

JUNE 15, 2020

Hello Mr. Pierce

Thank you for your letter of June 7, 2020. I do not believe I have ever received such an intelligent letter. You've read both Devi and Rydberg. Amazing.

You know, I am bombarded here with fake letters from the FBI, and I presume everyone writing to me is FBI until proven otherwise. But I've only ever met one FBI informant who has read Evola, Devi, and Rydberg, and he was betraying them to me (though possibly also betraying me to them). Usually, the FBI avoids this stuff because it requires actual knowledge - something they aren't very good at, as neither federal law enforcement nor its informants are typically drawn from intelligent, well-read, educable people. It's much easier to throw a white sheet and call a "rally." :->

I'll start with an easy issue, the philology of Odim. I had thought in Tradition that the root should be Odr, "spirit", the equivalent of Egyptian Sahu, a name of Osiris (M.E. "strong one"), the Sun God. No. It really is Wuot, which is "madness", and it transliterates Bacchus, Βακχος, the "mad god", Dionysos. So, who is Dionysos? Try Dios, "god", and, W. Semitic "Nysai", "fugitive", to get "the fugitive god." What does that mean?

Let me save you decades of study and give you the two major "secret teachings" - the Tradition and what Kaballah calls the Da'ath, or, "knowledge". Feel free to share them on YouTube. People have killed to learn these things and to keep them secret.

Traditionally, there are twelve gods in three "spheres" with four functions, as such:

	(Light/Being) Solar	(Becoming) Heavenly	(Darkness/Non-Being) Infernal
Perfector	Light (The One)	Order	Darkness (The Eye)
Punisher	Sun	Craftsman (Demigod) (The Temple)	Fallen Craftsman (The Dragon)
Initiator	Savior	Storm God	Magician
Generator	Mother of Gods	Light Goddess	Mother of Beasts

Basically, Light and Darkness are opposing principles. As I believe I mentioned in my last letter, the Demiurge, misled by the Magician, created our universe in defiance of the Light and the Sun God, the Savior and Storm God, usually united as "the Twins", stole from the Demiurge a weapon, the Beast Mother, a goddess, and, used her to defeat the Demiurge and "cast him from heaven", imprisoning him in his own creation, this world, with those beings of light - angels - who followed him in rebellion. What the term "Anjan" refers to is the angelic, luciform, soul. You have basically three types of soul - the luciform, the merely living - like animals, and the umbriform or demonic. There are basically two types of luciforms in this world - those who fell with the Demiurge and are trapped here with him in the cycle of death and rebirth, and, those who voluntarily enter this world to try to rescue the others - classically called "heroes", Avatars is another recent version.

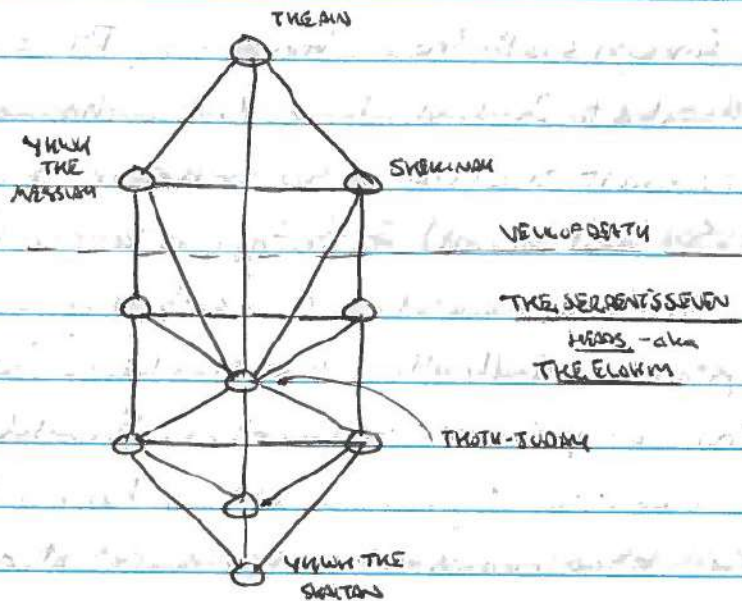

This world is not "Hell", it's not completely lost to Darkness, but, it is a battleground. The key to getting out and back to the higher earth is to detach from this world, to place no value on its transient things, and to pursue righteousness and the defeat of evil without regard to consequences - to "do one's duty without hope or fear" as Evda or Gueron have it.

In my own case, I have been subjected to both horrendous violence and horrendous slander, both in court and without, seen all of my temporal things destroyed, and, have never really considered any sort of compromise with the great evil of the United States. I have had repeated opportunities to lie about myself or others to make a deal, but, choose to remain in prison rather than participate in America's wickedness. I'm not perfect, but, I've done better than most.

The other side, what you're calling Semitic, is really pre-Semitic. The earliest named culture with the pseudo-Traditional or Kabbalistic belief system is the Sumerian, but, archaeology shows the system predated the Sumerians in Mesopotamia at least 2000-3000 years.

