For the Catholic pope to literally be begging for Catholics to pray their rosaries to "protect the church from Satan," it's glaringly obvious the ugly crimes that have been made public are only the tip of the iceberg so to speak.

It's obvious they are seriously afraid. Given what they are capable of, there are bodies. What was dug up in Ireland, 800+ murdered infants; murdered by Catholic nuns, there are obviously many, many more.

The relentless raping of innocent children, anyone can plainly see; how many were murdered in order to cover up the crimes? This could be in the millions over the centuries.

Nearly all Catholic clergy are serial rapists and predators on children. The Catholic Church has started endless wars. Indirect murder. Then many direct murders such as the inquisition.

The foul Nazarene stated "I will turn brother against brother." How many fratricidal wars have been fought for Jewish interests?

How many bodies are there out there? Buried behind convents and rectories, and other many other Christian areas.

Everyone please stay on the RTRs.

Even reciting each of the letters one time and visualizing them being blacked out is very effective.
