, Μακαριοι, "the Blessed".

Separate from the Aryans are a separate structure, the "golden people", children of the Serpent YHWH, often referred to as Golden Serpents.

The problem is when the spiritual doctrine - the idea of the "race of the soul" as found in, say, Evola - is conflated with this idea of the "serpent bloodline." This "hidden race", or, really, this idea of a hidden race, is incorporated into these Kabbalistic doctrines so that the elite of all different physical races become unified in the idea of this "blood", and, thus, united against the mass working people.

So, after you wrote, I reflected on the Indo-European question: Tradition pre-dates any historical notion of Indo-Europeans - they go back to the Kurgans, maybe 4500 BC, and earlier in Scandinavia to maybe 6000 BC. But, pseudo-Tradition is already in Sumera about that time. So, there was certainly some spread before the relatively recent Indo-European invasions of the second millennia BC, that Indo-European invasion could not have spread the idea.

As to "Universalistic and Imperialistic concepts" - you're 100% wrong here associating this with the idea of "Aryan". In fact, all "universalism", "imperialism", and "supremacism", is really Judaism. And, this is really where I started realizing that all of this "white supremacist" bullshit the FBI and organized Judaism spew out for us is really fake.

So, as Spengler noted in his Decline of the West, human beings exist naturally as ethno-cultural organisms. Plato would call their lower soul their daemon, which is united with their higher soul through the avatars. Each ethno-cultural organism is a unique living thing and, amongst these living things is Order, the Will of the highest god, which is hierarchy and differentiation. Only when there is Order can an individual find their highest expression - only Order can create unique places for people.

Opposed to Order is Chaos, which is uniformity. Chaos destroys all differentiating traits - race, sex, gender, caste - and, ultimately destroys the individual. Uniformity in human society is slavery.

Judaism and the Judaeo-occult philosophies want to impose a global state - "the Temple" - on mankind. Over and over, we've seen this through history - Babylon, Persia, Macedonia, Rome, Byzantium, the Caliphate, Holy Rome, the Church, the British Empire, the Soviet Union, the United States, et cetera. Each sought to destroy national differences and impose Chaos and uniformity on mankind.

Where white nationalists have been suckered is to take prior versions of Judaeo-occultism and accept them as "white." So, whites worship Judah but call him Odin and think they are opposing "the Jew." They oppose the current New World Order but want a prior version, and think they are opposing "globalism." White nationalism cannot be white imperialism as it is simply white Judaism. It has to be based on the idea of a harmonious Order between all distinct nations.

It is much as in Tolkien's Lord of the Rings. Tolkien was initiated. His Sauron is "the Eye" or "Mount Doom" - the Volcano. His heroes have the Ring - the control technologies of the Kabbalah. But, use them to defeat one evil and in the process you become that evil yourself. So, only a complete rejection of Judaeo-occult/globalist/imperialist thought is Aryan.

And, BTW, black Africans and Asians and "Native" Americans are as viciously imperialist as whites have ever been - think the Zulu (and, Bantu generally), China, Japan, the Aztecs, etc.

Like most of the acceptable beliefs in a poisoned society, Evangelical Christianity is Judaism and Satanism. In Kabbalah, YHWH has a dual aspect of Satan and Messiah. But, Traditionally, YHWH is only Satan - when he fell, all of him fell. Thus, the entire Old Testament is a book of Satan. YHWH is the Elohim, Exodus 20:2-3, highest of the seven-headed serpent. The Elohim created this world, Genesis 1. Moses and Abraham are both initiated by YHWH in the Darkness of the Ain, Genesis 15:12, Exodus 20:21. And, soon.

The New Testament is very different. Jesus is an incarnation of the Aryan Saviour. But, he is founded by Peter, who is the Devil. Matthew 16:23. The name Peter is not Petros, "rock", but, Hebrew Petara, which means "interpreter" - a name of Hermes, but, also the Hierophant of the Eleusinian Mysteries. And early Church occult writers, like Dionysius the Aeropagite, refers to the line of Popes as "our Hierophants" who teach the doctrine of the "Darkness above the Light", the Ain above the Shekinah.

Further, the Crucifixion and Resurrection borrow the motifs of the death and rebirth of Dionysus. So, the New Testament is a mixture of true and false material.

As to the Evangelical fascination with eschatology, Biblical eschatology is the long-awaited tikun olam, the union of Christ and Anti-Christ. There is the explicit proclamation of 2 Peter 1:19 that Jesus is Lucifer. But, there is also Revelation, which is a Zoroastrian fantasy. YHWH the Messiah appears with his seven Elohim Revelation 4:5. These are the seven angels of Revelation 1-3 and elsewhere. But YHWH the Satan appears as Leviathan, the Red Dragon, Revelation 12:3, et al. The seven and the ten are the seven worlds of the Elohim and the ten Sefirot of the Kabbalah. Revelation 12:3, 13:1. This is the mystery religion of Babylon. Revelation 17:3-5. YHWH is tri-fold: dragon, beast, prophet. Revelation 12-13. And at the end, Jesus declares himself to be Lucifer. Revelation 22:16.

Satan is three fold, Judah, YHWH, the Ain. And, the Bible as a whole is yet another of Satan's books of lies; it completely perverts Jesus' actual message, as to how to get out of this world - this prison - and, the cycle of birth and rebirth.

I am familiar with Marxist works and doctrine but, their analyses don't interest me. Why read some idiosyncratic application of Satan's lies when I can read the originals? :-0

Gnosticism and Manichaeism are both more of what I'm talking about here - I won't go into great detail. The important difference between Tradition and Kabbalah, though, is this: Traditionally, Light and Dark are completely distinct, opposing principles. In Kabbalah, there is only Darkness, and good and evil - equated with light and dark - are but two sides of a single creator god - sides to be reconciled because they are not really opposed.

Lastly, you are right to avoid all "white supremacist extremism" - this "I'm angry, I'm frustrated, my people are dying" stuff. Our intelligence agencies, particularly the FBI, create this stuff because a false opposition helps them carry out genocide. Look at the Soviet "Trust" or Gold Standard in 1984 as models. The worst of this type was Harold Covington, though there are many others.

White working people are being deliberately murdered because blacks and brown people make better slaves. Everything else right now around "white supremacy" is just a bunch of not very bright "intelligence" and "law enforcement" types carrying out that murder in the service of forces they don't understand. Ultimately, I don't believe the United States will be the vehicle by which Satan conquers the world. But, as always, his servants are spreading much misery trying.

Thank you again for your letter. If you make a donation, it will go to my legal defense, which heats up maybe $10,000-$20,000 a year - court costs, witness fees, et cetera. And, I am impressed by the intelligence of your questions, which is why I'm answering so thoroughly.

Thank you again.

Sincerely,

Bill White