In this view, there is no world of Light. The Demiurge, YHWH, is a seven-headed serpent that appeared one day swimming in the Darkness, what Hebrews call the Ain or "Great Eye". With him was the "light" of the Eye, the Shekinah, who is the substance of creation (the "Beast Mother" above). YHWH divides the Shekinah to create this universe, each of his heads, the Hebrew Elohim, creating one "world". Once his creation was complete, however, something happens to YHWH - one popular version has him see see his hatred and rage reflected in his creation, causing him to "fall" into it. YHWH the Messiah remains in "heaven" - the Darkness - while YHWH the Shatan falls into our world, the "Malkuth." Ruling over these seven lower worlds, thus, is Judah, who shows the path back to YHWH and the Darkness.

Now, you see, this second system has eliminated all of the good gods and the higher heavens and only worships Darkness, no light.

So, this Magician, Judah - who is he? In Sumeria, he was Sin or Nabu - he kept those names at Harran into the modern era. Reading Herodotus - and, studying archaeology - he appears in Egypt as the god Djehuty,  $\text{𓆎 𓆏 𓆑 𓆒 𓆓 𓆔}$ . The Phoenicians called this god Thuti, which the Greeks made into Thoth. Thoth is Hermes. This is the god of your "occult" philosophies - Alchemy, Masonry, Hermeticism, etc. Now, entering Canaan, Djehuty becomes Yehudi,  $\text{𐤅 𐤁 𐤇 𐤅}$ . Yehudi is Judah. Judaism is the cult of Thoth. It is the same teaching as "occult"-ism.

As to the Habiru, yes, they are the Hebrews. These were desert outcasts who formed rubber bands about c. 18th century BC and eventually they assisted the Hittites and, later, the Sea Peoples, in conquering Canaan. These, however, are not the "Jews", the Judah-cult.

You should find Josephus' Against Apion. There, he cites to an Egyptian writer named Manetho and a Phoenician named Hecataeus. I'll note that Tacitus and Diodorus Siculus are also interesting on this point. Manetho was a priest of Serapis commissioned by Ptolemy to collect the histories of Egypt and translate them into Greek for the Great Library. What he tells us is this: Amnophis, like Akhenaten before him, tried to restore Egyptian Sun worship, having found Ammon-ism to be a false religion. The Sun-God orders him to purify the land, so, he rounds up all the lepers and mental and physical defectives and expels them - eventually to Jerusalem. The leaders of these defectives is one Osarsiph, who takes the name of Moses.

Amenophis is the Pharaoh Amen-em-ope. This Exodus takes place about 993 BC - about the time attributed to David and Solomon. Now, archaeologically, there is no evidence of an earlier Exodus. And, it couldn't have occurred too much earlier because the Ramesses possessed Canaan about the 1050s BC (if I recall). So, the Egyptian records are true and the Biblical Exodus is a Jewish lie.

And this loops back to the problem with taking "white" and "Jewish" as ontological categories. The belief system of essentially all of "the West's" elite is Judaism - just Judaism as Masonry, Alchemy, Judaeo-Christianity, Catholic Kabbalah, etc. So-called "secular" philosophies are the same thing.

Look at, say, Hegel (or, Nietzsche, or, whatever). Hegel was a student of New-Platonism, into which Kabbalah was encoded as Orphism and what not, and his basic concepts - the World Spirit, the dialectic, et cetera - are secularized Kabbalah.

Kabbalah is not just a religion. It also encodes what are called "control technologies" - means of deceiving and manipulating societies to control them. Plato, in his Politics, refers to this as the "Royal Art" (like Masonry or Alchemy). One example is the dichotomy. Judaism usually posits it as the paths of "severity" and "mercy"; Hegel calls it "Thesis" and "Antithesis". What happens is that the ruling elite create a false dichotomy in society - two parties like the Republicans and Democrats, or, Liberals and Conservatives - and, they then direct these two opposing principles towards one purpose - Hegel's Synthesis.

The ultimate Synthesis, then, is the "re-building of the Temple", the creation of a One World New World Order. This, then, is a prerequisite for the "tikkun olam", the reification of YHWH, the Messiah and YHWH the Shaitan.

So, even an "atheistic" "secular" ideology like Marxism is actually a religious philosophy, as its dialectic is derived from Hegel who derived it from Kabbalah by way of neo-Platonism. Marxist goals, the creation of a global slave state, are variants of the Judaeo-occult "rebuilding of the Temple." And, modern American-Zionist imperialism is more of the same.

And, what this means is that Judaism is a belief system with no unique racial component. And, as such, there are no "Jews". Judaism per se is one "face" of a Judaeo-occult system of beliefs that is equally practiced by the white elite. This explains both the entry of Judaism per se into societies like Britain's and America's, and the treason of "the West's" elite against ~~the~~ their
